Announcing the 2014 Faculty Excellence Awards in Writing

Who: Students in Writing 101 (Writing in the Liberal Arts)
or INTS 156-157 (Science Honors Writing I & II)
Writing 214 (Literary Non-Fiction),
Writing 215 (Life Narratives),
English 202 (Literary Voices), and English 207 (Introduction to Literary Studies)
during the Spring 2013 and Fall 2013 terms.

Writing Center consultants and professors from other colleges will serve as judges.

What: Submissions of essays written in all of the above classes for first-, second-, and third-place awards in each category.

All award-winning entries will be published in a writing awards booklet, with first-place finishers in each category receiving a small gift.

How and When: Professors of these respective classes should submit student entries to Prof. Laurie Dashnau (ChC 100-B) or to consultants in the Writing Center (ChC 101) by Monday, January 20, 2014.

Early submissions will be gladly accepted.

Winners will be announced in March 2014 and invited to a reading and awards ceremony to be held in April or May 2014.
