Forestry Minor: 14 hours

Forestry (emphasis within the Biology minor)

Faculty: faculty from SUNY-ESF Ranger School

Because deforestation and other human activities affecting forested areas have significant ecological, aesthetic, and economic ramifications, gaining insight into our forest resources can play an important role in environmental stewardship and may be desirable for students intending to serve with missions organizations. The forestry program at Houghton University, which enjoys a largely forested campus, offers interested students to develop a deeper understanding of these issues through an agreement partnership with the State University of New York College of Environmental Science and Forestry (SUNY-ESF). Both a Forestry minor and a Forestry emphasis within a Biology major are offered through coursework taken at the SUNY-ESF Ranger School (est. 1912) based at Wanakena in the Adirondack Park. The Ranger School offers a rigorous 46-credit Forestry Technology program over an extended school year. Houghton students can participate for a fall semester (Forestry minor) or for an entire academic year (Forestry emphasis within a Biology major), depending on their educational and career goals. Those participating for the whole year also earn an AAS from SUNY-ESF.

Note: The program is not limited to Biology majors. Non-Biology students who have the necessary prerequisites may also opt to take the fall courses (earning a Forestry minor) or the whole-year program (earning a Forestry minor, Biology minor, and AAS degree in Forest Technology).
