

Visiting Professor of Old Testament – 1-Year Appointment

Date of Hire

August 2022

Description

Houghton College invites applications for a full-time, visiting professor position in Old Testament in the Department of Religion & Global Service, at the assistant or associate level starting in August 2022, for one year.

This faculty member will join a vibrant department, contributing to undergraduate programs in Bible and Theology with multiple ministry concentrations, as well as the College's general education curriculum. The primary teaching responsibility will be in the residential programs on the Allegheny campus, with the possibility of an online course in each semester, if desired and/or needed. Across the 2022-23 academic year, the successful candidate will teach 3-4 sections of Houghton's general education course, BIBL 101: Biblical Literature, as well as a 2-semester sequence in elementary Biblical Hebrew, and 2 or 3 upper-level Old Testament courses for majors and non-majors.

No committee or advising responsibilities are attached to this one-year position. The faculty member shall contribute fully to the work of the department through participation in student events, admission efforts, faculty and department meetings, and campus Spiritual Life.

Qualifications:

PhD (or ABD) in Old Testament/Hebrew Bible, or Biblical Studies.

Membership in The Wesleyan Church or a sister denomination in the Wesleyan-Arminian tradition.

Also required is ability to help students form respectful attitudes and interactions with people who differ in abilities, attitudes, and cultural experience, with sensitivity to factors that affect our own assessment of others.

Other important qualities for this position include a commitment to excellence and creativity in undergraduate teaching, a mature Christian faith, and an ability to integrate Christian faith into their teaching.

Deadline:

Position will remain open until filled.
