Mission

Houghton University provides an academically challenging Christ-centered education in the liberal arts and sciences to students from diverse traditions and economic backgrounds and equips them to lead and labor as scholar-servants in a changing world.

Philosophy

Houghton University, an educational institution of The Wesleyan Church, seeks to prepare “scholar-servants” for effective engagement with the rapidly changing world of the 21st century. As “scholars,” students are trained not only in the theoretical knowledge of their fields, but also in how to apply that knowledge to practical circumstances in this country and around the world. As “servants,” they are inspired to steward their gifts humbly and graciously in the name of Jesus Christ in whatever circumstances God calls them to serve.

To be prepared to serve effectively, a Houghton graduate must develop skills in listening, reading, written and spoken communication, computation, problem-solving, logical reasoning, and value discrimination. In addition, the graduate’s cumulative knowledge must provide a solid foundation for lifelong learning through a thorough grounding in one or more academic disciplines, in addition to familiarity with the fundamental concepts, principles, and methods of the basic fields of knowledge. Learning must also relate disciplines to one another and to life in ways that assist in making wise decisions and appreciating one’s individual heritage while respecting cultural diversity and the integrity of creation.

To be inspired to serve with grace, Houghton graduates must encounter positive models through life examples from Houghton’s faculty and staff. To communicate Christianity effectively to others, their reasoned faith must rest on sufficient knowledge of the Bible and its central doctrines. Their lives will translate that knowledge into the daily circumstances of a worshipping and learning community.

To achieve its ideals, Houghton University will sustain a scholarly community of believers who confess the Lordship of Jesus and who actively seek truth and recognize its foundation in Christ. The faculty and staff will strive to provide a challenging and stimulating intellectual environment that is also nurturing and supportive. The community will be characterized by the historic distinctives of The Wesleyan Church, including purity of heart and life, concern for justice in social issues, and unselfish stewardship of time and the material provisions of creation.

Creedal Statement

Christian institutions over the past 2000 years have attempted to articulate the framework of their convictions in cognitive terms through assertions known as creeds. As an academic institution, we recognize that all learning happens within a framework of assumptions and presuppositions about the ultimate questions of human existence—the meaning of persons and the source and limits of knowledge. At Houghton, as at most Christian liberal arts universities, we seek to make these assumptions explicit.

Our framework of conviction draws heavily on the affirmations of the Apostle's Creed. It also reflects the particular concerns of the historical period within which it was articulated.

It is these convictions that we bring into dialogue with our academic studies such that both our faith and our studies may be enlarged and sharpened.

Houghton University Doctrinal Statement (Approved by the Board of Trustees)

- We believe that the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments are fully inspired of God and inerrant in the original writings, and that they are of supreme and final authority for faith and practice.
- We believe that there is one God, eternally existing in three persons: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.
- We believe that God created the entire universe, including human beings, by special operation of divine power.
- We believe in the fall of Adam and Eve and the consequent sinful nature of all humanity, which necessitates a divine atonement.
- We believe in Jesus Christ as truly God and truly man, and in His virgin birth, His matchless teachings, His vicarious death, His bodily resurrection, and His promised second coming.
- We believe in justification by grace through faith and in regeneration by the Holy Spirit, who makes the penitent believer a new creature in Christ and commences His lifelong sanctifying work.
- We believe that the Christian may be filled with the Holy Spirit, or sanctified wholly, as a definite act of divine grace wrought in the heart of the believer to take full possession, cleanse, and equip for service on condition of total surrender and obedient faith.
- We believe in the personal existence of Satan.
- We believe in the bodily resurrection of the dead – of the saved to everlasting blessedness and of the lost to everlasting punishment.

Community Expectation

All community members, including students, commit to Houghton's "A Vision of Our Common Life." This commitment signals our desire to live together in Christian community and fellowship. The Student Guide gives a more complete statement of expectations for community life, including student behavior and lifestyle.

As part of our commitment to community life, the Houghton community gathers for chapel two times a week (Monday and Friday).

Location

Houghton University's campus is in the hamlet of Houghton, Allegany County, in Western New York, about 65 miles southeast of Buffalo and 70 miles southwest of Rochester. It is in the heart of Genesee country, rich in historic Archaic, Lamoka, and Woodland Native American cultures. The campus sits on the Allegheny Plateau at roughly the 1,300-foot level on the site of the former Caneadea Indian Reservation of the early 1800s. Fifteen miles to the north are the Genesee's Portage Falls and Letchworth State Park. On all sides is the scenic beauty of the rolling hills and northern hardwood forests of western New York State. Allegany County, with extensive state forest land, abundant wildlife, and cross-country and downhill ski trails, is rapidly developing into a leading recreation area of Western New York.

History

The institution was established in 1883 as a seminary (high school) under the Wesleyan Methodist Connection. Coeducational from its founding, Houghton operated as a secondary school for its first 15 years. The institution has been committed from its conception to making a high-quality, deeply Christian education available to those who would not otherwise have this kind of opportunity. This commitment is grounded in the conviction that God has gifted each individual in ways that ought to be developed for the purpose of more effectively participating in God's redemptive purposes throughout the world. Thus, affordability, accessibility, and global engagement—as well as high quality and deeply Christian faith—have been consistent trademarks of a Houghton education throughout our history.

Beginning in 1899, a few college classes were offered—sufficient to allow the college department's first diploma to be awarded in 1901. Early principals of the school were Wesleyan Methodist pastors willing to accept the job. In 1908, Houghton acquired its first academically trained president, James S. Luckey, who served until his death in 1937.

President Luckey believed that if Houghton College was to have the impact God intended, it needed to be recognized within the larger world of American higher education. Thanks in large part to President Luckey's persistent efforts, Houghton College received its provisional charter from New York State in 1923 and awarded its first 19 baccalaureate degrees two years later. A permanent charter was granted in 1927, followed by full accreditation by the Middle States Association of Schools and Colleges in 1935.

When the former Buffalo Bible Institute in West Seneca merged with Houghton College in 1969, the West Seneca site was created. The programs at this site evolved from lower-divisional status to specialized courses and internships designed to complement majors offered on the main campus, particularly those requiring an urban setting.

Houghton College moved the focus of its work in Erie County from the former Buffalo Bible Institute site in West Seneca to various locations within the city of Buffalo. With these teaching sites, as well as a growing presence through Houghton Online, Houghton College continued to expand its efforts to make a high-quality, deeply Christian education available to those of all ages who would not otherwise have this opportunity.

In 2022, the New York State Board of Regents approved the name change and updated the charter for the institution to become Houghton University. Today, Houghton University offers multiple avenues for individuals to access Christ-centered higher education. Throughout its history, Houghton has affirmed that an education grounded in a deep sense of our identity as God's children and a commitment to excellence in critical thinking, communication, and community formation is the very best preparation for a lifetime of effectiveness and impact in the everchanging circumstances of the 21st-century.

Academic Standing and Regulations

Houghton University is fully accredited by the Regents of the University of the State of New York and by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education. The Middle States Commission on Higher Education, 3624 Market St., Philadelphia, PA 19104 (267.284.5000), is an institutional accrediting agency recognized by the U.S. Secretary of Education and the Council for Higher Education Accreditation.

The Greatbatch School of Music is a member of and accredited by the National Association of Schools of Music, and the requirements for entrance and graduation as set forth in this catalog are in accordance with the published regulations of the National Association of Schools of Music, 11250 Roger Bacon Drive, Suite 21, Reston, VA 20190 (703.437.0700).

The Houghton University Teacher Education Program (HUTEP) is accredited by the Association for Advancing Quality in Educator Preparation (AAQEP). Pursuant to §52.21 of the Regulations of the Commissioner of Education, the educator-preparation programs offered by Houghton University are considered to be continuously accredited for the purposes of meeting the New York State requirement that all such programs maintain continuous accreditation. The HUTEP is a member in good standing of the AAQEP and is working toward accreditation of its educator-preparation programs under the AAQEP standards. The most recent Quality Assurance Review was completed in Spring 2021.

Consortiums

Consortium activities increase learning opportunities for students by bringing special offerings to campus and creating the opportunity for selected sophomores or juniors to easily enroll in special offerings at other consortium institutions.

- Christian College Consortium
- Council for Christian Colleges and Universities (CCCCU)
- Acadeum Online Course Sharing Consortium
- Western New York Consortium of Higher Education
- Four College Consortium
 - Houghton is part of an ongoing consortium relationship with three other colleges and universities serving the northern tip of Appalachia: St. Bonaventure University, Alfred University, and the SUNY College of Technology at Alfred. Details of cross-enrollment opportunities can be found through the Registrar's Office.
- Rochester Area Colleges
 - Rochester Area Colleges is a consortium of higher education institutions in the Rochester, NY, area. Founded in 1970, Rochester Area Colleges has numerous public and private colleges in the area as members and provides many collaborative working opportunities for colleges and their students. The purpose of the association is to support the functions of career development, placement, and experiential education in the region.
 - Participating institutions include Alfred University, Finger Lakes Community College, Genesee Community College, Houghton University, Keuka College, Monroe Community College, Nazareth University, Roberts Wesleyan University, Rochester Institute of Technology, St. John Fisher University, SUNY Alfred, SUNY Brockport, SUNY Geneseo, and the University of Rochester. Admission Information

General Information

Houghton University admits students who demonstrate ability to contribute to and benefit from Houghton's Christ-centered academic community.

Nondiscrimination

Houghton University admits students of any race, color, and national or ethnic origin to all the rights, privileges, programs, and activities generally accorded or made available to students at the school. It does not discriminate based on sex, race, color, national or ethnic origin, or handicap in administration of its educational policies, admission policies, scholarship and loan options, and athletic or other school-administered offerings. The University reserves the right to operate as a church-related institution and to develop policies consistent with the religious tenets of its sponsoring denomination, The Wesleyan Church.

Application Decisions

Applicants to Houghton University will be granted one of the following admission decisions upon completion of their application file: admission, admission with support, waitlist, or denial of admission. Students admitted with support are reviewed by the admission committee, a cross-section of campus representatives from student life, academic support services, and faculty.

Admission with support refers to resources assigned to facilitate transition to the rigors of university life. Resources include mandatory consultation with the Center for Student Success, "light load" (no more than 14 credits the first semester), Writing in the Liberal Arts, and, in some cases, admission on probation (referred to as "manual probation"). Students admitted on manual probation are expected to achieve a grade point average (GPA) benchmark by a set date (after either the first semester or the first year of attendance) to remain enrolled and remove the probationary restriction.

Students placed on the waitlist are those who demonstrate the ability to be successful at Houghton but regarding whom more information is required before offering an official decision. Students can improve their standing on the waitlist by following guidance from admission staff members. Initial waitlist decisions are made once the candidate has shown initiative by following through on guidance from the Office of Admission.

Students not initially eligible for admission are encouraged to pursue higher education at another institution and reapply as transfer students. Students may appeal a denial of admission by contacting their admission counselor and following their guidance. An appeal does not guarantee a different outcome but is intended for students to provide additional information not included in their first application.

Application Forms

Students will be eligible to receive an admission decision upon completing an application for admission. First-year applicants are eligible for an admission decision after completing their junior year of high school and submitting a transcript showing grades to that point.

An admission decision will be provided upon completion of the application. All students are required to submit the application as well as a personal essay and transcript(s). Houghton is a test-optional school, and students have the freedom to choose whether or not to submit standardized test scores.

International students whose first language is other than English must submit a Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or International English Language Testing System (IELTS) score. They may also submit a Scholastic Assessment Test (SAT) of the College Entrance Examination Board, American College Testing exam (ACT), Duolingo English Test (DET), or Classic Learning Test (CLT) score, in lieu of the TOEFL or IELTS.

Houghton University accepts The Common Application in addition to our own online application. Links to both are available on the Office of Admission's website: <https://www.houghton.edu/admission>.

Application Deadlines

The Office of Admission responds to applications on a rolling basis beginning on July 1. It is in a student's best interest to apply early in the fall to be considered for opportunities such as Honors at Houghton and top scholarships.

Accepted applicants are asked to confirm their intention to enroll by paying a $300 enrollment deposit by May 1 or, if admitted after that date, within four weeks of receiving a financial aid award offer, thereby reserving a place in the entering class.

For applicants considering the spring semester, the priority application deadline is December 1.

Waiving of Enrollment Deposits

In isolated cases, a student may submit a written request for a deposit fee waiver. To be considered, the following must be true:

- The Chief Admission Officer or designee and the Chief Financial Aid Officer or designee must mutually approve.
- The student must demonstrate sufficient funding through at least one of the following options:
 - signing up for a payment plan and making the first payment,
 - presenting evidence of an approved loan sufficient to cover the balance, or
 - otherwise demonstrating sufficient funding for the remaining balance.

If a deposit is waived and the student does not comply with the above policy, such as signing up for a payment plan and failing to make scheduled payments, the waiver may be revoked, and the deposit may be required prior to the student's approval to register for courses, receive campus housing, and arrive on campus. Failure to comply with other financial validation steps, such as submission of final transcripts, health insurance opt-out, medical forms, and other required documents, may result in the revocation of the enrollment deposit waiver.

Application Fee

The application is free; there is no cost to apply.

Music Majors

Music majors must complete additional questions on their admission application and audition for The Greatbatch School of Music.

Honors at Houghton Admission

Upon admission to Houghton University, select students will be invited to interview for admission to Honors at Houghton. All students who meet the eligibility threshold based on academic criteria are considered regardless of intended academic major. Invitations to interview are sent after a student has been admitted. Candidates must attend an interview. International applicants are encouraged to interview in person but have the opportunity to interview virtually.

Admission decisions for Honors at Houghton are made upon completion of the interview. Those waitlisted for Honors at Houghton will begin receiving notification of offers of admission into Honors at Houghton after subsequent honors weekends or at the conclusion of the entire interview process, pending availability in each cohort.

Upon completion of Honors at Houghton, students are eligible to participate in Honors Seminars and can graduate with Honors distinction.

Students invited to interview for Honors at Houghton are also considered for one of the selective James S. Luckey scholarships.

For further information, please contact the Office of Admission or visit the Honors at Houghton website.

Recommended High School Courses

Houghton regards quality high school achievement as more important than any specific alignment of courses. However, the following are recommended for academic preparation for university:

- English: 4 years
- Foreign Language: at least 2 years
- Mathematics: 3 years
- History or Social Science: at least 3 years
- Science: at least 2 years

Entrance Examinations

Applicants are not required to submit a college entrance examination as part of the application. However, applicants seeking consideration for additional opportunities listed below should plan to submit a college entrance examination:

- International application (excludes Canadians) – students may take the TOEFL or IELTS
- The Lake Erie College of Osteopathic Medicine (LECOM) or University at Buffalo (UB) pharmacy programs

Individual academic departments reserve the right to require test scores as they relate to accreditation policies for those areas/programs (e.g., Education department) and/or program entrance criteria.

The Office of Admission has a policy of “super-scoring” test scores, if submitted, such that an applicant’s best subset scores from multiple tests (including the CLT) are used in decisions.

Information regarding the SAT, ACT, and CLT may be obtained from College Board, ACT, and CLT websites, respectively.

Houghton’s institution code numbers are 2299 for the SAT and 2766 for the ACT.

International Students

Application requirements for international students can be found on the Office of Admission website. All international applicants must submit an Affidavit of Financial Support as part of the admission and financial aid process.

Students who attended a high school in which English was not the primary language of instruction must demonstrate English proficiency. Students may submit a score from the TOEFL, the IELTS, Duolingo, or the SAT. Students with a paper-based TOEFL score of 550 or higher, an Internet-based score of 80 or higher, or a computer-based score of 213 or higher may be offered admission, provided all other factors are acceptable. An IELTS score of 6.5 or higher, a Duolingo score of 105 or higher, or an SAT Evidence-Based Reading and Writing score of 500 or higher will also be accepted.

In unique cases in which access to a standardized test is not possible, the admission committee reserves the right to evaluate international applicants based on student-specific circumstances.

High School Equivalency

An applicant may be considered for admission based on adequate scores on a valid high school completion credential, such as the Test Assessing Secondary Completion (TASC). Students seeking dual-enrollment during their senior year of high school should consult the Office of Admission and Student Financial Services. In some situations, students who attend college full-time before completing high school are not eligible for financial aid.

Advanced Placement Tests

Advanced course standing and/or college credit may be granted to students who take the College Board Advanced Placement (AP) tests. The current list of approved tests and applications of credit is available on the Registrar's Office webpage.

Inquiry concerning these tests should be made to the applicant's high school guidance office or the AP program of the College Board.

CLEP

College-Level Examination Program (CLEP) tests may be applied for advanced placement and/or credit. Only subject examinations will be accepted from CLEP. Guidelines for the transfer of credit via CLEP can be found on the Registrar's Office Academic Information webpage.

Students may test for credit by CLEP at the beginning level of a foreign language, provided the testing is done prior to the completion of a 205-level foreign language course, and at the intermediate level, provided the testing is done prior to the completion of the first advanced course. More information on CLEP exams may be obtained from College Board.

Readmission/Request to Return

Students who have previously applied to Houghton University within the past 12 months may submit a reapplication form to have their original application for admission reactivated. If more than 12 months have passed since the most recent application, students seeking admission may need to begin a new application. In both cases, any transcripts must be sent to the University. The reapplication form is accessible on the Admission website.

Students who matriculated at Houghton University, withdrew for any reason, and wish to return must submit the Request to Return form and ensure that the University receives transcripts for any college work taken in the interim. Approval to return is granted upon consent from campus stakeholders and receipt of any new information submitted since the student left Houghton, such as academic coursework completed elsewhere. The Request to Return form is accessible on the Admission website.

Homeschooled Students

Houghton University welcomes applications from homeschooled students.

Houghton considers each homeschooled applicant individually and holistically and does not state a preference for any one curriculum or homeschool approach over another. Homeschoolers who submit work to a distance learning entity should have that organization send a transcript. Otherwise, families should provide information regarding academic work and related activities for the 9–12-grade years. The Admission webpage features a sample curricular template and other useful information for homeschool families. Although Houghton is a test-optional school, homeschool families that engage in a nongraded approach may be asked to submit standardized test scores.

While the Office of Admission may admit a homeschooled student regardless of external secondary-completion credentials, certain Ability to Benefit documentation must be provided to be eligible for federal and/or New York State aid. Contact the Office of Admission to discuss these requirements. For New York State students in particular, note the information below. It may also be in a student's best interest to submit a college entrance examination if external grading is unavailable for a substantial portion of secondary coursework. For instance, if a homeschooled student has enrolled in 12+ credit hours of college-level coursework, that student may decline to submit a college entrance examination score as part of the application process.

New York residents wishing to receive state need-based financial aid (NYS TAP) must demonstrate the Ability to Benefit from higher education. A secondary-education completion credential (such as the Test Assessing Secondary Completion) or high school diploma (from a school registered with the State of New York) is acceptable, as is a passing score on one of several basic skills tests. A letter attesting to the substantial equivalency of the student's homeschool education from a local public high school official will also meet the Ability to Benefit requirement.

Homeschoolers who have taken college courses should have official transcripts of that work sent to Houghton.

Part-time Students

An individual who wishes to take a class as a part-time student must complete a guest student application form online. Similarly, high school (and homeschool) students who wish to take a class prior to graduating from high school must complete the early college application form. High school students must have completed their sophomore year to take a class at the University. Certain other stipulations and restrictions may apply; please contact the Office of Admission for further details.

Dual Enrollment

Houghton University has partnered with select high schools to offer dual-enrollment courses.

Transfer Admission Information

A transfer student is defined as any student who, subsequent to secondary completion, has enrolled as a full-time college student, or attempted at least 12 credit hours at a postsecondary institution. In exceptional circumstances, there may be special considerations for homeschooled or high school students who have enrolled in college coursework as part of their curriculum and graduation requirements.

Transfer students are welcome at Houghton with preference given to individuals who present a GPA of 3.00 or higher. Transfer students are expected to reside initially in University housing, unless commuting from a family home or at least 24 years old.

To be considered for admission, transfer students must submit a personal essay and official transcripts from all colleges or universities attended. In some instances, a transfer applicant may be asked to submit a high school transcript for admission consideration and financial aid eligibility.

Undergraduate Transfer Credit Guidelines

Transfers must complete at least 30 credits at Houghton and earn at least 50% of their major credits at Houghton to graduate with a Houghton degree.

Transfer credits are accepted from institutions that are regionally accredited and listed by the U.S. Office of Education in its current Education Directory of Colleges and Universities.

A maximum of 32 credits of approved AP, CLEP, DSST, and Higher-Level International Baccalaureate (IB) will transfer to Houghton.

Up to 67 credit hours may be transferred for appropriate courses completed with a grade of C- or above from a regionally accredited community college or a Bible college accredited by the Association for Biblical Higher Education.

University officials, in consultation with relevant school deans, will assess all transfer credits. Except as noted below, credit to meet Houghton requirements is granted on a course-by-course basis when it is reasonably clear that the course being transferred would, if taken at Houghton University, fulfill Houghton University requirements. To request a transfer credit evaluation, a student should contact the Office of Admission.

Grades from other colleges and universities will not be considered in the GPA calculation.

Latin honors are awarded for bachelor-level degrees only. At least 62 credit hours must be earned at Houghton to be eligible for graduation Latin honors (cum laude, magna cum laude, or summa cum laude). To be eligible to be valedictorian or salutatorian, a student must be a main campus student, full-time in the spring semester, and a May graduate and must have earned a minimum of 90 Houghton University credits.

Undergraduate Students with Less Than a Full Year of College Credit

For transfer students who have had less than a full year of successful college experience—as demonstrated by fewer than 25 transferable* semester credit hours—a course-by-course assessment will be done.

*“Transferable” refers to previous coursework that is awarded credit at Houghton University.

Undergraduate Transfer Students with a Full Year of College Credit

Transfer students who have at least a full year of successful college experience—as demonstrated by at least 25 transferable semester credit hours—have the choice of completing the full curriculum (of 30 credits) below to complete their General Education requirements or doing a course-by-course assessment of what they have taken previously.

Junior Transfers from Four-Year Baccalaureate Institutions

For students who have been enrolled in a baccalaureate degree program at an accredited baccalaureate institution and have successfully completed 60 or more semester hours of transferable credits, special considerations apply in meeting Houghton's General Education requirements.

Students who have earned at least 45 transferable credits in at least seven of the nine areas of writing, literature, foreign language, social science, philosophy, fine arts, history, math, and science need only take INTS 104 Transitions, Biblical Literature, Introduction to Christianity, and a 3-credit elective in Bible or Theology (9 credits total) to complete their General Education requirements.

Students with an Associate Degree

Transfer students who have earned an Associate of Arts (AA) or Associate of Science (AS) degree from a regionally accredited college may enter as juniors. Such students must take Biblical Literature, Introduction to Christianity, a 3-credit elective in Bible or Theology (9 credits total), and Transitions (INTS 104) to complete their General Education requirements. This policy does not apply to students who have attended Houghton previously or who have earned an Associate of Applied Science (AAS) degree. Students with an AAS degree will fall under the policy for Undergraduate Transfer Students with a Full Year of College Credit.

Transfer Agreements with Community Colleges

Houghton University has established transfer articulation agreements with community colleges across New York State. These agreements allow graduates who earn AA or AS degrees to transfer directly to Houghton with junior class standing.

Consumer Information Disclosure

In compliance with Student Consumer Information Regulations, Houghton University has developed a central guide to sources of consumer information. These disclosures, which are available at the Consumer Information Disclosure webpage, provide specific information to comply with the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended by the Higher Education Opportunity Act of 2008. The disclosures provided on this website include (but are not limited to) specific student rights regarding education records and directory information under the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act and information about financial aid, educational programs, accreditation, copyright infringement policies and sanctions, student loan information, campus safety, annual campus safety security reports, and federal requirements for return of funds, as well as institutional statistics such as completion, graduation, and transfer-out rates. Individuals may obtain a paper copy of this list and information on any of the disclosures upon request.

Financial Information

General Information

The goal of the Student Financial Services Office is to assist families through the financial aid process and help them identify sources of aid so a Houghton education is affordable. Houghton University distributes aid in compliance with all federal, state, and institutional policies and procedures. All students are urged to consult the aid counselors about particular funding-related situations. This is especially true for students considering participation in consortium or study-abroad opportunities.

Student Financial Services Office

The mission of the Student Financial Services Office is to provide excellent service for students, parents, and colleagues while upholding internal controls that ensure financial transactions are accurately processed and proper records are maintained. The office is responsible for billing and collection of student tuition, fees, and room and board for each semester as well as the receipt and disbursement of all student financial aid, including processing refunds from financial aid awards.

It is our goal to provide excellent service and support to our student population in a professional manner to create a positive environment for our students and their parents as well as our colleagues. We hope this information helps give students and parents insight into the functions of the Student Financial Services Office at Houghton University.

Tuition and Fees

Information about tuition and fees can be found at: <https://www.houghton.edu/undergraduate/tuition-aid/>; all prices are subject to change.

Students wishing to appeal a financial policy must complete the Financial Policy Appeal Form and return it to the Student Financial Services Office. It will be reviewed by the Financial Policy Subcommittee, and the student will be informed of the committee's decision in a timely manner.

Financial Aid

At Houghton University, thoughtful, generous, responsible human beings are developed—people with open minds, deep faith, and compassionate hearts who will make a positive impact on the world, whether by going on a mission trip, creating environmentally sound technologies, or conducting business with skill and integrity.

The Student Financial Services Office is committed to the needs of students and their parents and recognize that higher education is a significant and personal investment and a major concern for most families. Financial aid staff understand your concerns and will work to make this process as easy as possible.

The goal of the Student Financial Services Office is to make an education at Houghton University affordable for all students. Although the full need of every student cannot be met, every way possible is used to coordinate adequate resources, combining the various types of financial aid available to enable students and families to invest in higher education at Houghton University.

Canadians and other international students may apply for institutional aid by completing the Financial Affidavit as part of the admission process.

Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA)

Any U.S. student who wishes to be considered for aid funds administered by Houghton University must submit a FAFSA. Priority consideration is given to students whose applications are received by February 1. For example, students attending in the 2026-2027 academic year may submit a FAFSA beginning December 2025, and priority will be given to applications received by March 2026.

Houghton University uses the federal methodology formula to determine financial need. The Student Aid Index (SAI), which is a calculation of the federal methodology formula from the FAFSA data, is subtracted from the cost of attendance to determine need. The Student Financial Services Office attempts to defray the financial need of each student through various financial aid options.

All grants, scholarships, and federal loans are credited to the student's account each semester. Federal University work-study earnings are paid by check (or direct deposit if requested) to the student on a biweekly basis.

Requirements for Financial Aid Consideration

A student must be matriculated and making satisfactory academic progress to receive financial aid. A matriculated student is one who has met the entrance requirements and is pursuing a degree. Institutional aid is prorated according to enrollment status (i.e., full-time, part-time, etc.).

All inquiries concerning tuition, fees, scholarships, grants, or loans should be directed to Student Financial Services, Houghton University, One Willard Avenue, Houghton, NY 14744 (phone: 585.567.9328 | email: sfso@houghton.edu | web: www.houghton.edu/sfso).

The procedures and policies listed above supersede those published previously and are subject to change at any time.

Refund Policy

Houghton University's refund policy is in accordance with the U.S. Department of Education's (DOE) regulations. The policy applies to all students who do not complete the enrollment period for which they have been charged.

Houghton University uses student accounts to assess charges and apply payments and credits against those charges. Financial aid is applied to student accounts after the close of the period during which courses can be added or dropped for the semester (add/drop period). Credit balances caused by financial aid are refunded after careful evaluation of the student's account and eligibility.

Students wishing to keep the credit balance on their student account for a future term must send a written request to the Student Financial Services Office as required by the federal regulations for Title IV funds.

The term "Title IV Funds" refers to the federal financial aid programs authorized under the Higher Education Act of 1965 (as amended) and includes the following programs: Federal Direct Loans, Federal PLUS Loans, Federal Pell Grants, and Federal SEOG.

Note: As of this publication, the Federal Higher Education Reauthorization Act has not been finalized and may affect federal aid.

In the case of course cancellation by the institution, credit equal to 100% of tuition and fees will be given. Students suspended for academic or disciplinary reasons will not be entitled to a refund of tuition, fees, or housing.

A credit balance on a student account as a result of withdrawal will be refunded within a minimum of two weeks after the student has officially withdrawn through the Registrar's Office.

Change in Enrollment Status

If a student changes enrollment status after receiving a refund based on financial aid, the student may be required to repay all or part of the aid received to Houghton University or to the appropriate federal or state aid programs. Students receiving federal aid who change enrollment status or withdraw from the University will have federal aid adjusted in accordance with formulas prescribed by the Federal Title IV program.

Students who withdraw from Houghton University receive only the balance remaining on the student account after the appropriate refund calculations have been made by the Student Financial Services Office in accordance with the Return of Federal Title IV Funds Policy below.

A student's withdrawal date is the date on which the student began the institution's withdrawal process or officially notified the institution of the intent to withdraw; for a student who leaves without notifying the institution, the midpoint of the term is used as the withdrawal date. The refund charts for semesters and sessions are below.

If a student stops attending classes and begins the withdrawal process but remains on campus utilizing room and/or board for an additional amount of time, separate dates will be used to calculate room and meal plan refunds. Students withdrawing before classes begin for a given term will receive a 100% refund of charges. A copy of the worksheet used for the refund calculation can be requested from the Student Financial Services Office.

Any student who is granted a medical withdrawal may receive a refund of charges prorated on a per-situation basis up to the 100% point in the semester. The Office of Student Life must approve a medical withdrawal. A student who is granted a leave of absence is treated in the same manner as students who withdraw from the University.

Fall/Spring Tuition, Room, and Meal Plan Refund:
Before 1 st day of classes	100%
Days 1 and 2	100%
Remainder of Week 1 (Days 3–7)	90%
Week 2	75%

Refund 8-Week Sessions:
First Two Days	100%
Remainder of Week 1 (Days 3–7)	75%
Week 2	50%
Week 3 and after	0%

Note: The 8-week Session refund chart applies only to students enrolled in one (1) session for the semester.

Return of Federal Title IV Funds Policy

Title IV aid and all other aid are earned in a prorated manner on a per-diem basis following the academic calendar up to the 60% point in the semester, after which Title IV aid and all other aid are viewed as 100% earned.

In accordance with federal regulations, when financial aid is involved, refunds are allocated in the following order: Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loans; Federal Direct Subsidized Loans; Federal PLUS Loans; Federal Pell Grants; Federal SEOG; other Title IV assistance; other federal sources of aid; other state, private, and institutional aid; and, lastly, cash payments.

The following outlines the policy in greater detail.

Funds Returned

Houghton University returns unearned funds received from federal student assistance programs to the proper program accounts or lenders in accordance with Federal Title IV student assistance regulations, as amended, under 34-CFR, section 668.22(d) of the Reauthorization of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

A student receiving aid from Federal Title IV programs is required to complete a minimum number of credits for which aid was received. If a student completely withdraws from school during the semester or stops attending but fails to officially withdraw, the student may be required to return the unearned part of the funds received to help pay educational expenses for the semester. Liability for return of Federal Title IV funds will be determined in accordance with the following guidelines:

- If a student remains enrolled and attends class beyond the 60% mark of the semester in which aid is received, all federal aid is considered earned and is not subject to this policy.
- If a student completes the institution's withdrawal process before the 60% mark of the semester, a prorated portion of the federal aid received must be returned to the federal aid programs equal to the percentage of the semester remaining.
- If a student fails to complete the institution's withdrawal process but stops attending classes, a prorated portion of the federal aid received, based on the last documented date of attendance, must be returned to the federal aid programs. If the institution is not able to document the last date of attendance, one half of all federal aid received during the semester must be returned to the federal aid programs.

Returned federal Title IV funds will be distributed according to statutory regulations. Worksheets/formulas provided by the U.S. DOE will be used to determine the amounts and order of return. If a student's share of the return amount exists, the student will be notified and allowed 45 days from the date of determination to return the funds to the Student Financial Services Office of the institution for deposit into the federal programs' accounts. If the student fails to return the amount owed within the 45-day period, the amount of overpayment will be reported to the DOE via the National Student Loan Database, and the student will be referred to the DOE for resolution of the debt. When necessary, unearned aid will be refunded to the appropriate programs based on these regulations.

Funds Disbursed

When a student officially or unofficially withdraws, the Student Financial Services Office will determine if the student is entitled to a post-withdrawal disbursement. Post-withdrawal disbursement occurs when the student receives less federal student aid than the amount earned (based on the withdrawal date). Houghton University will then offer a disbursement of the earned aid that was not received. All post-withdrawal disbursement offers will be made within 14 days of the date on which Houghton University determined that the student withdrew.

The fees, procedures, and policies listed above supersede those published previously and are subject to change at any time.

Satisfactory Academic Progress

Satisfactory Academic Progress requirements for federal and institutional financial aid

According to Title IV financial aid regulations, students must make satisfactory progress toward a degree to remain eligible to receive financial aid. Satisfactory academic progress includes both qualitative (GPA) and quantitative (number of credit hours completed) measures of the student's progress. For a four-year (eight-semester) bachelor's degree, there is a 12-semester maximum for the receipt of federal subsidized student loans (150% rule).

Students who fail to make satisfactory academic progress will be subject to the following.

Financial Aid Warning

The first time a student fails to meet the satisfactory academic progress requirements, the student will be sent a financial aid warning letter, which will indicate that the student is in danger of losing aid eligibility unless the student improves academically. A student on financial aid warning may continue to receive financial aid for the next payment period.

Financial Aid Probation

The second time a student fails to meet the satisfactory academic progress requirements, the student will lose eligibility for financial aid. However, the student may petition the Committee on Satisfactory Academic Progress for a one-time waiver of the necessary academic requirements. Petitions will be considered when accompanied by written evidence of injury or illness, significant personal difficulty, family trauma, or other special circumstances. This appeal must also include an academic plan for successfully meeting the satisfactory academic progress requirements. If the student is approved for this one-time waiver, the student will be considered to be on financial aid probation and will be eligible to receive financial aid for the next payment period. Students can appeal the 150% rule for extenuating circumstances such as illness, full-time employment, significant personal difficulty, family trauma, or other special circumstances. This applies to all students (including Online Program students), and the appeal process is the same as above for all students.

Unsatisfactory Academic Progress

If a student's appeal is denied by the Committee on Satisfactory Academic Progress or if the student fails to meet the requirements after being on financial aid probation, then the student is no longer eligible to receive federal and institutional financial aid. Aid eligibility may be reinstated in the future if the student successfully meets the necessary satisfactory academic progress requirements.

Transfer of Credits from Other Schools

When a student (including Online Program students) transfers courses to Houghton from another college or university, the transfer credit assessor will determine the number of credit hours acceptable toward a Houghton degree. The number of credit hours accepted will be counted as both credits attempted and credits completed. Grades from the other institution will not be considered in the GPA calculation (some exceptions may apply, e.g., CCCU and special consortium arrangements).

Change of Major

In the event of a change of major, the credits and grades earned in the first major are considered in satisfactory academic progress determinations.

Repeating Courses

See Repeating Courses policy. Also note: Students needing to repeat a course more than twice should consult the Student Financial Services Office. Repeating a course may influence a student's financial aid, athletic, or other co-curricular eligibility.

Withdrawals and Incomplete Courses

Courses from which a student withdraws may impact the student's GPA depending on the date of withdrawal. The credit hours of the course count toward credits attempted for satisfactory academic progress purposes (even if they do not count in GPA calculations). Any incomplete courses are counted as credits attempted. When the "I" signifying an incomplete course is changed to an actual grade, the course will be considered complete and the GPA reviewed for satisfactory academic progress purposes.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Undergraduate Federal and Houghton University Financial Aid

Full-time semesters	Minimum accrued credit hours	Cumulative GPA

Second year	60%
Third year	65%
Fourth year	70%
Fifth year	70%
Sixth year	80%

Satisfactory Academic Progress Requirements for the New York State Tuition Assistance Program (TAP)

New York State uses a different satisfactory academic progress standard than the federal Title IV requirements. All satisfactory academic progress policies mentioned above apply to state aid except for the differences described below.

Transfers: Transfer students and students who return after an absence of at least one year are considered to be making satisfactory academic progress by their admission acceptance. The assessment and information concerning the number of semesters in which the student previously received aid will be used to place the student at the appropriate point on the academic progress chart. Placement may be in accord with either the number of payments received or the number of credit hours earned, whichever is more beneficial to the student.

Waiver: Students who are not meeting the New York State satisfactory academic progress requirements may apply for a one-time waiver as described in the financial aid probation section above.

New York State Satisfactory Academic Progress Chart

For TAP, students must be full-time and meet the following requirements:

Semesters of TAP received	Minimum accrued credit hours	Cumulative GPA
1	6	1.5
2	15	1.8
3	27	1.8
4	39	2.0
5	51	2.0
6	66	2.0
7	81	2.0
8	96	2.0

Financial Validation

Financial Aid Policy

For students to be financially validated to attend Houghton University each academic year, it is imperative that required paperwork and funding be secured by certain deadlines.

The first step in applying for financial aid is to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) at <https://studentaid.gov>. The application is available beginning October 1 of the preceding year and is expected to be submitted by February 15. Students applying for the 2026–2027 academic year may submit a FAFSA beginning December 2025, and priority will be given to applications received by March 2026.

The federal government selects a significant number of FAFSA applicants for a process called income verification. If a student is selected for income verification, the Student Financial Services Office will contact the student beginning in February to request pertinent documentation. Documentation is due to the office within 14 days after the initial request to ensure timely processing and issuing of the financial aid award letter. If any documentation is still missing after May 1, there is no guarantee that the student will be financially validated for the upcoming semester.

Award letters from outside scholarship organizations should be submitted to Student Financial Services as soon as they are available, preferably by May 1 to be reflected on the billing statement. Please notify the office if the organization will be sending scholarship payment directly to the student rather than Houghton University.

Students borrowing Federal Subsidized and Unsubsidized Loans for the first time are required to complete Loan Entrance Counseling and the Master Promissory Note (MPN) at <https://studentaid.gov/>. Federal direct loans may not be listed as anticipated aid on the billing statement if these steps are not completed by July 1.

Other Department Factors Impacting Financial Validation

Registrar's Office: Course registration should be finalized by June 1. Any changes thereafter may not be reflected on the fall billing statement. It is the student's responsibility to review the course schedule on Self-Service and ensure that the billing statement accurately reflects intended enrollment.

Student Accounts: Students (and parents, if granted access*) may view real-time account activity and billing statements via the Student Account Center (SAC) at <https://mycollegepaymentplan.com/houghton>. Students will log in with their Houghton University credentials. Email notifications are issued each time a new electronic billing statement is posted.

NOTE: Parents do not receive notifications of billing statements unless their students have established shared-access accounts for them. This is in compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act.*

To grant access to a parent or other authorized user, students should log in to the SAC, go to "Add an Authorized Party," and enter account information for the shared-access user as prompted. (It may be easiest to do this in person with whomever is being granted access.)

Fall bills will be issued in the first weeks of July and are due by the second week of August. To be financially validated, payment must be made in full. This may mean out-of-pocket payment, an approved loan application, an official payment plan through <https://mycollegepaymentplan.com/houghton>, or a combination of any of the above.

It is the student's responsibility to ensure that the student is financially validated by the third week of August. This will guarantee that the student is approved to move to campus and begin the fall semester. Students may also check their Financial Validation status in Self-Service under the "Finances" tab. The Fall Financial Validation document will be marked as "Received" if the student is financially validated. Students who are not financially validated should contact Student Financial Services at sfso@houghton.edu for assistance. Students may not be able to move into University housing or attend classes if they are not financially validated before arrival on campus.

For the spring semester, bills will be issued in November and will be due the second week of December. Financial validation should be completed by the first week of January.

Mayterm and Summer courses should be selected by the last week of March for accurate billing statements to be issued in April, due the first week of May. Payment plans are not available for summer courses, so balances must be paid in full prior to the start of the term. Additional Spring loan funding may be approved for use toward these charges. Contact Student Financial Services for more information.

Students who fail to adhere to these deadlines will be subject to a $250 late fee after the bill due date and registration cancellation for the upcoming semester.

If a student has extenuating circumstances, the student may submit a Financial Policy Appeal Form to document these circumstances and outline a detailed plan for payment. Exemptions are approved at the discretion of the Student Financial Services Office based on the documentation provided and must be requested prior to the bill due date if it becomes apparent to the student that funding will not be secured in time. An approved appeal is a one-time approval and is only applicable to the relevant semester; subsequent semesters are expected to be paid by the due date unless a new appeal is approved.

Students owing over $200 will be placed on Financial Hold and will not be permitted to register for subsequent semesters or receive diplomas (if applicable). Students with delinquent balances at the end of a semester may be withdrawn from the University, transferred to noncurrent status, and charged a 1.5%- or $2.00-per-month finance charge, whichever is greater. If it becomes necessary to engage the services of a collection agency or attorney to effect collection or settle any dispute in connection with the terms, the student is subject to pay any and all fees due to the collection agency.

Veterans Benefits

General Information

Houghton University welcomes military veterans and their families to our community. We have a long tradition of commitment to and support of our armed services. Through our Yellow Ribbon School status and designation as a Military Friendly School, Houghton continues to seek opportunities to serve our military students and their families with the highest level of care.

Tuition Benefits

Houghton University is approved by the New York State division of Veterans Affairs for the training of veterans. Houghton University also participates in the Yellow Ribbon Program for students receiving educational assistance under the Post-9/11 GI Bill.

In accordance with Title 38 US Code 3679 subsection (e), this school adopts the following additional provisions for any students using U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Post 9/11 G.I. Bill® (Ch. 33) or Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment (Ch. 31) benefits while payment to the institution is pending from the VA. Houghton University will not:

- Prevent nor delay the student's enrollment;
- Assess a late penalty fee to the student;
- Require the student to secure alternative or additional funding;
- Deny the student access to any resources available to other students who have satisfied their tuition and fee bills to the institution, including but not limited to access to classes, libraries, or other institutional facilities.

However, the student must meet all other Financial Validation requirements and produce the Certificate of Eligibility by the first day of class.

Please note, only courses that satisfy requirements outlined by the curriculum guide or graduation evaluation form can be certified for VA purposes. A curriculum guide or graduation evaluation form should be kept in the student's file and courses certified should be checked. If a student takes a course that does not fulfill a program requirement, it cannot be certified or paid for with VA benefits.

Additional information is available in the Student Financial Services Office.

Researching your State and Federal Benefits

State: See if you qualify for any state Veterans educational benefits. Visit the New York State Department of Veterans' Services webpage for information about the New York State Veterans Tuition Award (NYSVTA).

Federal: Contact the Veterans Administration to find out what benefits you qualify for under your military service contract, or visit the Department of Veterans Affairs website. Many veterans qualify for more than one type of benefit, so you need to determine which benefit would help you best achieve your educational goals. To do this, you can use the Benefits Comparison Tool at the Department of Veterans Affairs website, or call them at 1-888-GIBILL-1 (1-888-442-4551) from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Central time Monday through Friday. Additional questions can be directed to Student Financial Services at SFSO@houghton.edu or 585-567-9328.

 - typically taken the sophomore or junior year
 - required minimum level for major credit
 - foundational courses for majors and minors
 - build upon one or more foundational courses in the same discipline or represent advanced General Education
- 400-level courses:
 - typically taken late in the curriculum
 - build upon two or more lower-numbered courses in the same discipline
 - generally have smaller class sizes
 - seminar style, discussion-oriented, or collaborative-style pedagogy
- 500-level courses:
 - reserved for graduate-level studies
- 600-level courses:
 - reserved for graduate-level studies

Academic Note:

A student's courses normally fall into five or six categories:

1. General Education
2. pre/corequisites or additional requirements
3. academic major
4. electives
5. minor
6. concentrations may be required for some majors

When necessary, students should ask their academic advisors about individual program expectations.

Policies

Undergraduate Transfer Student Admission

See Transfer Admission Information and Undergraduate Transfer Credit Guidelines for more information.

Religious Observances

In compliance with New York State Education Law, Houghton University will accommodate any of its matriculated students who are unable to register for classes, take an exam, or attend a class because of religious beliefs (taken to mean the doctrinal beliefs of religious organizations that qualify as tax-exempt corporations under federal law).

Undergraduate Semester Schedule Load-Limit Policy

The flat-rate tuition plan at Houghton allows students to take 12 to 18 credits per semester. A typical student's course load is 15 or 16 semester credits. However, some special limitations and conditions apply:

1. A student admitted under “light-load” provision is not permitted to take more than 14 credits in a semester. (Note: Highlander Adventure [2 credits] will appear on the fall transcript but does not count against load limits.) Additionally, if the student is required to take CLLS 102: College Study Methods (1 credit) and CLLS 103: College Study Methods Lab (1 credit), the student may be permitted to enroll in a maximum of 15 credits in their first semester.
2. A student on academic probation is not permitted to take more than 15 credits in a semester. Any other student in good standing may take up to 17 credits. However, students on academic guidance who wish to take 16 or 17 credits must have the explicit approval of their advisors.
3. To take 18 credit hours (a “heavy load”), students must have special permission from their advisors (see instructions on Registrar's Office website).
4. To take 19 credit hours or more, students must petition the Academic Petitions Committee for permission. This academic petition requires advisor approval.
5. Special circumstances may be addressed through academic petition. (Academic petition and load-limit forms are available on the Registrar's Office website.)

Once a student selects courses for the semester, this selection is expected to be permanent. In the event that a student needs to add or drop a course, the student should complete the add/drop online through Self-Service or by submitting the form located on the Registrar's Office webpage. This form requires the advisor's and instructor's permission. The student will receive a confirmation email from the Registrar's Office when the schedule change has been finalized.

Add/Drop Permission

Courses (including independent studies and tutorials) may not be added for credit after the first academic week. Courses from which a student withdraws during the 2nd through 10th weeks will be recorded with a grade of “W.” Courses discontinued within the last four weeks of the semester are assigned a grade of “F.” Half-semester courses have different dates for adding, dropping, and withdrawing. Check the calendar of Important Dates on the Registrar's Office website for an accurate listing. Students are not officially added/dropped/withdrawn from a course until they have completed the add/drop or course withdrawal form online and have received a confirmation email from the Registrar's Office. Students who wish to withdraw from a music ensemble must first consult with the director of the ensemble at the Greatbatch School of Music. (See the Registrar's Office webpage for online forms; see Mayterm policy for additional important information.)

Waitlists

Waitlists are available to students during course registration. When seats open in courses, students are notified of the opportunity to register.

Classroom Attendance

Students are expected to attend classes. Each instructor will state expectations in the course syllabus, which is to be distributed at the start of each semester. If an instructor determines a student to be failing due to absences, the instructor may request that the Registrar's Office withdraw the student from the course.

Online Attendance

Students are expected to attend their online classes and are required to confirm their enrollment in the course by logging into Moodle. Any student who has not logged in to confirm enrollment three days after the "add" period ends will automatically be dropped from the course. Attendance for any week of an online course is defined as any observable engagement with course material during the week, including posting in a discussion forum, submitting an assignment, taking a quiz or test, or participating in a live session. This standard is used to determine all attendance issues, including but not limited to reports of never having attended, reports of last date attended, and final grades of F in the course due to lack of attendance. Professors are required to record online attendance each week in Moodle and to report students who are absent for two consecutive weeks to the Director of Houghton Online. The Director also checks on attendance during the first week of classes and the week before it is no longer possible to withdraw without failing a course. Beyond this minimum, each instructor will state any additional expectations in the course syllabus, which is available at the start of each course. If a student is determined to be failing due to attendance, the instructor may request that the Registrar's Office withdraw the student from the course. Students can also be administratively withdrawn by the Director if they have not been engaged for two weeks or longer with their online course.

Policy on Awarding Credit Hours through Coursework

Academic credit is granted by Houghton University through coursework when a student is assessed by the instructor of record as having performed academically at a passing level in the course. Performance evaluation is guided by the grading policies of the University and when one of the following can also be documented:

1. For each credit hour, the student receives at least 15 hours (each defined as 50 minutes) of instruction. For this purpose, instruction is defined as including live or prerecorded lectures/presentations and all directly synchronously supervised or observed time on task (whether face to face or at a distance). For each credit hour, the student also completes course-related work outside of instructional time requiring at least 30 hours of time on task for a typical student.
2. For each credit hour, the student is expected to complete independent course-related work requiring at least 45 hours of time on task (as defined above).
3. For each credit hour, the student is expected to complete course-related work and receive instruction (each as defined above) in any combination that sums to at least 45 hours.

Minimum expectations for time on task for various common learning activities (determined through a synthesis of existing research and a review of policies at other institutions) include:

Learning activity	Additional comments	Typical minimum time on task
Assigned reading	Reading rate for learning	3 minutes per page (approx. 100 words per minute)
Journal/personal and science lab report writing		0.5 hours per page of writing (approximately 250 words)

Participation in online dialogue(s)	Asynchronous via text, audio, and/or video (Synchronous time would be counted as instructional.)	1 hour for 5 postings (original or in response to other posters), each consisting of at least 5 sentences or 30 seconds of recorded material
Researched paper or presentation (live or recorded, individual or group): research component	Supervised time is counted as instructional.	1.5 hours per finished page or per 30 seconds of live/recorded presentation
Researched paper: writing/editing component	Supervised time is counted as instructional.	1.5 hours per finished page
Researched presentation (live or recorded, individual or group): preparation component	Script writing, PowerPoint creation, audio/video recording, editing, and related tasks	2 hours per 30 seconds of live/recorded presentation
Subject-specific learning activities that clearly fall outside the categories above	See paragraph below	Designated in syllabi based on disciplinary standards and departmental/area agreement

For a number of learning activities, such as audio or video listening/viewing or conversational practice for language acquisition, time on task is set by the length of the assigned material itself. For active learning situations, such as field experiences and internships, unsupervised time on task is normally dictated by context and must be documented in syllabi. Moreover, because specific assignments involving research, writing, creative production, or skill development may vary significantly depending on subject matter and difficulty level, instructors may also provide charts similar to the one above in individual syllabi designating the expected time on task for each assignment. Any such designation should demonstrate conformity to accepted practice in the field of study and should be applied consistently within the department or academic area. For example, for individual studio instruction in music at Houghton University, hours of academic credit are granted according to the following formulas (based on National Association of Schools of Music norms):

Credit hours	Individual studio instruction hours	Student practice hours outside of lesson time
2	7	84
3	14	126
4	14	168
5	21	210

Audit

Courses may be audited with permission from the professor. This involves enrolling in and attending the course but receiving neither grade nor academic credit. Charges vary according to the type of course being audited and the rest of the student's load. The full policy can be found at the Registrar's Office.

Dual-counting

Dual-counting addresses the situation in which a single course satisfies requirements in more than one major or minor subject.

A student must have a minimum of 24 distinct credits in each major and a minimum of 12 distinct credits in each minor and concentration. Credits beyond these minimum distinct credits may be dual-counted as permitted by individual major/minor/concentration requirements—that is, a course that meets requirements for both a major and a minor (or two majors, etc.) may be used toward both if such a course is beyond the minimum 24/12 distinct credits for the major/minor.

This policy also applies to courses that are cross-listed (identified by more than one prefix) as long as the course-level requirements for those cross-listed courses are the same. Courses that are not the same should be identified by different numbers as well as different prefixes. The dual-counting restrictions described above do not apply to courses that fulfill both General Education requirements and the requirements of a major, minor, or concentration. General Education courses may be counted toward a major, minor, or concentration without limitation.

Final Exam Policy

If a student believes the scheduling of too many exams in one day poses a problem, the student may appeal to the Provost's Office. Written (email is acceptable) approval by the faculty member being asked to move an exam should be forwarded to the Provost's Office and copied to the relevant school dean(s).

Grading System

A literal system is used in the grading of University coursework as follows:

Grade	Quality Points
A = Excellent		A = 4.00	A- = 3.67
B = Good	B+ = 3.33	B = 3.00	B- = 2.67
C = Average	C+ = 2.33	C = 2.00	C- = 1.67
D = Passing	D+ = 1.33	D = 1.00	D- = 0.67
F = Below minimum standards		F = 0

- W-Withdrawn. A grade applicable to a course from which a student withdraws in the 2nd through 10th week of classes.
- I-Incomplete. A temporary grade to be made up within five weeks of the close of the semester (the last day of final exams); see Incomplete Grade Policy.
- P-Satisfactory work done (equivalent to a regular grade of D or above). Gives semester hours but no quality points.
- S-Satisfactory work done (equivalent to a regular grade of C- or above). Gives semester hours but no quality points.
- U-Unsatisfactory work. Credit is not earned from the course and does not figure in the overall GPA.
- NR-Not Recorded grade. Used only for courses extending beyond one semester. The faculty member will submit the NR grade to the Registrar's Office. The final grade, based on work completed to that point, is to be submitted within one calendar year from the end of the applicable semester.

Midterm Grade Policy

Midterm grades are provided for all first-year students and any upper-class students with a C- or lower.

Incomplete Grade Policy

An incomplete grade is a temporary grade that may be assigned under extraordinary circumstances, such as illness, emergencies, or events beyond the student's control. Students are eligible to request an incomplete grade if they have satisfactorily completed at least three-quarters of the course requirements and will develop a plan outlining the remaining coursework, in consultation with their instructor. Instructors are not expected to be available beyond the end of the semester, except for grading submitted work. Incomplete grade requests must be submitted to the Registrar's Office by the time final grades are due. Incomplete grades should be resolved within five weeks of the close of the semester (the last day of final exams). At the five-week mark, the final grade will be entered based on work completed and graded up to that point.

Satisfactory/D/Fail Coursework

To encourage students to sample challenging and unfamiliar coursework they might otherwise avoid, full-time juniors and seniors in good standing with the University may take up to 4 credits per semester, but no more than 12 credits cumulatively, of Satisfactory/D/Fail (S/D/F) coursework. Work equivalent to a letter grade of C– or better is required to earn a grade of “Satisfactory” (“S”). When a student is taking the course for S/D/F, Ds and Fs are included in the GPA, but grades of “S” are not. To take a course S/D/F, students must be carrying at least 12 credits of standard, graded coursework during the same semester. Faculty members will not be made aware of whether any students in the course are taking it S/D/F and will report all grades for the course as regular letter grades. Because the S/D/F option is intended to encourage student exploration of electives, it may not be used for courses meeting requirements in a student's major, minor, or concentration; for their pre- and corequisites; or for General Education requirements.

Grade Grievance Procedure

The University has approved a formal procedure for resolving those occasions when a student actively disagrees with the grade received in a course. The steps are as follows:

1. Within the first two weeks of the subsequent semester, the student will meet with the instructor. If a grade inaccuracy is determined, the instructor will process a grade change request.
2. If agreement cannot be reached, the student may contact the instructor's school dean in writing within 10 working days after meeting with the instructor. If agreement is reached, a grade change request will be processed. If there is no agreement, or if the instructor is also the school dean, go to the next step.
3. The student may appeal the decision to the Provost's Office in writing within 10 working days of the previous step. The Associate Provost (or the Provost's designee) shall investigate carefully and render a decision, which shall be final. If the decision is to reconsider the grade, the following will occur:
 - The Associate Provost shall, within 10 days, form a panel of uninvolved, tenured faculty from the instructor's department. (From a designated pool, the Associate Provost, the instructor, and the student will each select one member of the panel.)
 - The panel will review all appropriate material and determine the final grade within 30 days. The panel may retain the original grade or assign a new grade (which may be higher or lower than the grade in question) and will so inform the Registrar's Office.

Grade Point Average (also known as Quality Point Average)

To derive a scholastic average for all of a student's courses each semester, letter grades are assigned numerical equivalents (as shown above) and then multiplied by the credit hours for the course. The grade/quality points for all courses taken are totaled and then divided by the total number of letter grade hours carried (see example below).

Course	Credit Hours	Grade in Course	Quality Point Value	Quality Points
Biblical Literature	4	C	2.00	8.00
Western Civilization	2	B	3.00	6.00

Literary Studies	4	D+	1.33	5.32
Intro to Psychology	4	B+	3.33	13.32
Spanish Level II	4	A–	3.67	14.68
Totals	18			47.32

$$\frac{\text{Quality Points}}{\text{Total Credits}} = \frac{47.32}{18} = \text{GPA } 2.628$$

Courses taken off campus under Houghton University Affiliated Opportunities are considered work taken at Houghton University. To determine whether or not grades will be recorded, please see the Tabular Listing of Off-Campus Opportunities. For all other satisfactory off-campus coursework, regular letter grades are not recorded on the transcript.

Repeating Courses

Students have the option to repeat courses in which they earned D+ or lower. In such cases, the higher grade will count in GPA calculations, but the course credits earned will count only once. Both courses and both grades remain on the transcript with an indication of which course is counted. A student may only repeat a previously passed course once. Failed courses may be repeated until successfully passed. Students needing to repeat a course more than twice should consult the Student Financial Services Office. Repeating a course may influence a student's financial aid or athletic or other co-curricular eligibility.

Eligibility for Participation

Being in good standing with the University is a prerequisite for participating in University activities, whether for curricular or co-curricular purposes, including but not limited to the following:

- intercollegiate athletics*
- leadership roles in the Student Government Association
- leadership in clubs and other student organizations
- any study for academic credit not on Houghton's main campus (e.g., off-campus programs)
- opera and musical theater production performances, including production staff
- dramatic production performances, including production staff, whether curricular or student-led
- touring with music ensembles

Students in good standing must have passed at least 24 credit hours over the last two semesters (with equivalent conversion of quarter hours into semester hours if necessary) of school (including Mayterm and summer work following those semesters) with a cumulative GPA of 2.0, be regularly attending classes, and not be on disciplinary probation or have unaddressed chapel attendance deficiencies.

Transfer students in their first semester at Houghton will be eligible if they would have been academically and athletically eligible at the previous institution (had they remained there), have a cumulative 2.0 GPA based on previous work, and are enrolled in at least 12 credits for the first semester.

Transfer students entering their second semester at Houghton will continue to be eligible if they have a cumulative GPA of at least 2.0 (at Houghton), are not on disciplinary probation, have no unaddressed chapel attendance deficiencies, and passed either a.) at least 12 credits in the first semester at Houghton or b.) sufficient credits during the first semester at Houghton to be meeting the 24-hour rule above.

Transfer students heading into subsequent semesters will continue to be eligible if they have a cumulative GPA of 2.0 (at Houghton), have passed at least 24 credits in the last two semesters (including Mayterm and summer work following those semesters), are not on disciplinary probation, and have no unaddressed chapel attendance deficiencies.

Note: There are eligibility requirements for intercollegiate athletes governed by an external intercollegiate association that are not addressed here. In addition, this policy does not apply to intramural sports participation. (See the Student Guide for further detailed information on both intercollegiate and intramural participation.)

Other notes: This policy applies to full-time (minimum of 12 credits) and not to part-time students. Student membership (as opposed to leadership) in other student clubs is exempted from this policy except as outlined in the bullets above. Some campus leadership positions require a cumulative GPA higher than 2.0, and a student's eligibility should be reviewed prior to elections for these leadership positions or other participation. Music majors participating in curricular music major ensemble performances on the University's main campus are exempted from this policy. Eligibility lists for continued participation in University activities are reviewed by the Registrar's Office and/or appropriate University officials at the end of each semester. Exceptions to this policy may be considered by petition to the academic or co-curricular administrator in the relevant area.

Policy on Online Courses

Residential and nonresidential main campus students may take up to two Houghton Online courses during each of the fall and spring semesters. Students may petition for exemption from the two-limit rule in exceptional circumstances. All exemptions must be approved by the dean of the relevant area, the Provost's Office, and the registrar. Residency requirements remain in effect for residential students. Financial aid will be adjusted for students dropping from full-time to less than full-time status.

Houghton University students will be billed according to their registered program, not the location/delivery method of the course(s) chosen. Students should contact the Student Financial Services Office to discuss ramifications of dropping/withdrawing from a course. Exceptions may be granted to former students who have not matriculated in a main campus program for one year or more to complete their final 18–24 credit hours via online program courses. Note: This policy excludes Summer Main Campus Online courses, which are offered at a separate rate. It is not necessary to petition/switch programs when taking multiple summer online courses.

NC-SARA Student Complaint Procedure

Houghton University operates its distance education programs under the approval of NC-SARA (National Council for State Authorization Reciprocity Agreements). This agreement unites participating U.S. states, districts, and territories under a common framework for regulating distance education and helping ensure clear, consistent standards for students engaged in online learning beyond their home state.

SARA guarantees that students enrolled in distance education programs offered by participating institutions have a clear and accessible process for submitting consumer protection complaints. The agreement focuses primarily on issues involving institutional misrepresentation, fraud, or other deceptive practices. Note that complaints regarding grades and general student conduct issues are not governed by this SARA distance education complaint process.

Student Complaint Process

Houghton University seeks to ensure that all student complaints are handled in a manner that is fair, equitable and transparent. Students with a complaint relating to grades or the academic process are advised to follow the procedures listed in the Grade Grievance Policy (also listed in the University Catalog) regardless of your state of residency.

Per NC-SARA guidelines, “Student complaints relating to consumer protection laws offered under the terms and conditions of the State Authorization Reciprocity Agreement (SARA), must first be filed with the institution to seek resolution.” More information about SARA student complaints is available on the NC-SARA website. Students with complaints outside of the academic process that are specifically related to NC-SARA policies, within the last two years, may be directed to Dr. Jill Jordan, Interim Provost (Jill.Jordan@houghton.edu).

For complaints not resolved at the institutional level, a student may file an appeal in one of the following ways (dependent on their state residence):

New York State Residents – Student Complaint Contact Information

For New York State residents seeking to file a complaint against a higher education institution, follow the appropriate procedures to ensure your concerns are addressed effectively.

1. Attempt Resolution at the Institutional Level: Complaints relating to grades or the academic process are advised to follow the procedures listed in the Grade Grievance Policy.
2. Students with complaints not resolved at the institutional level who have followed all grievance procedures and protocols defined by the University, and reside in the state of New York, have the right to file a complaint with the NYS Office of College and University Evaluation. The contact information can be found on the New York State Education Department website.

NC-SARA Member Out-Of-State Student Complaint Contact Information

For students based outside of New York State seeking to file a complaint against a higher education institution, follow the appropriate procedures to ensure your concerns are addressed effectively.

1. Attempt Resolution at the Institutional Level: Complaints relating to grades or the academic process are advised to follow the procedures listed in the Grade Grievance Policy.
2. If all grievance procedures have been followed, all avenues of appeal exhausted and documentation provided that such procedures have been exhausted and the matter remains unresolved, then students who reside in a SARA member state outside of New York have the right to file a complaint with the NYS Office of College and University Evaluation.

Non-SARA Member Out-Of-State Student Complaint Contact Information

Students not residing in a SARA member state who seek to file a complaint against a higher education institution should follow the appropriate procedures to ensure their concerns are addressed effectively.

1. Attempt Resolution at the Institutional Level: Complaints relating to grades or the academic process are advised to follow the procedures listed in the Grade Grievance Policy.
2. Students with complaints not resolved at the institutional level who have followed all grievance procedures and protocols defined by the University, and do not reside in a SARA member state, may seek advisement from the appropriate office in the student's state of residence.

Undergraduates Taking Graduate Coursework

Houghton undergraduate students may take up to nine total credit hours of Houghton graduate coursework while in their undergraduate program. Only junior and senior level undergraduate students with a 3.0 grade point average or higher (or advisor recommendation) may take graduate coursework. Exceptions must be approved by the program director.

Billing Policy: Houghton University allows two graduate courses (six total credit hours) to be taken at the undergraduate rate for eligible students who comply with the following requirements:

- The student must first be simultaneously enrolled in at least 12 credit hours of undergraduate coursework.
- The courses may be taken during the fall and spring semesters only, during the junior and/or senior years.
- Financial aid (including grants, scholarships, and loans) will only be available during these semesters if the student is simultaneously enrolled in at least 12 credit hours of undergraduate coursework.
- The student will be charged the undergraduate rate for coursework up to 18 credit hours (if combined undergraduate and graduate coursework exceeds 18 credit hours in any semester, the undergraduate overload rate will apply).

Eligible students may take an additional three credit hours of graduate coursework for a total of nine credit hours. The graduate rate will be charged for the final three credit hours.

Please contact Student Financial Services with any billing and/or financial aid questions related to this process.

Academic Integrity Policy

Honesty is the foundation on which all intellectual endeavors rest. To use the ideas of others without acknowledging the authors of those ideas belies the nature and purpose of academic life. At Houghton, where we strive to live out Christian calling and commitment, personal integrity, including academic honesty, should be the hallmark of all our work and relationships.

Students are expected to exhibit extreme care relative to personal honesty in all academic work, including in- and out-of-class learning experiences, such as exams, quizzes, journals, papers, and research projects. Dishonest work includes but is not limited to the following:

1. Plagiarism: Obtaining aid or information without giving due recognition to the sources of such aid or information. Such dishonesty encompasses 1.) asking to copy or copying other students' work to claim as one's own on an exam or assignment of any kind and 2.) all forms of plagiarism. Plagiarism includes using ideas, words, or phrases from any source without citing that source and downloading or purchasing papers or parts of papers from others or the Internet and claiming such work as one's own.

2. Facilitating Academic Dishonesty: Giving aid or information when it is clearly inappropriate to do so, such as providing answers for an exam or writing a portion of a paper or an entire paper for someone, including selling one's work.
3. Fabrication: Submitting altered or contrived information in any academic exercise. Examples: falsifying sources and/or data, unauthorized use of artificial intelligence (AI), etc.
4. Cheating: Cheating includes, but is not limited to, the use of unauthorized notes, study aids, or non-approved sources for an examination, submission of another person's work to meet course requirements, submitting identical or similar papers for credit in more than one course without prior permission from the course instructor, unauthorized collaboration.

Types of Incidents

Warning: The faculty member believes that this student did not intentionally engage in academic dishonesty in this class, and may have been unclear as to how their actions applied to this policy. The faculty response is educative in nature, which includes meeting with the student, and may or may not include lowering or assigning a failing grade to the assignment, or exam involved. A warning is reported by the faculty member to the Associate Provost for comprehensive record keeping; however, a warning is not noted on a student's official academic record.

Singular Incident: The faculty member believes and has evidence that the student intentionally engaged in academic dishonesty in a particular class. Based on the severity of the offense, the faculty member may choose to lower or assign a failing grade to the assignment or exam involved. The incident is reported by the faculty member to the Associate Provost for comprehensive record keeping, and is noted on a student's official academic record.

Multiple Incidents: The faculty member believes and has evidence that the student intentionally engaged in academic dishonesty. If the repeated offense occurs in the same course, the faculty member may choose not only to fail the student on the assignment, but also fail the student in the course. If a student is found to engage in academic dishonesty across two or more courses during their academic career at Houghton, in addition to a failing grade on the assignment, and/or in the course, the student may be dismissed from the University for repeatedly not upholding academic integrity. A repeated incident is reported by the faculty member to the Associate Provost for comprehensive record keeping. All cases beyond the first incident will be reviewed by the Academic Integrity Committee.

NOTE: If a student is already on disciplinary probation, any offense may result in suspension or dismissal by the Dean of Students. Unauthorized use of university computing equipment, facilities, or computer software may also be considered grounds for disciplinary probation, suspension, or dismissal from the University.

Roles and Responsibilities

Faculty members: Faculty members who believe that a student has not upheld this academic integrity policy, regardless of type of offense, are to:

1. Meet with the student to review concerns, evidence, and further actions, and

2. Report all incidents to the Associate Provost for comprehensive record keeping, using the Academic Integrity Incident Report Form.

Associate Provost: The Associate Provost will ensure that an appropriate record is kept. Students engaged in a singular or multiple offense of intentional dishonesty will receive a letter from the Associate Provost and Academic Integrity Committee communicating the documentation of this incident on their academic record.

Students: Upon receiving notification from a faculty member that they have violated the University Academic Integrity Policy, the student will meet with the faculty member to review the evidence and discuss the consequences. Students have the right to appeal a decision that results in the documentation of an incident of academic dishonesty on their academic record, following the appeal process below.

Academic Integrity Committee: The academic integrity committee will meet as needed:

- To review the case of a student reported as having multiple offenses (student identification redacted);
- To review any student appeals;
- To review annual academic integrity violation data (annually), and to review and revise policy as needed.

Appeal Process

Students have a right to appeal a decision of the Associate Provost and the Academic Integrity Committee. Should a student wish to appeal, the student must submit a formal letter of appeal to the Provost's Office within 10 business days of receiving the original decision letter. Business days refer to days when University offices are open. An appeal letter must include: a clear understanding of the original decision, a justification for the appeal of this decision, and evidence to support this justification. The letter of appeal may be received via email or hard copy. The Provost will review the appeal, request a meeting with the student if needed, and provide a final decision in writing to the student within 10 business days. The decision of the Provost is final and not subject to further appeal.

Academic Advising

Effective student advising contributes to a productive and successful University experience. Advising includes a variety of tasks: course selection, choice of major and minor, monitoring student progress, referring students to support services, and helping students connect their studies to potential career choices. In all of these ways, advising complements teaching, but advising can be more. At its best, advising is a dynamic relationship between student and professor that encourages students to cultivate thinking skills associated with the liberal arts and to explore their abilities and interests in light of Christian faith and God's calling in their lives.

All entering students are assigned a faculty advisor. When students have a strong interest in an academic major, every effort is made to provide an advisor whose area of expertise matches the students' interests. Students are encouraged to consult their academic advisor at least once each semester and any time they have questions that the advisor can address or for which the advisor can provide appropriate resources. When a student selects a new major, the school dean of the new major will assign an appropriate advisor. Students must obtain their academic advisor's approval to select courses.

Although advisors provide guidance, it is the student's responsibility to understand academic policies and complete all requirements for a degree. A student who falls short of a requirement, misses a deadline, or otherwise does not meet a University obligation will not be excused on the basis of "nobody told me." Students are responsible for managing their academic careers. Failure to pay attention to policies and deadlines often leads to easily avoidable academic difficulties. Contact the Registrar's Office or the Academic Support and Accessibility Services Office with any questions.

Undergraduate Classification

A student must earn a minimum of 28 semester hours of accumulated credits to be considered a sophomore, a minimum of 60 hours to be considered a junior, and a minimum of 90 hours to be considered a senior. The student must also have maintained a GPA of 2.0 for unconditional classification in any class.

Academic Guidance and Probation

Each incoming undergraduate student is assigned a faculty advisor who is responsible for academic advising during the first year. Students who receive a semester GPA below 2.0 but are not placed on academic probation are placed on academic guidance and encouraged to work closely with their advisors.

The placement of students on guidance and probation occurs at the end of the semester grading period. If additional information is received that changes or completes the record (i.e., change of grade, incomplete grade submitted), a student may request an updated review by contacting the Associate Provost.

An undergraduate student whose cumulative GPA for Houghton University coursework falls below the following academic benchmark at the conclusion of a semester is considered in serious academic difficulty and is placed on academic probation. The following academic benchmark is used (credits earned include transfer credits):

- If the total credit hours are less than 15, the GPA must be at least 1.0.
- If the total credit hours are at least 15 but less than 27, the GPA must be at least 1.5.
- If the total credit hours are at least 27 but less than 39, the GPA must be at least 1.75.
- If the total credit hours are at least 39, the GPA must be at least 2.0.
- Two semesters in a row with a semester GPA below 2.0 also result in probationary status.

While on probation, the student is required to meet with their advisor to develop a plan for academic improvement. It is recommended that the student continue to meet with their advisor once every 4 weeks throughout the semester they are on probation for academic support and monitoring. A student on probation is limited to 15 credit hours in the following semester.

After one semester on probation, if a student has not yet reached the academic benchmark outlined above, they may be placed on Probation 2. While on Probation 2, students are again required to meet with their advisor and will now be limited to 12 credit hours in the following semester.

Academic Dismissal

An undergraduate student is eligible for academic dismissal if the student meets the criteria for probation two semesters in a row.

A student may provide a written petition to not be dismissed. The written petition will be followed by a meeting with members of the Academic Guidance and Probation committee and/or the Associate Provost. At this meeting the student will be asked to justify their plan for academic success. If successful in this petition, the student will be given one final semester on Academic Probation 3, to meet the required benchmark. While on Probation 3, students are again required to meet with their advisor and will now be limited to 12 credit hours in the following semester.

Any student dismissed from the University for academic reasons may petition the Admission Committee for readmission. The case will be carefully studied to see if there is basis for resuming at Houghton.

A student dismissed from the student body for the above reason and readmitted by the Admission Committee is placed on academic probation and must maintain a GPA of 2.0 or higher for each semester thereafter to remain at the University.

Scholastic Honors

President's List – Recognizes undergraduate students who complete a minimum of 12 credits with a semester GPA of 4.0*

Dean's Honor List – Recognizes undergraduate students who complete a minimum of 12 credits with a semester GPA of 3.75–3.999*

Dean's List – Recognizes undergraduate students who complete a minimum of 12 credits with a semester GPA of 3.5–3.749*

*no Incomplete, Not Recorded, or failing grades allowed

Graduation Honors

Latin honors are awarded for bachelor-level degrees only. The faculty will select for Latin honors undergraduate students of outstanding scholarship. Beginning with Commencement of 2010, a student must have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.5 for the recognition of cum laude, at least 3.7 for magna cum laude, and at least 3.9 for summa cum laude. Students transferring from other colleges or universities must complete 62 credits at Houghton University to be eligible for Latin honors. Honors as published in the May Commencement bulletin are based on the cumulative GPA at the end of the fall semester prior to Commencement, including the valedictorian and salutatorian. To be eligible to be valedictorian or salutatorian, a student must be a main campus student, full-time in the spring, a May graduate, and must have earned a minimum of 90 Houghton University credits.

Honors Project

Outstanding undergraduate students may be candidates for honors study projects and Commencement citations in their major fields. To be declared eligible to undertake this special study, a student must have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.25 and a major GPA of at least 3.4 (courses numbered 200 and above). A proposal must be prepared and submitted for approval one year prior to graduation. Guidelines and policy details can be found on the Registrar's Office webpage.

Independent Study

An independent study is a directed course in reading or research in which the student pursues an approved topic of general or special interest and meets with an instructor for direction, progress reports, and evaluation. To be eligible for independent study, a student must have unconditional standing as a sophomore or higher and must have a cumulative GPA of at least 2.75.

An application for independent study should be submitted during the semester prior to the semester of study. Mayterm/summer independent study applications should reach the Registrar's Office by April 1.

A student may take an independent study for variable credit (1 to 4 credits maximum during a semester) up to a maximum of 12 credits toward graduation. Any faculty member may supervise the independent study project, but it must not duplicate a regular course. The burden of responsibility for learning will be on the student. Work on an independent study is to be completed within the semester, as in other courses. Because independent study presumes some prior acquaintance by the student with the field to be studied, an independent study may not be used to satisfy General Education requirements.

Students wanting to use an independent study to become full-time must submit their independent study documentation during the semester prior to the semester in which they intend to enroll. If a student is not full-time prior to billing, the bill and financial aid will be incorrect due to the missing hours. If a student will be considered full-time without the independent study, the absolute cutoff date for submission is the add/drop period (please see Important Dates Calendar).

Internships

Many majors at Houghton University recognize a field placement experience as an integral component of professional preparation. Internships are considered quality experiential learning opportunities, generally in off-campus, nonacademic settings. They are intended as highly structured, professionally supervised experiences and usually occur during the junior or senior year. Internships require approval by the supervising academic department and extensive involvement by the student. Supervision is a responsibility shared between the academic department and the selected field agency. Students must be enrolled in their internships prior to beginning the experience. They should enroll for the term (fall, spring, Mayterm, or summer) in which they are doing the field placement. They cannot enroll for the internship in a previous or subsequent semester to take advantage of a different year's tuition.

Tutorial Study

Tutorial work is for the benefit of the student who needs a course that is currently unavailable—for example, one not scheduled for the semester when it is essential for graduation. Tutorial courses must be from the regular University catalog. Course approval and registration for tutorial courses shall be made in advance of the instructor's assigning any tutorial work for credit. Concurrence is required by the advisor, instructor, and school dean with approval from the Provost's Office. The forms to be used for a proposed tutorial are available on the Registrar's Office website.

A tutorial fee shall be charged (see fee schedule). The instructor must meet with the student for the purpose of giving instruction and directing the tutorial work for a minimum of 7.5 clock hours for each credit hour earned.

Mayterm

Mayterm is the first session of the summer term. It begins on the Tuesday immediately following Commencement. The academic purpose is to permit students to take additional hours of credit before commencing summer employment. In general, catalog courses are offered. Students and professors also are encouraged to work together on campus doing independent studies. Off-campus practicums, if desired, are arranged by the school dean. Travel in the U.S. and abroad is a feature of this period. See the Financial Information section for tuition information. Also see the Registrar's Office Mayterm webpage for more information.

Students entering Houghton who wish to take a Mayterm course will be billed the appropriate tuition for any course they might elect to take. Exceptions include INTS 155: Science Honors II, EDUC 240: Teaching in Urban America (when required of Education and Music Education majors), and required summer internships. Students participating in these specific courses will not be charged additional tuition in May as long as the Mayterm hours do not exceed the 36 credit hour allowance for the academic year. Students in Science Honors, EDUC 240, and required summer internships should work with their advisors to reserve enough credits during the preceding fall and spring semesters so that they can include the Mayterm credits within the 36 allotted credits for the year. Current policies related to summer internships continue to apply.

Students matriculating in Fall 2024 and forward are eligible to receive the Inspire Grant, which will allow them to complete an international experience, off-campus research, experiential learning opportunity, or select internship tuition-free. This one-time grant will cover the cost of tuition for up to (4) credit hours for a three-week course in May after students have completed at least one full year of study at Houghton University.

Senior-in-Absentia

Students of outstanding ability who are accepted by an accredited professional school after the completion of three years of undergraduate work may qualify for the appropriate degree by transferring back to Houghton credit for the first two years of professional study, thus shortening by one year their professional training. Such students will be taking their senior year in absentia. In such instances, the Houghton degree will be conferred at the end of the second year of professional studies. The senior-in-absentia privilege does not apply to associate degree students.

The privilege described above may be available to students wishing to enter professional training for a career in medicine, veterinary medicine, dentistry, law, or engineering. Students entering nursing may also qualify for the senior-in-absentia privilege by transferring two years of nurse's training for the Houghton degree.

Preliminary application (see Registrar's Office webpage) for the senior-in-absentia privilege must be made to the Provost's Office in the spring of the sophomore year. Students should notify the Registrar's Office at the beginning of their senior year. All senior-in-absentia students are considered August graduates.

Withdrawal from the University

Any student in good standing is entitled to an honorable withdrawal at any time. A student desiring to withdraw from the University (or one who does not plan to return the following semester) must submit a Withdraw from the University form (found on the Registrar's Office webpage) and/or set up a meeting with the Academic Support and Accessibility Services Office. The student will be contacted and given instruction on next steps, including securing signatures from the Academic Support and Accessibility Services Office, the student's advisor, the Student Financial Services Office, and the Student Life Office. The form must be properly completed and filed with the Academic Support and Accessibility Services Office (August–May) or the Office of Student Life (June and July) before the student leaves campus. Withdrawal from the University without accomplishing the above procedure will result in forfeiture of the right to an honorable dismissal. No refunds (if applicable) will be made by the Student Financial Services Office until the Registrar's Office certifies that the withdrawal procedure has been properly completed.

A student called away during the semester by an emergency (including military duty) and who finds it impossible to resume must complete the withdrawal process found above immediately. Unless this notice is filed within three weeks, the student may forfeit the right to honorable dismissal and receive a grade of F in each course.

Medical Leave

See Medical Leave information under Student Life Information.

Academic Support and Accessibility Services

Houghton University offers learning support for students through the Academic Support and Accessibility Services Office. Any student may come to the Academic Support and Accessibility Services Office for analysis of study strengths and weaknesses or advice on study and examination strategies. Students may request course-specific peer tutoring. Learning support for students with disabilities is also offered.

Students with Disabilities

Houghton provides academic support services to students with disabilities including those with learning, mobility, sensory, health, or psychological impairments. These services include liaison with faculty members, promotion of self-advocacy skills, and securing appropriate classroom accommodations. Study skills counseling and tutoring are also available. Students with disabilities are encouraged to contact the Associate Director of Academic Support and Accessibility Services during the admission application process to discuss required documentation and appropriate accommodations. Documentation should be no more than three years old. Diagnosis by an appropriately trained professional is required.

Students needing academic adjustments or learning support services must contact the Associate Director of Academic Support and Accessibility Services (585.567.9239).

Students needing facility adjustments must contact the Director of Facilities (585.567.9480).

The complete Policy for Students with Learning-Related Disabilities may be obtained from the Academic Support and Accessibility Services Office or the Office of Admission.

Academic Petitions

Each student at Houghton may petition the Academic Petitions Committee regarding any academic matter. Specific actions requiring petition include waiver of a specific academic requirement, waiver of a specific academic rule or stipulation, permission for a special academic condition or activity, or request to take more than 18 credit hours in a semester.

Actions not requiring petition action include permission to take 18 hours (follow Heavy Academic Load Instructions), permission to increase credits in a variable-credit course (contact Registrar's Office), and permission to attend an off-campus study opportunity (use specific application).

Further information is available at the Registrar's Office and on their webpage.

Graduate Student Policies

Greatbatch School of Music Graduate Programs

Greatbatch School of Music Graduate Students should consult the Greatbatch School of Music Graduate Bulletin.

Other Graduate Programs

Graduate Transfer Student Admission and Transfer Credit Guidelines

Students looking to transfer into the graduate program in music should contact the Greatbatch School of Music for more information.

A maximum of six* graduate credit hours taken not more than five years before matriculation into a master's degree program at Houghton may be accepted, if the subjects are integral to the student's program of study and if the student received a grade of B- or higher. All transfer credit and any exceptions must be approved by the director of the program.

*Houghton University's undergraduates are able to take up to nine graduate credit hours during their undergraduate program. All nine will be allowed to transfer to an applicable graduate program using the above criteria.

Load Limit Policy

No graduate student may take more than 13 credit hours in a semester without prior approval from the program director.

Repeating a Course

Students can only repeat courses in which they received grades lower than a B-. When a course is repeated, only the higher grade will count in the calculation of the cumulative grade point average. The hours count only once. Both courses and both grades remain on the transcript with an indication of which course is counted. Repeating a course may influence a student's financial aid.

Good Standing

Education: Graduate students in Education must maintain a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 throughout the program and receive grades of B- or higher.

Business: Graduate students in Business must maintain a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 or higher and receive grades of B- or higher. Both the semester and cumulative grade point averages can affect one's standing.

Music: A graduate music students in good standing must maintain a cumulative grade point average of 3.0. Both the semester and cumulative grade point averages can affect one's standing.

Academic Probation

A student whose cumulative grade point average drops below 3.0 is automatically placed on academic probation and will be subject to dismissal from the program if the grade point average continues below 3.0 for a second semester. Students placed on academic probation must submit a letter to the Guidance and Probation Committee prior to the start of the next semester providing strategies for improvement.

Dual-counting

At the graduate level, a student must have a minimum of 12 distinct credits in each major area. Credits in a major area beyond these minimum distinct credits may be dual-counted as elective credits.

Maximum Time to Complete

Graduate students must complete their program within five years.

International Students

Citizens of countries other than the United States and Canada have different application requirements. These students must complete the Financial Declaration and Financial Affidavit and be approved before submitting an application to the graduate program.

Students from non-English-speaking countries must take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). A paper-based TOEFL score of 600 or computer-based score of 250 or internet-based score of 100 is required for admission to the graduate program. Houghton's TOEFL code is 2299. Information on the TOEFL is available on the web at: www.ets.org/toefl/.

Requirements

Graduation

A student must complete at least one major. Candidates for BA, BFA, and BS degrees must complete 124 semester hours. Candidates for the BMus must complete 128 semester hours. No more than 8 hours of Lyric Theatre may count toward graduation. No more than 8 hours of ROTC may count toward graduation unless the student is completing the Military Leadership minor. No more than 8 hours of Equestrian Studies may count toward graduation unless the student is completing the Sport, Recreation, and Wellness Management major with an Equestrian Studies concentration or an Equestrian minor. No more than 8 hours of applied music may count toward graduation for students not majoring or minoring in Music. The minimum GPA for graduation is 2.0. Grades in major, minor, and concentration courses must be C– or higher. The graduation requirements for Music Graduate degrees can be found on the Music Graduate webpage. The graduation requirements for all other graduate programs can be found in the Graduate Student Policies section.

Graduation/Conferral Dates

Houghton University has three official graduation/conferral dates:

- May Commencement
- Last Friday in August
- Last Friday in December

Commencement Participation

Students may only participate in one commencement ceremony per degree. May and August graduates are only eligible to participate in the Commencement of the year in which they graduate. December graduates may choose to participate in the May Commencement immediately before or after the December in which they graduate.

Residency Requirements

A student must complete at least 30 credit hours, one-half of the credit hours in a major, and 18 of the last 24 credit hours through Houghton (except those under the senior-in-absentia privilege, those in an affiliated off-campus semester, or those with special permission whose major or minor requires them to be off campus; other cases require a petition).

Second Degree

A student cannot earn a BA and a BS simultaneously. Students completing two majors, one leading to a BS and the other to a BA, must choose which degree they will receive and will then graduate with one degree and two majors. The only situation in which a student may be awarded two different baccalaureate degrees simultaneously is by completing all requirements for a BMus or BFA and either a BA or a BS, including the relevant General Education hours for each.

Students who have already earned a baccalaureate degree, either at Houghton University or elsewhere, may earn a second baccalaureate degree by completing all Houghton University degree requirements and earning at least 30 credit hours in residence at Houghton University subsequent to the awarding of the first degree. If the first degree was granted by Houghton University, the second degree must be a different degree/discipline, e.g., a BS earned subsequent to a BA in a different discipline. The cumulative GPA of work subsequent to the first degree must be 2.0 or higher. As with all Houghton degrees, at least half of the credit hours for the major must be earned from Houghton; however, they do not all need to be earned subsequent to the first degree.

Changes in Requirements

Changes in graduation requirements may occur during a student's career. On such occasions, students generally complete requirements as specified in the catalog for the year of their matriculation. However, students may select a subsequent catalog in effect during their University career. Occasionally, changes are made that include more precise implementation guidelines. If the student believes a major is unfairly or unreasonably modified, the student should consult the Registrar's Office.

Liberal Arts Requirements

Most courses at Houghton University are liberal arts courses designed to either contribute to General Education or enhance understanding of a particular subject area or discipline of inquiry. Other courses are professional in nature, designed to prepare a student for a specific occupation, e.g., education, business, or ministry.

The State of New York and Houghton University require the following minimum percentages of a degree to be classified as liberal arts:

- AA must be $\frac{3}{4}$ liberal arts.
- AAS must be $\frac{1}{3}$ liberal arts.
- AS must be $\frac{1}{2}$ liberal arts.
- BA must be $\frac{3}{4}$ liberal arts.
- BS must be $\frac{1}{2}$ liberal arts.
- BFA and BMus must be $\frac{1}{4}$ liberal arts.
- Graduate degrees do not have liberal arts requirements.

Note for Students with Multiple Majors

Per New York State regulations, liberal arts minimum percentages are attached to programs/majors. Students with more than one program/major must meet the liberal arts minimum percentage of the degree with a higher requirement. For example, if a student has declared a BA-only program/major, the student must meet the BA degree liberal arts minimum percentage (93 credits) even if it is the secondary program/major and the student is receiving a BS degree for the primary program/major.

Master of Arts in Music (MA) and Master of Music (MMus)

A candidate for a master's degree in Music chooses a curriculum from the listings found on the Greatbatch School of Music webpage.

Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT) and Master of Science in Education (MSEd)

A candidate for a master's degree in Education chooses a certification track from the listings found on the Houghton University Department of Education webpage.

Master of Business Administration (MBA)

A candidate for a master's degree in Business Administration may choose an optional concentration from the listings found on the Department of Business webpage.

Bachelor of Arts (BA)

A candidate for the BA degree selects a major, and that choice must be approved by the appropriate school dean. The BA degree requires a minimum of 93 liberal arts credits and a total of 124 credit hours.

Bachelor of Science (BS)

A candidate for the BS degree selects a major, and that choice must be approved by the appropriate school dean. The BS degree requires a minimum of 62 liberal arts credits and a total of 124 credit hours.

Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA)

A candidate for the BFA degree selects a major, and that choice must be approved by the appropriate school dean. The BFA degree requires a minimum of 31 liberal arts credits and a total of 124 credit hours.

Bachelor of Music (BMus)

A candidate for the BMus degree chooses a curriculum from the listings found under Greatbatch School of Music in the Academic section, and that choice must be approved by the Dean of the Greatbatch School of Music. The BMus degree requires a minimum of 32 liberal arts credits and a total of 128 credit hours.

Associate of Arts (AA)

Students seeking to complete the AA degree must earn a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher. At least 30 credit hours, including at least 18 of the last 24, must be earned through Houghton University. The specific qualifications for earning the AA degree are outlined below.

In addition to the general AA degree requirements above, students must complete the following:

1. A total of 62 semester credit hours, 47 of which must be liberal arts
2. 40 hours of General Education courses
 - Required courses: In each category, students must earn at least the minimum number of credits and may count up to the maximum towards the 40 credit hours of required General Education credits.
 - 6–9 credit hours of Biblical and Theological Studies
 - 6–9 credit hours of Humanities
 - 3–6 credit hours of Global Competence
 - 3–6 credit hours of Social Science
 - 3–6 credit hours of Writing
 - 2–4 credit hours of Art or Music
 - 2–4 credit hours of Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning
 - 2–4 credit hours of Natural Science
 - 0–1 credit hour of Wellness
 - The remaining credit hours may be used for electives, an area of focus, or a minor.

Associate of Applied Science (AAS)

The Christian Ministries curriculum is a two-year program leading to an AAS degree. The course of study requires a minimum of 60 credit hours, 20 of which must be liberal arts. The curriculum consists of 24 credit hours in General Education requirements and 36 credit hours in required Bible, theology, and ministry courses. Students seeking to complete the AAS degree must earn a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher. At least 30 credit hours, including at least 18 of the last 24, must be earned through Houghton University.

Associate of Science (AS)

Students seeking to complete the AS degree must earn a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher. At least 30 credit hours, including at least 18 of the last 24, must be earned through Houghton University.

The AS degree requires a minimum of 31 liberal arts credits and a total of 62 credit hours. The curriculum consists of 32 credit hours in General Education requirements and 30 credit hours in a focus area and electives.

Majors

Each student should select at least one major area for specialized study by the time the student earns 60 credit hours. Houghton University grants degrees in the following areas.

Academic Work Categories

Academic work at Houghton is organized into four categories: General Education, major, minor, and elective. The system of majors and minors provides for general coordination and some intensive training that is often introductory to later professional preparation. Each student must have a major. Minors are optional. Some majors require a concentration.

General Education Requirements for BA, BFA, BMus, and BS Degrees

In keeping with the primary objective of the University—to provide a liberal arts education within the framework of the Christian faith—each candidate for a BA, BFA, BMus, or BS degree is required to complete a stipulated package of General Education courses unless given graduation credit and/or advanced standing based on advanced placement or standardized departmental tests. (Graduation credit and/or advanced standing are contingent on a favorable review of the examination papers by Houghton faculty members.) More details can be found in the General Education section. Each student must also earn a required number of liberal arts credits for the student’s specific degree (93 for the BA, 62 for the BS, 32 for the BMus, and 31 for the BFA).

Majors/Minors/Concentrations

In the major, the undergraduate student must complete a minimum of 24 credits (any course numbered 200 or above unless otherwise specified). Many majors require more than 24 credits. At least half of a student’s major must be completed at Houghton. A minor consists of 12 or more credits acceptable for major credit unless otherwise stated. With the exception of the concentrations within the Childhood Ed. and SWD major, which must be 30 credits or more, most concentrations at Houghton are 16 credits or more. No grades below C– count toward the major, minor, or concentration. Students majoring in a BMus curriculum may, with the approval of the director of the Greatbatch School of Music, be permitted to count one D-level grade in the music theory sequence (MTH 220, 227, 325, 327) and one D-level grade in the music history and literature sequence (MHS 230, 280). Graduate music students should consult the Greatbatch School of Music Graduate Bulletin (see School of Music for a copy). All Education majors must earn course grades of C or higher in the major, content major, and/or concentration/corequisite courses.

Self-Designed Minor

This option is available and encouraged for undergraduate students wishing to specialize in an area not covered by an existing minor, such as creative or interdisciplinary fields. It consists of at least 12 credits of courses level 200 or above and will be proposed by the student in consultation with the faculty advisor and approved by relevant school dean(s). Approval for such minors will include consideration of how the choice of courses supports the stated academic goals of the student.

Academic Programs

Art and Design

Mark Borchert, Dean of Management and Creative Arts |
<https://www.houghton.edu/art/> | 585.567.9308 | art@houghton.edu

The Art & Design academic programs prepare young professionals to engage the contemporary world of fine arts and applied design, equipped with an array of skills that are central to an artist’s ability to create meaningful work, and to become relevant, technologically versed practitioners who reflect and respond to contemporary life and culture with spiritual insight and sensitivity.

Three main areas of development in the art and design programs are emphasized: the cultivation of craft in one’s chosen media, the understanding of cultural and historical context in art, and the formation of mature professional practices. Together, they represent a wholistic approach—each informing the other—fostering purposeful education in the fine and applied arts. Art & Design majors and minors gain confidence in their ability to integrate faith, knowledge, and creativity. Majors in both Studio Art and Applied Design and Visual Communication are prepared for professional art production, teaching, and graduate studies, complemented by a Christian liberal arts education.

The student's experience is diversified through visiting artists, on-campus gallery exhibits, and off-campus trips that give students access to cultural resources in cities throughout the northeast. The academic programs in Art & Design have offered travel opportunities to significant centers of Western culture, including Athens, Rome, Paris, London, and many other major cities and sites.

<https://www.houghton.edu/undergraduate/houghton-ny/majors-programs/academics/biblical-studies-theology-philosophy/> | 585.567.9429

The Bible & Theology majors expose students to Biblical studies, theology, missions, and Biblical languages. Career options for majors vary widely; these academic programs also prepare students for graduate study in relevant fields. With a foundation in Scripture and Christian history and belief, Bible & Theology graduates go into every kind of Christian ministry (Bible translation, chaplaincy, children's ministry, discipleship, evangelism, missions, parachurch ministry, pastoring, sports ministry, theological education, worship ministry, and youth ministry) as well as business and nonprofit work, counseling, and education. Students pursuing ordination should consult the Chair of Religion on the specific courses required for ordination, some of which are not included in the Bible & Theology major.

Emmanuel Scholars Program: The Emmanuel Scholars program is group spiritual formation oriented toward vocation. Group members participate in weekly readings and discussions around vocation and other topics and have weekly one-on-one meetings for mentoring and spiritual direction. The group begins and ends each year with a retreat. Students can take the course for credit or no credit (THEL 251/252). The program is by application, and preference is given to rising sophomores.

Theology Major with Sports Ministry Concentration

BA/BS (36 credits in core; 18–21 credits in concentration)

This major and concentration are particularly helpful for students interested in academic and vocational pursuits within local church ministries, missions, education, coaching, camping, recreation, equestrian studies, church planting, and intercultural studies. Students choosing this major are strongly encouraged to satisfy the General Education Global Competence requirement by taking one of the Biblical languages (Greek or Hebrew). Courses marked with an asterisk below help a student fulfill academic requirements for ordination in The Wesleyan Church and are accepted by many other denominations for the same. A curriculum plan for this major is available through the Department of Bible & Theology.

Missions Minor: 12 credits

Missions preparation takes multiple paths at Houghton because 21st-century missions is so diverse. The breadth of liberal arts opens knowledge and skills appropriate for today's world. Our students join a long tradition in missions at Houghton and partner with the expanding global church in serving Christ. Students taking the Missions minor have majored (or double-majored) in everything from Bible, music, and psychology to education and more. Everything about Houghton—the faculty, the missions representatives, the students, and the general campus and community ethos—provides excellent preparation for missions.

Most students who minor in missions will include the highly recommended Cross-Cultural Field Experience in addition to the regular coursework.

Pre-Professional Preparation

Pre-Seminary Interest

Consult the Dean of Religion, Humanities, and Global Studies or the Chair of Religion.

For those who expect to attend seminary after university, The Association of Theological Schools offers the following guidelines:

- Students should develop to a satisfactory degree their ability to think independently, communicate effectively, and do research.

- Students should possess a general knowledge of past and present culture through study in the humanities and the natural and social sciences.
- The biblical languages are useful tools to acquire in the pre-seminary period. Latin may be helpful, especially in some traditions. Modern languages such as German, French, and Spanish are also valuable.

Biology

Jamie Potter, Interim Dean of Natural Sciences and Mathematics |

<https://www.houghton.edu/biology/> | 585.567.9264 | biology@houghton.edu

The mission of the biology academic programs at Houghton University is to provide students with the opportunity to explore the living world of God's creation, in all its intricacy and diversity, within the tradition of the liberal arts. The Biology Department is committed to excellence in its curriculum and research programs. The department strives to cultivate students' ability to demonstrate knowledge of fundamental principles that unify and describe the major areas of biology, develop critical thinking skills related to experimental design to answer biological questions, acquire skills in observation, experimentation, and analysis necessary to answer biological questions, communicate clearly and analytically in both written and oral forms, and articulate how faith integrates with scientific endeavors and foundational biological concepts.

Houghton students approach the study of the biological world through diverse study in genetics, molecular biology, microbiology and immunology, physiology, ecology, and animal behavior. In addition to formal coursework in these areas, many students participate in collaborative research courses or Summer Research Institute with a faculty sponsor to conduct research, publish findings, and present at scientific conferences. Houghton's biology programs offer a challenging combination of coursework in the sciences and an emphasis on experiential learning.

The biology curriculum also allows for students to take an interdisciplinary approach to their time as an undergraduate. Many students earn majors or minors in other sciences (most commonly chemistry and mathematics), but study within biology can also be coupled with the arts, humanities, and social science to grapple with complexities related to fields as diverse as public health, human ecology, and art. Additionally, many Houghton students serve as Emergency Medical Technicians with the Houghton Volunteer Fire Department.

Majors

Biochemistry Major

BA/BS (39 credits in core; 12–16 corequisite credits; 12 prerequisite credits)

Biochemistry is an excellent path toward entering one of the health professions or following a career in biochemical research. Biochemistry majors have careers as biomedical researchers, medical doctors, nurses, pharmacists or pharmacologists, nutritionists, physical therapists, or food chemists. (For a full description of Pre-Health Professions, see the Biology department website.)

A major in Biochemistry at Houghton University enables students to learn, in a context of faith, the normal or abnormal paths one's body may take and to understand the ways in which nutrition and pharmaceuticals can best prevent or correct damage to one's body. Because the Biochemistry major at Houghton University contains a significant liberal arts component as well as its science component, the student may choose to earn either a BA or BS degree in Biochemistry.

Biomedical Sciences

BS (23 credits in core; 8 prerequisite credits; 19 corequisite credits)

The BS in Biomedical Sciences prepares students for graduate school in health-related fields. Students participate in hands-on labs and research with exposure to a wide variety of techniques and experiences including EMT certification and volunteer work, clinical shadowing, CRISPR, and SDS-PAGE. Students can go on to further education or careers in veterinary medicine, medicine, chiropractic medicine, nursing, pharmacy, dental, optometry, speech-language pathology, physician assistance, and more. Upon completion of the degree, students will understand the relationship between structure and function in organisms, how Christianity impacts thinking globally and ethically in a changing world, and how to ask research questions and pursue answers.

Environmental Science BA

BA (27–31 credits in core; 8 prerequisite credits; 8 corequisite credits)

The Environmental Science major provides an academically challenging, Christ-centered education in an area of applied sciences, equipping them to lead and labor as scholar-servants in environmental and developmental settings domestically and abroad.

The goal of the Environmental Science major is the training of students who are proficient in natural and physical sciences and are aware of social and cultural influences on the environmental problems facing society. Meeting these challenges requires critical thinking and problem-solving approaches involving natural sciences, mathematics, and other disciplines. Required experiential learning is incorporated into the Environmental Science major and provides students with the training necessary for their future career or continued education.

Biology Major with Forestry Emphasis

BA/BS (46 credits in major [taken at SUNY-ESF]; 33–37 prerequisite credits [taken at Houghton])

Because deforestation and other human activities affecting forested areas have significant ecological, aesthetic, and economic ramifications, gaining insight into our forest resources plays an important role in environmental stewardship. The Forestry emphasis allows interested students to develop a deeper understanding of these issues through a partnership with the State University of New York – College of Environmental Science and Forestry (SUNY-ESF). Both the Forestry minor and the Forestry emphasis are offered through coursework taken at the SUNY-ESF Ranger School (est. 1912) based at Wanakena in the Adirondack Park. The Ranger School offers a rigorous 46-credit Forestry Technology program over an extended school year. Houghton students can participate for a fall semester (Forestry minor) or an entire academic year (Forestry emphasis within the Biology major), depending on their educational and career goals. Those participating for the whole year also earn an AAS from SUNY-ESF.

Note: This option is not limited to Biology majors. Non-Biology students who have the necessary prerequisites may also opt to take the fall courses (earning a Forestry minor) or the whole year offering (earning a Forestry minor, Biology minor, and AAS degree in Forest Technology). The SUNY-ESF website should be consulted for definitive information on their forestry program.

Exercise Science Major (with Applied Track) BS

BS (30–32 credits in core; 8 prerequisite credits; 15–16 credits in required minor)

The BS in Exercise Science with Applied Track provides students with opportunities for hands-on laboratory training and firsthand clinical experience. Upon completion of the program, students are prepared for immediate certification and job entry in careers including but not limited to sports coaching, sports ministry, personal training, strength and conditioning coaching, exercise physiology, athletic administration, sports management, or equine-assisted therapy. The curriculum includes coursework in anatomy and physiology, exercise physiology, kinesiology, and first-aid certification, as well as hands-on field experiences in a variety of clinical settings to help accumulate shadowing hours. Exercise Science students will learn about injury and illness prevention, the effects of diet on the body, and physical conditioning of the human body.

Exercise Science Major (with Graduate Track) BS

BS (45 credits in core; 8 prerequisite credits)

The BS in Exercise Science with Graduate Track provides students with opportunities for hands-on laboratory training and clinical experience. Students are prepared for postgraduate study in physical therapy, occupational therapy, athletic training, and physical therapy assistant programs. The curriculum includes coursework in anatomy and physiology, exercise physiology, kinesiology, and first-aid certification, as well as hands-on field experiences in a variety of clinical settings to help accumulate shadowing hours. Upon completion of the degree, students will understand injury and illness prevention, appreciate how diet can affect the body, learn how to condition the body, be able to ask research questions related to nutrition and exercise, and be knowledgeable about the many facets of the human body.

Forensic Science

BS (48–53 credits in major; 16 prerequisite credits)

The Forensic Science major provides students with the opportunity to explore the intersection of science, faith, and restorative justice. Combining courses in both the natural and social sciences, the major equips students for success in graduate school or a career in forensic science. Students will evaluate physical evidence, develop the ability to use quantitative and qualitative tools, and analyze the physical and ethical challenges of the criminal justice system. Graduates will be able to combine scientific analysis with moral and ethical reasoning to develop critical and creative responses to the range of forensic science issues encountered in today's world.

Neuroscience

BS (29 credits in major; 8 prerequisite credits; 20 corequisite credits)

The BS in Neuroscience takes advantage of the University's advanced diagnostic and experimental equipment, as well as Biology's interdepartmental collaboration with Psychology, to prepare students for graduate school or the workforce. The degree emphasizes hands-on labs and research with exposure to a wide variety of techniques including EEG, EKG, EOG, EMG, reflex diagnostics, and action potential measurements. Students may go on to work as technicians, research coordinators, neuropsychologists, epidemiologists, biostatisticians, or forensic scientists. Upon completion of the degree, students will understand how neurons work, how the human body responds to stimuli to and from the brain, the effects of drugs, the difference between mind and brain, and how to ask research questions and pursue answers connected to the brain and behavior.

Forestry (emphasis within the Biology minor)

Faculty: faculty from SUNY-ESF Ranger School

Because deforestation and other human activities affecting forested areas have significant ecological, aesthetic, and economic ramifications, gaining insight into our forest resources can play an important role in environmental stewardship and may be desirable for students intending to serve with missions organizations. The forestry program at Houghton University allows students to develop a deeper understanding of these issues through an agreement partnership with the State University of New York College of Environmental Science and Forestry (SUNY-ESF). Both a Forestry minor and a Forestry emphasis within a Biology major are offered through coursework taken at the SUNY-ESF Ranger School (est. 1912) based at Wanakena in the Adirondack Park. The Ranger School offers a rigorous 46-credit Forestry Technology program over an extended school year. Houghton students can participate for a fall semester (Forestry minor) or for an entire academic year (Forestry emphasis within a Biology major), depending on their educational and career goals. Those participating for the whole year also earn an AAS from SUNY-ESF.

Note: The program is not limited to Biology majors. Non-Biology students who have the necessary prerequisites may also opt to take the fall courses (earning a Forestry minor) or the whole-year program (earning a Forestry minor, Biology minor, and AAS degree in Forest Technology). The SUNY-ESF website should be consulted for definitive information on their forestry program.

Pre-Professional Preparation

Students interested in pursuing medical training in graduate school should seek out opportunities early in their time at Houghton to demonstrate a commitment to community service and to gain practical experience in the medical field. An example of the opportunities offered at Houghton University for students to gain such experiences in the context of elective coursework is a semester-long course in Medical Ethics (which offers a service-learning experience in a health-related venue).

Nutrition and Dietetics

Houghton University has a 3+3 articulation agreement with D'Youville University, under which students complete three years of study in a pre-health profession program with prerequisite courses (Biology-BA recommended; others upon consultation with pre-health professions director) at Houghton University, and then matriculate into D'Youville University's Nutrition and Dietetics didactic, pre-professional program (year 4) for 2 semesters. Courses completed during the didactic, pre-professional program at D'Youville will transfer as credits towards the completion of the Bachelor of Arts degree in Biology and fulfillment of the requirements for graduation from Houghton University. After graduation from Houghton University, students continue in the ACEND® accredited Nutrition and Dietetics Coordinated Program (CP) for 4 semesters (years 5 and 6 of study). Upon successful completion of all coursework and supervised practice requirements, students will earn a combined BS/MS in Nutrition and Dietetics and will be eligible to sit for the Commission on Dietetic Registration, Examination for Registered Dietitians Nutritionists. Students pursuing guaranteed admission must submit a letter of intent to Houghton University by September 1 of the junior year of undergraduate study. The letter of intent does not guarantee a seat. A holistic review of all interested students in the junior year will occur by both Houghton and D'Youville. To qualify for admission to the BS/MS in Nutrition and Dietetics program at D'Youville University, Houghton University students must maintain a cumulative GPA of at least 2.5 and meet all other admission standards set forth by D'Youville University. Additional information can be obtained by contacting Dr. Jamie Potter.

Pre-Athletic Training Interest

Houghton University has a 4+2 (Bachelor's +2 MSAT) articulation agreement with Messiah University, under which students earn a bachelor's degree at Houghton University prior to matriculating into the Messiah University MSAT program. Houghton University students can select any Houghton University bachelor's degree as long as they successfully complete the Messiah University MSAT prerequisites. Students pursuing admission must submit all application documents and undergo a holistic review of their application by September 1 of the year prior to the start of the cohort at Messiah University. For consideration for admission into the Messiah University MSAT program, a Houghton University student must meet all of the admissions requirements, including an earned baccalaureate degree from Houghton University (including all required prerequisites), a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum prerequisite GPA of 3.0, required letters of recommendation, a personal statement, and CPR – Professional Rescuer certification. Additional information can be obtained by contacting Dr. Jamie Potter.

Pre-Dentistry Interest

Houghton University has an Early Acceptance Program with Lake Erie College of Osteopathic Medicine (LECOM) for students to secure a seat in their dental program as early as their senior year in high school.

Students must have proven academic abilities as demonstrated by their GPA, SAT/ACT score, and coursework. Students accepted into the program must maintain a GPA of at least 3.3 and earn grades of C or higher in prerequisite courses. Up to five seats are offered per admission year. Additional information can be obtained by contacting Dr. Jamie Potter.

Pre-Medical Interest

Allopathic (awarding an MD) and osteopathic (awarding a DO) medical schools continue to be highly competitive and require rigorous academics, exceptional acumen, preparation for the medical field, and dedication to community service. Admission committees seek individuals with demonstrated competencies and outstanding academic achievement at the undergraduate level.

The two academic benchmarks used by medical schools in screening applicants are the Medical School Application Test (MCAT) and college GPA. Strong performance in both is necessary to maximize students' chances of being accepted to medical school. Students considering medical school should expect to work diligently from the very beginning of their University experience to ensure the best preparation for the MCAT. The MCAT is usually taken during the spring of the junior year to support an application for medical school matriculation in the fall following University graduation. Those who intend to follow this timeline for application to medical school should complete the courses needed for MCAT preparation (one year of General Biology, one year of General Chemistry followed by one year of Organic Chemistry, and one semester of Calculus followed by one year of Physics) by the end of their junior year. For specific course information, please refer to the Course Descriptions section of this catalog.

Houghton University has an Early Acceptance Program with Lake Erie College of Osteopathic Medicine (LECOM) for students to secure a seat at LECOM in their osteopathic medical program as early as their senior year in high school. Students must have proven academic abilities as demonstrated by their GPA, SAT/ACT score, and coursework. Students accepted into the program must maintain a GPA of at least 3.3 and must earn grades of at least C in prerequisite courses. Up to five seats are offered per admission year. Additional information can be obtained by contacting Dr. Jamie Potter.

For further information about preparing for medical school, contact Dr. Jamie Potter.

Pre-Nursing Interest

Houghton University has a 3+1 agreement with Indiana Wesleyan University (IWU). Students interested in this program obtain a bachelor's degree of their choice in three years and then complete the one-year BS in Nursing (BSN) at IWU. Specific course requirements are listed below; students must achieve at least a 2.75 cumulative GPA and score 65% or higher on the Test of Essential Academic Skills. Prerequisites can vary widely for institutions offering BSN, accelerated BSN, MS in Nursing (MSN), or accelerated MSN degrees. Students must investigate those requirements.

Nursing is one of the largest and fastest-growing professions in our nation. Typical paths to registered nursing include completion of a BSN degree or, for clinical nurse specialists, nurse anesthetists, nurse-midwives, and nurse practitioners, an MSN degree. Houghton students interested in nursing typically pursue one of three paths: a.) enroll in an accelerated BSN degree after completing a BA or BS in another field at Houghton University, b.) enroll in an accelerated MSN degree after completing a BA or BS in another field at Houghton University, or c.) transfer to a BSN degree after completing two years at Houghton University.

Most students interested in pursuing nursing major in Biology or Chemistry, though many other majors are possible. If a student does not major in Biology or Chemistry, the prerequisite science, psychology, and math courses must still be taken.

An advantage to studying at Houghton University prior to pursuing a nursing degree is the availability of Global Studies courses. These classes, including those related to public health, prepare students for global service opportunities in missions, non-governmental organizations, public health organizations, and educational institutions. For further information, contact Dr. Jamie Potter.

The prerequisites for BSN, accelerated BSN, MSN, and accelerated MSN degrees can vary widely. It is therefore highly recommended that students interested in pursuing nursing after Houghton work with Dr. Jamie Potter during their first and second years at Houghton University to review the specific requirements at selected colleges and universities.

Students planning to transfer to a BSN or accelerated BSN program typically complete the following courses:

Typical Course Requirements	Credits
BIOL 217* and BIOL 218* Human Anatomy and Physiology I and II	4, 4
CHEM 151* and CHEM 152 General Chemistry I and II	4, 4

BIOL 209 Introduction to Nutrition*	3
PSY/BADM 309 Statistics or MATH 181 Calculus I*	4
PSY 213 Developmental Psychology	3

*Course required for 3+1 IWU agreement

Other courses that may be required by specific BSN or accelerated nursing degrees (either BSN or MSN) include Introduction to Psychology, Pathophysiology, Theology/Religious Studies, Medical Ethics, Human Growth and Development, Sociology, and Pharmacology.

Houghton University also has an accelerated bachelor of science in nursing (ABSN) agreement with D'Youville University. Students interested in this program obtain a bachelor's degree of their choice in three to four years at Houghton University, and then matriculate into D'Youville University's School of Nursing ABSN program for 15 months or 4 semesters to earn a Bachelor of Science in Nursing. Specific course requirements are listed below; students must achieve at least a 2.75 GPA, earn a C or higher in all pre-requisite science courses, and meet all other admission standards in the D'Youville University catalog. Upon successful completion of all coursework and supervised practice requirements, students will be eligible to sit for the NCLEX licensure examination.

Pre-Occupational Therapy Interest

Houghton University has an agreement with D’Youville University for students to receive admission into D’Youville University’s Master’s Degree in Occupational Therapy (OT MS 4+3) program. Interested students who graduate or anticipate graduation from Houghton University in a pre-professional health track with pre-requisite coursework are guaranteed admission. Students pursuing guaranteed admission must submit a letter of intent to Houghton University by September 1 of the junior year of undergraduate study. The letter of intent does not guarantee a seat. A holistic review will occur of all interested students in their junior year by both Houghton and D’Youville programs. Applicants must have a minimum overall cumulative GPA of at least 3.0 and have a grade of “C” or better in all prerequisite courses. Preferred majors include Exercise Science – Graduate Track (BS), Biology (BA), Neuroscience (BS), or Biomedical Sciences (BS). Additional information can be obtained by contacting Dr. Jamie Potter.

Pre-Pharmacy Interest

Houghton University has articulation agreements with LECOM and D’Youville University School of Pharmacy (DYSOP) for students to gain entry into their respective PharmD programs prior to graduation from Houghton University. With the Early Acceptance Program at LECOM, students in high school and college can secure a seat in their Doctor of Pharmacy program. Students must maintain high academic performance as demonstrated by their GPA, PCAT score, and prerequisite coursework. Up to five seats are offered per admission year.

With the DYSOP 3+4 articulation agreement, students will earn a bachelor's degree in Biochemistry or Biology at Houghton and a PharmD degree at DYSOP. Under this agreement, students will successfully complete three years of undergraduate study (99 credit hours) toward the BS in Biology or Biochemistry with pre-health professional training and then apply for admission to DYSOP in their junior year for the PharmD degree. The PharmD degree will be conferred at the completion of the program at DYSOP. DYSOP will offer up to 10 seats annually for qualified Houghton University students. If admitted into the PharmD program, all credits earned during the first year of the PharmD curriculum will be recognized by Houghton University and applied toward completion of the student's BS degree. Specific coursework will be required as part of the program to fulfill prerequisites of the 3+1 agreement. Additional information can be obtained by contacting Dr. Jamie Potter.

Pre-Physical Therapy Interest

Houghton University has an agreement with D'Youville University for students to receive admission into D'Youville University's Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT 4+3) program. Interested students who graduate or anticipate graduation from Houghton University in a pre-professional health track with pre-requisite coursework are guaranteed admission. Students pursuing guaranteed admission must submit a letter of intent to Houghton University by September 1 of their junior year of undergraduate study. The letter of intent does not guarantee a seat. A holistic review will occur of all interested students in their junior year by both Houghton and D'Youville programs. Applicants must have a minimum overall cumulative GPA of at least 3.0, have a 3.20 in all prerequisite courses with no grade in any prerequisite course below a "B," and must complete 60 hours of documented physical therapy observation prior to acceptance at D'Youville University. Preferred majors include Exercise Science – Graduate Track (BS), Biology (BS or BA), Neuroscience (BS), or Biomedical Sciences (BS). Additional information can be obtained by contacting Dr. Jamie Potter.

Houghton University also has a Bachelor's +3 DPT agreement with Messiah University, which includes a bachelor's degree from Houghton University and the Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT) degree from Messiah University. Houghton students can complete any undergraduate degree of their choice as long as they successfully complete the Messiah University DPT prerequisites. Two seats are reserved for qualified students, based on their academics. Applicants must maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of at least 3.5, a minimum prerequisite GPA of at least 3.5, submit an application with 3 letters of recommendation, score a minimum of 150 on both Verbal Reasoning and Quantitative Reasoning sections of the GRE, and complete 20 hours of observation or volunteer work in a physical therapy practice setting. Preferred majors include Exercise Science – Graduate Track (BS), Biology (BS or BA), Neuroscience (BS), or Biomedical Sciences (BS). Additional information can be obtained by contacting Dr. Jamie Potter.

Pre-Veterinary Medicine Interest

Houghton provides a broad education while offering those courses specified by veterinary medical colleges for admission. Veterinary colleges stress the desirability of a well-rounded postsecondary education. They accept students without regard for their pre-professional majors and sometimes after three years or 90 hours of credit. However, most applicants major in Biology or Chemistry and, on average, have more than 100 hours of pre-professional training. Because there are relatively few veterinary colleges, the number of students accepted each year into veterinary curricula is small. Therefore, excellence of academic achievement and personal character as well as familiarity with the profession are necessary for admission. For further information, contact Dr. Jamie Potter.

Business and Economics

Mark Borchert, Dean of Management and Creative Arts /
<http://www.houghton.edu/business/> | 585.567.9446 |

The Business and Economics academic programs aim to develop the character and intellect of students and equip them with skills to be Christ-like scholar-servants who will steward the resources of for-profit, not-for-profit, and service organizations.

The Business and Economics Department offers a range of curricular options for students, including studies in accounting, economics, management, digital marketing, leadership, and human resources. The business programs combine foundational coursework in business, specialized classes in various areas, and training in practical business skills through internships and experiential and service-learning courses. Faculty members in the department combine a high level of academic training with extensive business experience as they help prepare students to be future business leaders.

Internship: In addition to a one-hour practicum experience (ACCT 323, BADM 410, BADM 431, or BADM 435), an internship is required of all students majoring in Business Administration. Practical experience provides an excellent opportunity to link classroom theory with work and practice. In addition, practical application may provide learning opportunities that cannot be duplicated in the classroom. For this reason, all Business Administration majors are required to graduate with a minimum of 1 credit, but not more than 6 credits, of internship experience.

Students meet the internship requirement through some type of work done for large or small, for- or not-for-profit businesses. These experiences may also occur in conjunction with other coursework taken during the fall or spring semester, Mayterm, or summer. In all cases, the emphasis of the work, which makes it eligible for credit, must be on what is learned through the experience.

All internship experiences must be pre-certified and follow department guidelines to meet the internship requirements. Students wishing to earn credit hours for internships conducted over the summer will pay summer per-credit-hour tuition rates. One may apply to have an internship meet the requirement for an internship without earning credit, but the experience must still be pre-certified by the department-designated internship supervisor and meet all other internship requirements.

Select courses may fulfill the internship requirement if they focus on practical application of studied material and involve activity similar to that in the workplace. Examples of such courses include the following:

- BADM 431 – Security Analysis and Portfolio Management – Students in the course are members of the Student Investment Group and manage an equity portfolio on behalf of Houghton University. The students analyze stocks and make buy/sell decisions under faculty supervision.
- ACCT 323 – Tax Practicum – Students prepare tax returns through the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program of the Internal Revenue Service.
- BADM 410 – Business Startup Development – Students research and develop real-world business ideas. The goal is to begin to develop a business plan that allows students to pursue the launch of a small business. Students will also be given the opportunity to participate in a business pitch competition. Fulfills practicum requirement.
- BADM 435 – Consulting Practicum (Houghton Consulting Group) provides small teams of students with opportunities to work on consulting projects for client organizations. Fulfills practicum requirement.

These courses may be taken multiple semesters to meet both practicum and internship requirements.

Other courses may meet the requirement if their primary focus is on practical application. An example is the ST: Field Audit conducted for SIL/Wycliffe in Ivory Coast, Thailand, and Cameroon. For any course to meet the internship requirement, the intent must be service learning through the application of principles learned in the classroom. Courses with a hands-on component or service-learning project are encouraged in the curriculum but do not meet the internship requirement.

Pre-Professional Preparation

4+1 Accelerated MBA

Five Years, Two Degrees

Houghton has established agreements with selected graduate schools whereby qualified students who have earned a BS degree in Business can accelerate their MBA degree. Students can waive certain MBA foundation courses, allowing them to complete an MBA in one year. Depending on the school, a grade of B or higher in the designated undergraduate courses is needed to waive graduate-level coursework. The courses must also be no more than five years old upon matriculation in the MBA program. Students can consult their advisors for information about the courses to select and specific graduate requirements.

Houghton University currently has 4+1 agreements with Alfred University, Clarkson University, Niagara University, Rochester Institute of Technology, and St. Bonaventure University.

Chemistry

Jamie Potter, Interim Dean of Natural Sciences and Mathematics |
<https://www.houghton.edu/chemistry/> | 585.567.9264

The mission of the Chemistry programs at Houghton University is to thoroughly educate students in the theory, practice, and context of chemistry. Graduates will demonstrate core knowledge in various subdisciplines of chemistry. They will demonstrate proficiency with standard laboratory equipment, classical and synthetic laboratory techniques, modern instrumentation, and experimental design, use primary literature and chemical databases to search for and evaluate background information for current research topics, and be able to clearly present results of research and experiments through oral presentation and technical reports.

Majoring in Chemistry or Biochemistry at Houghton University prepares students for careers in one of the health professions or in chemistry. Alumni include medical doctors (allopathic MD, osteopathic DO), optometry doctors (OD), podiatrists (DPM), chiropractic doctors (DC), medical missionaries, nurses, physicians' assistants, dentists, veterinarians, clinical chemists, medical technologists, physical therapists, and nutritionists. In addition, graduates have become research chemists, forensic scientists, pharmaceutical researchers, medicinal chemists, environmental analysts, science writers, college professors, high-school teachers, and technology managers and executives, among other professionals. Chemistry and Biochemistry graduates interested in nursing can enter an advanced accelerated nursing curriculum to complete an additional nursing degree in fewer than two more years.

Biochemistry Major

BA/BS (39 credits in core; 12–16 corequisite credits; 12 prerequisite credits)

Biochemistry is an excellent path toward entering one of the health professions or following a career in biochemical research. A Biochemistry major at Houghton University can lead to a career as a biomedical researcher, medical doctor, nurse, pharmacist or pharmacologist, nutritionist, physical therapist, or food chemist. For a full description of Pre-Health Professions, see the Biology department website.

A major in Biochemistry at Houghton University enables students to learn, in a context of faith, the normal or abnormal paths that one's body may take and to understand the ways in which nutrition and pharmaceuticals can best prevent or correct damage to one's body. Because the Biochemistry major at Houghton University contains a significant liberal arts component as well as its science component, student may choose to pursue either a BA or BS degree in Biochemistry.

Communication

Mark Borchert, Dean of Management and Creative Arts |
<https://www.houghton.edu/communication/> | 585.567.9446

The Communication academic programs aim to develop the character and intellect of students, equipping them with skills to be Christ-like scholar-servants who effectively communicate messages in an everchanging world.

Whether one seeks a career in broadcasting, journalism, public relations, advertising, government service, community development, law, business, teaching, or ministry, the ability to communicate is essential. The Communication major is interdisciplinary, focusing on helping students become competent communicators. This involves the ability to analyze messages in both personal and public contexts, recognize and choose from among various communication strategies, and use language and images to create messages that are ethical, sensitive to the audience, and help to solve real-world problems.

Communication Major with Concentration in Digital Media Marketing

BA/BS (19 credits in core; 23 credits in concentration*)

The Communication major with a concentration in Digital Media Marketing builds on basic core courses to develop a defined competence in the communication components of marketing. These components include advertising, public relations, marketing events such as trade shows, direct mail or other forms of one-to-one communication, and web-based or electronic initiatives. The focus of this concentration is to enable students to enter for-profit or not-for-profit businesses or organizations and assume a role in a marketing or promotions department with the ability to understand, manage, and implement an expected set of professional tasks.

Communication Major with Media Arts and Visual Communication

BA/BS (19 credits in core; 24–28 credits in concentration)

This Communication major with a concentration in Media Arts and Visual Communication focuses on visual media-making with many classes devoted to creative studio work. To make visual media that is effective, creative, and ethical, critical analysis and cross-disciplinary connections are essential. This concentration combines media theory, critical analysis, and cultural application with practical creative work focusing on digital media tools. This includes new forms of creation, distribution, and social engagement outside of traditional structures. Independent cinema, internet and interactive media, support for nonprofit organizations, alternative political or social speech, media and performance art, documentary from a personal viewpoint, and storytelling/folklore are areas in which students can apply their knowledge and skills.

Communication Major with Rhetorical Communication

BA/BS (19 credits in core; 19–25 credits in concentration)

For more than 2,000 years, the study of communication was the study of rhetoric. The Rhetorical Communication concentration helps students connect to the historical roots of communication study while bringing the conversation up-to-date with the application of rhetorical theory to current forms of message delivery.

Central to the study of rhetoric is the notion of civic engagement. In a democracy, the opportunity for people to express themselves, present arguments, engage in debate, and praise and blame is critical to the orderly functioning of society. The Rhetorical Communication concentration is designed to help students construct effective and ethically responsible messages appropriate to scholar-servants. In the church, workplace, and community, such speakers play a critical role in creating solutions to problems, defending the rights of the oppressed, and improving the lives of fellow humans. The study of rhetoric also helps students become more discerning message consumers. This concentration is especially applicable to those students interested in law, politics, and ministry.

Education

Michele Vanasse, Dean of Education & Behavioral Sciences |

<https://www.houghton.edu/education/> | 585.567.9308

Houghton University's teacher education program has deep roots in the liberal arts and the Christian faith, and is committed to the highest professional standards in teacher education. A degree in Education prepares teachers steeped in content areas and committed to serving the needs of diverse learners and communities. The department mission is to equip teachers for transformative learning and service.

Houghton's Education faculty are committed to integrating theory, practice, and Christian faith in their teaching. All have earned graduate degrees in specific areas of specialization, and all have served as classroom teachers. This combination of experience, expertise, and a Christian worldview provides a classroom context that promotes the intellectual development and spiritual formation of students who graduate to serve as scholars and leaders in the world of education.

Education majors will complete one of four program strands: Adolescence Education, Adolescent Education and SWD, Childhood Education and SWD, or Music Education. Students in each strand receive thorough preparation in educational theory and practice as well as intensive preparation in their chosen content area. All students participate in a variety of classroom experiences that place them in rural and urban schools, service learning, and individual student teaching placements. Graduates of all program strands are well prepared to meet the needs of diverse learners across a wide range of settings and are thoroughly prepared for graduate study.

Information

Admission to the path within the Houghton University Teacher Education area is by application, and continuation on this path requires meeting the standards outlined below. The Teacher Education Committee considers each candidate's prospects for successful completion of courses and field placement requirements in its decisions. Preparing to become a teacher involves more than academic preparation in the university classroom. Part of the process of becoming an effective educator includes cultivating professional behaviors, attitudes, and dispositions that are expected of professionals in this field. To that end, prospective teacher education students must demonstrate acceptable evidence of professional dispositions for admittance into and continuation along this path.

To be recommended for teacher certification, students must earn a final course grade of C or higher in all EDUC, concentration, and/or content major courses. For admission to the teacher education area, a student must do the following:

- Complete an application (completed in EDUC 202)
- Successfully complete the writing sample assessment
- Present a cumulative GPA of at least 2.5
- Demonstrate acceptable evidence of professional disposition
- Receive formal approval from the Teacher Education Committee

For entry into upper-level education courses (courses numbered 300 and higher), a student must do the following:

- Have been admitted to the teacher education area
- Have successfully completed specified 200-level coursework in education (Adolescence Education (ADE)/Adolescent Education (7-12) and SWD (PK-12) majors must complete EDUC 219, 235, and 240; Childhood Education (1-6) and SWD (PK-12) majors must complete MATH 114, and EDUC 219, 235, and 240; students in ALL teacher education strands [Adolescence Education (ADE), Adolescent Education (7-12) and SWD (PK-12), Childhood Education (1-6) and SWD (PK-12), and Music Education (with a vocal or instrumental emphasis: MEI, MEV)] must complete EDUC 202 Topics in Professionalism by the end of the sophomore year)
- Present a cumulative GPA of at least 2.6
- Demonstrate acceptable evidence of a professional disposition
- Receive formal approval from the Teacher Education Committee

Note: Continuation in the second semester of the junior-level course sequence in each major is contingent upon successful completion of all requirements for coursework and field placements. To continue and be recommended for teacher certification (in any state), students must earn a grade of B– or better in each of their field placements.

To be approved for student teaching, a student must do the following:

- Complete and submit the Application for Professional Field Semester by the end of the second week of the semester prior to the requested professional semester
- Have successfully completed the junior-level course sequence appropriate to the major, including successful completion of all field placement requirements with a grade of B– or higher (see note above)
- Present a cumulative GPA of at least 2.7
- Demonstrate acceptable evidence of a professional disposition
- Complete all State-mandated training sessions required for certification (completed in EDUC 202)
- Complete all required contact hours (varies according to strand)
- Receive formal approval from the Teacher Education Committee

Adolescence Education or Adolescent Education and SWD majors seeking approval for student teaching outside the U.S. must present a cumulative GPA of at least 2.8 and receive approval from the Teacher Education Committee before they will be permitted to apply for an international student teaching placement. Interested students should contact the student teaching coordinator one year prior to their intended student teaching semester to initiate this process. (Overseas student teaching placements are currently not available in the Childhood Education and SWD major.)

Student Teaching Policy: Recognizing the importance of academic responsibility during teacher training and the challenges inherent to the teaching profession, the Teacher Education Committee has established a 2.7 cumulative GPA as one of the necessary requirements for approval to student teach. However, there are occasions when a student with a cumulative GPA below the 2.7 shows reasonable potential for success in student teaching. When such a student is identified by the student's Education department advisor and/or the student teacher coordinator, the student may prepare a letter of appeal (if the student's cumulative GPA is at least 2.65), and the case will be considered by the Teacher Education Committee.

Any student dismissed from the University for disciplinary reasons during the junior year or student teaching semester and subsequently readmitted must reapply to the Teacher Education Committee for acceptance for student teaching.

During the student teaching semester, students are not allowed to receive remuneration from the school for teaching services.

New York State Teacher Certification: Students completing Adolescence Education, Adolescent Education and SWD, Childhood Education and SWD, or Music Education majors may apply for an Initial Teaching Certificate from New York State. In addition to completing the requirements for the major, applicants for New York State teacher certification must complete the required New York State Teacher Certification Examinations (NYSTCEs) appropriate to the desired teaching certificate(s). Information on the NYSTCEs and New York State teacher certification is available from the Education department office or from the New York State Education Department (www.nysed.gov). Information regarding the Music Education majors is available in the Music Education section of this catalog. Teacher candidates are advised to contact Professor Martin Coates to ensure that they have accurate/current information regarding New York State certification requirements. Those intending to teach in states other than New York are advised to familiarize themselves with the requirements of the state(s) in which they desire to be certified and to select courses accordingly. Further information about interstate reciprocity agreements may be obtained through the Education department at <http://www.highered.nysed.gov/tcert/certificate/levelcert.html> or <http://www.highered.nysed.gov/tcert/certificate/teachrecother.html>.

Important Information about Student Teaching

Employment and Activities while Student Teaching:

The University seeks to provide each student with the greatest opportunity for success during student teaching. Students are expected to eliminate all employment during the student teaching semester. However, because students may have extenuating circumstances that necessitate exemption from this restriction, the Teacher Education Committee agrees that a student may be permitted to work under the following guidelines:

- The student has shown a history of responsible behavior with respect to course requirements and Department of Education guidelines.
- The student presents a written request stating the student's financial need and the anticipated work responsibilities, including days and hours (may not exceed 10 hours/week).
- The student can demonstrate that outside employment will not interfere with normal after-school responsibilities associated with the student teaching assignment.
- The student indicates willingness to abide by any restrictions concerning working that the Teacher Education Committee requires.

PLEASE NOTE: If outside employment hinders a student's teaching performance, the Teacher Education Committee reserves the right to require the student teacher to further limit or eliminate work hours. Failure to follow the appeal procedure may result in the student being removed from the field experience. Students may be members of intercollegiate teams only if they have petitioned and received special approval from the Teacher Education Committee prior to placement. (Please contact Martin Coates regarding the petition process.)

Music Education students are discouraged from taking applied lessons during the student teaching semester. If applied lessons are essential during this semester, a student must present a petition to the Teacher Education Committee prior to placement. If permission is granted by the Committee, students will not be permitted to register for more than 2 credits of applied lessons. (Please contact Martin Coates for information about the petition process.)

During the student teaching-related classes, students may not enroll in other University classes with the exception of EDUC 485.

Adolescent Education (7-12) and SWD (PK-12) Major

BA/BS (45 credits in core; 24 corequisite credits)

This major prepares candidates to teach students with disabilities at the secondary level (grades 7 through 12) across content areas and leads to the Students with Disabilities 7–12 Generalist certificate. This major includes 24 corequisite credits in the core content areas. Grades for these 24 credits must be C or higher to satisfy New York State requirements. The major includes a minimum of 100 hours of field experience, which must be completed prior to student teaching; that field experience is linked to education courses including (but not limited to) EDUC 235, 240, and 33X.

Students pursuing a teaching certificate at the secondary level must complete a second major in one of the following areas: History (with augmented requirements for social studies), Biology, Chemistry, English, Mathematics, and Physics. Students pursuing dual certification at the secondary level will complete a minimum of 150 hours of field experience, which must be completed prior to student teaching; that field experience is linked to education courses including (but not limited to) EDUC 235, 240, and 33X.

The Students with Disabilities (All Grades) Certificate permits individuals to teach students with disabilities in pre-Kindergarten through grade 12 in New York State public schools. For Students with Disabilities (All Grades) programs, the content core consists of a major comprising 30 semester hours in one or more liberal arts and sciences disciplines. In addition, candidates are required to complete a minimum of six semester hours in each of the following subject areas: mathematics, English language arts, social studies, and science. Note: careful selection of General Education courses during advising can minimize total additional credits for this corequisite.

English and Writing

Peter Meilaender, Dean of Religion, Humanities, and Global Studies /
<https://www.houghton.edu/english-and-writing/> | 585.567.9429

The majors in English and Writing help students understand the creative, interpretive, and scholarly aspects of literature and other texts from the perspective of a reader, student, and writer, with attention to the significance of the written word as a form of Christian expression.

The English major provides students with a strong liberal arts preparation for a variety of careers in fields including education, business, and the media. It is also appropriate for pre-seminary and pre-law studies.

The Writing major provides students with a strong liberal arts preparation for a variety of careers including journalism, publishing, law, advertising, public relations, teaching, and business. The major is designed to help students develop their skills in recording and communicating information as well as their ability to use writing as a tool for thinking, articulating ideas, and solving problems.

General Education

John Rowley, Director | <https://www.houghton.edu/academics/general-education/>

Houghton University General Education Requirements

The core of a liberal arts education at Houghton is found in the University's General Education requirements, which all students must satisfy. The General Education requirements embody an interdisciplinary vision of the skills, content, and ways of thinking that, in the words of the Houghton University mission statement, "equip students to lead and labor as scholar-servants in a changing world."

The General Education requirements consist of nine course content areas: Biblical and Theological Studies, Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning, Natural Science, Writing, Integrated Humanities, Social Science, Art and Music, Wellness, and Global Competence.

The specific outlines for the BA/BS/BFA and BMus degrees can be found below. These outlines can also be accessed on the Registrar's Office website. For more information on General Education Requirements for transfer students, see the Transfer Admission Information section of this catalog.

Majors

Composition Major

BMus (81–88 credits)

The BMus degree in Composition provides a foundation for further study at the graduate level or the abilities to pursue a career in a number of fields, including but not limited to composing, film-scoring, orchestrating and arranging, publishing, music administration, copyist work, worship leadership, and performance. Students will study a wide variety of musical styles and processes in the traditional Western canon in addition to 20th-century art music, jazz, and commercial styles while developing their own compositional skills and artistic voice. Students will develop needed competence in musicianship, music theory, history, composition, and improvisation.

Students pursuing the BMus in Composition must take a total of 19 credits of Applied Composition. During the junior year and fall of the senior year, students must take 3 credits per semester. For all other semesters, students may elect 2 or 3 credits (no less than 2), but it is recommended to register for 3 credits whenever possible, especially in the first year. A Senior Capstone Recital is required of all BMus Composition students.

The Senior Capstone Recital requirement for compositional applied study is a full-hour recital of original compositions or a half-hour recital of original compositions in addition to an original work of significant length and form programmed as a separate performance. All performances occur in the senior year. The Senior Capstone Recital should include a varied selection of works with differing instrumentation and scope supported by an accompanying notated score and program notes for each presented piece. All programming decisions are to be approved by the student's applied instructor of composition. Students are required to have current versions of Finale or Sibelius notation software programs upon entering applied study in Music Composition.

Students are also expected to complete applied study in their principal instrument or voice in addition to their compositional applied study. If the instrumental applied study area is not piano, BMus Composition students must complete eight piano proficiency benchmarks and a minimum of 2 credits of regular applied piano lessons (PIAN prefix) to meet the degree requirement.

Anyone whose principal instrument is woodwind, brass, or percussion must register for and participate as needed in both Symphony Orchestra and Wind Ensemble unless excused by both the ensembles' directors and the Dean of the Greatbatch School of Music.

All students enrolled in any music degree program at the Greatbatch School of Music at Houghton University must take the Music Theory Placement Test. Students needing additional experience and fluency in Music Theory and Musicianship will be required to enroll in the Music Fundamentals I (MTH 101) track before entering the standard sequence of courses.

Music Major

BA (45–54 credits)

The BA in Music is the smallest music degree, and allows students to develop competencies in musicianship, theory, history, and composition, while also providing room for a potential double major.

As a culminating experience in the BA Music major, the degree candidate shall:

- prepare and successfully present a public performance of literature on the principal instrument, either as a solo half-recital or as a lecture-recital, with accompanying approved program notes; or
- prepare a paper or project examining some aspect of music, either alone or in relationship to another field of inquiry; or
- participate in an internship appropriate to the major or majors chosen.

The BA degree in Music can be combined with other curricula for a double major. Business Administration, Communication, and Psychology are combinations often selected. These combinations are valuable for those wishing to work in some aspect of the music industry. Suggested course sequences may be found on the Greatbatch School of Music website. An audition is required to establish an appropriate performance course level.

For those interested in full-time Christian service with music as a component, a double major with Bible and Theology is recommended. With this major, directed electives in church music should be chosen. An audition is required to establish an appropriate performance course level.

BA Music majors must maintain membership in a major ensemble (see ensembles section) with or without credit. Choice of ensemble is made with the Greatbatch School of Music director's approval.

Anyone whose principal instrument is woodwind, brass, or percussion must register for and participate as needed in both Symphony Orchestra and Wind Ensemble unless excused by both the ensemble's director and the Dean of the Greatbatch School of Music.

The recital attendance requirement is 10 performances per semester for BA/BS majors and 14 for BMus majors, every semester of residence.

Music Education (PK–12)

Students pursuing majors in music education will begin applied study in their primary instrument in the freshman year, taking 1 credit per semester in the freshman year and then taking 3 credits per semester in the sophomore and junior years and 3 credits during the semester they do not student teach in their senior year. These lessons culminate in a Senior Recital that, together with the successful completion of student teaching and its attendant seminar, comprises the Capstone experience. The curriculum is designed to help students develop the necessary competencies in musicianship, music theory, history, composition, improvisation, and in musical and classroom pedagogical best practices, all of which will serve them as they teach music in our schools.

The Senior Recital requirement for Music Education majors is a solo half-hour recital of repertoire designed in collaboration with the student's instrumental or vocal applied instructor, occurring in the senior year.

If the instrumental applied study area is not piano, Music Education students must complete eight piano proficiency benchmarks.

The Music Education curricula prepare students for teaching music in grades PK–12. Entrance levels and graduation requirements vary for the two curricula as outlined below. These curricula meet all teacher certification requirements of the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York.

Admission to the path within the Houghton University Teacher Education area is by application, and continuation in the program requires meeting the standards outlined below. The Teacher Education Committee considers each candidate's prospects for successful completion of courses and field placement requirements in its decisions. Preparing to become a music teacher involves more than academic preparation in the University classroom. Part of the process of becoming an effective music educator includes cultivating professional behaviors, attitudes, and dispositions that are expected of professionals in this field. To that end, prospective teacher education students must demonstrate acceptable evidence of professional dispositions for admittance into and continuation along this path.

To be recommended for teacher certification, students must earn a final course grade of C or higher in all EDUC, concentration, and/or content major courses.

For admission to the appropriate path within the Houghton University Teacher Education area, a student must do the following:

- Complete an application (completed in EDUC 202)
- Receive formal sophomore review approval from the Music faculty
- Successfully complete the writing sample assessment
- Present a cumulative GPA of at least 2.5
- Demonstrate acceptable evidence of a professional disposition
- Receive formal approval from the Teacher Education Committee

To be approved for music student teaching, a student must do the following:

- Complete and submit the Application for Professional Field Semester by the end of the second week of the spring semester prior to the requested fall semester placements or the end of the second week of the fall semester prior to the requested spring semester placements
- Have successfully completed all appropriate music education courses as outlined in the University catalog
- Have completed MED 210 and 211 and 100 clock hours of observation in public or private schools
- Have successfully completed all required professional education courses: EDUC 217, 219, and 235
- Present a cumulative GPA of at least 2.7
- Demonstrate acceptable evidence of a professional disposition
- Complete all State-mandated training sessions required for certification by the end of the sophomore year (completed in EDUC 202)
- Complete all required contact hours
- Receive formal approval from the Teacher Education Committee
- Complete piano proficiency benchmarks 1–8

Music Industry Major

BS (81–91 credits)

Houghton's Music Industry major focuses on the most current business and industry practices, cutting-edge music recording and production techniques, and artistic and musical excellence.

Each student receives applied instruction starting the first day of classes using the latest equipment in our recording studios, multiple live concert venues, and a music technology lab.

Our hands-on approach, coupled with extensive classroom training, internships, and professional mentorships, prepares students for a variety of careers in the ever-evolving global industry.

All students enrolled in any music degree program at the Greatbatch School of Music at Houghton University must take the Music Theory Placement Test. Students needing additional experience and fluency in Music Theory and Musicianship may be required to enroll in the Music Fundamentals I (MTH 101) before entering the standard sequence of courses.

Music with Elective Studies in an Outside Field

BMus (81–96 credits; 3 corequisites; 60 credits in music; 18–33 credits in outside field electives)

This innovative, flexible curriculum provides an excellent option for musicians to combine a passion for music with other interests and talents, providing the opportunity to combine in-depth study with significant, focused work (18 credits minimum, up to 33 credits) in another discipline. The range of possibilities can be as creative as the interests and abilities of the student permit. By the end of the course of study, students will have a solid knowledge of core musical concepts in the areas of theory, composition, and history, and will have developed competencies in musicianship and performance on their instruments, along with proficiencies in their chosen outside field coursework.

All students enrolled in any music degree program at the Greatbatch School of Music at Houghton University must take the Music Theory Placement Test. Students needing additional experience and fluency in Music Theory and Musicianship may be required to enroll in the Music Fundamentals I (MTH 101) before entering the standard sequence of courses.

As a culminating experience in any BMus curriculum, the degree candidate shall successfully complete the senior capstone experience. The BMus in Music with Elective Studies in an Outside Field degree candidate shall:

- prepare and successfully present a public performance of literature on the principal instrument, either as a solo half-recital or as a lecture-recital, with accompanying approved program notes;
- prepare a paper or project examining some aspect of music, either alone or in relationship to another field of inquiry; or
- participate in an internship appropriate to the major or majors chosen.

*Pre-Music Therapy Interest

Students with an interest in pursuing music therapy may take the Bachelor of Music with Elective Studies in an Outside Field (81–96 credits; 60 credits in music; 33 credits in outside field electives), completing the specific music and outside field electives listed below:

PSY 305 Abnormal Psychology	3

*If guitar is your primary instrument, consult with your advisor for replacement coursework. Please notify the Registrar's Office of any changes.

Like other Pre-Professional options, this degree does not lead to licensure in music therapy, but rather prepares students to go on for further study in the field.

Performance Majors

Performance curricula give initial preparation for careers as solo performers in concert, recording, or church fields; accompanists or private studio teachers; professional ensemble members; junior college or Bible school faculty; or college teachers (after advanced study). Practical experience in teaching is desirable during junior/senior years. Students will develop competencies in musicianship, music theory, history, composition, and proficiencies in piano and pedagogy. The highest level of performance is expected.

All students enrolled in any music degree program at the Greatbatch School of Music at Houghton University must take the Music Theory Placement Test. Students needing additional experience and fluency in Music Theory and Musicianship may be required to enroll in the Music Fundamentals I (MTH 101) before entering the standard sequence of courses.

Anyone whose principal instrument is woodwind, brass, or percussion must register for and participate as needed in both Symphony Orchestra and Wind Ensemble unless excused by both the ensemble's director and the Dean of the Greatbatch School of Music.

The minimum requirement for Vocal Performance majors is 6 credits (or equivalent) of beginning language: one year of French (FREN 101, 102) or German (GERM 101, 102) or some combination thereof. * Vocal Performance majors may satisfy these requirements via placement exam, CLEP, or AP exam.

*Italian language may be substituted for either French or German in extraordinary circumstances. This action must be approved by the Coordinator of Vocal Studies in conjunction with the Dean of the Greatbatch School of Music.

Worship Arts Major

BS (74–80 credits)

The Bachelor of Science in Worship Arts is designed to shape and prepare musicians with the basic knowledge of Christian doctrines surrounding the practices, history, and design of worship; to equip them with a working knowledge of sound and recording technologies; and to provide opportunities to advance their understanding of music and their performance capabilities.

All students enrolled in any music degree program at the Greatbatch School of Music at Houghton University must take the Music Theory Placement Test. Students needing additional experience and fluency in Music Theory and Musicianship may be required to enroll in the Music Fundamentals I (MTH 101) before entering the standard sequence of courses.

History, Politics & Philosophy, and Global Studies

Peter C. Meilaender, Dean of Religion, Humanities, and Global Studies / <https://www.houghton.edu/history/> | 585.567.9429

The Department of History, Politics & Philosophy, and Global Studies offers a range of majors intended to help students connect human experience with normative concerns. Depending on the major, the focus may be historical or contemporary, national or international, but in every case, students are expected to acquire a foundation of empirical knowledge, including language study, on the basis of which they can pursue important ethical questions.

The History major involves a strong liberal arts concentration. It provides an excellent background for careers in law, ministry, public administration, government service, college and secondary teaching, business, and foreign service and preparation for archivists, museum curators, historical site specialists, librarians, editors, and writers.

The Politics & Philosophy major helps students understand both institutions and ideas—the major social and political institutions by which people govern themselves and the enduring questions of human life that we seek to address by means of those institutions. It thus prepares students for responsible citizenship. It is especially valuable for students contemplating careers in teaching, government, law, diplomacy, international service, business, and journalism.

The Global Studies major provides students a rigorous and critical interdisciplinary framework for both understanding and engaging the contemporary world. This joint task of understanding and engagement is rooted in Houghton’s historic Christian mission within the global church. Global Studies majors will be equipped for work in international politics, law, development, economics, and missions, in both the public and private sectors.

Pre-Professional PreparationPre-Law Interest

Faculty Advisor: Christian Esh

From the Mosaic law of the Pentateuch to the pugnacious speeches of the courts of Athens, the practice and study of law have roots deep in Western history. Today, law continues to play a critical role in helping the dynamic world of the 21st century function effectively. Politics, economics, technology—in an increasingly globalized world, every aspect of human culture is enmeshed in a web of national and international legal institutions. Indeed, few fields so deeply combine theory and practice as does the law, opening diverse avenues for applying the tools of the intellect to the problems of society.

Houghton's emphasis on the liberal arts provides a broad range of study as well as specific skills in critical thinking, reading comprehension, research, and oral and written communication. Organizations such as the American Bar Association (www.abanet.org) and the Law School Admissions Council (www.lsac.org) recommend precisely this sort of preparation for students planning to attend law school.

The study of pre-law is built around an individualized relationship with the University's pre-law advisor. Students considering law school come from all majors and minors; no particular major is required. The pre-law advisor works with each student to develop a course of study that complements the student's chosen major by emphasizing the development of analytical thinking; habits of thoroughness, intellectual curiosity, and scholarship; and the ability to organize data and communicate results. We recommend a balanced selection of courses drawn from areas such as logic and critical thinking; communication, public speaking, debate, and writing; American history and politics; philosophy and ethics; mathematics and accounting; and economics, sociology, or other social sciences. These recommendations directly reflect law school admissions expectations.

The pre-law advisor also encourages students to consider additional forms of relevant preparation, such as internships in local law offices or opportunities for research and field experience. The advisor works closely with the Office of Vocation and Calling on matters such as LSAT preparation and the law school application process. Those interested in pre-law also sponsor various events, including the University's annual Constitution Day celebration and an associated reading group; excursions to law offices, courtrooms, or regional points of interest; and visits with members of Houghton's extensive network of alumni attorneys. A pair of Student Pre-Law Fellowships are awarded annually to especially promising students considering a career in law.

In addition to attending law school, pre-law students discover a range of callings, including graduate work in political science, philosophy, or business as well as careers in law-related fields such as criminal justice, sociology, development, and journalism. The preparation required for success in law school translates well to many professions.

Honors at Houghton

Benjamin J. B. Lipscomb, Director

<https://www.houghton.edu/undergraduate/majors/honors/>

Houghton University offers honors opportunities centered on two first-year experiences: the London Honors semester and Science Honors. Both focus on student development through the combination of a rigorous academic curriculum and experiential learning. Students who have completed one of these first-year experiences are entitled to enroll in a variety of 1-credit honors seminars throughout their university career. Other qualified students may also be extended the opportunity to enroll in 1-credit honors seminars. Additionally, students have the option to write an honors thesis in their major discipline during their senior year. Honors thesis eligibility is not limited to students who have participated in one of the two first-year honors experiences.

Select prospective students are invited to apply for admission into one of the first-year experiences. The next year's honors students are selected by May each year. Students in these tracks are expected to achieve at least a 2.5 GPA in their first semester; failure to do so will trigger review by the Director of Honors.

Areas of Study

London Honors

Science Honors

London Honors

19 credits (3 in fall, 16 in spring)

The London Honors curriculum focuses on the origins and development of the modern West with some attention to West/non-West interactions. Following a fall pro-seminar on ancient and medieval background, the curriculum is delivered in London, England, taking advantage of the museums, galleries, performance venues, and other resources of the city. Meets the following General Education requirements: THEL 209, WRIT 101, the Writing-Enriched course requirement, Integrated Humanities, half of the Social Science requirement, Art and Music, and half of the Global Competence requirement.

Science Honors

18 credits (7 in fall, 7 in spring, 4 in Mayterm)

The integrative, problem-based Science Honors curriculum comprises 18 credits of coursework in the fall and spring semesters and Mayterm, and is team-taught by faculty from Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Communication, and History. Meets the following General Education requirements: Natural Science, Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning, Integrated Humanities, and half of the Social Science requirement.

MajorInterdisciplinary Studies Major

BA/BS (33–52 credits)

This major is for students who wish to pursue a multidisciplinary study not already offered by the University. The major enables students to integrate two or more areas of study or pursue a topic that crosses the boundaries of multiple disciplines.

Recipients of this degree will not be certified in any major field; the major on the transcript will be “Interdisciplinary Studies.”

Interested students must fill out an application (available on the Registrar’s Office website) and create a proposal including a name for the course of study, a rationale for its cohesiveness, and an explanation of how it meets the student’s educational or vocational goals. Applicants may not be on academic probation.

The application must be approved by the deans of the selected areas (in consultation with appropriate departmental faculty), the Registrar, the Director of General Education, and the Provost’s Office. The Provost’s Office will report these approvals to the Academic Council, which, in turn, will report them to the faculty. Proposals will not be considered approved until this reporting is completed.

Associate of Arts – Liberal Arts

Students seeking to complete the AA degree must earn a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher. At least 30 credits, including at least 18 of the last 24, must be earned through Houghton University. The specific qualifications for earning the AA degree are outlined below.

In addition to the general AA degree requirements above, students must complete the following:

1. A total of 62 semester credits, 47 of which must be Liberal Arts
2. 40 credits of General Education courses:
 - Required courses – In each category, students must earn at least the minimum number of credits and may count up to the maximum towards the 40 credits of required General Education credits.
 - 6–9 credits of Biblical and Theological Studies

- 6–9 credits of Integrated Humanities
- 3–6 credits of Global Competence
- 3–6 credits of Social Science
- 3–6 credits of Writing
- 2–4 credits of Art or Music
- 2–4 credits of Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning
- 2–4 credits of Natural Science
- 0–1 hour of Wellness
- 0–1 hour of ID 200/INTS 102/104 (Student Success Seminar/Transitions)
- The remaining credits may be used for electives, an area of focus, or a minor.

Minors

Military Leadership Minor: 12 credits (ROTC at Houghton, through St. Bonaventure University – Army)

Houghton University students may participate in the Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) through a cross-enrollment agreement with St. Bonaventure University. Two credits of military science are offered each semester that combine academic coursework and practical field experiences designed to enhance self-confidence, discipline, initiative, and responsibility. Courses are offered to any interested student without obligation to the Army. Up to 8 credits of Houghton graduation credit can be earned this way. All courses are offered on the St. Bonaventure University campus; 300 and 400 level courses are open only to students under contract with the U.S. Army. Houghton students have done well in competition for scholarships, which cover full tuition and books plus a modest living allowance.

Mathematics

Jamie Potter, Interim Dean of Natural Sciences and Mathematics /
<http://www.houghton.edu/math/> | 585.567.9264

In a Mathematics major, students learn critical thinking and problem-solving skills that equip them to ask and answer big questions, preparing them to respond more effectively to Christ's call in their lives. The Mathematics major includes coursework exploring core mathematical concepts and computations, with an emphasis on mathematical reasoning and proof. The major prepares students to persist through difficulties and to work both collaboratively and independently. Throughout the curriculum, students develop skills in communicating mathematics, both orally and in writing, and explore ways in which mathematics is essential to a liberal arts education.

This combination of content, reasoning, and communication prepares students for a wide variety of vocations, including careers in education, industry, actuarial science, finance, computer science, health professions, and linguistics. Many students pursue advanced degrees in mathematics, education, architecture, law, health professions, and computer science.

Physics, Computer Science, and Engineering*Jamie Potter, Interim Dean of Natural Sciences and Mathematics |<https://www.houghton.edu/physics/> | 585.567.9264*

The Department of Physics, Computer Science, and Engineering offers programs in physics and applied physics, computer science (including a concentration in cybersecurity), and data science. In the setting of a Christian liberal arts university, students learn to integrate engineering, natural science, humanities, social science, and mathematics within a Christian worldview. Faculty members design engaging learning experiences that move seamlessly among classrooms, laboratories, and projects, so students apply what they learn and learn what they apply. At the same time, with the support of Christian faculty members, students mature and develop spiritually and intellectually.

The mission of the physics programs at Houghton is to offer a curriculum that leads to both a working knowledge of theory and the practical skills needed to implement it. Physics students learn to use the computational, theoretical, and communication tools of working physicists, develop the character strengths and virtues that will lead to a successful career, and integrate their learning with Christian principles to address philosophical and theological questions and respond to life circumstances.

Students are given the practical experiences they need by spending a significant portion of their time becoming deeply involved in “real-world” team and individual projects that require them to use skills, tools, and knowledge accumulated throughout their educational career. Students learn to work at their highest level and to accept nothing less than their very best.

The Computer Science and Data Science programs combine theory with applications so that students are equipped for a wide variety of careers in technological fields or graduate study. The core requirements of these majors ensure that all students have a foundational understanding of their field and are equipped with the skills necessary to collaborate with others and work on computing or data projects. Students can choose electives to expand their knowledge in areas of special interest. Studying computer or data science in a liberal arts context gives students essential grounding in the field while they also experience the intellectual and character development vital to personal and professional growth.

Applied Physics Major BS

BS (69 credits)

The Applied Physics major is for those students interested in the engineering applications of physics and engineering-related careers or graduate programs in engineering or physics. Students begin contributing to an engineering-related research project starting their sophomore year and continue each semester until degree completion. Based on their research project, students write an undergraduate thesis that fulfills the writing-enriched requirement for graduation from Houghton, and they present their results at a scientific or engineering conference.

Computer Science Major BS

BS (32–33 credits in core; 8–12 corequisite credits; 3–4 elective credits)

The Computer Science major emphasizes the theoretical foundations and application techniques for solving problems in today's technological environment. The major prepares students to effectively use the technology of today and create technology for tomorrow with a thorough understanding of programming languages and data structures as well as foundations of computer architecture and networks. Throughout the major, emphasis is placed on the ability to apply understanding of fundamental concepts to solve problems. Students enter careers as programmers, software engineers, and information technology specialists and pursue graduate school in a variety of computer-related disciplines.

Data Science Major BA

BA (31–36 credits in core; 7–8 elective credits)

The Data Science major provides a strong foundation of the principles, practices, and tools used in data science. Students have the opportunity to couple that foundation with other liberal arts areas of study. Majors are equipped to discover deep insights in data by applying their domain knowledge and computational tools to problems in a wide array of contexts and communicate these findings effectively to varying audiences.

Physics Major BA

BA (45 credits)

The Physics (BA) major is particularly appropriate for students wanting a double major with another field, planning to pursue a career or graduate studies in a field benefitting from a science or technology background, like law or medicine, or those completing a major in Childhood Education and SWD or Adolescence Education. Students interested in working toward certification to teach physics at the elementary level can do so by double-majoring in Physics and Childhood Education and SWD. Students interested in working toward certification to teach physics at the middle and high school levels can do so by double-majoring in Physics and Adolescence Education. Please see the Education Department section of this catalog for details.

Physics Major BS

BS (69 credits)

The Physics (BS) major provides a broad variety of experiences with the theoretical basis of physics, its applications and experimental and mathematical techniques, and its study using computer analysis and simulations. Students at Houghton begin contributing to individual research projects in their sophomore year and continue to do so each semester until degree completion. This opportunity gives students a foundation of practical physics experiences that culminate in the senior capstone. Based on their research, students write an undergraduate thesis that fulfills the writing-enriched requirement for graduation from Houghton. They also present results from their work at a science conference.

This major serves as an excellent preparation for graduate work in physics or related fields, such as engineering, astronomy, materials science, optics, data science, climatology, and meteorology. Students may also use the Physics major as preparation for attending professional school in fields such as medicine, dentistry, and law.

Psychology and Criminal Justice

Michele Vanasse, Dean of Education & Behavioral Sciences |

<https://www.houghton.edu/social-sciences/> | 585.567.9308

Psychologists study normal and abnormal behavior, structured and erratic thinking, and stable and troubled emotion. This is a broad task. Consequently, students of psychology read widely, investigate problems scientifically, and think carefully and deeply. They also share the knowledge they gain with others through writing, public presentation, and professional service. At Houghton, they wrestle with the ways in which the Christian faith frames and informs our studies and our understanding.

Since Psychology students typically have broad interests and varied goals, the major prepares students to pursue a career in human services immediately after graduating or to go on to graduate training in psychological research and college teaching, clinical or counseling psychology, school psychology, and marriage and family therapy or in related fields such as social work and human resource management.

Even without graduate training, knowledge of psychological functioning of individuals and groups is a valuable asset in professions such as medicine, law, business, education, therapeutic recreation, and ministry. For example, coursework in psychology is required for the Medical College Admission Test.

The major consists of Introduction to Psychology, a 15-credit core common to all tracks, and 21 credits of track-specific courses and electives. The Psychology coursework totals 39 credits, including Introduction to Psychology, which meets half of the General Education Social Science requirement.

Students majoring in Psychology who wish to complete two or more tracks within the major must complete a minimum of 12 distinct credits in each track. Courses beyond these distinct credits may be counted for more than one track if they meet requirements for both tracks.

A major in Criminal Justice seeks to build broad understanding of factors contributing to criminal behavior and efforts at control made by individuals, groups, and societal institutions. Analysis using social science methods is combined with ethical and moral reasoning to develop critical, creative, and evaluative responses to the range of social issues connected with criminal justice systems. This program prepares students for careers including law enforcement and law.

Students who successfully complete the program will develop the ability to use the quantitative and qualitative tools of the social and behavioral arts and sciences to assess the effectiveness of efforts at prevention, correction, and restorative justice. They will be able to apply ethical and moral reasoning to evaluate the influence of social and economic variables on the ways that societies understand and respond to criminal activity. They will engage in knowledgeable and respectful discussion of policies and procedures, including the particular challenges and opportunities of rural and cross-cultural approaches to criminal justice.

Sociology provides an understanding of the social and cultural influences on human action. The minor in Sociology includes coursework in anthropology, marriage and family studies, and other topics related to contemporary society. It provides a critical dimension to a liberal arts education and tools for addressing social and ecological problems facing local, national, and global communities. Studying sociology offers excellent preparation for students anticipating careers in community and international development, environmental and natural resource conservation, social work and health services, politics and law, business and human resource management, recreation and tourism, urban planning, and other related areas. Coursework in sociology is required for the Medical College Admission Test.

The minor in Child and Family Studies combines family-focused courses in psychology, sociology, education, and theology.

The minor in Criminal Justice combines applicable courses in criminal justice, political science, and psychology.

The minor in Diversity Studies combines relevant courses in psychology, sociology, anthropology, theology, communication, and intercultural studies.

Students wanting to prepare for graduate study in art therapy should major in either Psychology or Art and take recommended courses in the other discipline, including at least 12 credits in psychology and 18 credits in studio art.

Behavioral Neuroscience is an interdisciplinary major for students interested in studying the intricacies of the human brain, how it connects to other systems in the body, and how it relates to human cognition, emotion, and behavior. Students will take courses in several disciplines, including psychology, biology, chemistry, statistics, and experimental methods. This major can be tailored during advising to the specific graduate opportunities each student is interested in pursuing.

Pre-Professional Preparation

Pre-Art Therapy

Combined art and psychology offering

Faculty Advisor: Alison Young Reusser

Students interested in art therapy as a career may prepare for graduate study in the field by either majoring in Art with a structured minor in Psychology or majoring in Psychology with a structured minor in Art. Either path will enable the student to fulfill the undergraduate requirements for graduate school admission and the guidelines of the American Art Therapy Association.

Art Major option: The American Art Therapy Association requires a minimum of 12 semester credits in psychology, including Developmental Psychology and Abnormal Psychology. Some graduate programs recommend additional undergraduate psychology coursework. Students majoring in Art should take the following courses for at least a minor in Psychology.

Psychology courses to be taken with Art major	Credits
PSY 213 Developmental Psychology	3
PSY 305 Abnormal Psychology	3

At least two more courses selected from the following in consultation with Pre-Art Therapy advisor
PSY 217 Adolescence and Emerging Adulthood	3
PSY 310 Experimental Methods (with a prerequisite of BADM/PSY 309 Statistics)	4
PSY 314 Child Psychopathology	3
PSY 402 Counseling and Psychotherapy	3
Total	min. 12

Psychology Major option: The American Art Therapy Association requires a minimum of 18 semester credits in studio art so that the student can “demonstrate proficiency and disciplined commitment in art making...using a variety of art materials and processes.” Students majoring in Psychology should take the Clinical/Counseling track, including a practicum in an art-therapy setting. They should also take at least 18 credits in studio art classes to cover a variety of media, such as those listed below, selected in consultation with their advisor.

Art courses to be taken with Psychology major	Credits
ART 271 Ceramics I	4
ART 241 Two-Dimensional Design	2
ART 242 Three-Dimensional Design	2
ART 211 Drawing I	2
ART 245 Graphic Design I	4
ART 221 Painting I	4
Total	min. 18

In addition to the options outlined above, a student interested in Art Therapy could complete a double major in Art and Psychology. Such students should consult the Pre-Art Therapy advisor about appropriate selection of courses.

General Information

The Sport, Recreation, and Wellness Management academic programs aim to develop the character and intellect of our students and to equip them with skills to be Christ-like scholar-servants who will effectively lead sport, equestrian, recreational, and wellness organizations.

The Sport, Recreation, and Wellness Management (SRWM) department prepares professionals for managerial positions in the sport, recreation, and wellness industry. Its mission is to develop a community of learners whose engagement in the integration of theory, practice, and personal growth is central to their training for service as professionals in administrative roles related to intercollegiate and interscholastic sports; sport/fitness clubs; sports/athletics equipment merchandising; public, private, and commercial recreation programs; and intramural and recreational sports. The SRWM major requires students to choose a minor in one of the following areas: athletic administration and sports management, health promotion and fitness, recreation, sports ministry, equestrian studies, and/or equine-assisted therapies.

The SRWM major with an Equestrian Studies Concentration offers two options: Equine Performance or Equine Management. These majors provide a foundation for students preparing to enter the equestrian venue as professionals in teaching, training, facility management, and related careers. Through academically rigorous courses and expert instruction, students are equipped with a broad base of knowledge in classical horsemanship. Courses encompass theory and philosophy, riding, the teaching of riding, and care of the horse. In-depth studies, opportunities to study with world-class clinicians, and riding in competitions cultivate Christ-like character in students, enabling them to become effective scholar-servants.

Those wishing to participate in the Houghton equestrian program must realize the program is riding-intensive. It requires an ongoing commitment to learning and physical fitness. All Equestrian students are expected to maintain a professional demeanor at the barn. Horses can be unpredictable in their behavior; therefore, a degree of risk is inherent in working with these animals.

- The program observes a strict weight policy: Students should not weigh more than 20% of the horse's weight. Student weight includes all riding apparel and horse tack. This percentage is in line with industry standards and is upheld by the Certified Horsemanship Association.
- Any student participating in equestrian classes who requires a certain type or size of horse will be accommodated as much as possible. However, if Houghton University does not have an appropriate horse in the University lesson herd to meet a student's physical needs, the student may not be able to participate in equestrian riding classes.
- Students who have severe allergies to hay, straw, shavings, and/or others are advised to discuss their plans for entrance into this program with their primary care physician.

*Please note, students are required to sign a waiver of liability at the time of entrance into the program.

*See Program Guidelines and Requirements.

Student Life

New Student Programs

The mission of the Orientation and Transitions Office and curricula at Houghton is to support new first-year and transfer students in their transition to becoming fully engaged members of the Houghton University learning community. Partnering collaboratively with departments across campus, the Orientation and Transitions programs help students and their families gain the information and interpersonal support they need to be successful.

The two components of the Transitions program are Fall and Spring Orientation and Transitions 102/104: Succeeding at Houghton (a required course for all students during their first semester on campus).

Fall Orientation gives all new students and their families a chance to have the campus all to themselves in the days just prior to the beginning of classes. President Lewis enjoys an opportunity to speak with the parents of our new transfer and first-year students. Parents are encouraged to stay through the New Student Dedication Service on move-in day. Spring Orientation, though more condensed than the Fall offering, provides the same content and opportunities to new first-year and transfer students for the spring semester.

Off-Campus Study Opportunities

Marcus Dean, Director | <https://www.houghton.edu/undergraduate/majors/off-campus-studies/> | 585.567.9634 | OCS@houghton.edu

Houghton University students have access to several unique study-abroad options. Some are operated entirely by Houghton University, others in cooperation with the Council for Christian Colleges and Universities (CCCU) or other affiliated providers. See our website, <https://www.houghton.edu/academics/off-campus-studies/>, or visit the office located in Library 309.

Participating in an off-campus opportunity is an academic privilege that can enhance a student's education. Because of the additional demands of an off-campus setting, students are required to have a 2.5 or higher GPA to participate in any off-campus opportunity.

Contemporary Music Center (CMC)

Off-Campus Opportunity (16 credits)

The world of music was an entirely different landscape 20 years ago. The CMC has been adapting to this business because music is a blend of old and new. Believe us: You'll be doing nothing but blending music, personalities, and the occasional throat-soothing smoothie for the next four months. Your days begin with morning classes followed by composing, performing, mixing, and promoting until you put your inspired soul to sleep. After 10 weeks of solid creativity, you're out on tour, living the experience and savoring every note. Students earn 16 semester hours of credit.

Los Angeles Film Studies Center

Off-Campus Study (16 credits – 6 from the internship and 10 from seminar study)

Imagine pitching your screenplay to working Hollywood producers (it could happen) or attending the premiere of your short film. The Los Angeles Film Studies Center (LAFSC) provides a well-rounded yet in-depth understanding of what makes the business of Hollywood run. Workshops combined with electives teach you relevant production processes and protocols as well as the vital skills of collaboration. Talent and literary agencies, managing companies, film developers, and postproduction facilities are just some of the exciting internship options. Students earn 16 semester hours of credit: 6 from the internship and 10 from seminar study.

Middle East Studies CCCU

CCCU Off-Campus Opportunity (16 credits)

The Middle East Studies Program (MESP), sponsored through Jerusalem University College (JUC), offers undergraduate students a semester immersed in Middle Eastern culture, religion, thought, and practice. The program is designed to combine academic study with experiential learning for a unique and transformational semester. Students will engage with the distinct communities in Jerusalem and beyond, interact with the diverse ideologies, trace the major conflicts, begin to learn the language, and participate in the local cultures.

By living and studying in residence with JUC, students obtain a mosaic of experiences in daily life, language, food, culture, religion, and the politics of a city with ancient roots and modern significance. With travel throughout Israel, Palestine, Jordan, and other locations in the Middle East, students learn firsthand how to work, play, live, and serve in the region. In and outside of the classroom, JUC students gain insights from both Israeli and Palestinian scholars to encounter the breadth of viewpoints represented in the region. The MESP will be available in 2026.

Scholar's Semester in Oxford

Off-Campus Opportunity (17 credits)

Live and study in the beautiful and renowned city of Oxford. A semester at Scholarship and Christianity in Oxford (SCIO) utilizes expert tutors, offers endless scholarly resources, grants access to the Bodleian library, and more. We invite you to walk the same paths and study in the same places as some of the greatest scholars in history. A plan of study can be developed around a thematic or disciplinary concentration, or personalized learning.

Course Descriptions

Primary Tutorial (6 credits)

Primary tutorials take place each week (during the last 8 weeks of the fall semester and the first 8 weeks of the spring semester) for a total of 8 meetings. Students complete assigned readings, conduct research, and write essays each week in preparation for tutorials. Tutorial work is graded by tutor assessment of each student's written and oral work.

Secondary Tutorial (3 credits)

Secondary tutorials meet every other week (during the last 8 weeks of the fall semester and the first 8 weeks of the spring semester) for a total of 4 meetings. Aside from the subject, secondary tutorials have all the same characteristics as primary tutorials.

TUTORIAL TOPICS

Tutorial topics are listed under nine topics (disciplinary concentrations): Classics, computer science, engineering, English language and literature, history, history of art, life science, mathematics, modern languages, musicology, philosophy, psychology, and theology.

Research Project (4 credits)

In consultation with their supervisors, semester-long students prepare a research plan on a topic of their choice; they reflect on methodological issues within their discipline; and integrate material covered in literature and elsewhere, with a view to produce a piece of research that can help further their scholarly activities beyond Oxford. It is a time to learn from one another as well as from your adviser, to develop your research skills for the future. Research projects are offered in the following seven disciplines: Classics, English language and literature (for English and modern language students), history, history of art, philosophy, psychology, science and religion, and theology.

Selected Topics in British Culture (4 credits)

In this course you will examine aspects of past and present-day Britain, either with direct studies of its society and culture or through its novelists and philosophers, artists, poets, mystics, and myth makers. You will have a chance to approach your chosen topic both in and outside the classroom – through discussion in small groups, analysis of texts, and field trips to iconic places outside Oxford, such as Stonehenge, Cambridge, or Hampton Court.

This course is offered as a series of discussion classes, in small groups. You will focus on one topic of your choice, out of 14 'selected topics,' ranging from Applied Ethics to sharing a crowded planet. See <https://cccuglobaled.org/scio/#academics> for more info.

Oxford Summer School

Off-Campus Opportunity (6 credits)

The SCIO Summer Programme offers students an opportunity to choose two seminars in which participants explore topics in small groups, meet with a tutor for one-on-one tutorials, and explore the British Isles. The SCIO Summer Programme fuels intellectual minds at all levels of education: undergraduate, post-graduate, professorial, and beyond.

All students participate in two different seminars. Each summer seminar consists of three discussion classes, four gobbets classes (gobbet is Oxford's word for a small mouthful of text for close reading or translation and then discussion), and two tutorials. Discussion classes (1 hour) and gobbets classes (45 minutes) are with the seminar leader and a small but varying number of participants. For each class, students read all or parts of assigned texts and then discuss them. Students are evaluated by seminar leaders on the basis of written work. Seminars can be taken for undergraduate credit.

As part of their seminars, students participate in individual tutorials during the second part of the programme. While meeting one-on-one with their seminar leader, students develop, discuss, and defend an essay related to the students' seminar topic. Tutorials are individual meetings of one hour between the seminar leader and each of the seminar participants. In preparation for each tutorial, the student reads assigned texts and writes an essay of 2,000 words in response to a question set by the seminar leader.

All Oxford Summer Programme students must complete their pre-programme reading before arriving at Oxford. Once your seminars have been confirmed, please ensure you make a prompt start with this reading or you will not be able to make the most of your discussion classes and tutorials.

Other Off-Campus Opportunities

Au Sable Institute of Environmental Studies

Affiliated Off-Campus Mayterm and Summer

Au Sable Institute offers expert-led environmental field instruction rooted in Christian faith and a supportive community, empowering students to be leaders in environmental service and stewardship. Headquartered in Michigan, Au Sable offers Houghton students Mayterm and summer courses in biology, chemistry, geology, and geography. Participants take courses, engage in scholarship, gain field experience, confer, and develop practical tools for environmental stewardship in programs that take seriously both science and theology. The Au Sable website gives the complete listing of courses and programs. Scholarship assistance is available to students at Council-member colleges.

All Au Sable courses taken through Houghton are registered as science-area special topics courses. Approval is needed through the appropriate department (usually Biology) working with the Au Sable faculty representative (Dr. Eli Knapp) and Houghton's Off-Campus Studies Office. A maximum of 8 credits may be applied toward a major. Additional courses may be used for elective credit. Through a combination of courses taken at Houghton and Au Sable, a student may earn certification from Au Sable as one of the following: environmental analyst, land resources analyst, water resources analyst, or naturalist. Certification requires a minimum of three approved courses to be taken in residence at the Institute. Specific requirements for particular certificates may be obtained from Dr. Knapp and the Institute.

The Au Sable Institute of Environmental Studies offers environmental science programs for students and adults of all ages: primary and secondary school, college, and graduate school. The academic program offers field-based, university-level courses in environmental studies and environmental science at campuses in the Great Lakes region (Mancelona, MI), Pacific Northwest (Whidbey Island, WA), and Latin America (Vara Blanca, Costa Rica). Online Classes are also available in May and Summer Sessions.

Chez Vous

Affiliated Off-Campus summer opportunity

The Chez Vous summer program is a relational language-study experience organized into six different study tracks from Intermediate to Advanced language levels. Each track is about six weeks long and contains two semester courses in French. These courses progress in close harmony with the Houghton courses. The program offers students a fairly intense immersion into French life and language along with multiple opportunities to connect with French people. Students also experience cultural activities, historical excursions, daily worship in French, service projects, church services, and other enriching experiences.

All Chez Vous courses taken through Houghton will be registered as French special topics courses as needed for the student. Approval is required through the school dean working with the student's advisor and the current French professor or Houghton's Off-Campus Studies Office.

Creation Care Study Program

Affiliated Off-Campus Opportunity (16 credits)

The Creation Care Study Program (CCSP) is a 15-week residential interdisciplinary environmental studies program based in New Zealand. The core curriculum consists of three 4-credit courses – God and Nature, Ecosystems of New Zealand (South Pacific program), and Sustainable Community Development; a 3-credit core course, Introduction to Environmental Literature; and 1 credit of Te Reo Maori language. CCSP courses are composed of several integrated block classes taught over the span of the semester. All courses receive Houghton credit.

Nestled under the South Island's snow-capped Kaikoura mountain range, but just a hop, skip, and a jump to the ocean, CCSP's camps is the ideal setting for a New Zealand study program. Step outside the door and you'll be experiencing small-town Kiwi life. Walk across the street, or take one of our bikes for a short ride, and you'll be at the beach where dolphins and seals frolic, and further off-shore, whales are hunting.

Biblical shalom, which informs, motivates, and guides CCSP's educational goals and objectives, is further explained in the following excerpt from CCSP's handbook. If this resonates with you that's a good sign; CCSP is the program for you! If you find this challenging or interesting, and are up for an educational adventure learning about God's heart for shalom, then CCSP may also be the right program for you. Pray about it, and follow God's leading, and if you join us in New Zealand, it will sure to be the semester of a lifetime!

Course Descriptions

ENGL 307 Environmental Literature (3 credits – as offered as part of the CCSP)

This course introduces students to the landscape of environmental literature, both past and present, providing a solid grounding in the field. Through key readings, discussions, and reflections on various environmental literature forms including short story, essay, and poetry, students consider what makes literature “environmental” and why this field of literature was and is so important in shaping an “earthy” faith and worldview. (ENGL credit for major/minor or general elective)

THEL 305 God and Nature (4 credits)

Central to the mission of the CCSP, this course helps students develop a theology of creation that understands humans as stewards of the Earth. Through the study of Scripture and other relevant texts, students explore the theology of creation, biblical stewardship, questions of faith and science, and Christian responses to current environmental problems. (THEL credit for major/minor or general elective)

INCL/SOC 305 Sustainable Community Development (4 credits)

This course explores how knowledge of ecological systems, globalization, political economy, and the biblical worldview come together in the pursuit of development that is community-minded, just, and ecologically sustainable. Through readings, lectures, and fieldtrips, students study complex issues in sustainable development such as the nexus of poverty, the environment, justice, and the many practical challenges associated with sustainable community development. (Major/minor credit for sociology, INCL elective or optional elective for Development Concentration, or general elective)

BIOL 205 New Zealand Ecosystems (4 credits)

In this field-based ecology course, students not only explore New Zealand’s fascinating terrestrial and near-shore marine ecosystems but also undertake a terrestrial ecosystems research project. In addition to studying New Zealand ecosystems, this course is also designed to help students scientifically reach a broad understanding of global environmental issues. (Fulfills half of General Education Natural Science requirement, Biology major/minor, or general elective)

LING 110 Te Reo Maori Language (1 credit)

We might ask, “Why choose to learn te reo Maori (the Maori language) if one is only in New Zealand for four months?” The answer lies in the close proximity of language and culture. Te reo Maori and tikanga Maori (Maori culture) are intertwined, so learning te reo Maori allows students to access 209 ea o Maori (the Maori world) and Maori worldviews. As students compare tikanga Maori with other cultures within New Zealand and overseas, they’ll develop an understanding of the central roles of language, culture, place, and heritage in shaping identity and in giving direction and meaning to life.

International Business Institute

Affiliated Off-Campus Opportunity (11-week summer program)

The International Business Institute is designed to give students in economics, business management, and related areas a distinctive opportunity for a term of study that incorporates the international dimension of these fields in an experiential context overseas. The program is 10 weeks long and includes periods of residence in key global locations. Recent sites visited have been India, Hungary, Belgium, Austria, Czech, France, Germany, Netherlands, United Kingdom, the UAE, and Taiwan.

Students are generally eligible after successful completion of their junior year. Under certain circumstances, sophomores and graduating seniors will be considered for admission. (Prerequisites: one year of economics, both micro and macro elements; one course in accounting or finance; one course in management; one course in marketing)

Course Descriptions

IBI-331 Comparative Economic Systems (3 credits)

A survey of the major economic systems, including the underlying ideological foundations and institutional arrangements. The major theoretical aspects of various types of systems are covered in terms of political economy and their central organizational features. Special attention is given to changes and developments in the former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. The European Union is covered in depth along with the major Asian economies of China and Japan.

IBI-339 Global Marketing (3 credits)

The theory and practice of contemporary global marketing management. The context or environment of international marketing management is covered along with the task of marketing within a variety of national and cultural markets. Major topic areas included in this course are the global marketing environment; global market research, including market entry and product planning; and marketing strategy in a global context. Assigned projects will involve students in global marketing research and analysis as well as case studies.

IBI-350 International Trade and Finance (3 credits)

A survey of the analytical and institutional aspects of international trade and finance. The historical and contextual elements are the foundation for the examination of current theoretical and empirical approaches to international economic and financial relations. Major areas of emphasis include international finance, international trade, and regional economic integration. Special attention is also given to the issues of globalization and the problems of economic development.

IBI-357 Global Business Strategy (3 credits)

This course is intended to integrate the field experiences and presentations by guest faculty and practitioners in international business management with reading and academic work including the recent developments and literature in this field. Students are expected to prepare analytical reports on the various firms and institutions visited on the field seminar. Major topics covered in this course include the role of the multinational firm in the global economy, international and global business strategy, cultural adaptation, and organizational behavior in the global firm. The discussion of ethical values and issues in global management will also be included in this and other courses.

Jerusalem University College

Jerusalem University College (JUC), an independent, degree-granting academic institution in Jerusalem, is also an extension campus for over 70 accredited Christian colleges, universities, and seminaries around the world. JUC offers courses in Archaeology, Geography, Hebrew, History (includes Bible courses), and Middle Eastern Cultures and Religions. For over 60 years, JUC has grounded its mission in the broad evangelical traditions that focus on the centrality of Jesus Christ and the authority of Scripture. This backdrop of faith within the context of Jerusalem creates a rich and unique opportunity to educate students through living learning experiences. All JUC courses taken through Houghton will be registered as Houghton University special topics courses in areas within Houghton's catalog. Approval is required through the school dean, working with the student's advisor and Houghton's Off-Campus Studies Office.

National Outdoor Leadership School

The National Outdoor Leadership School (NOLS) has been the leader in wilderness education since 1965. At NOLS, you will learn technical outdoor skills, leadership, and environmental ethics in some of the world's wildest and most awe-inspiring classrooms. With courses ranging from 10 days to a full academic year, we attract highly motivated students who want to learn how to lead.

Nazarene Theological College (Manchester, UK)

With course units in the areas of theology, youth work, culture, history, art, and English literature, Nazarene Theological College offers a range of study options. Come and immerse yourself in life as a student in Britain for a semester. In this program, you will be able to study alongside students from all over the UK and abroad. During the semester in Manchester, a student may earn between 12 and 18 credits in classes covering areas such as biblical studies, theology, church history, pastoral theology, and English literature. Courses taken at Nazarene Theological College will be received as Houghton University Special Topics courses.

Manchester itself is a great city in the northwest of England. It boasts world-class theatres, art galleries, orchestras – and two great “football” teams, of course. It is just an hour from North Wales or the glories of the Peak District and two hours by train from the Lake District or from London. Try a day in Stratford and take in a Shakespeare play, or visit “Wordsworth Country” or the home of the Brontës. Whatever it is you long to experience in Britain, Manchester is not far from it!

Additional Off-Campus Opportunities

The University also has affiliation agreements with other institutions and organizations to provide further study abroad opportunities. These programs permit students to study in Europe, Russia, Asia, China, Latin America, and Africa. Services provided by the Off-Campus Studies Office assist students in program selection and preparation for departure with advice on visas, passports, immunizations, cultural adjustment, and re-entry.

For any of the affiliated opportunities in the chart below, financial aid is applied as follows:

1. Any non-Houghton or outside aid normally remains intact.
2. To receive Houghton tuition-based aid, students may apply for a limited number of Houghton aid awards. This is to be done through the Off-Campus Studies office within the first month of the semester prior to the off-campus semester. Please contact the OCS office as soon as you are considering a semester off-campus.

Student Life Information

Student Life

Houghton University “equips students to lead and labor as scholar-servants in a changing world.” How exactly does this take place? As conceived historically, a liberal arts education occurs both inside and outside the classroom. At Houghton University, faith and character development are foundational to this process.

The Houghton University experience is one of academic challenge, spiritual vitality, and interpersonal connectedness. The typical Houghton student studies hard but also serves; gets involved in co-curricular campus activities; participates in intramural sports; and forms lifelong friendships through clubs, athletic teams, fine arts performances, and residential living. The members of the Office of Student Life encourage this comprehensive student experience by fostering a Christ-centered, multicultural, empowering, and educationally purposeful community that develops students holistically by supporting, celebrating, and sharpening them.

For a complete listing of Student Life Policies, see the Student Guide found on the Current Students page of the University website.

Counseling Services

The Counseling Center at Houghton University provides personal counseling to all residential students. The Center has professionally trained counselors to help students with anxiety, stress, loneliness, depressed or sad mood, lack of concentration, poor eating habits, difficulty adjusting to new surroundings, relationship problems, and worries about all these and other issues. Appointments can be made to meet with a counselor by visiting the Center for Student Success located on the first floor of the Chamberlain Building or logging into the Center's webpage. Counseling services are confidential. For more information, please visit the Counseling Center website.

The Office of Vocation and Calling

The Office of Vocation and Calling helps students and alumni explore their vocational calling and develop their market-readiness. Students can receive help with writing resumes and cover letters, experience a mock interview, take a career assessment, and meet with trained career professionals who can guide students through the steps of securing a job after graduation or navigating the steps of graduate school applications. For more information, please view The Office of Vocation and Calling's webpage.

Intercultural Students Office

The Intercultural Student Programs Office is devoted to helping missionary kids, "third culture kids," and international students have a successful experience at Houghton. Interconnect is an orientation program specifically designed to meet the needs of incoming international and TCK students during the week prior to the start of the academic year. Call 800-777-2556 or visit the Intercultural Student Programs website for more information.

Residence Life

Houghton University is a distinctively residential community. Most students, and many faculty and staff live, learn, work, and worship within the hamlet of Houghton. The residence life experience is a significant and integral aspect of the educational process. Residence life, together with classroom, chapel, co-curricular activities, and general campus interaction, provides an immediate setting for students to examine new or different perspectives, ideas, and attitudes. For more information, visit the Residence Life website.

Safety and Security

The Houghton University Safety and Security Office is located on the first floor of the Campus Center. An officer is on duty 24 hours daily and can be reached by dialing 585.567.9333.

For all fire, ambulance, or police emergencies, call 911 first, then call Safety and Security immediately.

Safety and Security Mission Statement

The Department of Safety and Security serves the University community by promoting

- our mutual responsibility for campus safety,
- protection of campus property,
- programs to prevent crime,
- enforcement of University policies and the law,
- a program of communication with the community, and
- a coordinated plan to assist with emergencies.

Campus Law Enforcement

The Safety and Security personnel of Houghton University are uniformed officers employed by the University to protect Houghton University personnel and property. These officers have the authority to require identification, issue parking citations, and sign complaints with local and state police on behalf of Houghton University. They are on duty 24 hours a day every day of the year.

Vehicle Registration/Parking

Student-owned or student-operated vehicles must be registered at the Safety and Security Office as soon as they are brought to campus. A parking policy established by the Student Council and Student Life is in effect. This policy is provided upon request or upon registering a vehicle. Vehicles without proper registration are subject to fines. Repeat offenders may have their vehicles immobilized or towed at the owners' expense. All first-year and sophomore residents are required to park in the Fire Hall parking lot on Route 19. Juniors and seniors may explore further parking options by inquiring at the Safety and Security Office.

The permit fee schedule is available on the fee page of the University website. Permits are available on a per-year or per-semester basis at a slightly higher cost. These fees help defray the cost of parking lot maintenance.

The University does not assume liability for vehicles on University property, regardless of cause (including vandalism and parking lot conditions).

Firearms, Weapons, and Fireworks

The following items are considered prohibited weapons that must be stored in the Safety and Security Office immediately upon their arrival on campus. They can then be checked out for appropriate use.

- Any weapon powered by pump action, including BB guns or “air soft” guns
- Any weapon powered by compressed air or CO₂ cartridge including all paintball guns
- Any firearm, including black powder weapons
- Any blowgun or similar weapon
- Any type of bow (archery)
- Any martial arts weapon (i.e., nun chucks, throwing stars, throwing knives, etc.)
- Any knife with a blade three (3) inches long or longer
- Any knife with a double-edged blade
- Any other item that may be deemed dangerous at the discretion of the Office of Safety and Security

Fireworks are not allowed on campus unless approved for a particular event. Students may not possess fireworks of any kind.

Illegal Activity

Policy for Reporting Criminal Actions or Other Emergencies:

Each student and employee of Houghton University is expected to promptly report any criminal actions or other emergencies to the appropriate authorities. The Campus Safety and Security Office, Houghton Volunteer Fire Department, and Houghton University Maintenance Department, as appropriate, will take immediate action to respond.

Residence hall directors or assistants act as the point of contact for all emergencies occurring within their residence halls. Appropriate authorities will act immediately on any report of criminal action or other emergencies; investigate, categorize, and report on each instance; and involve outside police agencies as appropriate.

Building Hours

Pertinent building hours follow:

The Campus Center is open 5:30 a.m. until 3:00 a.m.

The academic buildings (Paine Science, Chamberlain Center, Music, Stevens Art Studio, and Wesley Chapel) are open 7:00 a.m. until midnight Monday through Saturday and 5:00 p.m. until midnight on Sunday.

The Kerr-Pegula Field House and Nielsen Physical Education Center also have limited Sunday hours.

The above hours are maintained when the University is in session. During breaks, these facilities will have limited hours if they are open at all.

Securing Personal Belongings

Students are encouraged to keep valuables on their person or locked away at all times. Over 90% of thefts at Houghton are the result of valuables being left unattended. To minimize the risk of theft, keep student residences locked when unoccupied.

Students are strongly encouraged to check their parents' homeowner's insurance policy to confirm that their belongings are covered at University. This is usually a relatively inexpensive rider. University insurance covers only University property.

Pedestrian Safety

The sidewalks of Houghton University are intended for pedestrians. Motorized vehicles (including but not limited to motorized scooters, electric bicycles, mopeds, and hoverboards) are not allowed on University sidewalks or in University buildings. Motorized wheelchairs for those with need are, of course, authorized. While alternate, non-motorized forms of transportation (such as bicycles, skates, longboards, skateboards, and scooters) are also permitted, the following procedures are in place for the safety of all:

- Pedestrians have the right of way on all sidewalks and paved paths. Those using bicycles, skates, longboards, skateboards, or scooters should exercise caution near pedestrians, including announcing their presence when coming from behind and going slowly when coming around buildings or into other areas with limited visibility.
- Cars and other motorized vehicles (aside from emergency and authorized vehicles) are not permitted on campus sidewalks at any time.
- Bicycles, skates, longboards, skateboards, and scooters are not permitted to be used inside University buildings.
- While vehicles are required by law to yield for pedestrians in crosswalks, it is important that pedestrians continue to exercise extreme caution. This is especially true on Centerville Road at the confluence of several roads and crosswalks. The steep grade of the road, combined with limited visibility and the possibility of slippery conditions, can be very dangerous.
- Riding in the dark should be done only with extreme caution. New York State law requires that bicycles have a light, not just reflectors, for use after dark.
- The road between the Fancher Building and Rothenbuhler Hall is closed to all foot traffic. This hill is extremely dangerous for pedestrians due to limited visibility for drivers and the lack of shoulders on the roadside. Pedestrians (including runners) should use the footpath adjacent to Rothenbuhler Hall.
- Runners along Route 19 should be extremely cautious. Students should run with a companion or in groups (single file for safety) and preferably with reflective clothing.
- The following campus locations are for pedestrian use only. For safety reasons, bicycles, skates, longboards, skateboards, and scooters should be walked through these areas:
 1. Arcade (tunnel) through the Center for the Arts

2. Walking path between Stevens Art Studios and Centerville Road
3. Walking path from the Campus Center to Rothenbuhler (including past the Rothenbuhler bridge and the path toward the Fire Hall parking lot)

Spiritual Life

Spiritual Life at Houghton is designed to create a rhythm of biblically-based worship practices that sustains the community and helps students, faculty, and staff encounter God and live deeply Christian lives.

The main conduit for this is chapel. Chapel meets Mondays and Fridays from 11:05 to 11:45 a.m. Spiritual formation opportunities are also held during this hour on Wednesdays, and many other times throughout the week, which is called Around the Table. Students, faculty, and staff join together to worship through various types of song and hearing the Word of God read and preached. Speakers come from both on and off campus, and the music is varied, ranging from traditional hymnody to the chapel house band to gospel music to contemplative piano/guitar/cello music. Students must attend 24 of 28 of chapel services held on Mondays and Fridays, and at least seven Around the Table sessions, but students are encouraged to attend all of them as a way of building reflection and worship into their day.

The Spiritual Life Office, located in the lower level of the Campus Center, is open and available for students to use for prayer, Bible study, quiet reflection, or to meet with office staff for spiritual direction or pastoral care. Life Together groups are coordinated through the Spiritual Life Office and may involve a book study, Bible study, topical discussion, or other small group events focused on student spiritual growth and development.

There are many opportunities for students to gather for corporate worship every academic year at Houghton. Those who involve themselves often grow spiritually in significant ways.

MercySeat, a student-led service of acoustic praise and worship music as well as Scripture reading, meets at 8 p.m. every day that classes are in session.

On Sunday night, Koinonia, another student-led service of praise and worship music, meets. This is a ministry of the Houghton Wesleyan Church in service to the students and community.

Each year, Spiritual Life hosts a few special events:

Rooted Revival Service is held within the first few weeks of the academic year, providing students and the community with an intentional opportunity to focus on their relationship with God as they start the year together.

The Faith and Justice Symposium is held in January and encourages the Houghton community to think about how faith intersects with global issues.

New Vision Week is run by students in the student organization Global Christian Fellowship, usually in late October. Missionaries from around the world present about what God is doing through missions work.

In addition to the opportunities offered on campus, regular church attendance and participation in the life of a church community are strongly encouraged.

Student Health Services

The mission of the Student Health Center is to treat illnesses and injuries and promote health and wellness in an environment that reflects the love and compassion of Christ.

Location

The Heath Center is located in the lower level of Gillette Residence Hall and can be accessed from the parking lot next to the Campus Center. It is staffed by registered nurses and an onsite physician and is open Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Services

Services available at the Health Center include access to nursing staff on a walk-in basis while the Health Center is open for the assessment and treatment of minor illnesses and injuries. Allergy injections, administration of immunizations, phlebotomy, and daily medication delivery from the local pharmacy are also services offered at the Health Center. Appointments can be made with the University physician as needed following a nursing evaluation. Same-day appointments can often be accommodated. All onsite nursing and physician services (with the exception of admission physicals) are covered through an annual Campus services fee. Charges for medications, laboratory testing, radiology, and other ancillary or offsite services are billed to the student's insurance company by the providing facilities, and, therefore, fees for those services may apply, according to the terms outlined in an individual's insurance plan. Referrals are made to local physicians, area specialists, or ER/hospital as needed.

After Hours

When the Health Center is closed, students with emergent health needs should contact 911. If the issue is not life-threatening, local ER/urgent care facilities can be utilized. Directions are available on the health center webpage. Students should remember that they can continue to utilize their primary care doctor's on-call services for advice even while they are away at school. Many insurance companies also have nurse-staffed advice lines for after-hours questions. If questions remain, they should be directed to Residence Life Staff (RA, RD), who have a list of contacts that can be used if needed to assist in decision-making.

Insurance Policy

Health insurance is required for international students (excluding Canadians) and athletes taking at least 12 hours of credit.

All other students are strongly encouraged to carry health insurance (per federal regulations) but will not be required to provide proof of health insurance. Those not carrying health insurance will bear the cost of any accident or illness personally. The University is not responsible for covering these costs.

Medical Withdrawal

Medical withdrawal may be available for students believed to have physical or psychological illness and who need to leave the University because they can no longer make progress academically, their behavior is repeatedly disruptive to those in the community, or they pose a risk to themselves or others.

Medical withdrawal may also be granted to a student withdrawing between semesters or during the summer. Medical withdrawal is intended to enable students to maintain their status as students for purposes of health insurance, income taxation, financial aid, or other dependency-related matters. Students on medical withdrawal will not need to complete the full admission paperwork to return to campus. They will, however, need to complete a much shorter reapplication form for readmission.

Students can inquire about the medical withdrawal process by consulting with the Counseling Center, Health Center, or Student Life Office staff.

Immunization Requirements

In keeping with New York State's Public Health Law, all students are required to provide documented proof of immunization (two doses of vaccine) or immunity (by bloodwork) to measles, mumps, and rubella. In addition, state law requires that, if a student has not had a meningococcal vaccine within five years, a waiver form must be completed indicating a specific choice to either receive or decline the immunization. The Health Center strongly recommends that students living in the dormitories receive this vaccine. An up-to-date tetanus/diphtheria immunization is also required. TB testing is left to the discretion of the student's physician based on risk profile. In addition to the immunization records, an admission physical/health form is required to be submitted prior to the beginning of classes. Failure to meet these requirements may result in being restricted from attending classes.

Student Engagement Office

Exploring, competing, serving, playing, climbing, and worshipping—students in Houghton's unique setting enhance their educational experience through participation in a vibrant community life. The Student Engagement Office seeks to enrich the student experience through various means. Some activities offered by the Student Engagement Office encourage service, some contribute to the educational mission of Houghton University, and others are for pure fun. Students can cultivate their leadership skills; participate in cultural, athletic, co-curricular, and spiritual opportunities; and join or lead one of 30+ campus clubs and organizations (see below). In addition to a wide variety of options, Houghton's 1,300 acres of woodland offer rich opportunities for exploring on horseback, cross-country skis, and hiking trails. The ropes and initiatives course is used for physical education and draws visitors from around Western New York.

The rural location of the University both contributes to and necessitates one of the greatest distinctives of Houghton students' experience: a dynamic residential campus community. It is the goal of the Student Engagement Office to offer and oversee a comprehensive and vibrant array of experiences and opportunities that reflect the ethos of Houghton's academic community.

Campus Activities Board (CAB)

Coordinated by the Student Activities Office, CAB works with groups across campus to coordinate a wide array of quality on-campus entertainment reflecting the Christian character and geographic setting of the Houghton community.

Campus Center

The Van Dyk Lounge is first and foremost for the use and enjoyment of Houghton University students, employees, and alumni. The Campus Center lower level has foosball games, pool, and table tennis that are available for University student use.

Clubs and Organizations

While academic excellence is emphasized at Houghton, student involvement in activities often complements classroom education. Clubs and organizations provide opportunities for students to explore their interests and take leadership roles. By being involved in co-curricular activities, students begin to clarify career goals and understand how their education can be translated into action.

Student Council

The Student Council, under the leadership of its officers and through its various working committees, provides an opportunity for students to become directly involved in campus decision-making. In addition, its members attempt to resolve campus problems and serve as a communication channel among student organizations and faculty, staff, and administration. The Student Council creates an atmosphere for the discussion of campus issues that contributes to the growth of each member of the student body.

Student Clubs and Organizations

See <https://www.houghton.edu/undergraduate/student-life/> for a list of current clubs and organizations.

Other Opportunities for Involvement

Houghton Choir – The Houghton Choir is composed of students chosen for musical and vocal competence by audition. Concerts are given each year, including an extended tour during spring break. The choir rehearses daily.

Houghton Symphony Orchestra – The Houghton Symphony Orchestra is made up of qualified instrumentalists. Representative selections of classical, romantic, and modern literature are performed. Membership is by audition and permission of the conductor.

Houghton Wind Ensemble – The Houghton Wind Ensemble provides students with the opportunity to perform significant symphonic band literature. Concerts are performed on and off campus. Membership is open to advanced wind and percussion players and is by audition and permission of the conductor.

ANTH 195, 295, 395 Special Topics

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Liberal Arts.

ANTH 291, 391, 491 Independent Study

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Liberal Arts.

ANTH 293 East African Anthropology

4-WSP

Intensive study of East African ethnic populations – their beliefs, behaviors, work, and societies. Lectures, which include foundational anthropological theory as well as ethnic descriptions, are augmented by frequent class discussions; field trips; and interactions (including homestay) with Dorobo, Maasai, and other local East African ethnic groups. Sociology, Intercultural Studies elective credit. Houghton East Africa. Liberal Arts.

ANTH 295, 296 Special Topics in Anthropology

1–4-WSP

Topics offered according to interest and demand. Liberal Arts.

ANTH 315 Human Ecology

4-WSP

Integrates knowledge from several disciplines and seeks to combine the social and natural sciences. Theory is interwoven with basic concepts, and emphasis is on how humans view and interact with the natural environment. Key themes are discussed in relation to basic human societal structures in anthropology. Fulfills part of General Education Global Competence requirement. Liberal Arts.

ANTH 350 Culture Change and Globalization
3-S26

Globalization is spreading rapidly and is causing significant culture change to all societies from traditional to folk to contemporary. Focusing on historical and current case studies, this course makes students aware of current cultural changes and gives them the theoretical knowledge to understand, empathize with, and assist people wrestling with culture change. Fulfills part of General Education Global Competence requirement. Pre- or corequisite: Cultural Anthropology. Liberal Arts.

ARAB 101 Arabic Language

4-WSP

Arabic is spoken in various regional dialects throughout the Arab world. This class introduces Modern Standard Arabic (MSA), the commonly understood language used in all media and in the academic and intellectual community. While not the “street language” of any particular country, MSA provides an excellent grounding towards fluency in any dialect in the Arab world. Those wishing to go further will be directed to an intensive Arabic program within the Arab world. Liberal Arts.

ART 115 Foundations of Digital Communication

2-F&S

Survey of the essential digital toolsets involved in the production of static and time-based visual media. Through lecture, demo, and studio projects, students are introduced to the foundational technical and design concepts necessary for creating effective visual messages in a digital studio environment. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement.

ART 131 Introduction to the Visual Arts

2-F

Overview of Western cultural history, visual arts, basic principles, and underlying philosophy of art. Emphasis on the contemporary. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. Liberal Arts.

ART 132 Art and Architecture in Context in Europe

4-May

A course for the non-Art student participating in the Mayterm trip to Europe. Approximately 20 days studying art and artists from antiquity to the present. Readings, journal-keeping, and questions pertaining to site-specific works are required. Off-campus study abroad course. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. Liberal Arts.

ART 195 Special Topics

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Designed to provide opportunity for students to explore avenues not covered in other listed courses. Examples include Fine Arts Book and Papermaking, Figurative Clay Sculpture, Illustration, Portrait Media, Landscape Painting, Landscape Photography, Typography and Letterpress Printing, Textile and Fiber Design, and Public Studio.

ART 211 Drawing I

2-F&S

Basic introduction to drawing media, techniques, and concepts. Exploration of form and space in two dimensions in varied subject matter. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 212 Abstract Drawing

4-S

Explores the possibilities of drawing based on conceptual rather than perceptual knowledge. A wide variety of conceptual sources are introduced, such as variations of spatial components, non-figurative images based on biomorphic or gestural motifs, compositional dynamics, tonal and color explorations, and the variation of mark as an expressive element. Diverse experimentation with surfaces, materials, and applications is encouraged. Emphasis is placed on the selection of an idea in terms of both process and materials. The development of abstraction in the 20th century and relevant major artists are studied and used for reference. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 215 Etching

2-F

Introduction to the basic techniques, processes, and history of etching. Etching was developed in the early 16th century and has been a favorite medium of many artists including Rembrandt, Goya, Picasso, and Dine. Focus is on traditional methods of working etching plates. Intaglio techniques include several rich and varied processes. The class covers etching, drypoint, aquatint, use of soft and hard grounds, and the combination of techniques on a single plate. Printing techniques are demonstrated, including color printing and registration of multiple plates. Students work through and generate a body of images associated with a self-directed theme. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 216 The Art and History of Film Genre

4-S

History of the film genre. Designed to critically evaluate the philosophical, aesthetic, and narrative grouping of genre including westerns, horror, romantic comedy, war, gender, science fiction, fantasy, animation, documentary, family drama, ensemble, biopic, film noir, crime, and experimental. Subcategories such as crime/gangster or crime/prison are also considered. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. Liberal Arts.

ART 221 Painting I

4-F&S

Visual problems of space, form, value, and color studied in oil paint. Basic problems of pictorial composition and interpretation through representational/abstract approaches to observing life and still life. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 224 Motion Media Design & Animation

4-F

Introduction to the foundational concepts of communications design in which time is an important formal element. Studio work explores how images and design change over time in ways that enhance narrative or interactive communication: time and motion explored as formal properties, history of time-based communication and interactivity, and extensive studio work developing key concepts in time and communication. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. Liberal Arts. This course has a lab fee.

ART 228 Digital Video I

4-F&S

Introduction to the movie-making process using digital tools. Students learn the basics of managing digital workflow and software interface, using a digital video camera, editing in Final Cut Pro, and saving final output to DVD. Also covered are basic principles of storytelling, location production, integration of titles and audio, critique and production skills, and output and archiving. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a lab fee.

ART 231 Ancient Art History

4-F25

History of world art from prehistory to the 14th century. Exploration of pivotal Western monuments and the role of art as visual communication of religious, political, and social concerns. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. Liberal Arts.

ART 232 Renaissance and Baroque Art History

4-S25

History of Western art from the 14th to the mid-18th century. Relation of form and content to cultural attitudes. Unique contributions of major artists. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. Liberal Arts.

ART 234 Art and Architecture in Europe

4-May

Approximately 20 days studying art and artists from antiquity to the present. Readings, journal-keeping, and questions pertaining to site-specific works are requirements. Intended for the Art major. Off-campus study abroad course. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. Liberal Arts.

ART 235 African Art History

4-WSP

A selective survey of visual arts produced on the African continent from antiquity through the present. Consideration of colonial influences on African art and African art's influence on Western art, including the African American Diaspora. Emphasis on seeing and understanding art in the context of daily life, religion, and society. Off-campus study abroad course in East Africa. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. Liberal Arts.

ART 236 Asian Art History Survey
4-S26

History of the art of Asian cultures from ancient times to the present. Introduction to major ideas, periods, methods, and materials with emphasis on the art of China and Japan and their impact on the art of the West. Overview of India, Korea, Islam, and tangential cultures. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. Liberal Arts.

ART 237 Modern and Contemporary Western Art History

4-F24

History of Western art from the mid-18th through the early 21st century. Analysis of major movements and artists as well as underlying philosophy and cultural influences. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. Liberal Arts.

ART 240 Introduction to 3D Computer Graphics

4-S26

Introduction to working in an industry-standard 3D package to build 3D assets for various forms of digital media. Through lecture, demo, and studio projects, students survey foundational concepts in the major aspects of the 3D pipeline, including modeling, materials, rigging, animation, lighting, and rendering. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a lab fee.

ART 241 Two-Dimensional Design

2-F

Theory and application of compositional elements and principles of design. Experiences in two-dimensional problem-solving. Lecture, group critiques, and discussion. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 242 Three-Dimensional Design

2-F

Theory and application of elements and principles of design to three-dimensional small-scale sculptural structures. Awareness and comprehension of three-dimensional structural and spatial relationships. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 245 Graphic Design I

4-F&S

Introduction to theory and practice of graphic design communication. Emphasis on techniques for exploration of two-dimensional problems and interpretation of verbal to visual form. Computer design is introduced. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a lab fee.

ART 251 Sculpture I

4-S26

Survey of traditional sculptural ideas, tools, techniques, and materials. Group and individual projects dealing with conceptual and formal problems of additive and subtractive uses of wood, metal, and stone. Exploration of nontraditional materials and processes, installation, and contextual considerations. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 261 Introduction to Printmaking

2-WSP

Screen-printing and relief methods of printmaking are explored through hand-printed media in multiples alongside the creation of unique images made with monoprinting techniques. Discussion and research on the historical context of printmaking center on its relationship to innovation. Nontoxic methods of printmaking are applied in the development of contemporary methods in studio practice. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 262 Screen-printing

2-WSP

Introduction to the basic techniques, processes, and history of screen-printing. Screen-printing has commonly been used as a graphic art form for printing posters and signage but is also an important medium for artists. Screen-printing is valued for its straightforward process; its expedient creation of large editions; the variety of materials it can print onto; and its integration of hand-drawn, photographic, and digital images. It has a history of satire, social/political commentary, and protest and often exists in the space between popular culture and high art. Students work through and generate a body of images associated with a self-directed theme or narrative. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 264 Relief Printing

2-WSP

Introduction to the basic techniques, processes, and history of relief printing. Focuses primarily on the woodcut medium. Students work through and generate a body of work associated with a self-directed theme. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 265 Fiber Studies & Printmaking

2-F

Extensive investigation of fiber through the process of papermaking by hand. Traditional Eastern and Western methods of papermaking are explored with a focus on building ecologically sustainable art practice, responsible harvesting of natural fiber, and reuse of a wide variety of recyclable materials. The development of sculptural and functional work is supplemented through demonstrations, studio research, and lectures surveying historical and contemporary work in fiber. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 266 Sculptural and Moveable Book

2-WSP

Students construct models and finished pieces that can be used as standalone artist books or combined to create sculptural book forms. Using various materials, unusual openings, and interesting closures, students explore creative book forms and develop their own unique books. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 267 Lithography

2-WSP

Introduction to the basic techniques, processes, and history of lithography, especially stone lithography. Covers basic theory and current processing methods. Students generate a body of work associated with a self-directed theme or narrative. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 270 Effective Information Design

3-F

Introduces the basics of the field of Information Design from a visual communication perspective, by building skills to communicate complex information in graphic forms. Basic design concepts enable creating visualizations through the mode of infographics (charts, maps, explainers, info-sheets, etc.), whose purpose is to guide viewers toward meaning and understanding. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement.

ART 271 Ceramics I

4-F&S

Basic study of clay as a three-dimensional artistic medium, working with hand-built and wheel-thrown techniques. Foundation of the historical development of ideas and techniques and the role of ceramics in contemporary art. Introduction to glazing, decorating, and firing processes. Students produce a body of 12 pieces. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 275 Photo Documentary and Cultural Studies

4-S25

Students explore, observe, and document diverse cultures internationally. Through a combination of on-campus classroom sessions, travel, and photography assignments, students document the nuances of everyday life, engaging with local communities and gaining valuable insights into their customs and traditions. Ethical considerations in documentary photography, particularly in representing different cultures and communities, are also emphasized. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement or half of General Education Global Competence requirement. This course has a studio fee. Liberal Arts.

ART 280 Creative Modern Portraiture

3-WSP

Focusing on the human subject, students gain the skills needed to create consistent, branded, and professional portraits. Topics of study include understanding natural light, posing, choosing locations, camera settings, and lens choice, working with the needs of a client/subject, consistent professional imagery in all shooting environments, and defining a unique style of work. Special considerations for the different type of professional opportunities: engagements and weddings, maternity, newborn, family, and high school seniors. This course is intended for online students. On-campus students may take this course with special permission by the Dean of Management and Creative Arts. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 282 Experimental Darkroom Processes

4-F

Examination of various darkroom image-making and printing techniques, including pinhole, cyanotype, projection, and photogram as well as toning and hand-coloring in traditional black-and-white prints. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

ART 283 Introduction to Digital Photography

3-Online-WSP

4-F&S

Introduction to the fundamentals of digital photography, including camera operation and file management. Students explore photography as a visual language through personal expression, principles of composition, and the medium's contemporary history. Format includes discussions, demonstrations, critiques, lectures, and student presentations. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. The on-campus course has a studio fee.

ART 289, 389, 489 Internship

1, 2, 3 or 4-OD

Internship in art.

ART 284 Introduction to Digital Imaging

4-F&S

Introduction to the tools and concepts of creating and manipulating images with digital technology. The primary software application is Adobe Photoshop. Instruction is project-based and relies on class critique. Students also learn to recognize digital equivalents of traditional art styles, techniques, and forms. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a lab fee.

ART 291, 391, 491 Independent Study (no fee)

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

ART 292, 392, 492 Independent Study (with fee)

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

ART 295, 296, 297, 298 Special Topics

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Designed to provide students with opportunity to explore avenues not covered in other listed courses. Examples include Figurative Clay Sculpture, Illustration, Portrait Media, Landscape Painting, Landscape Photography, Furniture as Fine Art, Textile and Fiber Design, Watercolor Painting, and Public Studio. May include a studio fee.

ART 311 Anatomy and Figure Drawing

2 or 4-F

Elements, principles, and techniques of artistic anatomy. Emphasis on presentations as they relate to the figure and portrait. Study of skeleton and musculature from casts and live models. This course has a studio fee.

Prerequisite: ART 211

ART 314 The Art and History of Film

4-S26

Introduction to the history, craft, theory, and critical content of film – 15 films viewed in class, 20–25 for outside-of-class research work. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. Liberal Arts.

ART 321 Painting II

4-F&S

Intensive study of a single subject, which is then extended into a series to develop a more sophisticated personal visual statement. Examples of subjects include still life, figure, interiors, and abstraction. This course has a studio fee. Prerequisite: ART 221

ART 323 Motion Media Design and Animation 2

4-S25

Building on core animation principles, students expand their repertoire of tools and techniques for creating original time-based multimedia work. Students consider video as an element of motion design that can be integrated with graphics for effect. Class includes lecture, demo, studio projects, and a group production. This course has a lab fee. Prerequisite: ART/COMM 224

ART 324, 325, 326, 327 Advanced Topics in Film

2-S

A topical seminar in film studies exploring topics such as director in depth (looking at one director's major works), environmental themes in film, film traditions from various countries, tech noir, films since 1945, women in film, Shakespeare and film, and literature into cinema. Liberal Arts.

ART 345 Graphic Design II

4-S26

Further development of conceptualization and visualization skill within graphic design media, including computer design. Assignments directed towards professional practice. This course has a lab fee.

ART 348 Fine Arts of Southeastern Europe

4-WSP

Art history of Catholic southern Europe and especially of the Venetian Empire, principally painting and architecture. Comparison with the art and iconography of Orthodox Europe, especially Serbia and Macedonia. Some study of Ottoman Muslim art during time in Bosnia. Houghton Balkans Semester Program. Liberal Arts.

ART 351 Sculpture II

4-WSP

Exploration of three-dimensional form/space through individual creative experiences working with various sculptural media. This course has a studio fee. Prerequisite: ART 251

ART 360 Applied Video Projects

4-F25

Students are invited to contend with a specific professional creative video challenge over the course of a semester, through which they will gain focused, practical experience developing quality work in a particular style of video storytelling. Genre and style of video production varies by semester. This course has a lab fee. Prerequisite: ART/COMM 228 or instructor permission.

ART 363 The Visual Book

4-WSP

Expanding on the foundational knowledge of printmaking and typographic processes gained in introductory-level courses, focus is on production and publication of limited-edition, hand-bound books that explore the relationship between text and image. Advanced methods of bookbinding and printmaking techniques are demonstrated and supplemented by discussion and readings centered on concept development. The historic and contemporary practice of publishing hand-printed media in multiples is explored through self-directed themes. Prerequisites: ART 261 and/or 263. This course has a studio fee.

ART 371 Ceramics II

3-S

Intermediate study of clay as a three-dimensional artistic medium. Continuing development of conceptual content, form, and craftsmanship through self-directed, individual projects using wheel-throwing and/or hand-building processes. Additional instruction in glaze chemistry and kiln-firing. This course has a studio fee. Prerequisite: ART 271

ART 378 Photography for Business

3-Online

Covers basic shooting considerations for the business professional. Lighting, setup, positioning, lens choice, camera settings, and basic editing for real estate, headshots, and products including 2D and 3D works of art as well as other areas. Discussions include shooting formats, digital file management, and creating imagery for social media and basic marketing. Intended for online students. On-campus students may take this course with special permission by the Dean of Management and Creative Arts.

ART 380 Lighting for the Still and Moving Image

4-F

Studio class examining the technical and practical aspects of lighting for photography and video. Students learn to assess the qualities of light and how to effectively use strobe, continuous, and natural lighting on location and in the studio. This course has a studio fee.

ART 382 Advanced Topics in Photography

4-S25

Continued exploration of photographic techniques and concepts emphasizing digital workflow, including digital camera operation, digital output, and strobe lighting. Intensive, conceptually driven studio assignments reinforced through readings, discussions, critiques, and lectures. This course has a studio fee. Prerequisite: ART 283

ART 383 Applied Design Internship

1–4-WSP

Students apply classroom knowledge in a real-world setting. Internship positions may be available in a range of applied design industries, small businesses, artist studios, galleries, and museums. Placements are developed by working one on one with the supervising faculty member to try to match objectives with an appropriate experience. Requires 60–100 hours in the field. Prerequisites: Junior status, coursework at 300 level in internship media

ART 384 Digital Imaging II

4-F24

Continued study and development of the creative possibilities of digital image-making. Investigation of advanced processes in use of digital cameras and manipulative creative possibilities. Study structured by Art faculty to meet the needs of the advanced student. This course has a lab fee. Prerequisite: ART 284

ART 395 Special Topics

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Designed to provide opportunity for students to explore avenues not covered in other listed courses. Examples include Figurative Clay Sculpture, Illustration, Portrait Media, Landscape Painting, Landscape Photography, Furniture as Fine Art, Textile and Fiber Design, Watercolor Painting, and Public Studio. This course may have a studio fee.

ART 421 Painting III

4-F25

Emphasis on individual development and refinement of personal expression in various approaches to painting. This course has a studio fee. Prerequisite: ART 321

ART 430 Digital Portfolio and Personal Brand

4-F25

Provides an opportunity for students who are focusing in the areas of applied design, media arts, and visual communication to begin to develop the materials they will need to market themselves as creative professionals. Intended for students in the later stages of their undergraduate career with a burgeoning body of work. Participants will develop the core components of their own consistent personal brand, including a digital portfolio/reel, website, and business card. This course has a lab fee.

ART 447 Graphic Design Internship

4-WSP

Practical experience to include interviews, placement, and work experience in a situation of mutual benefit to the student and publishing house or designer.

ART 461 Advanced Topics in Printmaking

4-WSP

At the intersection of traditional and contemporary practice, this course is centered on material transformation as it relates to print media and sculpture. Expanding on skills gained through introductory levels of printmaking and fiber studies, methods in etching and lithography are explored in the development of a body of work that examines the sculptural potential for prints and paper as site-specific installation. Material and conceptual development are driven by individual student proposals and supplemented by critical discussions, readings, work samples, demonstrations, and lectures.

This course has a studio fee. Prerequisite: ART 261 or ART 265

ART 471 Ceramics III

4-S26

Advanced projects in clay. Emphasis shifted from purely investigatory exercises in form toward clarity of expression and execution. Individually designed projects with tutoring by instructor. This course has a studio fee.

Prerequisite: ART 371

ART 479 Professional Practices in Photography

4-S25

3-Online-WSP

Advanced projects course allowing students to refine and focus their work within one of several genres of photography. Examines professional practices, including establishing a photography business, marketing techniques, creating estimates and invoices, and copyright issues. Students develop a cohesive portfolio through group discussions and critiques. This course has a studio fee.

ART 485 Senior Studio

2-F

A seminar-studio course required for all Studio Art majors. Students examine contemporary theories and practices in art criticism while developing a body of work for their senior exhibition. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: BIBL 101

BIOCHM 480 Capstone Seminar in Biochemistry1-S

Capstone course for the Biochemistry major allowing students and professors to think together about biochemistry – its current topics, history, and issues of science and faith.

Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: senior status or permission

BIOL 111 Introduction to Environmental Biology4-WSP

Overview of plant and animal biology (including taxonomy), animal behavior, ecology, and principles of evolutionary theory. Course includes wet and dry lab components. Taught at participating high schools to selected, qualified students. Liberal Arts.

BIOL 112 Introduction to Cellular Biology and Genetics4-WSP

Overview of basic biochemistry, cell biology and metabolism, and principles of genetics. Course includes wet and dry lab components. Taught at participating high schools to selected, qualified students. Liberal Arts.

BIOL 115 Elements of Nutrition3-Online-WSP

Covers various topics related to humans' healthful consumption of food. Topics include the science of nutrition, design of a healthful diet, the general processes of digestion, composition and sources of macro- and micronutrients, the processes of energy metabolism and fluid/electrolyte balance, and a role of nutrition in various organ system function. Labs will be accessible in the online format. Students will be required to complete a health assessment, track their nutritional intake, and critique journal articles or online media articles regarding social and ethical nutrition questions including food insecurity among the elderly; nutritional wellness and child development; childhood obesity and malnutrition; food safety in the global market; allergies, intolerance, and food; dietary supplements; and health claims. Does not count for Biology major elective. Counts for General Education Science Requirement except for Main Campus bachelor's degrees. Liberal Arts.

BIOL 151 General Biology: Organisms to Ecosystems4-S

One of two foundational courses required for preparation for advanced coursework in the major and minor. Includes an introduction to plant and animal biology (including taxonomy), animal behavior, ecology, and principles of evolutionary theory. Three lecture hours, three laboratory hours each week. BIOL 151 and/or BIOL 152 are prerequisites for major-level courses above 200. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee.

BIOL 152 General Biology: Cellular Biology and Genetics

4-F

One of two foundational courses required for preparation for advanced coursework in the major and minor. Includes an introduction to basic biochemistry, cell biology and metabolism, and principles of genetics. Three lecture, three laboratory hours each week. BIOL 151 and/or 152 are prerequisites for major-level courses above 200. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee.

BIOL 195, 295, 395, 396 Special Topics

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Designed to meet the individual needs of advanced students in a variety of areas. Some courses include laboratory. Liberal Arts.

BIOL 200 Internship in Biology

0, 1, 2, 3, or 4-F/S/Summer

Supervised experience in a biology-related workplace in which students apply scientific knowledge learned in the classroom to a real-world setting. Requires approval from the Natural Sciences and Mathematics School Dean.

BIOL 201 Emergency Medical Service Basic Training

0, 2-S

Designed to give students the emergency medical knowledge and skills necessary to care for sick and/or injured patients in a pre-hospital setting. Topics include recognition and treatment of respiratory, musculoskeletal, abdominal, and circulatory emergencies; trauma; HAZMAT emergencies; pharmacological emergencies; stroke; shock; environmental emergencies; obstetric and gynecological emergencies; geriatric emergencies; psychological emergencies; and basic patient assessment. Students successfully completing this course are eligible to take the New York State certification exam for emergency medical technicians (EMT-Basic). Requires 94 hours of instructional time and 88 hours of laboratory time. Students must also complete at least 10 hours of clinical observational experiences, achieve a score of 70% or C on all examinations, and complete the New York State Practical Skills and Written Exams.

BIOL 202 Pre-Health Practicum

0,1,2-Summer

One-on-one observation and practical experience supervised by a practitioner in a healthcare field. Preparation and sharing of experiences on the Houghton campus required for all participants. Available only to pre-health candidates with junior status (or higher) and GPA > 3.0. Prerequisites: BIOL 151, 152.

Requires successful application and placement approval by Pre-Health Director.

BIOL 203 Pre-Veterinary Practicum

0,1,2-F/S/Summer

One-on-one observation and practical experience supervised by a veterinarian or animal field expert. Preparation and sharing of experiences on the Houghton campus required for all participants. Open only to pre-veterinary candidates with junior status (or higher) and GPA > 3.0. Prerequisite: BIOL 151, 152.

Requires successful application and placement approval by Pre-Health Director.

BIOL 204 Practicum in Biology

0, 1, 2-F/S/Summer

One-on-one observation and practical experience supervised by an expert in the biology field of interest. Preparation and sharing of experiences on the Houghton campus required for all participants. Available only to Biology majors with junior status (or higher) and GPA > 3.0. Prerequisites: BIOL 151, 152. Requires successful application and placement approval by Biology School Dean.

BIOL 206 Field Techniques in Ecology

4-WSP

Introduces students to a variety of field and research techniques used in ecology and conservation professions. Group exercises emphasize sampling methods for documenting patterns of distribution and abundance, experimental designs for testing hypotheses, and statistical interpretation of results. Scientific communication skills strengthened through discussion of peer-reviewed scientific literature. Prerequisites: BIOL 151, 322. This course has a fee.

BIOL 207 Wildlife Behavior in East Africa
4-WSP

Ethnology of East African wildlife including the principles of feeding and social behavior, mate selection, migrations, and communication. Lectures, discussion, and field-oriented laboratory exercises at world-renowned national parks, in game reserves, and on campus. Houghton East Africa. Fulfills General Education Natural Science requirement. Liberal Arts.

BIOL 209 Introduction to Nutrition
3-Summer

Covers various topics related to humans' healthful consumption of food. Topics include the science of nutrition, design of a healthful diet, the bodily processes of digestion, composition, sources of macro- and micronutrients, and the processes of energy metabolism and fluid and electrolyte balance. Nutritional needs throughout lifecycles are discussed from pregnancy, neonate, and childhood through adolescence and adulthood to geriatric stages. Does not fulfill Biology major elective. Does not fulfill General Education requirements for Houghton University main campus. May fulfill Science General Education requirement at extension sites with Dean of Natural Sciences and Mathematics or General Education Director approval. Prerequisite Course: BIOL 152 (may be taken concurrently). Liberal Arts.

BIOL 210 Medical Terminology

Opportunity to learn and recognize word roots, prefixes, and suffixes used in current medical professions. Emphasizes the meaningful combination of words (to describe and understand medical conditions). Reviews medical terms related to all major body systems.

BIOL 217 Human Anatomy and Physiology I
4-F

Systematic study of structure and function of the human organism, including microanatomy of organs. General organization of the body; basic tissues; and the integumentary, skeletal, muscular, and nervous systems. Three lecture, three laboratory hours each week. Does not count for major or minor credit except where required for graduate programs and upon permission of the school dean. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee.

BIOL 218 Human Anatomy and Physiology II
4-S

Sequel to BIOL 217. Endocrine, cardiovascular, lymphatic, respiratory, digestive, urinary, and reproductive systems; acid-base; and fluid-electrolyte balance. Three lecture, three laboratory hours each week. Note: BIOL 217 and 218 are designed to fulfill admission requirements for some schools of nursing and physical therapy. Does not count for major or minor credit except where required for graduate programs and upon permission of the school dean. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: BIOL 217 or permission

BIOL 232 Epidemiology
2-WSP

Cause and transmission of human diseases within a population relating to not only the infectious agent but also the genetic makeup of the community and the social, behavioral, economic, and cultural factors of the people affected. Lectures address the history of public health and epidemiology including cost/benefit analyses, public health policy, and the implications of case reporting to the CDC and local public health departments. The basic principles of the science of epidemiology are addressed with an emphasis on identifying patterns; formulating testable hypotheses regarding the disease outcome; and understanding the types of epidemiological studies, clinical and community trials, and essential biostatistics involved in any experimental design. Does not count for major or minor credit in Biology. Liberal Arts.

BIOL 242 Microbiology

4-F25

Survey of viruses, prokaryotic organisms, and fungi with theoretical and applied approaches to morphology, metabolism, genetics, biotechnology, and host–parasite relations. Three lecture, three laboratory hours each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee.

Prerequisites: BIOL 151 and BIOL 152

BIOL 250 Environmental Science

4-S27

Study of global system functions including the geosphere, atmosphere, hydrosphere, and biosphere. Special emphasis on the connections to human activity. Topics include climate change, pollution, environmental sustainability, and loss of biodiversity. Three lecture, and three laboratory hours each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee.

Prerequisites: BIOL 151 and 152

BIOL 251 Genetics

4-F

Principles of inheritance in living organisms, including the modern concepts of “gene” action and DNA structure and function. Three lecture, three laboratory hours each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: BIOL 152 or permission

BIOL 255 Conservation Biology

4-S26

Conservation biology is a mission-driven, applied, interdisciplinary science seeking to conserve biological diversity at genetic, species, ecosystem, landscape, and global levels. Focus is on ecological, human, and evolutionary dimensions of conservation with emphases on causes and consequences of biodiversity loss. Sample topics include management of small populations, endangered species, captive breeding, and designing networks of protected areas. Emerging strategies and approaches at the national and international levels are examined. This course has a fee. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: BIOL 151, 152

BIOL 300 Ecology of Alaska

4-WSP

Study of terrestrial and marine Alaskan ecosystems through lectures and field experiences in Kenai Fjords National Park, Denali National Park, Wrangell-St. Elias National Park, Museum of the North (UAF), and other locations. Reading of primary literature, field journal, and a research paper required. (This course has a fee for Mayterm of ~$2400 above tuition.) Part of Arctic Studies semester. Biology majors only. Liberal Arts.

BIOL 301 Field Botany

4-F25

Introduction to taxonomy, systematics, and ecology of vascular plants. Includes field trips throughout Western New York and northwestern Pennsylvania, plant identification and classification, and developing an extensive herbarium. Two lecture, six laboratory hours each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee.

Prerequisite: BIOL 151

BIOL 303 Biodiversity

4-WSP

Discusses the measurement and meaning of biodiversity with emphasis on global patterns (e.g., species–area and species–elevation relationships, island biogeography, latitudinal gradient in species richness, local and regional richness). Students learn methods for the quantification and analysis of biodiversity as well as the theoretical underpinnings of the scientific study of biodiversity by identifying patterns of biodiversity at regional and global levels, processes generating and maintaining biodiversity, processes generating biodiversity across spatial and temporal scales, ecosystem services, and issues related to the conservation of biodiversity. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: BIOL 151

BIOL 304 Herpetology

4-WSP

Study of the classes Amphibia and Reptiliato provides a broad overview of their phylogeny, ecology, and behavior. Focuses on identifying the families and genera common to North America (especially New York) but also examines the major groups of amphibians and reptiles around the world. This course has a fee. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: BIOL 151

BIOL 305 Ecophysiology of Plants

4-WSP

Focuses on the physiological ecology of plants and their interaction with the biotic and abiotic environment. Considers physiological and ecological aspects of adaptation to different environments and refers to examples from forests, agricultural systems, and the natural environment. Prerequisite: BIOL 251. This course has a fee.

BIOL 308 Introduction to Pharmacology

4-WSP

Basic understanding of pharmacological principles including pharmacokinetic principles, drug dosing, pharmacology application in human systems (PNS, CNS, cardiovascular, renal, respiratory, endocrine, and immune), and categories of drugs for each system or disease. Application of concepts is reinforced with online modules, case studies, and laboratory exercises. One review period plus three lab hours each week. This course has a fee. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: BIOL 152, BIOL 217, BIOL 218, CHEM 151; preferred: CHEM 152, BIOL 251

BIOL 313 Ornithology

4-May

Designed to investigate the basic principles of ornithology. Students are exposed to the history and current status of the science. The bulk of this course includes in-the-field identification skills with a combination of both audio and visual senses. Students also learn from local experts as they band birds and actively manage habitat to assist bird populations. This course has a fee. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: BIOL 151

BIOL 315 Marine Biology

4-WSP

Comprehensive study of marine ecosystems including the foundations of physical and chemical oceanography as they impact the ecology of marine organisms. Overview of structure, physiology, and ecology of marine life from phytoplankton to whales. Labs cover the representative marine divisions (plants) and phyla (animals) and may include a field trip to the northeast Atlantic coast. Liberal Arts.

This course has a fee. Prerequisite: BIOL 151

BIOL 322 General Ecology

4-S27

Study of the interrelationships among living organisms, their physical and biological environments, and human impacts. Laboratory introduction to ecological techniques and field studies of local and state ecosystems. Three lecture, three laboratory hours each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: BIOL 151

BIOL 336 Animal Behavior

4-F26

Introduction to the biological study of animal behavior. Lecture topics focus primarily on why animals behave as they do and, to a lesser degree, how they get the job done. Topics include genes and behavior, learning, organization of behavior, communication, mating systems, parental investment, and cooperation. Three lecture, three laboratory hours each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: BIOL 151

BIOL 342 Forensic Biotechnology

4-F26

An introduction to the field of biotechnology, including discussions on the ethics of technology. Emphasis will be given to modern molecular techniques with applications in both medicine and industry. Students will develop a critical understanding of and hands-on proficiency with a variety of processes and techniques including bacterial cell culture, primer design and polymerase chain reaction, cloning, gene expression, and protein purification and analysis. Three lecture, three lab hours each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: BIOL 251

BIOL 343 Microbial Ecology

4-F26

Study of microbial interactions with each other in communities and with their larger environment, and the ecological impacts of these relationships. The role of single-celled prokaryotes in these processes will be emphasized, with additional discussions of fungi, algae, and protozoans. Course topics will include microbes in terrestrial and aquatic environments, mutualism and inter-domain relationships, and microbial impacts on nutrient cycling and resource availability in the biosphere. Three lecture, three laboratory hours each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: BIOL 251.

BIOL 344 Muscle Biology in Health and Disease

4-S26

Comprehensive overview of muscle biology (emphasis on skeletal), disease, and the regenerative capacity of muscles. Uses an integrative approach to understanding the molecular, cellular, and physiological bases of normal and altered skeletal muscle function. Discussions of current primary literature and laboratory activities further develop understanding and significance of muscle diseases and their treatments. Three lecture, three lab/discussion hours each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisites: BIOL 152, 251

BIOL 355 Introduction to Neurobiology

4-F25

Overview of neurobiology through the study of action potentials, synaptic transmission, sensory and motor transduction, anatomy and development, memory and learning, and aging and disease. Three lecture, three lab/discussion hours each week. This course has a fee. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: BIOL 251

BIOL 365 Immunology

4-S26

Theoretical and clinical approaches to study of innate and adaptive immune systems: antigen recognition, immune response, immune system and its pathologies. Three lecture, three lab hours each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: BIOL 152

BIOL 370 Molecular and Cell Biology

4-S26

Introduction to the biochemistry of cells, transport across membranes, cell-to-cell signaling, organelle function, and protein targeting with an emphasis on methods in molecular and cell biology. Three lecture, three lab hours per week. Labs focus on molecular techniques such as cloning, PCR, generation and purification of recombinant proteins, and blotting techniques (DNA, RNA and Protein). Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: BIOL 251

BIOL 372 Advanced Vertebrate Physiology

4-F26

Comprehensive and in-depth overview of physiological function of major organ systems with a particular emphasis on vertebrates and their adaptations in response to the stress of exercise. Topics discussed within the context of their clinical applications and the underlying biological fundamentals that drive them, such as biochemistry, cell physiology, and cell signaling. Three lecture, three lab/discussion hours each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Pre/corequisite: BIOL 251 or permission

BIOL 380 Pathogenic Microbes

4-S27

Diseases caused by common bacteria, fungi, parasites, and viruses in mammals and plants. Topics include classification, immune response, pathogenesis, virulence mechanisms, host-vector-pathogen paradigm, diagnosis, and control of infectious microorganisms. Discussion of current literature to further develop understanding and significance of pathogenic microbes and their diseases. Three lecture, two discussion/seminar hours. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisites: BIOL 152, 242

BIOL 382 Developmental Biology

4-WSP

Study of morphogenesis and biochemical processes involved in development with emphasis on vertebrates. Three lecture, three laboratory hours each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: BIOL 251

BIOL 384 Cancer Cell Biology

4-WSP

Students explore the following topics related to cancer: its etiology, different types, available therapies, and current ongoing research. Students learn the molecular basis of how this disease develops and how changes to gene expression affect its progression. In the laboratory portion of the course, students are taught appropriate techniques related to cancer research and pharmaceutical industries. In addition, we explore the morphology of different types of cancer cells. Three lecture, three lab hours each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: BIOL 251

BIOL 390 Environmental Science Internship

0, 1, 2, 3, 4 – F/S/Summer

Supervised environmental science experience in the workplace, in which students apply scientific knowledge learned in the classroom to a real-world setting. Requires approval from the Natural Sciences and Mathematics School Dean.

BIOL 391, 392, 491, 492 Independent Study

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Research under the supervision of a Biology department faculty member. Maximum total 5 credits. Liberal Arts.

BIOL 393 Summer Collaborative Research in Biology

1, 2, 3, or 4-Summer

Summer research in collaboration with a Biology faculty member focusing on current areas of research including immunology, pathophysiology, molecular genetics, animal behavior, and forest/freshwater ecosystem analysis. Students work intensively with a faculty member over four weeks during the summer. Permission of instructor required.

This course has a lab fee. Liberal Arts.

Prerequisites: BIOL 151, 152

BIOL 394 Research in Biology

4-F&S

Research in collaboration with a faculty member focusing on current research in areas of immunology, molecular genetics, animal behavior, and forest/water ecosystem analysis. Students work in small teams to review literature, design projects, perform experiments, collect and analyze data, and write up their work in manuscript form. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: BIOL 151, 152 or instructor permission

BIOL 482 Senior Capstone: Senior Seminar

2-F

Discussions of history of biological science, ethical problems in biology and health-related issues, origins and biotechnology, and society as well as environmental issues. Open only to majors. Fulfills General Education Writing-Enriched course requirement. Liberal Arts.

BIOL 496 Honors in Biology

4-F&S

Liberal Arts.

CFP 301 General Principles of Financial Planning

3-F&S

Comprehensively examines the general principles of financial planning, professional conduct and regulation, and education planning. Students are introduced to the financial planning process and working with clients to set goals and assess risk tolerance. Students will also learn to process and analyze information, construct personal financial statements, develop debt management plans, recommend financing strategies, and understand the basic components of a comprehensive financial plan.

CFP 302 Risk Management & Insurance Planning

3-F&S

Provides a comprehensive examination of the general principles of risk management and insurance planning for individuals and families. Students will learn how to work with clients to analyze and evaluate risk exposures. Core insurance lines of coverage are explored in detail, including health, disability, long-term care, life, and personal property and casualty. Students will also learn to analyze insurance needs, select the most appropriate policy, and understand a business owner's use of insurance.

CFP 303 Investment Planning

3-F&S

Explores the securities market, sources of information, risk/return, stocks, bonds, options, futures, and security analysis, and culminates in portfolio construction and analysis. Students will learn how to evaluate different asset classes for different investment objectives and determine their suitability for investors considering investment goals, time horizons, risk tolerance, and tax situations.

CFP 304 Tax Planning

3-F&S

Covers taxation for individuals, sole proprietorships, partnerships, and corporations, as well as the tax aspects of investments, insurance, annuities, and retirement planning. Students will be able to identify the likely tax consequences of personal and business financial activities and select appropriate and lawful tax-minimizing tactics and strategies.

CFP 305 Retirement Savings & Income Planning

3-F&S

Provides students with the foundation to conduct a retirement needs analysis for individuals, understand different types of retirement plans, and recognize key factors affecting retirement plan selection for business owners. Students will address client suitability and provide plan recommendations. The course covers tax-deferred retirement plans, IRAs, nonqualified plans, Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, distribution strategies, taxation of distributions, and regulatory considerations.

CFP 306 Estate Planning

3-F&S

Introduces federal gift, estate, and generation-skipping transfer taxes and the many planning techniques used to minimize their impact on transfers of wealth. It also explores the income-tax effects of gifts and bequests. The non-tax aspects of estate planning, including the estate planning process, property ownership, planning for incapacity, and planning for business owners are examined as are the need for estate planning documents for individuals, spouses, and unmarried couples.

CFP 307 Financial Plan Development

3-F&S

Provides students an opportunity to demonstrate the knowledge learned through the prerequisite six-course CFP® curriculum. Students will participate in developing a complete financial plan, through the use of case studies and interviewing mock clients. Presentations of a formal financial plan, demonstrating the ability to set client expectations and communicate with clients by answering questions and concerns, are also required. Prerequisites: CFP 301-306.

CHEM 113 Elements of Biochemistry

4-WSP

Forms and functions of chemicals in life. Fundamentals of inorganic, organic, and biological chemistry with contemporary applications. Also designed for Pre-Nursing students. Three lecture, three laboratory hours per week. Liberal Arts.

CHEM 121 Impact: Science on Society

3-WSP

Interrelationships among science, modern society, and Christianity. Nature and limitations of science. Political and social decisions with a scientific component. In-depth analysis of several areas in which science plays a critical role in contemporary life. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee.

CHEM 151 General Chemistry I

4-F

Theories and principles of modern chemistry: stoichiometry, atomic theory and structure, bonding, properties of matter, and descriptive chemistry of some important elements. Laboratory devoted to synthesis, analysis, and experiments based on principles developed in lecture. Three lecture, three laboratory hours per week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee.

CHEM 152 General Chemistry II

4-S

Continuation of CHEM 151; description and control of chemical reactions (equilibrium, thermodynamics, kinetics, electrochemistry, coordination compounds, nuclear, and organic chemistry). Laboratory designed to illustrate principles developed in lecture. Three lecture, three laboratory hours per week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: CHEM 151

CHEM 187 Introduction to Nutrition

3-WSP

Digestion, metabolism, and nutrition of normal individuals. Essentials of adequate diets and food sources of nutrients and nutritional comparison of food in relation to normal and modified diets. Does not count for major or minor credit. Liberal Arts.

CHEM 188 Introduction to Nutrition Laboratory

1-WSP

Designed to parallel the structure of CHEM 187, demonstrating at a hands-on level the components, concepts, and stewardship of contemporary nutrition. Three lab hours per week. This course has a fee. Liberal Arts.

CHEM 221 Contemporary Organic Chemistry

4-WSP

For Pre-Nursing, Pre-Medical Technology, and Biology BA majors. Fundamentals of organic chemistry with emphasis on structure, reactions, and properties of organic molecules. Three lecture, three laboratory hours per week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: CHEM 151 or 113

CHEM 241 Organic Chemistry I

4-F

Modern organic chemistry: relationships between organic molecular structure and chemical reactivity, mechanisms of molecular transformations, and synthesis and spectroscopy. Three lecture, four laboratory hours per week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: CHEM 152

CHEM 242 Organic Chemistry II

4-S

Modern organic chemistry: relationships between organic molecular structure and chemical reactivity, mechanisms of molecular transformations, and synthesis and spectroscopy. Three lecture, four laboratory hours per week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: CHEM 241

CHEM 276 Environmental Analysis

4-WSP

Principles of analytical chemistry applied to detection and quantification of chemical compounds in environmental samples. Topics include sample preparation, titration, spectroscopy, chromatography, and statistical treatment of data. Three lecture, four laboratory hours per week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: CHEM 152

CHEM 277 Analytical Chemistry

4-F25

Principles of gravimetric, volumetric, and electroanalytical methods of analysis. Acid base, precipitation, complexometric, and redox titrimetry. Quantitative methods based on absorption of radiation. Statistical treatment of data. Laboratory: analysis of unknown samples. Three lecture, four laboratory hours per week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: CHEM 152

CHEM 278 Chemical Instrumentation in Research

4-S

Instrumental methods of analysis. Principles and application of various types of spectroscopy (including UV-VIS, IR, and NMR), atomic absorption and emission, mass spectrometry, thermal and electrochemical methods of analysis, etc. Three lecture, four laboratory hours per week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: CHEM 241

CHEM 286 Special Topics in Chemistry

2-WSP

Introduction to areas of chemistry not treated in other courses. Topics may include biochemical, polymer, forensic, nutritional, or environmental chemistry. Consult the department for the topic offered in any given year. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: CHEM 241

CHEM 287 Medicinal Chemistry

2-F26

Introduction to medicinal chemistry, focusing on understanding basic terminology and principles of medicinal chemistry. Emphasizes the rational design of medicinal compounds using fundamental principles of organic chemistry. Additional refinements to design will be based on understanding the interaction of the drug with the body. Two lecture hours per week. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: CHEM 241

CHEM 291, 292, 391, 392, 491, 492 Research in Chemistry

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Liberal Arts.

CHEM 332 Biochemistry I

3-S

Structures, functions, and metabolic relationships of representative compounds involved in life processes. Brief introduction to enzymology, inborn errors, regulation of metabolism, nutritional implications, and clinical applications. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: CHEM 221 or 241; CHEM 242 strongly recommended as a corequisite

CHEM 333 Biochemistry II

3-F25

Advanced topics in protein structure and integration with DNA as well as metabolism. Students gain an appreciation of DNA engineering: molecular basis for protein function, regulation of protein activities, and proteomics. Includes selected topics in physical biochemistry such as thermodynamics, kinetics, molecular spectroscopy, solutions and equilibria, ligand interactions, and molecular modeling. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: CHEM 332, CHEM 242

CHEM 334 Biochemistry Laboratory I

1-S

Introduction to biochemical laboratory techniques for the identification, isolation, and purification of proteins and enzymes. Students gain exposure to centrifugation, electrophoresis, ELISA, and chromatographic techniques (size exclusion, affinity, and ion-exchange). Methods commonly utilized for the measurement of enzymatic activities, both spectroscopic and chemical, are developed. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee.

CHEM 335 Biochemistry Laboratory II

1-F25

Advanced laboratory techniques in protein and enzyme isolation and purification, spectroscopic measurement of enzyme kinetics, ligand binding, and modification of enzyme activity via genetic manipulation are utilized. Selected techniques in physical biochemistry and modeling are introduced. Fulfills General Education Writing-Enriched course requirement. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: CHEM 334

CHEM 343 Advanced Organic Chemistry

3-WSP

Theoretical and physical organic chemistry. Interrelationship of structure and reactivity, dynamics of organic reactions, methods of synthesis, current topics of special importance to organic chemistry, and introduction to current original publications in organic chemistry. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: CHEM 242

CHEM 352 Physical Principles of Chemistry

3-F

For students with major interests in medicine, biology, or secondary education. A one-semester, less mathematically oriented introduction to physical chemistry offering a core of concepts related to life processes. Three lecture hours per week. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: CHEM 242

CHEM 361 Physical Chemistry I

4-F26

Theoretical aspects of principles of chemistry: derivation and application with emphasis on thermodynamics, kinetics, and molecular structure. Practical applications in laboratory. Three lecture, four laboratory hours per week. Fulfills General Education Writing-Enriched course requirement. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisites: CHEM 152, PHYS 151, PHYS 152; corequisite: MATH 241 or 225

CHEM 362 Physical Chemistry II

4-S27

Theoretical aspects of principles of chemistry: derivation and application with emphasis on thermodynamics, kinetics, and molecular structure. Practical applications in laboratory. Three lecture, four laboratory hours per week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisites: CHEM 152, PHYS 151, PHYS 152; corequisite: MATH 241 or 225

CHEM 392 Research in Chemistry

1, 2, or 3-F, S

Research in Chemistry. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee.

CHEM 393 Summer Collaborative Research in Chemistry

1, 2, 3, or 4-Summer

Summer program of research in chemistry with a member of the Chemistry faculty. Students work individually or together to explore the literature, perform analyses, design and perform syntheses, and report their results orally and in writing. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: CHEM 152

CHEM 453 Advanced Inorganic Chemistry
3-WSP

Theories of atomic and molecular structure and bonding with emphasis on organometallic chemistry, descriptive chemistry of the elements, and current topics of special importance. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: CHEM 152

CHEM 482 Senior Capstone: Chemistry Seminar

1-S

Journal reports and discussion of recent developments in chemistry and issues of science and faith. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: senior status or permission

CHEM 496 Honors in Chemistry

4-WSP

A special individual research project completed in a Chemistry major's senior year resulting in a publishable undergraduate thesis. Liberal Arts.

CLLS 102 College Study Methods (P/U)

1-F&S

Improves study habits: reading textbooks, taking notes, improving memory, preparing for and taking exams, writing research papers, and time management. For all students who wish to work to their full potential.

CLLS 103 College Study Methods Lab

0,1-F/S

Designed to function in collaboration with CLLS 102 College Study Methods, this lab offers students the practical application of structured study habits as well as critical one-on-one support and guidance and fosters development of essential study habits as students navigate the academic landscape of college. May be repeated for 0 credits with the approval of the Center for Student Success.

CLLS 202 Transitions 102 Group Leadership (P/U)

0–2-F

Faculty- and staff-supervised training and experience leading groups of first-year students in discussion sessions and other coursework as part of the Transitions 102 course. For sophomores, juniors, and seniors chosen by application in the prior year.

CLLS 204 Student Leadership Seminar

0-S

Introduction to key topics related to student leadership at Houghton University. Sessions will highlight collaboration, professionalism, multicultural competencies, program planning, and other current topics. For students chosen by application.

COLP 401–402 Collaborative Performance

1, 2, 3, or 4-F&S

Preparation and presentation of joint performances in a variety of keyboard, instrumental, and vocal combinations.

COLP 501-505 Collaborative Piano

1-6

COMM 101 Presentational Speaking

2-F&S

Studies in the basic concepts of effective communication. Emphases on oral presentation skills, organization of information, use of evidence, and audience analysis. Deliver informational, persuasive, and ceremonial occasion speeches. Liberal Arts.

COMM 105 Introduction to Human Communication

3-F

Introduction to the fundamental components of the human communication process. Focuses on enhancing communication competence by developing knowledge and skills critical to effective communication, equipping students to achieve their objectives in a variety of communication situations. Emphasis on oral proficiency in dyadic, group, and public communication settings. Offered at the Symphony Circle location. Liberal Arts.

COMM 111 Oral Interpretation and Drama

3-F

Designed to help students understand drama, create captive audiences, and communicate a message effectively through oral interpretation and dramatic performance. Students gain skill in comprehending literary texts, communicating with an audience, sharing faith through storytelling, and writing creatively.

Taught at participating high schools to selected qualified students. Liberal Arts.

COMM 115 Foundations of Digital Communication

2-F&S

Survey of the essential digital toolsets involved in the production of static and time-based visual media. Through lecture, demo, and studio projects, students are introduced to the foundational technical and design concepts necessary for creating effective visual messages in a digital studio environment. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a studio fee.

COMM 205 Introduction to Communication Theory

3-F&S

Provides a foundation for subsequent communication courses by introducing the major theories that help explain human communication behavior. Encourages students to see theorizing as both a formal, systematic approach to learning and an informal activity in which we all engage. Through practical application, emphasizes the understanding, evaluation, and use of communication theories in daily life. Fulfills half of General Education Social Science. Liberal Arts.

COMM 207 Introduction to Pro Tools

3-F

Introduction to Pro Tools sound and recording software. Foundational skills necessary to record, edit, and mix at a basic level using a DigiDesign Pro Tools system. Focus: fundamental tools and techniques through demonstrations, real-world examples, and frequent hands-on assignments. Successful completion prepares students to take the Pro Tools 101 DigiDesign Certification exam. This course has a lab fee. By permission of instructor.

COMM 208 Pro Tools Production I

3-S

Continued study of Pro Tools, expanding range of tools and techniques. Focus: expanded hardware and software configurations, developing versatile tools for manipulating and editing both audio and MIDI data, and implementing various techniques to facilitate larger and more sophisticated mixing scenarios through real-world examples and frequent hands-on assignments that will enhance your capabilities in all aspects of Pro Tools production. Successful completion prepares students to take the Pro Tools 110 DigiDesign Certification exam. This course has a lab fee. Prerequisite: COMM 207

COMM 214 Introduction to Mass Media

3-F

Overview of the mass communication process and its application to mass media. Considers history, technological development, social implications, business functions, and legal aspects of mass media. Fulfills half of General Education Social Science requirement. Liberal Arts.

COMM 215 Interpersonal Communication

3-S (also offered online)

Principles and application of interpersonal skills in the context of friendships and families. Includes personal and relational awareness, person perception, verbal and nonverbal communication, relational development, and gender communication. Liberal Arts.

COMM 216 Organizational Communication

3-F&S

Development of communication skills applicable within organizations: understanding communication channels, interviewing strategies, task-oriented groups, business and sales presentations, conducting effective meetings, and conflict management. Liberal Arts.

COMM 218 Marketing Principles

3-F&S, Summer

Comprehensive examination of terminology, concepts, and practices of the field of marketing used by businesses and other organizations to create value and promote long-term consumer relations. Topics include strategic planning, research, product development, price-setting, promotion, distribution, branding, digital and social media marketing, and search engine optimization and search engine marketing.

COMM 224 Motion Media Design and Animation

4-F

Introduction to the foundational animation principles, digital toolsets, and techniques necessary for creating time-based multimedia work. Through lecture, demo, and studio projects, students develop an understanding of how motion can be used to communicate messages visually to an audience. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a lab fee. Liberal Arts.

COMM 225 Intercultural Communications

3-WSP

Explores theory and practice of communicating interculturally. Recommended for those with an interest in international vocations or working with ethnic or cultural groups within the United States. Fulfills part of General Education Global Competence requirement. Liberal Arts.

COMM 228 Digital Video I

4-F

Introduction to the movie-making process using digital tools. Students learn the basics of managing digital workflow and software interface, using a digital video camera, editing in Final Cut Pro, and saving final output to DVD. Also covered are basic principles of storytelling, location production, integration of titles and audio, critique and production skills, and output and archiving. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a lab fee.

COMM 232 Introduction to Web Communication

4-F

Introduction to the design, hosting, and maintenance of webpages. Foundational concepts of composition and design, use of color, multimedia, accessibility, and good user interface design covered in a project-based studio. Suitable for any major and discipline with an emphasis on projects useful to Communication majors (online web gallery, portfolio, video, blogging, etc.). This course has a lab fee. Liberal Arts.

COMM 240 Introduction to 3D Computer Graphics

4-S26

Introduction to working in an industry-standard 3D package to build 3D assets for various forms of digital media. Through lecture, demo, and studio projects, students survey foundational concepts in the major aspects of the 3D pipeline, including modeling, materials, rigging, animation, lighting, and rendering. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a lab fee.

COMM 243 Graphic Design I

4-F&S

Introduction to theory and practice of graphic design communication. Emphasis on techniques for exploration of two-dimensional problems and interpretation of verbal to visual form. Computer design is introduced. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a lab fee.

COMM 244 Techniques of Oral Performance

3-WSP

Emphasis on selection and analysis of literary texts in preparation for presentation in both traditional oral interpretation and “readers theater” formats. Development of vocal and physical skills for reading texts in a variety of literary styles, including prose, poetry, scripture, drama, and children’s lit. Liberal Arts.

COMM 258 Visual Personal Narrative

3-S

A creative project-based course intended to guide students in reflective expression of their own perspective on any narrative aspect of human life. Using readings, demonstrations, practice exercises, and project assignments, students will learn how visual communication can deliver themes and stories that combine thoughts, words, concepts, experiences, and pictures in a narrative framework. Students will be guided to link ideas and events together to give insight or expression to their unique perspectives and experiences. Topics covered will be the emotional strength of images, the power of themes, the value of personal identities and points of view, and other aspects of communication. Liberal Arts.

COMM 270 Effective Information Design

3-F

Introduces the basics of the field of Information Design from a visual communication perspective, by building skills to communicate complex information in graphic forms. Basic design concepts enable creating visualizations through the mode of infographics (charts, maps, explainers, info-sheets, etc.), whose purpose is to guide viewers toward meaning and understanding. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement.

COMM 275 Photo Documentary and Cultural Studies

4-S25

Students explore, observe, and document diverse cultures internationally. Through a combination of on-campus classroom sessions, travel, and photography assignments, students document the nuances of everyday life, engaging with local communities and gaining valuable insights into their customs and traditions. Ethical considerations in documentary photography, particularly in representing different cultures and communities, are also emphasized. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement or half of General Education Global Competence requirement. This course has a studio fee. Liberal Arts.

COMM 283 Introduction to Digital Photography

3-Online-WSP

4-F&S

Introduction to the fundamentals of digital photography, including camera operation and file management. Students explore photography as a visual language through personal expression, principles of composition, and the medium's contemporary history. Format includes discussions, demonstrations, critiques, lectures, and student presentations. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. The on-campus course has a studio fee.

COMM 284 Introduction to Digital Imaging

4-S

Introduction to the tools and concepts of creating and manipulating images with digital technology. The primary software application is Adobe Photoshop. Instruction is project-based and relies on class critique. Students also learn to recognize digital equivalents of traditional art styles, techniques, and forms. Fulfills General Education Art & Music requirement. This course has a lab fee.

COMM 289, 389, 489 Communication Internship

0, 1, 2, 3, or 4-F&S, Summer

Experience in an applied communication field. Course tailored to individual students' needs and interests.

COMM 291, 292, 391, 392, 491, 492Independent Study

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Liberal Arts.

COMM 295, 395 Special Topics in Communication: Lecture- or Studio-Based
2–4-WSP

Opportunity for study of issues and problems not covered elsewhere in the curriculum. Liberal Arts.

COMM 304 Social Media Marketing

3-S

The objective of this course is to understand consumers' social interactions, examine the various social media channels available to marketers, learn how to build social marketing strategies, and how to track their effectiveness. Topics include social marketing campaigns, influencers marketing, crisis responses, social media analytics and ROI. Prerequisite: BADM/COMM 218

COMM 312 Advertising Principles for Digital Media

3-F

A historic and present-day overview of the American advertising business and its effectiveness in creating consumer demand for products and services using print, broadcast, digital, web content, and other media. This course involves understanding creative executions targeted at key audience segments, hands-on student learning of digital content creation, and strategic campaign planning.

Typically, this class includes student projects (print, video, and OOH advertising) created in the digital environment. Prerequisite: BADM/COMM 218

COMM 314 New Media and Society

3-S26

Explores how computing and digital communication tools, along with the Internet, are transforming culture and society. Includes a history of the Internet and personal computing and examines critical writing from a range of perspectives on the potentially positive and negative aspects of technology-influenced trends. Liberal Arts.

COMM 315 Public Relations in the Digital Age

3-S

An examination of the development, implementation, and management of professional public relations programs in environments characterized by online communication and the use of digital media. Explores historic and contemporary public relations principles and practices used in business and nonprofit contexts and offers students the opportunity to create digital PR content. Prerequisite: BADM/COMM 218

COMM 316 Advanced Presentational Speaking

2-F25

Preparation and delivery of various kinds of problem-solving presentations including problem analysis, policy justification, policy rejection, and hostile audience. Emphasis on content, structure, and delivery. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: COMM 101 or instructor permission

COMM 319 American Public Address

3-S26

Public discourse of political speeches and popular culture from the Colonial era to the present. Careful analysis of speech texts and the historical contexts in which they were delivered helps students become more careful consumers of public messages, build critical skills, improve understanding of key issues in American history and how those issues were debated, and increase appreciation for the importance of rhetoric in a democratic society. Liberal Arts.

COMM 321 Environmental Communication

3-WSP

Examines the unique challenges and realities of communicating about environmental issues with an emphasis on contemporary American culture. Addresses environmental communication by exploring such topics as advocacy, social change, partisan politics, sociocultural identity expression, and “green” marketing. Also critiques various case studies relevant to public communication about environmental issues. Liberal Arts.

COMM 323 Motion Media Design and Animation 2

4-S25

Building on core animation principles, students expand their repertoire of tools and techniques for creating original time-based multimedia work. Students consider video as an element of motion design that can be integrated with graphics for effect. Class includes lecture, demo, studio projects, and a group production. This course has a lab fee. Prerequisite: ART/COMM 224

COMM 330 Conflict Management

3-WSP

Introduction to conflict management that balances coverage of major theories with practice in communication skills and conflict intervention techniques (e.g., assertiveness training, mediation, negotiation). Focus on experiential learning with heavy emphasis on written analysis that includes analytical journaling and analysis of scientific journal articles. Liberal Arts.

COMM 335 Integrated Marketing Communication

3-WSP

A culminating study of how marketing communication disciplines coalesce to form powerful, ongoing communication campaigns that demonstrate, elevate, and sustain the mission, products, and services of profit-making or not-for-profit organizations (including government). Uses case studies of various IMC initiatives to analyze their approaches, outcomes, and overall effectiveness. Prerequisites: BADM/COMM

218, BADM/COMM 312, BADM/COMM 315,
BADM 319

COMM 345 Graphic Design II

4-S

Further development of conceptualization and visualization skill within graphic design media, including computer design. Assignments directed towards professional practice. This course has a lab fee.

COMM 360 Applied Video Projects

4-F25

Students are invited to contend with a specific professional creative video challenge over the course of a semester, through which they will gain focused, practical experience developing quality work in a particular style of video storytelling. Genre and style of video production varies by semester. This course has a lab fee. Prerequisite: COMM/ART 228 or instructor permission.

COMM 380 Lighting for the Still and Moving Image

4-F

Studio class examining the technical and practical aspects of lighting for photography and video. Students learn to assess the qualities of light and how to effectively use strobe, continuous, and natural lighting on location and in the studio. This course has a studio fee.

COMM 382 Advanced Topics in Photography

4-S25

Continued exploration of photographic techniques and concepts emphasizing digital workflow, including digital camera operation, digital output, and strobe lighting. Intensive, conceptually driven studio assignments reinforced through readings, discussions, critiques, and lectures. This course has a lab fee. Prerequisite: ART 283

COMM 384 Digital Imaging II

4-WSP

Advanced techniques in compositing, painting, graphics, and content expression using two-dimensional digital computer software such as Adobe Photoshop. Creative studio lab work focuses on individual and collaborative digital imaging projects for print or electronic distribution. Coursework conceptualizes the image as a powerful artistic and communication mode of discourse.

Presentations, demonstrations, and intensive group critiques offer a chance for students wishing to pursue more advanced skills in using the computer as an expressive imaging tool. This course has a lab fee. Prerequisite: COMM 284

COMM 410 Media Arts: Advanced Projects

4-S

Single-project course tailored to individual interests, vision, and production decisions. Adapted for individual mentoring and one-on-one faculty–student interaction. Project-based instruction explores the advanced needs of a student while honing digital production and editing skills. Features include single short production, extensive group critiques, field trips and guest lectures, study of advanced motion graphics, and discussion of career applications. This course has a lab fee.

COMM 417 Senior Capstone: Seminar in Public Communication

3-F&S

The communication capstone integrates theoretical insights and practical skills across interpersonal, organizational, mass media, and rhetorical communication modes. Each semester explores a central theme through which students apply their knowledge to complex issues, helping prepare them to strategically address professional and personal challenges. Liberal Arts.

COMM 430 Digital Portfolio and Personal Brand

4-F25

Provides an opportunity for students who are focusing in the areas of applied design, media arts, and visual communication to begin to develop the materials they will need to market themselves as creative professionals. Intended for students in the later stages of their undergraduate career with a burgeoning body of work. Participants will develop the core components of their own consistent personal brand, including a digital portfolio/reel, website, and business card. This course has a lab fee.

COMM 479 Professional Practices in Photography

4-S26

3-Online-WSP

Advanced projects course allowing students to refine and focus their work within one of several genres of photography. Examines professional practices, including establishing a photography business, marketing techniques, creating estimates and invoices, and copyright issues. Students develop a cohesive portfolio through group discussions and critiques. This course has a studio fee.

COMM 496 Honors in Communication

4-S

Liberal Arts.

COMP 101, 102, 201, 202, 301, 302, 401, 402 Composition

1, 2, 3, or 4-F&S

Original composition in various forms, genres, and styles.

CONC 101, 102 Conducting, Choral

1, 2, 3, or 4-F&S

CONC 401, 402 Advanced Conducting, Choral

1, 2, 3, or 4-F&S

Preparation of material for a major choral ensemble and actual experience directing the ensemble. Prerequisites: MUS 229, 329, participation in ensemble, permission of ensemble director

CONI 401, 402 Advanced Conducting, Instrumental

1, 2, 3, or 4-F&S

Preparation of material for a major instrumental ensemble and actual experience directing the ensemble. Prerequisites: MUS 229, 430, participation in ensemble, permission of ensemble director

CRFM 191, 192, 291, 292, 391, 392, 491, 492 Independent Study

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

CRFM 227 Sports Ministry: The Integration of Faith and Sport

3-WSP

Students develop an understanding of the sports culture and learn how the gospel can be effectively communicated within this context. They consider sociological factors, historic developments, and the biblical text to build a theological foundation for the practice of sports ministry. Church and parachurch organizations are examined as well as evangelism and discipleship methodologies. Students practice communication skills within sports ministry settings.

CRFM 231 Foundations of Educational Ministry

3-F25

Historical, philosophical, and theological developments of religious and Christian education in relation to the practice of ministry.

CRFM 275 Methods & Administration of Sports Ministry

3-S

Students evaluate sports ministry strategies within local church, parachurch, missions, and educational settings. They review and develop curricula and programs for use within these settings. Students develop communication skills for a sports audience and examine evangelism and discipleship methods.

CRFM 325 Bible Study and Teaching Methods

3-F25

Survey of methods of Bible study and approaches to teaching/learning. Emphasizes lesson design, planning and presentation, small group leadership, and curricula.

CRFM 332 Christian Formation of Youth

3-F25

Examination of the theory and practice behind guiding the spiritual lives of adolescents with particular emphasis on the evangelistic and nurturing (discipling) tasks. Covers time-tested and innovative practices of adolescent spirituality. Gives an overview of adolescent culture, aimed at enabling spiritual directors of youth to understand some of the unique elements of enabling the faith journeys of young people.

CRFM 340 Theological Explorations in Youth Cultures and Ministry

3-F25

A theological investigation into the religious and spiritual lives of American youth with special reference to the contexts of family, peer relationships, school, church, and popular culture. Asks questions such as, “What does the religious and spiritual landscape of American young people in the early 21st century look like? How do young people relate to organized religion? How is the current interest in spirituality related to the search for meaning in their lives? How can this religious and spiritual interest and impetus be theologically engaged from a Christian perspective with a view to effective youth ministry?” Helps students develop the skills to critically engage, from a Christian theological perspective, popular culture “texts” (e.g., films, television shows, music) and trends (e.g., networked publics, body modifications) with a view to effective youth ministry.

CRFM 350 Foundations of Youth Ministry

3-S26

Eclectic, descriptive, and critical examination of theory and practice of contemporary youth evangelism and discipleship in selected church and parachurch models, including denominational programs, campus life, and young life.

CRJ 201 Introduction to Criminal Justice

3-F

Survey of causes and consequences of crime and the social responses in the legal system: policing, the courts, the varieties of sentencing options and outcomes, and routes to restoration. Liberal Arts.

CRJ 231 Criminology

3-WSP

Consideration of elements of the criminal justice system. Discussion of dilemma of promoting social order while protecting individual rights. Liberal Arts.

CRJ 301 Police Operations and Procedures

3-WSP

Surveys the historical development of law enforcement. Examines levels and methods of policing. Analyzes roles, functions, selection, training, and accountability of police officers.

CRJ 305 Courts, Judgments, and Alternative Consequences

3-WSP

Surveys structure and function of the court system, including roles of officers of the court. Includes special treatment courts: juvenile courts, Family Court. Stages of court processing from pretrial to sentencing with attention to procedural law, constitutional rights, and alternative consequences.

CRJ 310 Correction, Probation, and Restorative Justice

3-WSP

Historical survey of institutional correction: methods, goals, prison design, and operation. Considers life inside the walls and after release. Probation, parole, and restorative justice in community settings.

CRJ 410 Internship in Criminal Justice

0–6

A supervised experience in a criminal justice setting integrating theory with professional practice. By application only through the department.

CRJ 480 Senior Capstone Seminar

3-WSP

Informed discussion of significant contemporary concepts and issues. Includes development of an individual or group research project on some aspect of the field. Professional preparation, including processes for civil service exams. Required of all senior majors. Prerequisites: PSY/BADM 309, PSY 310/SOC 312. Fulfills General Education Writing-Enriched course requirement.

CSCI 105 Introduction to Cybersecurity

3-F&S

Covers introductory topics in cybersecurity, including identification of cybersecurity risks (threats and vulnerabilities) to online privacy and security, methods of attack (social-engineering, phishing, etc.), proper use of encryption, analysis of multi-faceted cyber attacks, and risk assessment and mitigation. Provides students experience with open-source cybersecurity tools for attack detection and prevention.

CSCI 115 Perspectives on Computing

4-WSP

Overview of how computers process, transmit, and store information. Designed for nonmajors and includes many applications and issues found in contemporary culture – for example, privacy issues related to databases maintained by insurance companies or protection of intellectual property in light of increasingly popular files sharing applications. Does not count toward a major or minor in Computer Science. Liberal Arts.

CSCI 170 Fundamentals of Web Coding3-WSP

Introduces students to the fundamentals of web coding, which include HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. Important programming concepts are also covered: variables, control structures, functions, and syntax. Object-oriented programming also introduced. Taught at participating high schools to selected, qualified students.

CSCI 180 Networking Foundations3-WSP

As a foundation for mastery of cybersecurity, introduces basic network concepts such as protocols, addressing, switching, routing, and firewalls. Explores network management and network security topics and uses interactive simulations to reinforce the knowledge and skills needed to design, configure, and maintain a network.

CSCI 205 Cybercrime and Governance3-F&S

Examines issues related to cybercrime, cyberwarfare, cyberterrorism and hacktivism. Topics include cybercrime trends, preventative measures and corrective action, the role of cryptocurrency in cybercrime, laws, and regulatory policies surrounding cybercrime and privacy. Prerequisite: CSCI 105.

CSCI 211 Programming I4-F

Covers the fundamentals of programming. Provides students with foundational programming concepts, including basic data structures, operators, control structures, functions, classes/types, and inheritance. Develops vital programming skills for designing solutions, writing code, and debugging problems.

CSCI 214 Discrete Mathematics2-F26

Introduction to discrete mathematical topics: equivalence relations, partial orders, functions, recurrence relations, counting, introduction to probability, graphs, and introduction to algorithm analysis. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 210

CSCI 218 Programming II4-S

Extends concepts learned in Programming I. Covers some advanced topics including object-oriented programming concepts using Java/Python, data structures, search algorithms, file handling, exceptions, threads, test-driven development, networking and sockets, and graphic user interface.

Prerequisite: CSCI 211

CSCI 226 Computer Architecture4-F26

Structure and internal organization of digital computers. Machine language and assembly language, representation of numbers, CPU organization, subroutines, and linkage. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: CSCI 211 or equivalent proficiency

CSCI 236 Data Structures and Algorithms4-F25

Covers the fundamental data structures of computer science and accompanying algorithms. Linked Lists, Stacks, Queues, Binary Trees, Priority Queues, Heaps, and other abstract data types included. Classical sorting and searching algorithms learned and implemented. Prerequisite: CSCI 218

CSCI 245 Software Engineering4-WSP

Covers both theoretical and practical foundations in software engineering. Theoretically, covers principles and methods of software engineering, including requirements, specification, design, implementation, testing, validation, operation, and maintenance. Practically, covers the development of software products from an industry perspective, including generation of appropriate documents. Prerequisite: CSCI 218

CSCI 295, 395, 495 Special Topics in Computer Science

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Introduction to an area of computer science not covered in other computer science classes. Previous topics include bioinformatics, computer security, C#, and the .NET framework. May be Liberal Arts.

CSCI 305 Cyber Forensics

3-F&S

Examines the tools and techniques used to perform cyber forensics and conduct investigations into cybercrimes. Topics include preservation of digital evidence, the role of new and emerging technologies in investigations, data recovery and data storage device reconstruction, and conduct validation. Students will learn relevant software tools for cyber forensics and gain experience with reporting and communicating investigation results. Prerequisite: CSCI 205.

CSCI 312 Computational Statistics

4-WSP

Introduces computational methods to solve statistical problems. Topics include classical tests, statistical modeling, regression, analysis of variance and covariance, analysis of count data and proportion data, time series analysis, survival analysis, and Monte Carlo methods. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: CSCI 236

CSCI 315 Big Data and Cloud Computing

4-WSP

Introduces analyzing big data with Apache Spark. First presents the characteristics of big data and the challenges of processing it, then covers the major components of Spark: streaming to process real-time data streams, SQL, and Data Frames to support for structured data and relational queries, Mllib: built-in machine learning library, and GraphX for graph processing. Prerequisite: CSCI 236

CSCI 326 Operating Systems

4-WSP

A study of computer architecture at the register level. Management of the processor, memory, peripheral devices, and information. Interrelationships of architecture and operating systems. Performance evaluation. Exposure to system manager responsibilities in UNIX and Windows. Prerequisites: CSCI 226 and 236 or permission

CSCI 328 Foundations of Computing

4-WSP

Introduces the classical and contemporary theory of computation including regular, context-free, and computable (recursive) languages with finite-state machines, pushdown automata, and Turing machines. Also covers the historical reasons for and the need that gave rise to many different programming languages and discusses the features of the most successful and more influential of them. The similarities and differences among procedural, functional, and object-oriented logic as well as parallel programming languages are also covered. Liberal Arts.

CSCI 340 Databases

4-F25

Introduction to relational databases. Fundamentals of database and query design. Database management topics include security, integrity, and concurrency techniques. Use of relational database software (including SQL) for application projects. Topics include decision- and object-based databases. Exposure to database manager responsibilities. Prerequisite: CSCI 218 or permission

CSCI 345 Machine Learning

4-F26

Broad introduction to machine learning, which teaches computer programs to extract knowledge from data. Topics include supervised (generative/discriminative learning, classification, regression, neural networks, and support vector machines), probabilistic, unsupervised, evolutionary, and reinforcement learning. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: CSCI 211

CSCI 380 Collaborative Research in Computer Science

4-S26

Students contribute to a computer science research project as part of a team of students.

Each student takes primary responsibility for at least one component of the project, producing cutting-edge research in an area of importance today. May be repeated for credit up to four times. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: Instructor permission

CSCI 391, 392, 491, 492 Independent Study
1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP
Liberal Arts.

CSCI 393 Summer Collaborative Research in Computer Science

1, 2, 3, or 4-Summer

Students work individually or in small teams reviewing literature, solving challenging problems in biology using machine learning and data mining algorithms and techniques from computer science, and describing their work in written form. Focuses on interdisciplinary research covering mathematics, statistics, computer science, and computational biology. May be repeated for credit. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: Instructor permission

CSCI 420 Networking
4-S26

Introduction to the basics of data communication and networking. Topics include the physical processes used for digital transmission, standardization, local area networks, network protocols, and distributed computation. Exposure to network manager responsibilities and computer security. The course has a fee. Prerequisite: CSCI 218 or instructor permission

CSCI 480 Senior Capstone: Computer Science Seminar
4-S27

For seniors, except by permission. Required of all Computer Science majors. Liberal Arts.

CSCI 496 Honors in Computer Science
4-WSP
Liberal Arts.

DSCI 151 Data Science for Beginners

3-S (online)

Introduction to the discipline of data science including necessary skills, concepts, and data science processes used in practice. Moral and ethical issues in data science from a Christian perspective. Fulfills General Education Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning requirement. Liberal Arts.

DSCI 152 Data Science Fundamentals
3-WSP

Introduction to the fundamentals of data science including data science methodology, understanding data sources, data collection, exploration, and visualization. Introduction to programming tools along with an overview of machine learning. Learning about the integration of faith as part of the data science process. Fulfills General Education Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning requirement. Liberal Arts.

DSCI 190 Statistics for Data Science
3-WSP

In addition to the most basic aspects of statistics in general, introduces data types, data structures, and data wrangling utilizing the R programming language. Taught at participating high schools to selected, qualified students.

DSCI 211 Data Science I
4-S27

Introduces the data science process, focusing on data collection and storage, data processing, data mining, learning, and analysis: pattern learning, supervised learning, unsupervised learning, and semi-supervised learning along with legal and ethical issues in the full lifecycle of data science. Data Science I and II together intend to teach the full spectrum of data science. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: CSCI 211

DSCI 212 Data Science II
4-F25

Continuing focus on data mining, learning, and analysis: evolutionary learning, statistical learning, data streaming learning, data visualization and communication, and legal and ethical issues in the full lifecycle of data science. Data Science I and II together intend to teach the full spectrum of data science. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: DSCI 211

DSCI 289, 389, 489 Internship in Data Science
0–6-WSP

A supervised experience in a data science setting combining practical activities with integrating studies. Liberal Arts.

DSCI 380 Collaborative Research in Data Science

0–4-S26

Students contribute to a data science project as part of a team of students and at least one faculty member. Each student takes primary responsibility for at least one component of the data science pipeline. May be repeated for credit up to four times. Liberal Arts.

Prerequisite: Instructor permission

DSCI 480 Senior Capstone Seminar in Data Science

4-S26

Analysis, assessment, and application of data science knowledge and skills. Liberal Arts.

ECON 191, 192, 291, 292, 391, 392, 491, 492 Independent Study

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Liberal Arts.

ECON 210 Principles of Microeconomics

3-F

Scarcity; economic method; demand and supply; elasticity; consumer and producer theory; models of product market structure; economic institutions; and selected topics on faith integration, economics and ethics, economic systems and perspectives, and public economics. Fulfills half of General Education Social Science requirement. Liberal Arts.

ECON 211 Principles of Macroeconomics

3-S

Circular flow of income and expenditure in a market economy with government, financial, and foreign sectors. Economic method, demand and supply, national income accounting, inflation, unemployment, business cycles, theories of aggregate price and output determination, fiscal and monetary policy, and the government budget. Fulfills half of General Education Social Science requirement. Liberal Arts.

ECON 212 International Economics

3-WSP

International trade, international finance, and government policies regarding trade and finance. Why nations trade, protectionist policies, multinationals, financing trade, exchange-rate determination, and international trade and finance in developing nations. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: ECON 210 and 211 or permission

ECON 213 American Economic History

2-WSP

History of U.S. economy up to the present with emphases on the European background, early settlements, British rule, costs and benefits of the Revolutionary War, economic aspects of the Constitution, the early national period, Northern industrialization versus Southern agriculture for export, slavery, costs and benefits of the Civil War, recovery, urbanization, immigration, industrialization, WWI, the '20s boom, the Great Depression, and WWII. Covers economic progress and crises in finance, trade, industry, agriculture, labor markets, land use, law, and government. Liberal Arts.

ECON 237 Comparative Economic Systems

2-WSP

Examination of alternative economic systems, comparing the U.S. economic system with other economies along the capitalist–socialist spectrum and describing the institutional bases for such comparisons. Liberal Arts.

Prerequisites: ECON 210 and 211 or permission

ECON 295, 395, 495 Special Topics

0–4-WSP

Group study of selected topics. Liberal Arts.

ECON 301 Money, Banking, & Financial Markets

3-S

Role of money and financial institutions in a market economy, interest rates, bond markets, money market, yield curve, risk premium, economic principles of bank management, financial regulation, Federal Reserve System and its influence on banking system, money supply, and economy. Liberal Arts.

Prerequisites: ECON 210, 211

ECON 310 Intermediate Microeconomics

1,2-WSP

Short introduction to primary models of consumer and producer behavior, especially indifference analysis of budget optimization and isocost–isoquant analysis of production. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: ECON 210

ECON 311 Intermediate Macroeconomics

1,2-WSP

Short introduction to primary models of macroeconomics, especially the IS-LM model, the consumption function, and the investment function. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: ECON 211

ECON 315 Economics of Organization and Strategy

2-WSP

Theories of the firm with applications to management and business ethics: the firm in competition and in the macro and international environments with emphasis on adapting to changing environments. Economics of business strategy explores industrial organization and competition with emphasis on sources of profitability, applications of game theory, and adapting organization to setting. Economics of organization compares forms, purposes and effectiveness, optimal allocation of decision-making, and effective application of incentives. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: ECON 210 or 211

ECON 322 Economic Research Seminar

1, 2 or 3-WSP

Research and writing course for students who wish to pursue further work in economics. Students must have had at least 2 hours of a previous economics course to take 1 hour of this seminar, at least 4 hours of previous coursework to take 2 hours of this seminar and at least 6 previous hours to take 3 hours of this seminar. Topics for study must be approved by the instructor. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: ECON 210 or 211

ECON 350 Economic Freedom

2-WSP

A study of the factors related to why some economies prosper while others struggle to meet the basic needs of their citizens. Common misconceptions and proposed solutions are explored in an effort to determine how to effectively address poverty around the world. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: ECON 210 or 211 or permission

ECON 401 Monetary Theory and Policy

1-WSP

Development of the U.S. monetary system and Federal Reserve System, money-creation process, financial regulation and deregulation, financial innovation, monetary effects on the macro economy, Federal Reserve policy (especially FOMC), and exchange rates. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: ECON 210, 211

EDUC 191, 192, 291, 292, 391, 392, 491, 492 Independent Study

2 or 4-WSP

EDUC 202 Topics in Professionalism

0-F&S

Pass/fail course designed to enable all Education majors to meet New York State regulations for training in special topics (Identification and Reporting of Suspected Child Abuse or Maltreatment; School Violence Prevention and Intervention; Prevention of Child Abduction; Prevention of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Other Drug Abuse; Safety Education; Instruction in Fire and Arson Prevention; and the Dignity for All Students Act). Provides information about certification, State testing requirements, and student teaching. Required before practicum experiences. This course is a prerequisite for 300-level courses in EDUC.

EDUC 203 Workshop: Child Abuse + ID

All HUTEF majors and applicants for certification must complete two hours of coursework or training in the identification and reporting of suspected child abuse and maltreatment, as required by Sections 3003(4) and 3004 of the Education Law. Upon completion of the workshop, each participant will receive a certificate of completion.

EDUC 204 Workshop: School Violence

All HUTEF majors and applicants for certification must complete two hours of coursework or training in school violence prevention and intervention, as required by Section 3004 of the Education Law. Upon completion of the workshop, each participant will receive a certificate of completion.

EDUC 205 Workshop: Harassment, Bullying, and Discrimination Prevention & Intervention & the Dignity for All Student Act (DASA)

All HUTEF majors and applicants for certification must complete six hours of coursework or training in topics pertaining to harassment, bullying, and discrimination prevention and intervention and the Dignity for All Students Act, as required by Section 14(5) of Chapter 102 of the New York State Education law.

EDUC 217 Foundations of Education

3-F&S

A survey of the philosophical and historical antecedents of American education and their relationships to current educational debates. Considers the influence of culture, heritage, and language on experience and education. Students analyze the role of education, consider the responsibilities of teachers, and develop an initial statement of their personal philosophy of education. Liberal Arts.

EDUC 219 Educational Psychology

3-F&S

In this introductory course—required for all UG Education and Music Education majors and minors, and MAT degrees—students explore the historical, philosophical, religious, and sociological foundations of American education and consider how these foundations influence contemporary educational theory and practice. The course also examines the professional aspects of teaching (including professional dispositions), the role of schools in society, the financing of public education, major trends and issues in the field, and the fundamentals of curriculum development.

A twenty-hour classroom field experience Required. Liberal Arts credit.

EDUC 221 Children's Literature

3-S

Offers a survey of various genres in literature for preschool and elementary children with an emphasis on developing criteria for selection and evaluation. Particular attention to international and multicultural children's literature, literary criticism as it pertains to children's literature, and developmental and philosophical perspectives. Liberal Arts.

EDUC 223 Adolescent Literature

3-F

Students read and analyze a variety of literature of interest to adolescents with an eye toward understanding adolescents and their place in society, developing criteria for evaluating adolescent literature, and exploring current trends in this literature. Students investigate critical theories about the function and purpose of literature for adolescents, including developmental, aesthetic, and cultural considerations. Attention to international and multicultural literature as well as literary criticism of young adult literature. Liberal Arts.

EDUC 230, 330, 430 Special Topics

2 or 4-WSP

Depending on interest, demand, and faculty availability, courses are offered to allow students to consider issues and aspects of educational theory and practice not fully explored elsewhere in the curriculum.

EDUC 235 Educating Students with Exceptional Learning Needs

3-F&S

Examines the historical and legal contexts for providing services to diverse learners with a range of special educational considerations. Explores the scope of exceptionalities and the processes used to identify and address special needs. Emphasis on the evidence-based practices and collaborative role of the general educator in meeting the needs of exceptional learners in inclusive settings. Liberal Arts. This course is a prerequisite for 300-level courses in EDUC.

EDUC 240 Teaching in Urban America

2-May

Provides exposure to and understanding of race, class, and culture issues in contemporary urban schools. Students develop awareness of family and community as partners with schools in the education enterprise. Students participate in a 10-day field experience in an urban school, working as teachers' assistants. Fulfills part of General Education Global

Competence requirement. This course is a prerequisite for 300-level courses in EDUC. NOTE: Starts early and includes weekends; check with Education advisor for specific schedule. Prerequisite: EDUC 202

EDUC 304 Language and Literacy Development in the Middle Grades

3-Summer

Examines the role of language in middle school curriculum (grades 5–9) from philosophical, cultural, and technological perspectives. Emphasis on the changing landscape of literacy and how to develop a culturally relevant learning environment that empowers student voices through multiple literacy genres in a digital era. Intended for EDUC juniors, seniors, and postgrads. According to New York State teacher certification requirements (8/2015), graduates who are granted an Initial Teaching Certificate from New York State and who complete 6 credits of middle-grades coursework with a C or better may be able to extend their teaching certificate to include the middle grades through the Individual Evaluation for Additional Classroom Teaching Certificate pathway. This course is restricted to Houghton University Education majors who have completed junior-level coursework in the major and graduates of Houghton’s Education program. Any other enrollees must receive permission from the instructor.

EDUC 305 Middle School Content-Area Learning Strategies

3-Summer

Examines a variety of research-validated content-area learning strategies, self-advocacy strategies, and process strategies for use in inclusive classrooms in the middle grades (grades 5–9). Students research, read, review, critique, and develop a variety of instructional strategies for use with middle-grade learners (with and without disabilities) across multiple content areas. According to New York State teacher certification requirements (8/2015), graduates granted an Initial Teaching Certificate from New York State who complete 6 credits of middle-grades coursework with a C or better may be able to extend their teaching certificate to include the middle grades through the Individual Evaluation for Additional Classroom Teaching Certificate pathway. This course is restricted to Houghton University Education majors who have completed junior-level coursework in the major and graduates of Houghton’s Education program. Any other enrollees must receive permission from the instructor.

EDUC 313 Language, Literacy, and Curriculum Integration for Diverse Learners

3-S

Childhood Education and SWD majors take this course concurrently with EDUC 314, 320, and 328. Adolescent Education and SWD majors take this course concurrently with EDUC 338.

EDUC 328 Foundations of Language and Literacy for Diverse Learners I

3-F
Introduces the nature of children's diverse language and literacy learning and the assessment and instruction of English language arts in inclusive classrooms. Considers the means of developing a learning environment that nurtures the language learning of all children. Students articulate a philosophy of teaching English language arts. Taken concurrently with EDUC 314, 320, and 325.

Prerequisites: EDUC 235 and 219 or permission

EDUC 329 Foundations of Language and Literacy for Diverse Learners II

3-S

Examines authentic assessment and instruction of English language arts in inclusive classrooms with particular focus on children with special needs, English language learners, and students from diverse cultures. Students focus on educational research. Taken concurrently with EDUC 315, 341, and 342. Prerequisite: EDUC 328

EDUC 331 Secondary Teaching: General Methods

2-S

Addresses a range of responsive pedagogical approaches and delivery methods designed to meet the learning needs of adolescent learners across the curriculum. Adolescent Education and SWD and Adolescence Education majors from all content areas take this course concurrently with the methods course in their subject area (EDUC 33X). Should be taken the year prior to student teaching. Prerequisite: EDUC 338

EDUC 332, 333, 334, 335, 336 Secondary Teaching: Methods

2-S

Adolescent Education and SWD majors and Adolescence Education majors from all content areas will take the methods course in their subject area (see list below) concurrently with EDUC 331. These courses should be taken the year prior to student teaching. Each course addresses content-specific pedagogy and planning, New York State Learning and Common Core Standards, and curricular issues. Students analyze classroom management, assessment strategies, and technology platforms and discuss ways to improve collaboration with school community members. Practicum placement with a secondary teacher certified in the target content area is part of the course. EDUC 332 English Methods, EDUC 333 Foreign Language

Methods, EDUC 334 Math Methods, EDUC 335 Science Methods, EDUC 336 Social Studies Methods. (Adolescent Education and SWD – Generalist majors will take one of these courses. EDUC 332 or 334 is encouraged.)

EDUC 338 Inclusive Curriculum & Assessment in Secondary Classrooms

4-F

Explores the development of middle/high school curriculum and assessment and the creation of learning environments that support diverse learners in inclusive settings. Includes an examination of New York State and Common Core Learning Standards, differentiated instruction and assessment practices, lesson and unit planning, and responsive approaches to classroom management with purposeful attention given to instructional technology. Prerequisites: EDUC 202, 219, 235, and 240 or permission

EDUC 341 Social Studies in Inclusive Classrooms

1-F, S

Focuses on the student building on fundamental skills learned in EQST 113 Horsemanship 1. Further develops the student’s ability to confidently ride at the walk, trot, canter on a variety of horses. One riding lab per week. Prerequisite: EQST 113 or permission. This course has a fee.

EQST 214 Horsemanship Through the Disciplines
2-F&S

Building on fundamental skills and expanding knowledge of hunt seat, dressage, and/or western riding. This is the base riding course for the Equine Management degree program and provides a solid foundation for students to progress into discipline specific courses. One riding lab per week. Prerequisite: EQST 113, 201, or permission. This course has a fee.

EQST 222 Equestrian Pedagogy Methods
2-S

Using the Certified Horsemanship Association (CHA) standards and materials, students are instructed on safety, lesson planning, and lesson implementation to become certified riding instructors in both English and western disciplines. One riding lab per week. Lab fees required. Prerequisite: EQST 276 or permission. This course has a fee.

EQST 224 CHA Riding Instructor Certification
1-May

Students work toward gaining their CHA riding instructor certification in English and/or western disciplines. May obtain CHA levels 1–4 riding instructor certifications. Prerequisites: EQST 222 or permission.

EQST 225 Jumping I
2-F&S

Fundamentals of basic jumping position and introduction to correctly navigating a course. Philosophy of the hunt seat system of riding. One riding lab per week. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: EQST 201, 214, 276, or permission. Fulfills General Education Wellness requirement.

EQST 226 Foundations of Equine-Assisted Therapies

2-S25

Provides a basic understanding of the field of equine-assisted therapies and an appreciation for the history, philosophy, principles, populations, prescriptions, and practices of equine-assisted therapies and activities as a professional service. Identifies and explains the symptoms, causes, and functioning characteristics of individuals with special needs and the effects on individuals of the practical application of equine-assisted therapies and services. Focus on the standards and certification exams of the PATH International Riding Instructor Certification Program.

EQST 230 Principles of Western Riding

2-F

Philosophy and techniques of western riding. Students study various topics related to the western discipline and develop the skill needed to perform western riding patterns and prepare for western competitions. One riding lab per week. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: EQST 201, 214, 276, or permission. Fulfills General Education Wellness requirement.

EQST 231 Equine Facility Management I

2-S25

Focuses on principles of horse management, equestrian competition, and equine programming. Students have the opportunity to obtain a certification through CHA's Equine Facility Manager Program. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: EQST 113 or instructor permission.

EQST 238 Equine Science I

2-S25

Provides a systematic approach to basic equine anatomy and physiology and highlights important disease processes. Essential for any equine professional or educated hobbyist. Highlights current equine medical points of interest or disease outbreaks and gives students a basis to select and communicate with qualified equine medical professionals. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: EQST 113 or permission.

EQST 276 Dressage

2-F&S

Philosophical and physiological building blocks of dressage leading to mastery of Training Level and introduction to First-Level dressage; lays the necessary foundation for effective horsemanship in all higher-level disciplines. One riding lab per week. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: EQST 201, 214, or permission. Fulfills General Education Wellness requirement.

EQST 295, 395, 495 Special Topics

2 or 3-WSP

May be taught regarding special topics in horsemanship, such as riding for the disabled, CHA trail guide certification, CHA instructor of riders with disabilities certification, and western reining. One riding lab per week. This course has a fee.

EQST 323 Eventing

2-F

History and philosophy of the sport of eventing, current rules, and riding techniques (three-phase horse trials – includes fundamentals of dressage, cross-country galloping and jumping, and stadium jumping techniques). Meets two weeks prior to the start of the semester. This course has a fee. Prerequisites: EQST 225, 276, and 326, or permission. Fulfills General Education Wellness requirement.

EQST 326 Jumping II

2-S

Building skills, refining techniques, and expanding technical knowledge learned in EQST 225. One riding lab per week. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: EQST 225 or permission. Fulfills General Education Wellness requirement.

EQST 328 Horse Show Judging

2-WSP

Lectures and field trips incorporating judging assignments for learners, understanding the duties of the judge, and using good judging to educate riders. This course has a fee.

Prerequisites: EQST 225 and 276, or permission.

EQST 331 Equine Facility Management II
2-S26

In-depth look at the principles learned in EQST 231. Students prepare for a career in the equine industry by obtaining practical knowledge through hands-on experiences, projects, and individualized assignments. This course has a fee. Prerequisites: EQST 231 or permission.

EQST 334 Competition Dressage
2-F&S

Builds on the foundation laid in EQST 276 and guides students into the next levels as they work toward the EFI levels of dressage. Students develop greater accuracy of their aids and more body control as they progress in their riding. One riding lab per week. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: EQST 276 or permission. Fulfills General Education Wellness requirement.

EQST 336 Methods and Materials of Equine-Assisted Therapies
2-S26

Provides opportunities to acquire skills in the field of equine-assisted therapies including assessing clients, developing treatment plans, conducting activity analysis, implementing activities, and evaluating outcomes of equine programs for individuals with special needs. Focus on the standards and certification exams of the PATH International Riding Instructor Certification Program. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: EQST 226 or permission.

EQST 337 Adventure Trails Riding and Guiding
2-WSP

Students build skills and knowledge by researching potential trail-riding sites, training horses for trail riding, and guiding clients on trail rides. Involves multiple off-campus field trips. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: EQST 276. Fulfills General Education Wellness requirement.

EQST 338 Equine Science II

2-S26

Expands on skills, knowledge, and techniques learned in EQST 238 pertaining to equine anatomy, physiology, health, disease, and wellness practices. This course has a fee.

Prerequisite: EQST 238 or permission.

EQST 421 Advanced Dressage

2-F&S

Builds on knowledge and skills developed in EQST 334. Students continue to work toward the FEI levels of dressage as they build a deeper understanding of their aids and how to effectively communicate with the horse. Builds to create a solid and deep understanding of classical dressage. One riding lab per week. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: EQST 334 or permission. Fulfills General Education Wellness requirement.

EQST 424 Principles of Training

3-F

Foundations of training young horses and retraining problem horses. Students work with the actual training of a young horse, utilizing classical principles, philosophy, and methodology. Meets one week prior to the start of the semester. This course has a fee. Requires instructor permission.

EQST 427 Mini-Prix Jumping Equitation

2-F

Riding jumper seat equitation and showing hunters and jumpers; learning principles, practices, and philosophy of course design for the various classes and competitions for jumpers. One riding lab per week. Lab fees required. Prerequisite: EQST 326 or permission. Fulfills General Education Wellness requirement.

EQST 429 Equine Nutrition

1-S25

Discusses equine nutrition and gives students practical knowledge and skills needed to develop and maintain a healthy nutrition program for the horses in their care. Covers a variety of topics including basics of equine nutrition, supplementation, and balancing horse-feeding plans. One riding lab per week.

This course has a fee. Prerequisite: EQST 238 or permission.

EQST 430 Equine Lameness Identification
1-S25

Teaches students to recognize gait abnormalities, lameness, and hoof-related issues in the horse. Students learn how to identify lameness using physical examination and gait evaluation. This course has a fee.

Prerequisite: EQST 238 or permission.

EXS 275 Injury Evaluation & Management
3-S26

Introduces core concepts related to the prevention, assessment, and management of common extremity, pelvic, and trunk injuries. Underlying anatomical and biomechanical factors contributing to these injuries are emphasized. Students learn foundational techniques related to history-taking and physical examination including observation and palpation of musculoskeletal structures along with special tests to assess range of motion, neuromuscular integrity, functional capacity, and postural abnormalities. In addition, students study the philosophy behind treatment interventions and acquire practical skills in taping, wrapping, padding, and bracing. This course has a fee.

EXS 277 Therapeutic Exercise & Rehabilitation
3-S27

Mechanisms, signs, symptoms, and immediate and long-term rehabilitation procedures for injuries affecting extremities and axial skeleton. Rehabilitation procedures focus on range-of-motion activities, joint mobilization, open vs. closed kinetic chain activities, therapeutic exercises, and equipment. Promotes understanding of the indications, contraindications, applications, and physiological effects of various therapeutic modalities and manual techniques used in rehabilitation of injuries. This course has a fee.

EXS 345 Exercise Physiology

4-F25

Analysis of the physiological changes that occur in the body during exercise, after exercise, and during a training period. Fulfills General Education Wellness requirement. This course has a fee. Prerequisite(s): BIOL 217 and 218 or permission

EXS 347 Kinesiology

4-F26

Analysis of the musculoskeletal system and its interrelationship with human movement. This course has a fee. Prerequisites: BIOL 217, 218 or instructor permission. Liberal Arts.

EXS 352 Pre-Physical Therapy Field Experience I

2-F

Mastery of competencies in injury prevention, recognition, and assessment; taping and bracing techniques; understanding of the lower extremity; and medical documentation.

Requires 25 hours of observation in each of three settings – orthopedics, pediatrics, and geriatrics – with an additional 25 hours assisting with rehabilitation in the Houghton University training room. (Hours logged prior to taking this class may count with instructor's preapproval.) Pre-PT majors only.

Prerequisite(s): EXS 275, 277; EXS 277 can also be taken concurrently.

EXS 353 Pre-Physical Therapy Field Experience II

2-S

Mastery of competencies in injury prevention, recognition, and assessment; taping and bracing techniques; understanding of the back and upper extremity; and developing rehabilitation programs. Requires 25 hours of observation in each of three settings – orthopedics, cardiac, and neural rehabilitation – with an additional 25 hours assisting with rehabilitation in the Houghton University training room. (Hours logged prior to taking this class may count with instructor's preapproval.) Pre-PT majors only.

Pre/Corequisite: EXS 277; prerequisite: EXS 275.

EXS 354 Exercise Science Practicum I

2-F, S

Professional field experience through practical experience in the area of emphasis within the Exercise Science and/or Sport, Recreation, and Wellness majors. A minimum of 50 work hours is required. Must be taken in order (hours logged prior to taking this class may count with instructor's preapproval.) Prerequisites: BIOL 217, 218; SRWM 475 (can also be taken concurrently); and instructor permission.

EXS 355 Exercise Science Practicum II

2-F, S

Professional field experience through practical experience in the area of emphasis within the Exercise Science and/or Sport, Recreation, and Wellness majors. A minimum of 50 work hours is required. Must be taken in order (hours logged prior to taking this class may count with instructor's preapproval.) Prerequisites: BIOL 217, 218; SRWM 475 (can also be taken concurrently); and instructor permission.

HIST 337 The Soviet Union and Beyond

3-WSP

Survey of Russian/Soviet history from 1917 to 2012. Particular attention to the question of what socialism is and how it was imagined, constructed, and lived by Soviet people during the 70+ years of the Soviet experiment. Topics include the Russian Revolution, Stalinism, the Gulag, WWII, the Cold War, everyday life in the USSR, and dissidence. Liberal Arts.

HIST 348 Vienna 1900: Politico-Cultural Crisis and Creativity

3-WSP

Studies the late 19th-century crisis of faith and reason in turn-of-the-century Vienna, where the Habsburg Empire was crumbling under the pressure of ethnic and national rivalries and competing political ideologies. Across cultural realms – political, literary, philosophical, artistic, musical, architectural, scientific – a remarkable outburst of creativity by a group of first-rate writers, artists, and thinkers reveals the surface refinement and elegance as well as the subterranean turmoil and decay that mark the fin de siècle period. Liberal Arts.

HIST 359 Colonial America, 1600–1763

3-WSP

A seminar-style course focused on the cultural, religious, and intellectual sources of American identity. Details the foundations of this identity in the Puritan, Planter, Quaker, African, and Backcountry migrations to British America. Major themes include the migrants' competing concepts of liberty, power, and community; colonial conflicts with the indigenous population; and the creation of an American culture as the colonists sought to assert their status as Britons against rising imperial power. Liberal Arts.

HIST 360 Early American Republic, 1763–1848

3-WSP

A seminar-style exploration of the American Revolution and Early National period, organized around several broad questions: Why was the American Revolution fought? How did it fundamentally shape the American character? What did the Constitution accomplish? How did revivalism, slavery, democracy, industrialization, and westward expansion shape the new republic? Careful examination of key monographs and primary sources. Liberal Arts.

HIST 361 Civil War and Industrial America, 1848–1918

3-WSP

Begins with antebellum sectionalism followed by a deep analysis of the military, social, political, and economic aspects of the Civil War and Reconstruction. Examines the impact of the Industrial Revolution, Social Darwinism, Populism, Victorian culture, and theories of race and empire on American identity. Concludes by examining the Progressive search for order as the most influential period in American political history after the Founding. Liberal Arts.

HIST 362 Recent American History, 1918 to Present

3-WSP

Exploration of modern America from World War I to the present, emphasizing the political, economic, diplomatic, and social aspects of the period. Topics include the Great Depression, World War II, origins of the Cold War, the civil rights struggle, the women's movement, student revolts, Vietnam, Watergate, the end of the Cold War, the impact of 9/11, and globalization. Liberal Arts.

HIST 369 Luther and the German Reformation

3-WSP

Studies the social and political thought of Martin Luther in the context of the history and theology of the German Reformation. Topics include the doctrine of the Two Kingdoms, the relationship between church and state, the duties of a citizen, social reform (marriage, education, poor relief), and political revolution (the Peasants' War), all situated within Luther's life and times. Liberal Arts.

HIST 370 Evangelical Roots

3-WSP

Examines Evangelicalism from its roots in the 17th-century Reformation to the present, especially in Britain and America, where most of the movements originated and developed. Themes include the Great Awakenings, the debate over slavery and abolition, the Social Gospel, Fundamentalism, and the importance of trans-denominational networks in the 20th century. Close attention paid to developments outside the Anglophone West, especially in recent decades, when African, Asian, and Latin American churches have become leaders in the global church. Liberal Arts.

HIST 376 Manzanar: Race, Citizenship, and War

3-WSP

Interdisciplinary exploration of race and American citizenship in war time through a focus on Manzanar, one of the Japanese internment camps during WWII. Looks at the historical and political background to the internment and considers the Supreme Court's famous Korematsu decision in context. Then moves from legal materials to consider the treatments of Manzanar in memoir, literature, and photographic series by Ansel Adams and Dorothea Lange. Special focus on constructions of American belonging as they appear in historical, political, and cultural contexts. Liberal Arts.

HIST 381 Historiography

3-WSP

History of historical writings and methods; theories of history. Liberal Arts.

HIST 441 Genocides of the 20th Century

3-WSP

In-depth examination of four cases of genocide from four different continents in the 20th century, comparing and contrasting them to probe broader questions about modernity, state violence, ideology, collaboration, the politics of memory, and the relative merits and difficulties of prosecuting perpetrators of genocide. Special attention to learning how to work with a variety of historical sources and the challenges historians face when studying genocides. Liberal Arts.

HIST 455 American Constitutional History

3-WSP

Survey of United States constitutional history from its origins to the present. Emphasis on the constitutional system as a whole rather than constitutional law as developed by the Supreme Court. Examines the origins and general principles of constitutional thought, their elaboration in the Founding, and their development through crises over state rights and union in the 19th century, the Civil War amendments, liberty of contract, New Deal intervention, the developing doctrine of civil rights and civil liberties, and the growth of the administrative state. Liberal Arts.

HIST 480 Senior Capstone: Senior History Seminar

3-WSP

Capstone course for History and Political Science majors. Integration of concepts, knowledge, and methods from previous major coursework. Students improve research, writing, analytical, and communication skills by writing, revising, and defending in an oral examination a substantial research project based on original research in primary and secondary sources and similar in quality to what would be expected in a first semester of graduate study. Liberal Arts.

HIST 496 Honors in History

3-WSP

Liberal Arts.

HUM 101 Enduring Questions: The Ancient and Medieval World

3-F

Chronological survey of literary, philosophical, and other texts in historical context from the earliest civilizations to 1450. Swiss neutrality, federalism, and direct democracy; the country's relation to the European Union; and its experience with immigration. Special attention to similarities and differences between Switzerland and the United States. Fulfills part of General Education Global Competence requirement. Liberal Arts.

HUM 348 Vienna 1900: Politico-Cultural Crisis and Creativity

3-WSP

Studies the late 19th-century crisis of faith and reason in turn-of-the-century Vienna, where the Habsburg Empire was crumbling under the pressure of ethnic and national rivalries and competing political ideologies. Across cultural realms – political, literary, philosophical, artistic, musical, architectural, scientific – a remarkable outburst of creativity by a group of first-rate writers, artists, and thinkers reveals the surface refinement and elegance as well as the subterranean turmoil and decay that mark the fin de siècle period. Liberal Arts.

HUM 351 Translation Workshop

1-F&S

Brief introduction to translation studies, a growing field in today's globalized world. Students reflect on the nature of translation and associated problems. Students must have sufficient command of a language other than English to prepare a 2–5-page translation of a text from that language. Most of the semester is devoted to workshopping these student translations with a concluding reflection paper on the process. Enrollment limit: 12 students. Beneficial for any student wishing to hone language and translation skills, whether for educational or professional purposes. May be repeated multiple times. Liberal Arts.

HUM 362 Loyalty

3-WSP

Careful consideration of the meaning, origin, objects, and limits of loyalty with special attention to its political manifestations. Draws on a wide range of philosophical, political, legal, theological, and literary sources. Liberal Arts.

HUM 367 Living Like a Narnian: The Social and Ethical Thought of C. S. Lewis

3-WSP

In-depth study of the social, ethical, and political thought of C. S. Lewis, one of the 20th century's most influential Christian thinkers. Extensive reading in the works of Lewis, drawn evenly from his fiction and nonfiction writings. Topics include theories of history and the nature of modernity, war and peace, equality, gender and the family, education, political rule, democracy, and technology and scientific progress. Liberal Arts.

HUM 376 Manzanar: Race, Citizenship, and War3-WSP

Interdisciplinary exploration of race and American citizenship in war-time through a focus on Manzanar, one of the Japanese internment camps during WWII. Looks at the historical and political background to the internment and considers the Supreme Court's famous Korematsu decision in context. Then moves from legal materials to consider the treatments of Manzanar in memoir, literature, and photographic series by Ansel Adams and Dorothea Lange. Special focus on constructions of American belonging as they appear in historical, political, and cultural contexts. Liberal Arts.

HUM 382 Around the World: Reading Across Borders1-WSP

"Around the World" is a Friday morning breakfast book club focusing on world literature and sponsored by the Center for the Global Humanities. Once a week, fifteen students will meet – together with an online audience of interested faculty, staff, students, community members, or alumni – to discuss world literature in English translation. Students will read about three books per semester and write a paper on the semester's readings. Liberal Arts.

HUM 395 Special Topics

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Liberal Arts.

HUM 425 The Great Books

1-WSP

The purpose of this seminar is for students to engage classic texts and authors they might otherwise not encounter in their normal coursework; often, the texts chosen are lengthy ones that would otherwise be excerpted or simply skipped in favor of more compact readings. The reading differs each time the course is offered, so it may be taken multiple times. Liberal Arts.

HUM 481 Senior Capstone: Humanities Project2-F&S

Students write a 5000-word paper based on a proposal approved by the Dean of Religion, Humanities, and Global Studies that builds upon previous major coursework and incorporates at least two humanities disciplines. Papers demonstrate integration of approaches within the humanities and are read by a pair of faculty from different disciplines. Liberal Arts.

ID 200 Student Success Seminar (Pass/Fail) (Houghton Online)1-F&S, Summer

Students learn and apply strategies for success in college and lifelong learning. Major topics include setting academic, career, and personal goals; stress management; time management; critical thinking and problem-solving; learning styles; and best practices. Also introduces students to Houghton University, our online platform, and program policies and procedures.

IDEV 220 Introduction to Public Health3-S26

Introduces students to the principles and practices of public health in a global context. The focus of public health is on the prevention of disease, disability, and death among populations in contrast to (but in conjunction with) the biomedical treatment of individuals. Students are introduced to the core disciplines of public health and their application for improving the health of populations. Using a holistic definition of health, students gain an understanding of the determinants of healthy individuals and populations. Students are introduced to key actors in public health and address public health issues in both high- and low-income countries.

IDEV 312 Field Experience in Development

2–4-F&S, May, Summer

A field experience in an approved setting in the area of International Development. The experience culminates in an analysis of the development work experienced in relation to its cultural context. This experience may be linked to formal study-abroad programs, official internship affiliation, or pre-approved individual arrangements. Note: Please consult with the History, Politics & Philosophy, and Global Studies Department regarding requirements for this course before planning an experience. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: INCL 210.

IDEV 482 Senior Capstone: International Development Seminar

3-F

Students engage in a semester-long research project related to their major. The program faculty team up to guide the students through the research process, presentations, and paper writing. INCL and IDEV majors meet together. Fulfills General Education Writing-Enriched course requirement. Liberal Arts.

IDEV 484 Integrative Senior Seminar

4 or 6-F

Senior Seminar for the INCL major and the companion major. In cooperation with the advisor of each major, the student develops one research project that meets the requirements for each major. Fulfills General Education Writing-Enriched course requirement. Liberal Arts.

INCL 210 Intercultural Competencies

3-F25

Explores the knowledge, attitudes, and skills for transitioning into, adapting to, and working and functioning successfully in an intercultural/multicultural context. Provides the student with a foundation for developing global competence: understanding culture from more than one's own perspective. Fulfills part of General Education Global Competence requirement. Required for INCL 311/IDEV 312. Liberal Arts.

INCL 211 Intercultural Transition and Adjustment

1-F

Using the transition model for adjusting to another culture, the student is prepared to move into and adjust to as well as gain a basic understanding of another culture. Cross-cultural communication, cross-cultural conflict, and cultural values are examined as they relate to living and working in another culture. Required for Spanish and French majors (may take INCL 210) and encouraged for any student going on a study-abroad experience. Usually offered as a part of INCL 210 or may be offered by itself in Mayterm. Liberal Arts.

INCL 225 Intercultural Communications

3-F25

Explores theory and practice of communicating interculturally. Recommended for those with an interest in international vocations or working with ethnic or cultural groups within the United States. Fulfills part of General Education Global Competence requirement. Liberal Arts.

INCL 311 Intercultural Experience

0–4-F&S, May, Summer

An intercultural experience in an approved setting related to a student's concentration or field of interest. The experience culminates in an analysis of the cultural context and the sojourner's experience. This experience may be linked to formal study abroad programs, official internship affiliation, or pre-approved individual arrangements. Note: Please consult the Department of History, Politics & Philosophy, and Global Studies before planning your experience. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: INCL 210

INCL 343 Multicultural Teams and Leadership

3-F25

Students engage with concepts from various disciplines applied to being part of a multicultural team both in the States and internationally. These concepts are framed within the biblical principle of servant-leadership. Concepts studied include cultural frameworks and other researched concepts helpful for understanding how to be part of a multicultural team and to understand differences and similarities relating to leadership across cultures. Fulfills part of General Education Global Competence requirement. Liberal Arts.

INCL 482 Senior Capstone: Intercultural Seminar

3-F

Students engage in a semester-long research project related to their major. The program faculty team up to guide the students through the research process, presentations, and paper writing. INCL and IDEV majors meet together. Fulfills General Education Writing-Enriched course requirement. Liberal Arts.

INDS 321 Honors Seminar

1-F&S

Topical seminars open to students who have completed one of Houghton's first-year honors curricula and to other students with excellent grades by invitation. Weekly discussion of readings or other primary sources culminating in a substantial paper. Successful completion of three honors seminars is recognized on a student's transcript by the words "Honors Seminar sequence completed." Liberal Arts.

INDS 482 Senior Capstone: Interdisciplinary Studies

1–4-WSP

Incorporates both (or all) areas of approved Interdisciplinary Studies major and provides senior capstone experience.

INTS 150 Science Honors Seminar

3-F

Introductory overview of the topic for Science Honors, which focuses on a scientific question of societal importance. Reserved for first-year Science Honors students. Liberal Arts.

INTS 154 Science Honors I

3-S

Insights drawn from the disciplines of biology, chemistry, physics, writing, and communication are applied to understanding and communicating about a scientific question of societal importance and working toward solutions. Classroom activities, which include lectures, laboratory experiments, writing, and speaking, are motivated by the students' need for the specific information and skills required to reach solutions. Reserved for first-year Science Honors students. Together with INTS 155, fulfills General Education Natural Science requirement. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee.

INTS 155 Science Honors II

4-M

Insights drawn from the disciplines of biology, chemistry, physics, writing, and communication are applied to understanding and communicating about a scientific question of societal importance and working toward solutions. Classroom activities, which include lectures, laboratory experiments, writing, and speaking, are motivated by the students' need for the specific information and skills required to reach solutions. Reserved for first-year Science Honors students. Together with INTS 154, fulfills General Education Natural Science requirement. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisites: MATH 181 (or MATH 170/171 or 161), INTS 154

INTS 167 Imagining Wholeness: Psychology and Literature

4-WSP

Examines descriptions of the fragmentation of modern and postmodern life in psychology and literature along with prescriptions for restoring wholeness, order, and meaning. Connections to art, religion, and drama include a visit to New York City. Lectures combine with seminar discussion and small-group tutorials. Liberal Arts.

INTS 170 London Honors Proseminar

3-F

Preparation for the honors semester in London. Establishes ancient and medieval background for the era to be studied in London (1450–present) through exposure to classic texts and artifacts. Pass/Fail. Liberal Arts.

INTS 171 Honors in London

16-S26

An interdisciplinary examination of the development of Western modernity from 1450 forward with some attention to West/non-West interactions, enriched by the resources of London. In combination with INTS 170 (London Honors Proseminar), fulfills General Education requirements: THEL 209, WRIT 101, Writing-Enriched course, Integrated Humanities, half of the Social Science requirement, Art & Music, and half of the Global Competence requirement. Liberal Arts.

INTS 180 Science Honors Humanities I

4-F

A chronological survey of literary, philosophical, and other texts in historical context from the earliest civilizations to 1600 with particular emphasis on the interaction of scientific ideas with wider cultural developments. Emphasis on the development of Western civilization with comparative attention to non-Western sources and contexts.

INTS 181 Science Honors Humanities II

4-S

A chronological survey of literary, philosophical, and other texts in historical context from 1600 to the present with particular emphasis on the interaction of scientific ideas with wider cultural developments. Emphasis on the development of Western civilization with comparative attention to non-Western sources and contexts.

INTS 203 Literature and Wisdom

6-F/S

Critical analysis of the contours of a world- and life-view combined with an introduction to the Western literary heritage and a detailed critical analysis of perennial and foundational issues in epistemology (the nature of truth and knowledge), metaphysics (the nature of reality: persons, the world, and God), and ethics. Includes works of poetry, drama, and fiction as well as philosophical texts from the classical to the postmodern eras. Liberal Arts.

INTS 235 Interpreting the Environment: Trail Development

2, 3, or 4-F&S

Principles, processes, and techniques used to interpret the environment and develop interpretive materials, centers, and trails. Through service-learning, students develop interpretive, recreational, meditative, exercise, or other trails to complement their major program or General Education. One hour of lecture; three, four and a half, or six hours of applied (depending on credit hours chosen: three applied hours for 2 credits, four and a half for 3 credits, and six for 4 credits). Applied hours include research and preparation of interpretive presentations as well as trail development, as appropriate.

INTS 275 Engaging Urban Culture

1-F&S

Students explore some aspects of urban culture. Meetings are held every other week in a setting outside of the classroom. Provides academic structure for engagement that helps students experience, explore, and understand the complex diversity of Buffalo and fosters reflection on our place in a diverse world. Events are planned that explore features of urban culture, such as history, architecture, music, the visual and dramatic arts, and other aspects of Buffalo and its subcultures. A lab or activity fee may be charged. Liberal Arts.

INTS 402 Transitions 402: Thriving Beyond Houghton

0,1-F, S

Seniors explore essential skills to successfully transition to post-college life. Students develop a greater understanding of the foundations of the Christian faith and God's redemptive work and their place within his mission. Exploring Christian perspectives of work, community, church and civic engagement, students develop life skills and practical tools to become decision-makers, creative problem-solvers, and team workers for service and leadership in the home, workplace, church, and community in a global 21st-century world. Course includes an optional one-week experiential learning trip. The optional trip has a fee.

LATN 101 Beginning Latin 1

3-Online-WSP

Elements of the Latin language, including some basic forms, syntax, and vocabulary. Emphasis on elements of Latin that are relevant to contemporary culture. Liberal Arts.

LEDU 500 Foundations of Language and Literacy for Diverse Learners

3-F

Examines the nature of students' diverse language and literacy learning and the assessment and instruction of English language arts in inclusive classrooms. Considers the means of developing a learning environment that nurtures the language learning of all students with emphasis on students from diverse cultures as well as those with learning differences and/or learning English as a new language. Teachers are expected to establish a research-focused lens as they engage in reviewing current literacy research and complete a case study on an exceptional learner. Fieldwork required weekly or according to a schedule established by the instructor.

LEDU 506 Early Childhood Education: Language and Literacy Development

3-Summer

Focuses on research-based principles and practices for language and literacy development of children birth to second grade (B–2). Emphasis on understanding the processes by which young children learn spoken and written language and designing appropriate learning experiences to support the development of language and literacy in young children. According to New York State teacher certification requirements (8/2015), graduates granted an Initial Teaching Certificate from New York State who complete 6 credits of early childhood coursework with a C or better may be able to extend their teaching certificate to include B–2 through the Individual Evaluation for Additional Classroom Teaching Certificate pathway. Restricted to Houghton University Childhood Ed. and SWD majors who have completed junior-level coursework, Childhood Ed. and SWD graduates, and matriculated students in the Houghton graduate literacy program. Any other enrollees must receive permission from the instructor.

LEDU 507 Early Childhood Education: Developmentally Responsive Instruction Across the Curriculum

3-Summer

Examines the cognitive and social development of children B–2 and explores a range of developmentally responsive pedagogies that help young children to grow, learn and develop through meaningful, integrated, interdisciplinary learning experiences.

Intended for Education major juniors, seniors, and postgrads. According to New York State teacher certification requirements (8/2015), graduates granted an Initial Teaching Certificate from New York State who complete 6 credits of early childhood coursework with a C or better may be able to extend their teaching certificate to include B–2 through the Individual Evaluation for Additional Classroom Teaching Certificate pathway. Restricted to Houghton University Education majors who have completed junior-level coursework in the major and graduates of Houghton’s Education program. Any other enrollees must receive permission from the instructor.

LEDU 510 Multiple Literacies Across the Content Areas

3-S

Immerses B–12 teachers in reading, writing, listening, and speaking across the content areas using multiple literacies. Grounded in multimodality, semiotics, and new literacy theories, teachers wrestle with purposeful uses of technology that empowers motivating and creative literacy teaching and learning across the content areas (B–12). Discusses the concept of text broadly with attention to multimodal texts, multicultural literature, and popular media. Explores planning for literacy integration across content areas for B–12 inclusive learning contexts. Attends to developmentally appropriate instructional methods, standards, assessments, and reflection.

LEDU 512 Culturally Responsive and Dialogic Pedagogy

3-F

Critically examines current research and theory that afford understanding and responsiveness to students’ cultural and learning differences. Considers students’ sociocultural, cognitive, and motivational influences on literacy acquisition and learning. Explores culture, discourse, narrative, and power in diverse B–12 educational contexts. Investigates the power afforded to students and teachers alike when they are positioned as meaning-makers and participants in their learning. Both in- and out-of-class activities are designed to provide students with authentic occasions to apply their theoretical learning and develop their professional learning network. Fieldwork required weekly or according to a schedule established by the instructor.

LEDU 514 Foundations of Learning Theory & Inquiry

3-S

Explores learning and teaching as active, social, and interactive processes. Considers inclusive application of historical and current research and theory around inquiry-based learning and teaching. Engages teachers to further develop their own questions that will facilitate their ongoing inquiry about the content and processes they teach, the methods they use, and the transactions that occur as they teach and learn from their diverse B–12 students. Both in- and out-of-class activities are designed to provide students with authentic occasions to apply their theoretical learning and develop their professional learning network. Fieldwork required weekly or according to a schedule established by the instructor.

LEDU 516 Collaboration & Communication Across Diverse Learning Contexts

3-F

Reviews major theories that help explain human communication behavior and considers the applications of these theories in daily interactions in B–12 educational contexts. Explores effective practices for designing sustainable co-teaching and collaborative partnerships across the diverse learning contexts in today's B–12 classrooms. Immerses candidates in working together across grade levels as well as content areas to support diverse learners through collaborative planning, differentiated instruction, and assessment practices as well as mindful classroom management. Both in- and out-of-class activities are designed to provide students with authentic occasions to apply their theoretical learning and develop their professional learning network. Requires two synchronous meetings. Fieldwork required weekly or according to a schedule established by the instructor.

LEDU 518 Rural Literacies: Empowering Rural Voices

3-S

Extends the current understandings of rurality while examining theory, pedagogy, and practices specific to multiple rural contexts. Investigates the impact of rural contexts' diverse geography and sociocultural and socioeconomic norms on rural schools and communities. Considers how rural educators (B–12) can work against marginalizing discourses around rural ways of living while communicating to rural students the value of their roots, which are part of their identity. Explores place-based pedagogy while engaging in dialogue with the views and voices of rural schools and communities.

LEDU 520 Educational Research 1: Teachers as Researchers

3-F

Introduces qualitative research methods in the field of education. Examines the conceptual roots, assumptions, and methodologies of qualitative research both by itself and in relation to quantitative approaches. Locates our work in B–12 educational settings, which will provide teachers with authentic approaches to integrate research into their everyday practices. Immerses teachers as researchers in their classrooms. Semester-long research project will be the grounding assignment that parallels and applies class readings and discussions. Both in- and out-of-class activities are designed to provide students with authentic occasions to apply their theoretical learning and develop their professional learning network. Fieldwork required weekly or according to a schedule established by the instructor.

LEDU 524 Educational Research 2: Cultivating & Sustaining Professional Communities of Practice

3-S

Prepares B–12 literacy specialists to manage the multifaceted responsibilities they carry as coaches for teachers in their ongoing professional development and to use data to inform their planning and implementation of school-wide appropriate faculty-development activities. Examines various possibilities for collaboration with students, parents, and other educators in the organization, development, implementation, and improvement of literacy curricula that are responsive to students' diverse needs. Examines organizational and administrative issues at various levels (e.g., societal and federal, district, school, and classroom). Considers how cultivating and sustaining professional communities of practice in and across the diverse teaching contexts in the U.S. can do all of this and more. Semester-long research project will be the grounding assignment that parallels and applies class readings and discussions. Both in- and out-of-class activities are designed to provide students with authentic occasions to apply their theoretical learning and develop their professional learning network. Fieldwork required weekly or according to a schedule established by the instructor. Prerequisite: LEDU 520. Corequisite: LEDU 522 or 526.

LEDU 522 Literacy Specialist Internship: Secondary (5–12)

3-F/S

Immerses candidates in working with diverse learners (5–12) who need support in their language and literacy development and learning for at least 100 hours. Includes opportunities to explore and refine skills needed in the different roles and responsibilities as literacy specialists. Requires self-reflection and provides opportunities for feedback from peers and University mentors. Should be taken in the semesters immediately preceding EDUC 550. Corequisite: LEDU 520 or 524.

LEDU 526 Literacy Specialist Internship: Elementary (B–6)

3-F/S

Immerses candidates in working with diverse learners (B–6) who need support in their language and literacy development and learning for at least 100 hours. Includes opportunities to explore and refine skills needed in the different roles and responsibilities as literacy specialists. Requires self-reflection and provides opportunities for feedback from peers and University mentors. Should be taken in the semesters immediately preceding EDUC 550. Corequisite: LEDU 520 or 524.

LEDU 550 Capstone Seminar: Critical Reflective Literacy Pedagogy

3-Summer

Further expands teachers' knowledge of seminal studies in the area of literacy research, both qualitative and quantitative. Examines current trends and issues in literacy education. Facilitates teachers' interpretations and evaluations of research as critical and knowledgeable readers. Immerses teachers in the processes needed for writing and re-presenting their findings from their action research project. Culminates in presentation and publication of research thesis. Three (one/month) synchronous meetings required.

LING 101 Arabic Language

4-WSP

Arabic is spoken in various regional dialects throughout the Arab world. This class introduces Modern Standard Arabic (MSA), the commonly understood language used in all media and in the academic and intellectual community. While not the "street language" of any particular country, MSA provides an excellent grounding towards fluency in any dialect in the Arab world. Those wishing to go further will be directed to an intensive Arabic program within the Arab world. Liberal Arts.

LING 106 Introductory Swahili

0 or 2-S26

Prepares students with basic Swahili skills (survival mode). Introduces basic grammar, vocabulary, and conversational skills as used in East Africa. Focus is on hearing and speaking. Does not meet a General Education requirement. Houghton East Africa. Liberal Arts credit.

LING 156 Conversational Swahili

4-WSP

Prepares students with general conversational skills. Vocabulary limited to words commonly used in rural village life in East Africa. Focus on hearing and speaking Kiswahili. Meets one General Education Global Competence Requirement. Houghton East Africa. Liberal Arts.

LING 201 Conversational Language

0–4-F&S

An onsite language-learning experience. This may be through informal or formal learning. Informal learning requires an approved testing procedure. May be part of a Study Abroad option or an independent experience. Prior approval by the student's advisor is required as part of the INCL major or departmental advisor for INCL minor or Concentration. Liberal Arts

LING 220 Introduction to Linguistics

3-F&S

An introduction to the basic subfields of linguistics. Emphasis on phonetics and phonology (the study of sounds and systems of sounds), morphology (the study of word formation), syntax (phrase and sentence formation and function), semantics (the study of meaning in language), pragmatics (how language is used in wider contexts), and historical linguistics (how language changes over time). Fulfills part of General Education Global Competence requirement. Liberal Arts.

LING 291, 292, 391, 392, 491, 492

Independent Study

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Liberal Arts.

LING 295, 395, 495 Special Topics

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Takes advantage of faculty expertise to focus on advanced linguistic topics of interest to the student body. Can include Conversational Language Learning and Analytical Methods, The Structure of African Languages, and others. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: to be determined at the time of offering

LING 312 Sociolinguistics

3-WSP

Explores the sociology of language, focusing on language use patterns in multilingual societies worldwide: language maintenance and death; language attitudes; internal and external language change; development of pidgins and creoles; endangered languages; and language documentation, development, and revitalization. Fulfills part of General Education Global Competence requirement. Liberal Arts.

LING 322 Phonetics

3-F&S

Introduction to the theory and practice of articulatory phonetics. Students learn to produce, perceive, and transcribe with symbols all sounds known to be used in human language; intensive drill in definition, recognition, production, and transcription of the full range of sounds used in human speech. Liberal Arts.

LING 323 Phonology I

3-F&S

Explores sound systems of the world's languages with a focus on identifying and analyzing phenomena including consonants, vowels, syllables, tone, intonation, stress, length of consonants and vowels, organization of sound systems, and how sounds affect one another. Examination includes detailed discussion of discovery procedures and theoretical perspectives, which provide an analytical framework. Liberal Arts.

Pre/Corequisite: LING 322 or permission

LING 333 Grammar I

3-F&S

Explores grammar in the world's languages from a functional and typological theoretical perspective, focusing on techniques for identifying, understanding, and analyzing the variety of grammatical patterns attested throughout the world. Provides a solid grounding in major issues of syntactic theory concerning linguists today. Liberal Arts.

LING 350 First and Second Language Acquisition

3-WSP

Explores linguistic, psychological, and sociocultural contexts of language acquisition as well as implications for both formal and informal language teaching and learning. In addition to course readings and class discussions, students examine areas of language acquisition theory through their own research and writing. Liberal Arts.

LING 389, 489 Intercultural/International Development/Linguistics Internship

1–4-F&S, May, Summer

A practical internship with an organization or ministry that connects service with an intercultural or multicultural setting. Student is to demonstrate the integration of learning and service. Possible for intercultural, development, or linguistics credits. By application only. Can only be done once the Intercultural/Field Experience requirement has been met. May be repeated.

MATH 114 Mathematical Concepts and Reasoning

4-F

Builds a conceptual framework for understanding number, numeracy, number operations, probability, statistics, geometry, and measurement. Focus on problem-solving and the use of manipulative materials to develop conceptual understanding from early childhood through middle school. Attention to development of mathematical concepts and reasoning particularly through exploration and cooperative learning. Liberal Arts. (Does not meet General Education Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning requirement.)

MATH 170 Calculus I with Precalculus A

4-F

Together with MATH 171 Calculus I with Precalculus B, covers all the material of MATH 181 Calculus I with integrated treatment of precalculus topics. Expected calculus topics include limits, continuity, and the Intermediate Value Theorem; the theory and computation of derivatives of algebraic and trigonometric functions; and applications of differentiation including tangent lines and related rates. Precalculus topics to support these are addressed as needed. Students who received an SAT Math score of 550 or lower or equivalent who need to take Calculus I must complete this course and MATH 171. Enrollment by permission only. Fulfills General Education Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning requirement. Liberal Arts.

MATH 171 Calculus I with Precalculus B

4-S

Together with MATH 170 Calculus I with Precalculus A, this course covers all the material of MATH 181 Calculus I with integrated treatment of precalculus topics. Expected calculus topics include applications of derivatives including optimization, curve-sketching, and the Mean Value Theorem; introduction to integration, including the Fundamental Theorem of Calculus, computation of areas, and the technique of substitution; and calculus of transcendental functions. Precalculus topics to support these will be addressed as needed. Students who complete this course with a C have fulfilled the prerequisite for Calculus II. Fulfills General Education Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning requirement. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 170.

MATH 172 Calculus and Problem Solving

2-F

Covers the skills and conceptual foundations necessary for success in Calculus II, with a broader focus on mathematical problem solving. Fulfills General Education Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning requirement. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 171 or 181, or previous experience with calculus and permission of instructor.

MATH 181 Calculus I

4-F

First semester of single-variable calculus including limits, continuity, and the Intermediate Value Theorem; theory and computation of derivatives of algebraic, trigonometric, and transcendental functions; applications of derivatives including optimization, curve-sketching, related rates, and the Mean Value Theorem; and an introduction to integration, including the Fundamental Theorem of Calculus, computation of areas, and the technique of substitution. Students who have completed MATH 171 cannot take this course. Students who complete this course with a C have fulfilled the prerequisite for Calculus II. Fulfills General Education Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning requirement. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: SAT Math score higher than 550 or equivalent or permission.

MATH 182 Calculus II

Second semester of single-variable calculus including derivatives of all transcendental functions and L'Hospital's rule; theory and techniques of integration including substitution, parts, trigonometric substitution, partial fractions, and improper integrals; applications of integrals including area, volume, arc length, and surface areas; and sequences and series. Fulfills General Education Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning requirement. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 172 or satisfactory performance on a placement test, offered on demand before the beginning of the fall semester.

MATH 210 Introduction to Proofs

2-F

Introduces the central idea of proof in mathematics and some standard proof formats used throughout the Math major. Includes propositional logic, an introduction to predicate logic, direct proof, proof by contradiction, and mathematical induction. Fulfills General Education Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning requirement. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 181 (or MATH 170/171).

MATH 214 Discrete Mathematics

2-F26

Introduction to discrete mathematical topics: equivalence relations, partial orders, functions, recurrence relations, counting, introduction to probability, graphs, and introduction to algorithm analysis. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 210

MATH 225 Multivariate Calculus

4-F25

Space geometry, vectors, vector functions, functions of several variables, partial differentiation, and multiple integration. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 181

MATH 241 Differential Equations

4-F26

Methods of solution and applications of principle types of differential equations. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 182

MATH 261 Linear Algebra

4-S

Systems of linear equations, matrices, vector spaces, linear transformations, inner product spaces, determinants, eigenvectors, and eigenvalues. Fulfills General Education Abstract and Quantitative Reasoning requirement. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 181 (or MATH 170/171)

MATH 295, 296, 395, 396, 495 Special Topics in Mathematics

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Introduction to an area of mathematics not covered in other mathematics classes. Topics have included category theory, graph theory, game theory, knot theory, and number theory. Liberal Arts.

MATH 325 Real Analysis I

4-S27

Develops a rigorous foundation for the fundamental topics covered in calculus: sequences and series, continuity, differentiability, integrability, and convergence based on limits and the axioms of the real number system. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: MATH 182, 210, 261

MATH 333 Probability and Statistics I

4-WSP

Introduces discrete and continuous probability, including conditional probability, random variables, independence, Bayes' Theorem, expected value, variance, distributions, and the Central Limit Theorem. Using the probability covered in the first half of the semester, also covers some of the main topics of mathematical statistics, including statistical hypothesis testing, errors, correlation, regression equations, and analysis of variance. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 182.

MATH 351 Modern Geometries

4-WSP

A survey of geometry including advanced Euclidean geometry and an introduction to non-Euclidean geometries. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 210

MATH 361 Abstract Algebra I

4-S26

An introduction to groups, subgroups, homomorphisms and isomorphisms, rings, fields, and ideals with a focus on developing skills in problem solving, communicating mathematics, and proof writing. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: MATH 210, 261.

MATH 380 Mathematics Research Seminar

1-F

Introduces students to the experience of mathematics research. Each student is part of a team working with a faculty member on an open problem. May be repeated multiple times for credit. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 210

MATH 391, 392, 491, 492 Independent Study

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Prerequisites may apply. Liberal Arts.

MATH 393 Summer Collaborative Research in Mathematics

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Summer research in collaboration with a mathematics faculty member, focusing on a current area of mathematical research. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: according to the chosen area of research

MATH 425 Real Analysis II

2–4-WSP

Covers selected topics from real and functional analysis, building on the foundation from Real Analysis I. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 325

MATH 433 Probability and Statistics II

2–4-WSP

Covers topics selected from parametric and nonparametric hypothesis testing, ANOVA, partial and multiple correlation methods, regression, curve fitting, and Monte Carlo simulation. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 333

MATH 452 Point Set Topology

4-WSP

Open and closed sets. Connected, compact, and metric topological spaces. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: MATH 210, 261

MATH 461 Abstract Algebra II

2–4-WSP

Continuation of material from Abstract Algebra I. Topics may include advanced group theory and ring theory, Sylow theorems, modules and vector spaces, Galois theory, and finite fields. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: MATH 361

MATH 471 Complex Analysis

4-WSP

Complex number system, limits, differentiation and integration in the complex plane, and complex series. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: MATH 225, 325 or permission

MATH 482 Senior Capstone: Mathematics Seminar

2-S

A capstone course that further develops problem-solving and mathematical communication skills. Emphases on formulating, solving, and explaining challenging problems in both verbal and written form to varied audiences. Considers the relationship of mathematics to various other disciplines, the historical development of mathematics, and the relationships between mathematics and the Christian faith. For seniors, except by permission. Liberal Arts. Fulfills General Education Writing-Enriched course requirement.

MATH 496 Honors in Mathematics

4-WSP

Liberal Arts.

MBA 501 Online MBA Orientation

0-F, S, Sum

Serves as the entry point for new students in the MBA program. This course is designed to onboard students by introducing them to the scope of the program and its integrated design and learning objectives. The orientation will also help students understand program expectations and time commitment and prepare themselves for online communication and technology requirements necessary to successfully complete their online MBA degree.

MBA 509 Data Analysis for Decision Making

3-WSP

Examines and applies mathematical and statistical methods to improve data literacy and develop tools to improve management decision-making. Familiarizes students with the assumptions underlying various statistical techniques and assists in identifying their appropriateness in a variety of situations. Students perform statistical analysis and interpret results that contribute to information-based decision-making. Students may choose to waive this course and substitute an elective if they have earned a B– or better in at least two of the following undergrad/graduate-level courses: statistics (level 200+), data science (level 200+), calculus or a 200+-level college math course.

Prerequisite: MBA 501

MBA 511 Political, Regulatory, and Legal Responsibilities

3-S

Examines the impact of diverse political and social forces on business and the law. Students explore the historical, cultural, political, philosophical, and religious foundations of legal and social systems as they relate to the ethical and profit dimensions of the economic complex. Critical thinking, persuasive speaking, and writing skills are honed through analysis of the above in relation to policy and implementation procedures in international and domestic markets. Students may choose to waive this course and substitute an elective if they have earned a B– or better in at least two of the following undergrad/graduate-level courses: Business Law I and/or II, Employment Law. Prerequisites: MBA 501, MBA 630

MBA 514 Leading for Higher Performance
3-S

Focused on improving leader efficacy in developing peak organizational and people performance. Performance contributors and/or detractors are studied from a biblical perspective as students examine how recent trends in workplace “advances,” scientific findings, and human resource best practices confirm and/or conflict with God’s design of humankind. Prerequisites: MBA 501, 630

MBA 518 Accounting Information and Financial Control

3-Summer

Prepares students to effectively extract and utilize information in financial statements. The relation between financial statement representation and underlying business activities is emphasized. Specific topics to be addressed include revenue recognition practices; obligation measurement; and the impact of organizational form on accounting measures of performance, digital platforms, and GAAP. Students may choose to waive this course and substitute an elective if they have earned a B– or better in at least two of the following undergrad/graduate-level courses: Financial Accounting, Managerial Accounting, and Cost Accounting. Prerequisites: MBA 501, 630

MBA 525 Project Management

3-Summer

An introduction to the role of project management within a cross-section of organizations and project types. Topics include project definition, planning, scheduling, lifecycles, project attribute estimation, resource allocation, scope creep, and project portfolio evaluation and selection.

Management issues related to project manager selection, subcontracting, team dynamics, and project monitoring and control are explored as essential elements of a successful project. Opportunities to research and evaluate the landscape of digital tools for project management and leverage real-world tools in the scope and sequence of learning.

Prerequisites: MBA 501, 630

MBA 526 Risk Management and Governance
3-S

Considers how organizations assess and manage risks in external and internal environments and adapt daily operations and long-term plans to minimize unexpected losses. Students learn how to identify and categorize risks, how to develop and prioritize responses to risks, how risk affects strategic planning and daily operations, and how insurance and other tactics and strategies mitigate risks. Enterprise risk management, governance, and contingency planning are considered for the entire organization, including accounting and finance, sales and marketing, human resources, and information technology. Prerequisites: MBA 501, 630

MBA 528 Financial Statement Analysis

3-Summer

Focuses on the mechanics of financial statement analysis from various perspectives, including shareholders, financial analysts, boards of directors, investors, and business mergers and acquisitions. Topics covered are balance sheet and income statement analysis, ratio analysis, cash flow analysis, common size analysis, trend analysis, and earning analysis. Students analyze and evaluate free cash flow generation, profitability, operating efficiency, and the impact of leverage on business risk and return on equity. Students integrate a biblical and ethical framework that helps guide assure objective, i.e., bias-free analysis. Prerequisites: MBA 501, 630, Financial Accounting, Managerial Accounting, Corporate Finance, and one upper-level accounting course

MBA 530 Enterprise Process Management

3-S

Explores the critical nature of processes and provides insight into how the most successful companies organize complex systems to deliver consistent and excellent products and services. Includes the basics of forecasting, capacity planning, scheduling, inventory management, total quality management, and supply chain management and how these span business functions of finance, sales marketing and product identity. The intersection of teams and cross-functional connections are explored. Prerequisites: MBA 501, 630

MBA 532 Applied Managerial Finance

3-Summer

Emphasizes the decision-making and discipline of financial management. Subjects include financial reports and metrics, financial analysis and planning, financial forecasting, financial markets, financial leverage, working capital management, capital budgeting processes, cost of capital, and the evaluation of domestic and global merger and acquisition opportunities, including takeover and antitrust strategies. Students integrate a biblical and ethical framework that helps guide financial management decision-making. Students may choose to waive this course and substitute an elective if they have earned a B– or better in at least two of the following undergrad/graduate-level courses: Corporate Finance I/II; Investment Management; or Money, Banking, and Finance. Prerequisites: MBA 501, 630

MBA 580 Generative AI for Managers

3-F

Generative AI (GenAI) is ushering in a new age of productivity in business. Managers who ineffectively adopt it risk being outpaced by forward-thinking competitors. This course equips students to drive impact in any industry using GenAI tools. You'll learn to engineer effective prompts, integrate AI into workflows, and develop innovative GenAI solutions, as well as explore ethical considerations and future trends.

MBA 581 Business Use Cases for AI

3-F

Just like you wouldn't use a financial model to drive a marketing campaign, different business use cases require different AI tools. In this course, students will explore the potential and limitations of AI technologies, learning to identify business problems suitable for AI solutions and build effective AI implementation strategies. By the end of this course, students will address key challenges and solutions in AI implementation.

MBA 582 AI Governance and Ethics

3-F/S

Alongside powerful data-driven solutions, AI opens a Pandora's box of ethical issues: data privacy, bias, transparency, and balancing automation with human oversight. AI governance may be the biggest ethical issue of our time, something essential for any manager to understand before implementing this new technology. Students will develop AI policies for ethics and compliance, mitigate AI-related risks, and communicate governance standards to stakeholders.

MBA 583 Managing AI Projects

3-F/S

AI projects can help predict trends and optimize operations, allowing businesses to understand not just what has happened but what will happen—and what should be done about it. By the end of this course, students will be prepared to drive financial and operational impact by managing AI project lifecycles: developing comprehensive project plans, managing data and models, ensuring effective deployment, and communicating progress and outcomes to stakeholders.

MBA 584 Storytelling with Data

3-F

Storytelling is one of the oldest and most powerful tools for action, and this course empowers MBA students to transform raw data into compelling narratives that drive business decisions. By the end of this course, you'll be able to create data queries and visualizations, integrate data into business planning, and effectively communicate your findings, helping organizations turn data into a strategic tool for competition and innovation.

MBA 585 Spreadsheet Modeling for Decision-Making

3-F

Spreadsheet tools are the most universal and easily accessible program for most people to use and interpret data—and a vital skill for any analyst to know. In this course, students will learn data cleaning, financial modeling, optimization, and data visualization using PivotTables and PivotCharts, enabling students to analyze complex datasets, create forecasts, and effectively communicate insights to support data-driven decision-making in business contexts.

MBA 586 Python for Business Analytics

3-F/S

Managers who hope to stay competitive in business analytics need to be able to scale their analytics—and Python provides that solution. This course covers Python's significance in business analytics, setting up the Python environment, and learning basic syntax. You'll leverage three of Python's essential libraries—NumPy for numerical data, Pandas for data manipulation, and Matplotlib for data visualization—to use data to solve complex business problems.

MBA 587 Information Governance, Risk Management, and Compliance

3-F

Companies storing information are responsible for keeping it safe—and face consequences if they don't. Who's at fault after an attack and who must be informed? This course covers corporate governance principles, risk identification methods, business regulations, accountability, and audits. In a data-driven world, business leaders must handle data responsibly, and by the end of this course, you'll learn how to manage the growing legal obligations around cybersecurity.

MBA 588 Network Architectures for Cyber Managers

3-F

In order to ensure a house is safe, we need to know how it's built. It's the same for cybersecurity: to ensure systems are secure, we need to understand their design and the unique security challenges of different network architectures and data storage solutions. By the end of this course, you'll be able to critique security for various network designs, including IT and OT systems, cloud environments, data storage, and IoT networks, in terms of cyber risk.

MBA 589 Cyber Risk Management and Strategy

3-F/S

Cyberattacks today are inevitable—but the extent of the damage may rely on how much you, as the manager, are prepared. By the end of this course, you'll know how to create risk management strategies before, during, and after cyberattacks, developing incident response plans, understanding frameworks like NIST and MITRE ATT&CK, identifying proactive and reactive protection techniques, and debriefing with 'hotwashes.'

MBA 590 Ethical Hacking

3-F/S

To defend against hackers, you need to think like a hacker. This course covers the fundamentals of ethical hacking, from Linux commands and open-source tools to attack tree construction and vulnerability research. By the end of the course, you'll be able to use what you've learned to analyze, interpret, and communicate penetration tests and security strategies to executives.

MBA 591 Capital Markets and Investing

3-F

Investing involves risk—but this course teaches you how to manage that risk and make the right decisions to build and protect your wealth. What portfolio decisions are safer? How can companies thrive by balancing debt and equity? How can options mitigate risk? By the end, you'll have the financial acumen to make informed investment decisions, optimize portfolio performance, and master strategies for risk management, capital allocation, and sustainable financial growth.

MBA 592 Frontiers of Finance

3-F/S

Finance isn't a static field, and understanding disruptors like blockchain and cryptocurrency allows you to capitalize on opportunities that are revolutionizing financial operations.

Students will describe and evaluate blockchain, analyze cryptocurrencies, and assess decentralized finance (DeFi) platforms. By course end, students will be ready to explore blockchain and crypto career opportunities and lead discussions on these cutting-edge technologies.

MBA 593 Structure and Economics of the U.S. Healthcare System

3-F

Healthcare systems are complicated structures beholden economically and legally to many different stakeholders and policies. When those factors change, they have consequences. Aspiring managers must be able to make informed decisions about what to do in the face of change. By the end of this course, aspiring healthcare system managers will be prepared to analyze the economic impact of policy changes on their institutions and tackle challenges such as hospital mergers, new payment models, regulated drug prices, and Medicaid insurance bids.

MBA 594 Management of Healthcare Organizations

3-F

Should a hospital focus on pediatrics or heart surgery? How can clinics build and retain a strong workforce? What is the best strategy for negotiating with insurance companies? This course focuses on the management principles and practices that create successful healthcare organizations. Students will learn to navigate key management challenges, apply strategic analysis frameworks, and manage healthcare workforce and IT systems—all with an emphasis on ethical leadership, collaboration, and quality assurance.

MBA 595 Data Analysis for Healthcare Management

3-F/S

Healthcare managers that can leverage data analysis make more informed decisions that lead to better outcomes. Data in a healthcare context brings solutions, but also unique challenges that managers must navigate to harness its potential. In this course, students will explore effective management and integration of data-driven decisions in healthcare. By the end, students will be able to strategize and communicate data insights to drive ethical impact in healthcare systems.

MBA 596 Healthcare Finance

3-F/S

In health services organizations, bad financial management can cost more than money—it can cost lives, making financial acumen crucial for quality patient care. This course covers financial statement analysis, cost accounting, capital budgeting, and financial modeling, equipping future managers to make informed decisions around challenges such as evaluating insurance designs, assessing service line impacts, and analyzing new drug costs.

MBA 611 Integrated Marketing Communication

3-F

Helps students understand the evolution of marketing communication as it becomes a functionally widened and linked activity. Students learn where each distinct communication function has resided and how they are forming a new entity called Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC). IMC involves the measured blending of disparate activities such as messaging, branding, advertising, public relations, sales promotion, events, and sales training into a tightly coordinated activity that provides maximum persuasive impact within targeted markets. Teamwork among the various individual organizations is essential to the success of IMC. Prerequisites: MBA 501, 630

MBA 616 Entrepreneurship and the Lean Startup

3-Summer

Students learn the “thinking and doing” of successful entrepreneurs. This multidimensional course is intended for those inclined toward becoming entrepreneurs, needing to implement entrepreneurial and lean startup principles in their organizations, or desiring to learn how to effectively work with an entrepreneur. Entrepreneurship is explored from the biblical perspective of creativity and the productive process of innovation. Topics include deframing, metaphors, dialectical inquiry, path creation, and bisociation. Students learn how to turn an innovative idea into a plan of action using lean startup strategy. Additionally, students consider the entrepreneur's role in managing and mitigating the uncertainty of risk. Prerequisites: MBA 501, 630

MBA 618 Design-Thinking and Innovation
3-S

Emphasizes the connection between design-thinking and innovation. Students learn the process of design-thinking, which begins with a genuine interest in understanding the people for whom products and/or services are being designed. Study and practice of this process help improve student ability to ask questions, challenge assumptions, redefine problems, and create change – all important aspects for developing strategic options and solutions not immediately identified through left-brain thinking and problem-solving approaches. Considers the opportunities and challenges of design-thinking and innovation within varied organizational contexts and how they relate to differing services and product lines. Prerequisites: MBA 501, 630

MBA 620 Transformational Leadership
3-Fall

Provides a biblical perspective of transformational leadership, focusing on two key components: that transformation is missional and intentional. Students examine how to navigate the current societal and organizational landscape in a faithful and integrated manner by considering transformation first on a personal level, then organizational. Includes a variety of resources, assessments, and coaching exercises. Prerequisites: MBA 501, 630

MBA 622 Managerial Economics
3-Fall

Examines domestic and global production and distribution of goods and services as guided by the free-market economy. Takes the perspective of the economist as advisor to managers and directors of a firm operating in an external economic environment and making operational and strategic decisions for the firm. With an understanding of supply, demand, and consumer behavior as a background, the course studies how firms remain competitive through the improvement of strategic thinking about competition in the market and efficient organizational structure and decision-making, especially involving allocating resources, managing production, and earning a profit under changing economic conditions. Prerequisite: MBA 501; corequisite: MBA 630

MBA 624 Ethics, Morality, and Social Responsibility

3-Summer

Provides a biblical perspective on ethics, morality, and social responsibility in relationship to individual leaders, organizations, the community, and global society. The interrelated nature of ethics, morality, and social issues is reviewed along with how societal views and actions influence and impact organizational performance. Emphasis on the decision-making responsibility of Christian leaders related to these topics that influence and shape organizational culture, policy, practice, and people. Prerequisites: MBA 501, 630

MBA 630 Strategic Thinking and Plan Management

2-Fall

MBA entry course examining the running of an enterprise from the Chief Executive Officer's point of view. Designed to help students develop their strategic thinking ability and learn methods for effective strategic planning. Students learn about framing theoretical and practical training to understand business practices and enhance organizational efficiency and effectiveness. Includes conducting external and internal assessments of an organization, identifying key strategic issues, identifying and choosing alternative strategies, and defending those decisions. Provides the framework for the final MBA integrated project, MBA 651 Integrated Project. Gives students the instruction and tools helpful for integrating individual MBA course learning into their final

MBA project and presentation. Prerequisite: MBA 501

MBA 651 Integrated Project

1-F

Final course in the MBA program. Students finalize a detailed personal plan focused on an existing company project, new business venture, creation of a new product or service, organizational process improvement, cultural change, or restructure of their current workplace department/organization. Students will present their integrated projects virtually and observe and interact with peer presentations. The project focus must meet established guidelines and be preapproved by the MBA Director. Prerequisite: Successful completion of 37 or more credits of approved MBA required and elective courses.

MBCM 121 Music Technology Basics

1-F

Musicians should be prepared for any situation. One situation a musician may face is the need to work with live sound technology. This course introduces the fundamentals of music technology geared towards the needs of today's professional musicians. The most significant challenge musicians face today is the need to be able to master skills required to adapt to a changing technology base. Students will demonstrate a better understanding of music technology basics regarding hardware and software for live audio, acoustic and digital audio, sound reinforcement, sequencing, and notation. This course enables students to make intelligent decisions while using fundamental tools and techniques through demonstrations

MBCM 201 Intro to Music Technology and Recording Arts

3-S26

Introductory survey of the history and theoretical foundations of music technology and recording arts. Topics include acoustics, audio principles, Digital Audio Workstation basics, recording technologies, studio basics, fundamentals of computers for audio, MIDI basics, and audio software/technology troubleshooting. Students are given a basic overview of each studied area and will be able to perform rudimentary operations in each skill area

MBCM 206 Introduction to Music Business

3-S (Online)

An introductory overview of the recording and music industry and the operations of its various segments. Students gain an understanding of where monies are generated, how to protect their interests, who key players are in the business, how deals are made and broken, and how new developments in digital technology are changing the way music is marketed, promoted, distributed, and heard. Presents students with the career opportunities available within the industry and the knowledge needed to succeed in this business.

MBCM 215 Introduction to Music Publishing and Marketing

3-F26 (Online)

Teaches students how to set up an independent publishing company, including administration of copyrights, the role of performance rights organizations (BMI, ASCAP, SESAC), and preparing a functioning system for song catalogs. Students develop a publicity plan, submit songs to register with the copyright office, learn how to market and promote compositions and writers through developing effective pitch and promotion strategies, and discover how to turn demos and lyrics into a functioning independent publishing and marketing business.

MBCM 225 Survey of the Music Industry

3-F (Online)

A survey of the development of the music and recording industry in America, including the history of recording, establishment of the major labels, and the inner workings of the industry that drives the music business. Students also explore diverse music industry career paths in areas such as arts management, music products and merchandizing, public relations, music production and recording, publishing, and online music distribution.

MBCM 307 Advanced Music Production and Recording Techniques

3-F26

In-depth look at concepts that explore the technical aspects and aesthetic implications of digital audio software, theory, and practice with expounding on advanced sound recording techniques. Students gain deeper insight on music composition and performance utilizing MIDI, hardware & software-based synthesis, effects plug-ins and audio sampling through creation and production with the utilization of a variety of recording/microphone techniques and computing tools including Pro Tools, and other Digital Audio Workstations.

MBCM 320 Artist Management and Development

3-S27 (Online)

Allows students to explore the role and importance of artist managers, what they do, and how they impact the careers of artists and their brands. Covers why an artist needs a manager, the keys to finding the right artist(s), and the key roles the manager as developer plays in an artist's career. Also explores a typical management contract and develops artist career planning, money management, and what to do when things go wrong. Students examine the principles of leadership dynamics and motivation in order to focus and empower current and potential managers.

MBCM 331 Legal Issues in the Music Industry

3-F25 (Online)

In-depth examination of copyright law and agreements basic to the music industry. Agreements to be reviewed include major label record contracts, independent label record contracts, management agreements, sampling licenses, and music publishing agreements. Prerequisite: MBCM 206 and MBCM 225.

MBCM 408 Critical Listening and the Art of Mixing

3-WSP

Provides recording musicians, producers, and engineers with a better sense of the mixing process and explores the creative and technical considerations necessary to mix in today's music production environment. Students develop their ability to hear and identify the key features of a well-balanced and professional mix. Explores musical width and depth, EQ and frequency range, dynamics, panning, reverb, delay, compression, phasing, distortions, dynamic processing, automation techniques, and different mix approaches.

MBCM 415 Web-Based Tools for the Music Industry and Worship Arts

3-F25

Gives students practical experience using web-based tools for tasks related specifically to the commercial music industry and worship arts field. Students learn to use Internet tools for creating an online presence, branding, music marketing, digital distribution, remote collaboration, web-based project management, and social media community-building.

MBCM 489 Music Industry Internship

1–3-F&S, Summer

Intended as a capstone experience for program studies in Music and Music Industry. Internships may take place in the fields of music business, artist management, marketing, promotions, live sound, recording, and/or various production environments. Students are encouraged to contact potential internship programs well before their internship semester. Music industry internships are usually done in the final semester following completion of the student's other required coursework.

MBCM 515 Introduction to Music Publishing and Marketing

3-WSP

Teaches students how to set up an independent publishing company, including administration of copyrights, the role of performance rights organizations (BMI, ASCAP, SESAC), and preparing a functioning system for song catalogs. The student develops a publicity plan, submits songs to register with the copyright office, learns how to market and promote compositions and writers by developing effective pitch and promotion strategies, and discovers how to turn demos and lyrics into a functioning independent publishing and marketing business.

MBCM 525 Survey of the Music Industry

3-WSP

A survey of the development of the music and recording industry in America, including the history of recording, establishment of the major labels, and the inner workings of the industry that drives the music business. Students also explore diverse music industry career paths in areas such as arts management, music products and merchandizing, public relations, music production and recording, publishing, and online music distribution.

MBCM 557 Advanced Music Production

3-WSP

Explores core concepts of acoustics and psychoacoustics; the MIDI protocol; music composition and performance using MIDI; hardware-based sound synthesis; software-based sound synthesis (virtual instruments); and effects plug-ins and audio sampling through the creation, performance, and production of music works in the electronic medium. Students gain a deep understanding of the MIDI protocol and explore the implications of MIDI and effects in the context of music production, recording, composition, and performance.

MBCM 570 Artist Management and Development

3-WSP

Allows students to explore the role and importance of artist managers, what they do, and how they impact the careers of artists and their brands. Covers why an artist needs a manager, the keys to finding the right artist(s), and the key roles the manager as developer plays in an artist's career. Also explores a typical management contract and develops artist career planning, money management, and what to do when things go wrong. Students examine the principles of leadership dynamics and motivation in order to focus and empower current and potential managers.

MCHU 151 Melodic Improvisation

1-F & S

Development of melodic improvisational skills with reference to harmony and rhythm. Discussion and practice of various styles with the building of improvisational skills for each along with discussion of how to create continuity with all aspects of a worship service. Examination of pre-existing arrangements to understand style, learning to create an environment that communicates/enhances texts, and ways to lead others in developing improvisational skills. Large portions of class time will be devoted to "hands on" experimentation.

MCHU 451 Music and Worship

4-WSP

Music and liturgical practices in the history of the Christian Church and consideration of issues in contemporary worship practice in light of church history and Christian theology. Liberal Arts.

MCHU 475 Keyboard Service Playing

2-F26

Development of keyboard skills with special application to acoustic piano and/or electronic keyboard playing in church service: contemporary praise music and hymn playing, lead sheet harmonization and transposition, extemporization in various styles (blended worship) with effective segues, accompanying (solo, small group, and choral), arranging and coordinating music with sermon, and vocational music ministry topics. Required of piano majors. By permission of instructor only for other students.

MED 200 Vocal Methods

Provides an examination of the vocal instrument as well as teaching strategies appropriate for teaching vocal/choral music students in a middle and high school setting. Designed for intended music educators and provides opportunities to experience basic training in the correct use of the singing voice in addition to intellectual analysis of the development of efficient singing technique and skill in performing literature.

MED 202 Professional Development Workshop

0-F & S

Tracks participation in required professional development activities, such as Early Childhood Music courses, attendance at the annual NYSSMA winter meeting in Rochester, attendance at methodological workshops, etc. Required for Music Education majors every semester in residence.

MED 210 Field Experience in Music Education

2-May

Three weeks of field experiences in high-need school districts working as teachers' assistants and meet in a weekly seminar to discuss their experiences. Designed to fulfill the New York State field experience mandate. Students earn 75–90 hours of field experience credit taken during first or sophomore years. Students may opt to take EDUC 240 Teaching in Urban America in lieu of this course. Taken concurrently with MED 211. (See Music Student Handbook for detailed explanation of Field Experience and other Certification requirements.)

MED 211 Language Acquisition and Literacy Development in the Music Classroom

2-S27

Introduces Music Education majors to foundational concepts surrounding language acquisition and literacy development and provides resources for developing the listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills of native English speakers and students who are English language learners.

MED 227 String Techniques

2-S26

Preparation for teaching violin, viola, cello, and double bass through the high school level. Development of playing and demonstration abilities. Survey of methods and materials. Two hours of class, three hours of practice.

MED 240 Percussion Techniques

2-F26

Preparation for teaching percussion instruments through the high school level. Development of playing skills on timpani, mallet instruments, and drums. Survey of percussion ensemble music and other materials. One class per week, three hours of practice.

MED 241 Brass Techniques

2-S27

Preparation for teaching brass instruments through the high school level. Development of playing and demonstration abilities. Survey of methods and materials. Two hours of class, three hours of practice.

MED 242 Woodwind Techniques

2-F25

Preparation for teaching woodwind instruments through the high school level. Development of playing and demonstration abilities. Survey of methods and materials, two class hours, three hours of practice.

MED 322 Music Education Practicum I

1-F

Two half-days per week in an elementary (K-6) classroom. Focus is on observing students in music courses under the supervision of a certified teacher, assisting the classroom teacher with daily routines, and supporting the learning of individual children. Taken concurrently with MED 351. Prerequisites: EDUC 202, 217, 219, and 235.

MED 323 Music Education Practicum II

1-S

Two half-days per week in either a middle (7-9) or secondary (9-12) classroom. Focus is on observing students in music courses under the supervision of a certified teacher, assisting the classroom teacher with daily routines, and supporting the learning of individual children. Taken concurrently with MED 351. Prerequisites: EDUC 202, 217, 219, and 235.

MED 351 Elementary School Methods

2-F

Introduction to the teaching and decision-making skills necessary to be an effective elementary general music teacher (K–6). Through peer teaching; observations; teaching sessions with children; and reading, writing and creative assignments, prospective elementary music teachers develop an understanding of the musical development of children and the skills needed to teach them effectively. Particular emphasis on preparation to teach according to the New York State Learning Standards for the Arts and the National Association for Music Education

National Core Music Standards. This course has a lab fee.

MED 352 Secondary Choral Methods

2-S26

Preparation for directing secondary school (grades 7–12) choral ensembles and for teaching secondary-level general music and other non-performance music classes. Particular emphasis on preparation to teach according to the New York State Learning Standards for the Arts.

MED 354 Instrumental Methods

2-S26

Instrumental music program in public schools. Organization and training of school orchestras, bands, and instrumental classes and pedagogical methods of the standard band and orchestra instruments. Particular emphasis on preparation to teach by the New York State Learning Standards for the Arts.

MED 357 Music Psychology

3-S

Music Psychology is an examination of the physical and psychological aspects of music involving human behavior with specific topics ranging from an overview of music perception and cognition, the role of music in society from an evolutionary perspective, the effects of music and music instruction on behavior, the psycho-acoustical basis of sound, and how our neural mechanisms interpret sounds as music. Liberal Arts.

MED 403 Music Education Student Teaching: Elementary Level

6-F, S

Six- to seven-week placement in a music education setting at the elementary level (grades K–6). Includes a minimum of two weeks with full teaching load responsibilities. Designed for students who have completed all required professional education coursework as per emphasis. Taken concurrently with MED 419. (See HUTEF policy on employment and activities while student teaching.)

MED 404 Music Education Student Teaching: Secondary Level

6-F, S

Six- to seven-week placement in a music education setting at the secondary level (grades 7–12). Includes a minimum of two weeks with full teaching load responsibilities. Designed for students who have completed all required professional education coursework as per emphasis. Taken concurrently with MED 419. (See HUTEF policy on employment and activities while student teaching.)

MED 419 Student Teaching Seminar

2-F

Seminar during and following student teaching dealing with effective teaching practices including problems of motivation, group management, curriculum development, and musical education goals. Fulfills General Education Writing-Enriched course requirement. This course has a lab fee.

MEDU 502 Topics in Professionalism

Pass/fail course designed to enable all Education majors to meet New York State regulations for training in special topics (Identification and Reporting of Suspected Child Abuse or Maltreatment; School Violence Prevention and Intervention; Prevention of Child Abduction; Prevention of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Other Drug Abuse; Safety Education; Instruction in Fire and Arson Prevention; and the Dignity for All Students Act). Provides information about certification, State testing requirements, and student teaching.

MEDU 503 Workshop in Child Abuse & Identification

All HUTEF majors and applicants for certification must complete two hours of coursework or training in the identification and reporting of suspected child abuse and maltreatment, as required by Sections 3003(4) and 3004 of the Education Law. Upon completion of the workshop, each participant will receive a certificate of completion.

MEDU 504 Workshop in School Violence

All HUTEF majors and applicants for certification must complete two hours of coursework or training in school violence prevention and intervention, as required by Section 3004 of the Education Law. Upon completion of the workshop, each participant will receive a certificate of completion.

MEDU 505 Workshop: DASA

All HUTEF majors and applicants for certification must complete six hours of coursework or training in topics pertaining to harassment, bullying, and discrimination prevention and intervention and the Dignity for All Students Act, as required by Section 14(5) of Chapter 102 of the New York State Education law.

MEDU 506 Educating Students with Exceptional Learning Needs

Examines the historical and legal contexts for providing services to diverse learners with a range of special educational considerations. Explores the scope of exceptionalities and the processes used to identify and address special needs. Emphasis on the evidence-based practices and collaborative role of the general educator in meeting the needs of exceptional learners in inclusive settings.

MEDU 512 Curriculum & Assessment in Inclusive Classrooms

Provides an exploration of the development of curriculum and assessment, and the creation of learning environments that support diverse learners in inclusive settings. Includes an examination of New York State Learning Standards, differentiated instruction and assessment practices, lesson and unit planning, and responsive approaches to classroom management with purposeful attention given to instructional technology, as well as current research on curriculum and assessment in secondary classrooms.

MEDU 517 Education & American Culture

A survey of the philosophical and historical antecedents of American education and their relationships to current educational debates. Considers the influence of culture, heritage, and language on experience and education. Students analyze the role of education, consider the responsibilities of teachers, and develop an initial statement of their personal philosophy of education.

MEDU 519 Educational Psychology

Examines the teaching/learning processes of individuals. Focuses on learning theory, developmental theory, information processing, motivation, and intelligence. Particular attention to child and adolescent development.

MEDU 520 Internship with Seminar

Internship takes place in a grade 7-12 classroom, and includes a minimum of 100 hours. 15 of the 100 clock hours of internship will focus on the understanding of students with disabilities.

MEDU 530 General Methods

Addresses a range of responsive pedagogical approaches and delivery methods designed to meet the learning needs of adolescent learners across the curriculum.

MEDU 532 Secondary Teaching Methods: English

Addresses content-specific pedagogy and planning, New York State Learning Standards, and curricular issues. Students analyze classroom management, assessment strategies, and technology platforms, and discuss ways to improve collaboration with school community members. Should be taken the semester prior to student teaching. MEDU 520 Internship with Seminar, in which a student is placed with a secondary teacher certified in the target content area, is a corequisite.

MEDU 533 Secondary Teaching Methods: Foreign Languages

Addresses content-specific pedagogy and planning, New York State Learning Standards, and curricular issues. Students analyze classroom management, assessment strategies, and technology platforms, and discuss ways to improve collaboration with school community members. Should be taken the semester prior to student teaching. MEDU 520 Internship with Seminar, in which a student is placed with a secondary teacher certified in the target content area, is a corequisite.

MEDU 534 Secondary Teaching Methods: Mathematics

Addresses content-specific pedagogy and planning, New York State Learning Standards, and curricular issues. Students analyze classroom management, assessment strategies, and technology platforms, and discuss ways to improve collaboration with school community members. Should be taken the semester prior to student teaching. MEDU 520 Internship with Seminar, in which a student is placed with a secondary teacher certified in the target content area, is a corequisite.

MEDU 535 Secondary Teaching Methods: Science

Addresses content-specific pedagogy and planning, New York State Learning Standards, and curricular issues. Students analyze classroom management, assessment strategies, and technology platforms, and discuss ways to improve collaboration with school community members. Should be taken the semester prior to student teaching. MEDU 520 Internship with Seminar, in which a student is placed with a secondary teacher certified in the target content area, is a corequisite.

MEDU 536 Secondary Teaching Methods: Social Studies

Addresses content-specific pedagogy and planning, New York State Learning Standards, and curricular issues. Students analyze classroom management, assessment strategies, and technology platforms, and discuss ways to improve collaboration with school community members. Should be taken the semester prior to student teaching. MEDU 520 Internship with Seminar, in which a student is placed with a secondary teacher certified in the target content area, is a corequisite.

MEDU 540 Reflective Teaching Capstone (Portfolio)

Provides student teachers an opportunity to summarize and reflect on their knowledge of teaching and learning in diverse classrooms. Students also apply their understanding of pedagogical tools of their major discipline through the final revision and development of their program portfolio. Taken during the student teaching semester.

MEDU 600 Student Teaching and Certification Orientation

Workshop-style course addressing critical information necessary to be fully equipped for student teaching, including the professional responsibilities of student teachers, and guidance through certification procedures.

MEDU 603 Seminar in Content Area Research

Examines current research in secondary content areas of students in the course (math, science, English, etc.). Students engage in the review and application of current research in their content area of certification, lesson planning, and student assessment.

MEDU 605 Research in Culturally Responsive Pedagogies in Diverse Settings

Examines current research in Culturally Responsive Teaching (CRT) and the teaching methods that connect students' cultures, languages, and life experiences to what they learn in school. The goal of implementing culturally responsive pedagogies is to provide all students with meaningful learning opportunities, regardless of their race, ethnicity, gender, or first language.

Student Teaching 1 includes a minimum of 35 school days in a grade 7-9 classroom or grade 10-12 classroom.

Student Teaching 2 includes a minimum of 35 school days in a grade 7-9 classroom or grade 10-12 classroom.

MSL 101/101L Foundations of Officership (Course and Lab)

2-F

Introduces cadets to fundamental components of service as an officer in the United States Army. These initial lessons form the building blocks of progressive lessons in values, fitness, leadership, and officership. Additionally, the semester addresses "life skills" including fitness, communications theory and practice (written and oral), and interpersonal relationships. Upon completion, the cadets should be prepared to receive more complex leadership instruction.

MSL 102/102L Basic Leadership (Course and Lab)

2-S

Builds on the fundamentals introduced in the previous semester by focusing on leadership theory and decision-making. "Life skills" lessons in this semester include problem-solving, critical thinking, leadership theory, followership, group interaction, goal-setting, and feedback mechanisms. Upon completion, cadets should be prepared to advance to more complex leadership instruction concerning the dynamics of organizations.

MSL 201/201L Individual Leadership Studies (Course and Lab)

2-F

Building upon the fundamentals introduced in the MSL 100-level courses, delves into several aspects of communication and leadership theory. The use of practical exercise is significantly increased over previous semesters as cadets are required to apply communications and leadership concepts. Virtually the entire semester teaches critical "life skills." The relevance of these life skills to future success in the Army is emphasized throughout the course.

MSL 202/202L Leadership and Teamwork (Course and Lab)

2-S

The final semester of the Basic Course, focusing principally on officership and providing an extensive examination of the unique purpose, roles, and obligations of commissioned officers. Includes a detailed look at the origin of our institutional values and their practical application in decision-making and leadership to focus on a career as a commissioned officer. Upon completion, cadets should possess a fundamental understanding of both leadership and officership, demonstrate the ability to apply this understanding in real-world situations, and be excited about the prospect of shouldering the responsibility of a commissioned officer in the United States Army.

Liberal Arts.

PHIL 237 Just War?

3-WSP

Exploration of the dominant tradition in the ethics of warfare, the Just War tradition. Topics include both the traditional criteria of jus ad bellum (just causes for going to war) and jus in bello (just behavior within a war) and critics – both pacifist and “realist” – of these criteria. Consideration given to how new technologies and new kinds of conflict challenge the application of the traditional criteria. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 238 Sexual Ethics

3-WSP

Philosophical analysis of debates in sexual ethics and the philosophy of love, using historical and contemporary readings. Topics discussed may include friendship, flirting, love, monogamy, marriage, homosexuality, pornography, and sexual assault. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 240 Medical Ethics

3-WSP

Introduction to contemporary medical ethics, analyzing case studies and philosophical essays on a variety of dilemmas in contemporary medical practice, such as truth-telling and confidentiality, research ethics, reproductive technologies, abortion and embryonic stem-cell research, and euthanasia and physician-assisted suicide. Service in a local health-care setting is also possible as a supplement to the course (for additional credit). Liberal Arts.

PHIL 250 Aesthetics

3-WSP

A philosophical study of art and aesthetic experience focusing on the value of art for human life rather than the narrower (and less useful) question of the definition of art. Explores the relative importance of a normative theory of art of such values as pleasure, beauty, expression of emotion, and understanding and examines how these values can be embodied by various art forms, such as visual art, music, literature, the performing arts (dance and theater), and architecture. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 255 Reason and Religious Belief

3-WSP

Introductory course in the philosophy of religion. A number of central topics are surveyed with special focus on religious epistemology, the relationship between faith and reason, and the rationality of religious belief. Also examined are major theistic arguments, the problem of evil, divine attributes, and providence. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 256 The Nature of God

3-WSP

Introductory course in philosophical theology focusing on the concept of God. Philosophical analysis of divine attributes (such as God's power, knowledge, goodness, and relation to time). Liberal Arts.

PHIL 260 Introduction to Political Thought

3–4-WSP

Introduces students to the tradition of Western political thought from the ancient to the modern world through a close reading of important thinkers. By considering problems of community, obligation, order, justice, liberty, and freedom, equips students for careful normative reflection on public life. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 265 Christianity, Postmodernism, and Beyond

3-WSP

Explores relationship between Christian faith and practice and postmodern culture. Primary and secondary readings drawn from a variety of disciplines and sources explore the implications of postmodernism for church, individuals, the media, and popular culture. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 275 Philosophy of Law

3-WSP

Introduction to fundamental issues surrounding the concept of law, such as the debate between natural law theorists (who maintain that there is a law above human law) and legal positivists (who deny this) as well as issues such as punishment and the basis of the legitimacy of legislative authority. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 290, 390, 490 Special Topics

3-WSP

Examination of specific movements or particular problems in philosophy or themes in the history of ideas. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 311 Environmental Ethics

3-WSP

Examines several contending ways of thinking about human beings' relationship to and responsibility for the non-human world. In addition to general questions about the value of the non-human world, explores several specific areas of applied reflection, such as the ethics of eating meat. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 331 Moral Psychology

3-WSP

Survey of topics at the intersection of psychology and ethics, requiring readings from both philosophers and psychologists. Topics may include moral motivation, moral character, moral development, and moral responsibility. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 354 The Problem of Evil

3-WSP

In-depth exploration of philosophical thought on the question of whether and how belief in a good deity is compatible with the great evils we see in the world around us. Students study the history of the topic before turning to its treatment in contemporary philosophy of religion. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 355 Aquinas

3-WSP

Seminar on the thought of Thomas Aquinas involving a close reading of Aquinas' most important work, the Summa Theologiae, with occasional supplementation from other relevant primary and secondary literature. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 360 History and Philosophy of Science

3-WSP

Survey of the rise of Western science from its origins in antiquity to the present, addressing developments in both scientific content and method. Major historical figures considered include Aristotle, Copernicus, Galileo, Bacon, Descartes, and Darwin; the examination of present issues focuses on philosophical and sociological dimensions of scientific practice in our own day: How does science progress, what distinguishes science from non-science, and how does the scientific establishment deal with the threat of fraud? Liberal Arts.

PHIL 370 Ethical Theory

3-WSP

Analysis of traditional normative theories (formalism, consequentialism, and virtue ethics) through the reading of primary sources. Also explores developments in contemporary moral theory. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 375 Kierkegaard: A Man for All Disciplines

3-WSP

Reading seminar on some key works of the "Melancholy Dane," including (for example), "Either/Or," "Fear and Trembling," "The Sickness unto Death," "Philosophical Fragments," and "Concluding Unscientific Postscript." A "man for all disciplines," Kierkegaard's writings continue to attract interest for their philosophical and theological insight as well as their literary sophistication. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 380 Major Figures

3-WSP

In-depth study of the thought of one or more figures with an emphasis on critical analysis and evaluation of primary source material. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 385 Issues in Philosophical Theology

3-WSP

Seminar examining selected topics in Christian theology via close reading and discussion of historical and contemporary works of philosophical theology. Examples of topics considered: Divine Attributes, Divine Providence (and Human Freedom), God and Ethics, and Faith. The specific issue(s) to be considered are identified each time the course is scheduled. Repeatable when topics are diverse. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 395 Philosophy Colloquium1-WSP

A required seminar for Philosophy majors, expected during the junior year. Meets concurrently with PHIL 495 and helps prepare students for the Senior Capstone experience the following year. Repeatable. Liberal Arts.

PHIL 495 Senior Capstone: Philosophy Colloquium2-F

A required capstone seminar for Philosophy majors, normally completed in one of the final two semesters of the student's University experience. May only be taken once for credit. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: A minimum of 18 hours in philosophy

PHIL 496 Honors in Philosophy4-S

Liberal Arts.

PHYS 111 Introduction to Physics for Non-Majors I4-F

Introductory-level algebra-based overview of physics with lab, focusing on central concepts and problem-solving. Topics: God and the universe, units, motion, forces, gravitation, rotation, momentum and conservation, energy and conservation, and thermal energy. Taught at participating high schools to their qualified students. Liberal Arts.

PHYS 112 Introduction to Physics for Non-Majors II4-S

Introductory-level algebra-based overview of physics with lab, focusing on central concepts and problem-solving. Topics: God and the universe, states of matter, waves, optics, electricity and magnetism, and nuclear physics. Taught at participating high schools to their qualified students. Liberal Arts.

PHYS 121 Introduction to Physics I4-F

Algebra-based introduction to physics with lab, focusing on central concepts and problem-solving. Topics: God and the universe, units, motion, forces, gravitation, rotation, momentum and conservation, energy and conservation, fluid mechanics, and thermodynamics. Taught at participating high schools to selected, qualified students. Liberal Arts.

PHYS 122 Introduction to Physics II4-S

Algebra-based introduction to physics with lab, focusing on central concepts and problem-solving. Topics: God and the universe, states of matter, waves and wave equation, electricity and magnetism, and nuclear physics. Taught at participating high schools to selected, qualified students. Liberal Arts.

PHYS 151 General Physics I4-F

Introduction to physics focusing on central concepts and problem-solving. Topics: mechanics, energy, and waves. Six hours lecture with lab each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: MATH 181 (or MATH 170/171 or 161 or evidence of adequate math preparation)

PHYS 152 General Physics II4-S

Introduction to physics focusing on central concepts and problem-solving. Topics: thermodynamics, electricity, magnetism, optics, and modern physics. Six hours lecture with lab each week. Liberal Arts. This course has a fee. Prerequisite: PHYS 151

PHYS 171 Introduction to Engineering Design2-F

Introduction to the engineering design process through application to a practical experimental design problem. Application of essential engineering tools such as CAD, machine shop, 3D printing, math software, sensors, microcontroller interfacing, and programming.

Initial exploration of long-term research problem that will be continued in PHYS 371-5. This course has a laboratory fee.

PHYS 212 Modern Physics

2-F26

Exploration of the implications of Special Relativity using the Lorentz transformation and conceptual introduction to General Relativity. Elementary quantum mechanics using the Schrödinger equation applied to atoms, molecules, solids, nuclei, and elementary particles. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: PHYS 152

PHYS 215 Statics

3-S26

Basic mechanics of static structures and machines. Topics: multidimensional vector analysis of particles and rigid bodies in equilibrium, structural analysis of trusses and frames, friction, center of gravity, and moment of inertia. Liberal Arts. This course has a laboratory fee. Prerequisite: PHYS 151.

PHYS 251 Dynamics

3-F26

Development of classical Newtonian mechanics focusing on the dynamics of rigid bodies in one, two, and three dimensions. Topics include work and energy, central forces, collisions, non-inertial frames of reference, oscillations, vibrations. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: MATH 181, PHYS 151

PHYS 258 Analog Electronics

3-S27

A study of analog circuits composed of resistors, capacitors, inductors, op-amps, and DC and AC voltage and current sources. Methods of analyses: Kirchhoff's Laws, node/mesh, network theorems, bode plots, and Laplace transforms. Some software tools explored. Liberal Arts. This course has a laboratory fee. Prerequisites: MATH 241 (may be taken concurrently), PHYS 152.

PHYS 259 Digital Electronics

3-S26

An introduction to digital circuits including Boolean algebra, logic gates, Karnaugh maps, decoders, flipflops, registers, microcomputers, and interface devices. Characteristics and operation of digital integrated circuits are covered. Some software tools are explored. Liberal Arts. This course has a laboratory fee. Prerequisite: PHYS 152.

PHYS 260 Optics

3-WSP

An introduction to the study of light. Includes topics from geometrical optics, such as optical system analysis and aberration theory, and topics from physical optics, including interference, diffraction, and Fourier optics. Special topics from quantum optics also included. Liberal Arts. This course has a laboratory fee. Prerequisites: MATH 241 (may be taken concurrently), PHYS 152.

PHYS 275 Experimental Physics Laboratory 1

2-F26

Selected experiments in modern physics. Liberal Arts. This course has a laboratory fee. Prerequisite: PHYS 152.

PHYS 276 Experimental Physics Laboratory 2

2-S27

Selected experiments in modern physics. Liberal Arts. This course has a laboratory fee. Prerequisite: PHYS 275.

PHYS 295, 395, 495 Special Topics in Physics

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Introduction to areas of physics not treated in other courses. Liberal Arts.

PHYS 352 Advanced Mechanics

3-S27

Newton's Laws and conservation laws reviewed followed by an examination of Hamilton's Principle and the Lagrangian formulation of mechanics. Using these tools, topics such as central force motion, dynamics of systems of particles and rigid bodies, and coupled oscillations and normal modes are explored. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: PHYS 251

PHYS 353 Electricity & Magnetism

3-F25

An introduction, with applications, to the classical theory of electric and magnetic fields. Begins with an overview of vector calculus for electromagnetic theory and develops Maxwell's equations. Three lecture hours each week. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: MATH 225 (may be taken concurrently), PHYS 152.

PHYS 354 Advanced Electricity & Magnetism

3-S26

An examination of the role of special relativity in electromagnetic phenomena. Maxwell's equations are introduced in a relativistic manner and used to investigate the properties of electromagnetic waves. Includes techniques for solving the equations of Laplace and Poisson in electrostatics. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: PHYS 353; MATH 261 recommended (may be taken concurrently).

PHYS 355 Thermal Physics

3-F25

Theory and application of energy methods in engineering, energy transfer by heat, work, and mass; thermodynamic properties; analysis of open and closed systems; second law of thermodynamics and entropy; gas, vapor, and refrigeration cycles; and applications. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: MATH 241, PHYS 152

PHYS 356 Quantum Mechanics

3-S27

Modern quantum mechanics with an emphasis on matrix methods. Topics include time evolution of wave functions, harmonic oscillators, angular momentum, central potentials, the hydrogen atom, and perturbation theory. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: MATH 241, PHYS 212; MATH 261 recommended (may be taken concurrently).

PHYS 371, 372, 373, 374, 375 Physics Project Lab

2-F&S

Participation with a faculty member in an individual research project. Students review relevant literature, contribute to experimental design, develop procedures, collect data, analyze data, and compare results to theoretical predictions. Liberal Arts. This class has a laboratory fee. Prerequisites: PHYS 171, MATH 182, PHYS 152

PHYS 391, 392, 491, 492 Independent Study

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Liberal Arts.

PHYS 393 Summer Collaborative Research in Physics

1, 2, 3, or 4-Summer

Research in collaboration with a Physics faculty member focusing on a current area of physics research. Students work individually or in small teams reviewing literature, designing and building apparatus, collecting and analyzing data, and describing their work in written form. Usually involves travel to other laboratories such as Los Alamos National Laboratory or Cornell University. May be repeated for credit. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: Instructor permission

PHYS 482 Senior Capstone: Physics Seminar

3-S

Culminating physics research experience. Preparation of oral and written reports on research project (for Physics and Applied Physics BS) or a topic of current interest in physics journals (for Physics BA). Fulfills General Education Writing-Enriched course requirement. Liberal Arts.

PHYS 496 Honors in Physics

4-WSP

Liberal Arts.

POLS 110 Introduction to Political Opinion

3-WSP

Research, analysis, and debate on selected topics in political opinion, including electoral processes; government, industry, and the environment; gun control; health care; immigration and border security; domestic and international terrorism and civil liberties; and education oversight, testing, and funding. Offered at participating high schools to selected, qualified students. Liberal Arts.

POLS 111 College Introduction to American Government and Politics

3-WSP

Introduces students to the intellectual and institutional foundations of American government and politics including the U.S. Constitution, popular control of government, and major political institutions. Taught at participating high schools to selected, qualified students. Liberal Arts.

POLS 191, 291, 391, 491 Independent Study

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Liberal Arts.

POLS 205 In Search of Justice3-WSP

How do we do justice and avoid injustice through political activity? We explore the possibilities and pitfalls of the search for justice by considering classic theories of justice, studying citizen action and the policy process, and examining case studies of specific issues such as health care, same-sex marriage, human trafficking, or other issues of current concern. Fulfills half of General Education Social Science requirement. Liberal Arts.

POLS 212 Social Science Research Methods

3-WSP

Basic scientific method and application to social phenomena, procedures and methodological problems in various types of social research, and methods of data analysis. Liberal Arts.

POLS 220 The American Political System

3-WSP

The foundation course in American politics. Focuses on fundamental constitutional principles of the American political order, including constitutionalism, separation of powers and checks and balances, federalism, the rule of law, and judicial review. Special attention given to the history of the American Founding, debates over the Constitution, the Federalist Papers, and Tocqueville's later analysis of American democracy. Liberal Arts.

POLS 230 Introduction to International Relations

3-WSP

Development of the international system of nation-states; effects of system structure and intrastate elements on international relations; concepts such as power, balance of power, sovereignty, and interdependence; and issues such as foreign policy decision-making, causes of war, and nuclear arms control. Fulfills part of General Education Global Competence requirement. Liberal Arts.

POLS 235 Feminist Ethics

3-WSP

Introduction to feminist contributions to contemporary ethical thought, including critiques of existing ethical theories, development of alternative ethical systems, and increased philosophical attention to neglected issues of particular interest to feminists, such as oppression or rape. Liberal Arts.

POLS 237 Just War?

3-WSP

Exploration of the dominant tradition in the ethics of warfare, the Just War tradition. Topics include both the traditional criteria of jus ad bellum (just causes for going to war) and jus in bello (just behavior within a war) and critics – both pacifist and “realist” – of these criteria. Consideration given to how new technologies and new kinds of conflict challenge the application of the traditional criteria. Liberal Arts.

POLS 247 Switzerland: A Case Study in European Politics and Culture

3-WSP

General introduction to Switzerland, covering history, politics, literature, and culture. Topics include Switzerland as a multinational, multilingual, and multi-confessional country; Swiss neutrality, federalism, and direct democracy; the country's relation to the European Union; and its experience with immigration. Special attention to similarities and differences between Switzerland and the United States. Fulfills part of General Education Global Competence requirement. Liberal Arts.

POLS 260 Introduction to Political Thought

3-WSP

Introduces students to the tradition of Western political thought from the ancient to the modern world through a close reading of important thinkers. By considering problems of community, obligation, order, justice, liberty, and freedom, equips students for careful normative reflection on public life. Liberal Arts.

POLS 270 Introduction to Public Policy

3-WSP

An introduction to the nature of public problems and the diverse ways in which governments respond. Includes concepts and methods of policy analysis, legal instruments of public policy, legislation and its implementation, the work of public agencies at various levels of government, and the role of the courts in the policy process. Illustrated by cases drawn from a range of policy areas, such as the environment, education, healthcare, transportation, and housing. Liberal Arts.

POLS 275 Philosophy of Law

3-WSP

Introduction to fundamental issues surrounding the concept of law, such as the debate between natural law theorists (who maintain that there is a law above human law) and legal positivists (who deny this) as well as issues such as punishment and the basis of the legitimacy of legislative authority. Liberal Arts.

POLS 295, 395, 495 Special Topics in Political Science

3-WSP

According to demand and interest, courses are offered on a range of topics in any area of political science. Liberal Arts.

POLS 299 Historical and Political Research

1-WSP

Introduces skills necessary for research and writing within the humanities and humanistic social sciences. Students learn to identify scholarly arguments in the literature, recognize historiographic arguments, analyze primary sources, construct their own arguments, distinguish between primary and secondary sources, and assess appropriate methodologies. At the end, students present their own well-researched argument and criticize those of fellow students. Ideally taken in the sophomore year; students must either have previously taken or be simultaneously enrolled in a 200-level or higher major course. Liberal Arts.

POLS 324 Native American History and Politics

3-WSP

History of the United States policy toward Native American tribes from the founding of the country to the present. Special attention to how the legal system has dealt with the claims of Native Americans. Focus on changing conceptions of Indian nationhood and sovereignty in relation to the United States. Liberal Arts.

POLS 325 Executive Power and the Presidency

3-WSP

Careful study of the nature of executive power and its embodiment in the American presidency. Focuses on the executive's role in our constitutional order and changes in that role over the course of America's political development. Liberal Arts.

POLS 336 American Foreign Policy

3-WSP

Formulation and execution of U.S. foreign policy, especially since WWII. Special attention to foreign policy strategies in light of different conceptions of vital interests, threats to these interests, and appropriate responses. Liberal Arts.

POLS 343 Communities, Governance, and Development

4-F24

Attempts to explain the development or underdevelopment of households, communities, and states. At the micro level, examines daily decisions and behaviors of poor households. At the macro level, looks at why some countries attain higher levels of development and others have not. Students are exposed to empirical findings from economics and other disciplines, develop an understanding of contemporary theories to explain development and underdevelopment, study the implications of efforts to reduce global poverty, and identify programs and policies that are more or less likely to be effective. Liberal Arts.

POLS 348 Vienna 1900: Politico-Cultural Crisis and Creativity

3-WSP

Studies the late 19th-century crisis of faith and reason in turn-of-the-century Vienna, where the Habsburg Empire was crumbling under the pressure of ethnic and national rivalries and competing political ideologies. Across cultural realms – political, literary, philosophical, artistic, musical, architectural, scientific – a remarkable outburst of creativity by a group of first-rate writers, artists, and thinkers reveals the surface refinement and elegance as well as the subterranean turmoil and decay that mark the fin de siècle period. Liberal Arts.

POLS 362 Loyalty

3-WSP

Careful consideration of the meaning, origin, objects, and limits of loyalty with special attention to its political manifestations. Draws on a wide range of philosophical, political, legal, theological, and literary sources. Liberal Arts.

POLS 367 Living Like a Narnian: The Social and Ethical Thought of C. S. Lewis

3-WSP

In-depth study of the social, ethical, and political thought of C. S. Lewis, one of the 20th century's most influential Christian thinkers. Extensive reading in the works of Lewis, drawn evenly from his fiction and nonfiction writings. Topics include theories of history and the nature of modernity, war and peace, equality, gender and the family, education, political rule, democracy, and technology and scientific progress. Liberal Arts.

POLS 369 Luther and the German Reformation

3-WSP

Studies the social and political thought of Martin Luther in the context of the history and theology of the German Reformation. Topics include the doctrine of the Two Kingdoms, the relationship between church and state, the duties of a citizen, social reform (marriage, education, poor relief), and political revolution (the Peasants' War), all situated within Luther's life and times. Liberal Arts.

POLS 375 Immigration and Citizenship

3-WSP

Explores the questions "What does it mean to be a member of a political community?" and "How does one become a member?" Typically considers historical development of American immigration and citizenship policy, philosophical analyses of citizenship and the right of movement, problems of integration and diversity, comparative policy analysis, and the role of citizenship in a Global Competence. Liberal Arts.

POLS 376 Manzanar: Race, Citizenship, and War

3-WSP

Interdisciplinary exploration of race and American citizenship in war-time through a focus on Manzanar, one of the Japanese internment camps during WWII. Looks at the historical and political background to the internment and considers the Supreme Court's famous Korematsu decision in context. Then moves from legal materials to consider the treatments of Manzanar in memoir, literature, and photographic series by Ansel Adams and Dorothea Lange. Special focus on constructions of American belonging as they appear in historical, political, and cultural contexts. Liberal Arts.

POLS 393 Field Experience (Internship)

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Supervised participation in executive, legislative, judicial, or legal offices in local, state, or federal government when deemed suitable for academic credit and approved by the Political Science advisor and the Dean of Religion, Humanities, and Global Studies. Usually, 4 credits may be counted toward the major or minor. May be combined with an additional 4 credits for POLS 391. Liberal Arts.

POLS 426 Constitutional Law

3-WSP

Studies the jurisprudence of the Supreme Court with a focus on major decisions from the Founding to the present. Topics include government structure and the separation of powers, judicial review, executive and legislative authority, federalism, civil rights and liberties, the Bill of Rights, and equal protection. Liberal Arts.

POLS 437 International Law

3-WSP

Introduces students to the field of international law. Heavy emphasis on reading and analyzing international law cases and understanding their application to international relations. Key topics include the sources of international law, sovereignty, the law of war and peace, and humanitarian intervention. Liberal Arts.

POLS 455 American Constitutional History

3-WSP

Survey of United States constitutional history from its origins to the present. Emphasis on the constitutional system as a whole rather than constitutional law as developed by the Supreme Court. Examines the origins and general principles of constitutional thought, their elaboration in the Founding, and their development through crises over state rights and union in the 19th century, the Civil War amendments, liberty of contract, New Deal intervention, the developing doctrine of civil rights and civil liberties, and the growth of the administrative state. Liberal Arts.

POLS 468 America and the World

3-WSP

Exposes students to cutting-edge discussions of both the American polity and its role in world affairs by reading extremely current literature. Emphasis on the relation between normative theory and political practice. Topics considered include citizenship, American national identity, democracy, sovereignty, and globalization, but specific focus varies depending upon readings. Heavy reading load; emphasis on class discussion and student book reviews of materials. Liberal Arts.

POLS 480 Senior Capstone in History and Political Science

3-WSP

Capstone course for the majors in History and Political Science. Integration of concepts, knowledge, and methods from previous major coursework. Students improve research, writing, analytical, and communication skills by writing, revising, and defending in an oral examination a substantial research project based on original research in primary and secondary sources and similar in quality to what would be expected in a first semester of graduate study. Liberal Arts.

POLS 496 Honors in Political Science

3-S

Liberal Arts.

POPH 490 Capstone Colloquy in Politics & Philosophy

1-F

Required capstone seminar for Politics & Philosophy majors. Meets weekly for discussion of important texts, with an emphasis on participation in seminar discussion. Content changes each year. May be repeated more than once. Politics & Philosophy majors must take the colloquy at least once during the junior or senior year. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: at least 24 hours of college credit.

PSY 111 Introduction to Psychology

3-F&S

Scientific study of thinking, emotion, and behavior. Surveys theories, issues, and concepts of psychology. May include research participation requirements. Fulfills half of General Education Social Science requirement. Liberal Arts.

PSY 191, 192, 291, 292, 391, 392, 491, 492Independent Study

1, 2, 3, or 4-WSP

Liberal Arts.

PSY 211, 311, 411 Special Topics in Psychology

1–3-WSP

According to interest and demand, courses are offered in Cross-cultural Psychology, Environmental Psychology, Industrial/Organizational Psychology, and other topics. Liberal Arts.

PSY 213 Developmental Psychology

3-F

Concepts and principles, theories, and research methods associated with the development of the individual from conception through old age. Liberal Arts.

PSY 217 Adolescence and Emerging Adulthood

3-F

Concepts and principles, theories, and research methods associated with the development of the individual from early adolescence to young adulthood. Liberal Arts.

PSY 218 Social Psychology

3-F

Social psychological theory and research on the social forces influencing individuals' thoughts, feelings, and behaviors. Topics include social cognition, attribution theory, persuasion, conformity, prejudice, aggression, and helping. Liberal Arts.

PSY 220 Culture and Human Development
3-S26

Critical analyses of cultural influences on developmental pathways and outcomes from the prenatal period to adulthood. Understanding of culture as a dynamic process rather than a set of fixed traits or attributes essentially intertwined with human development. Liberal Arts.

PSY 230 Lifespan Development of the Family
3-S26

Considers developmental theory and research related to family composition and systems throughout the lifespan. Attention to nontraditional families and to events that affect family development including divorce, abuse, alcoholism, mobility, poverty, and death. Liberal Arts.

PSY 301 Psychology of Personality
3-S

Description, development, dynamics, determinants, and assessment of the normal personality. Emphasis on contemporary theories and research. Liberal Arts.

PSY 305 Abnormal Psychology
3-F

Etiology, dynamics, assessment, and treatment of psychopathology. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: 6 hours in psychology

PSY 306 Psychology of Religion
3-WSP (Houghton Online)

Study of religious and spiritual experience and behavior from a psychological perspective, including the integration of psychology and Christianity. Topics covered include conversion, faith, mysticism, and spiritual development. Examines the origin and nature of religion according to thinkers such as Kierkegaard, Freud, Jung, Maslow, Tillich, and Frankl. Liberal Arts.

PSY 309 Statistics
4-F&S

Descriptive and inferential statistics: measures of central tendency and variability, discrete and continuous probability functions, sampling, estimation, hypothesis testing, correlation, regression, chi-squared, and ANOVA. Liberal Arts.

PSY 310 Experimental Methods
4-S

Experimental and other quantitative methods used in the study of thinking and behavior. Applied statistical analysis, laboratory experiences, and research writing. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: PSY 309

PSY 312 Advanced Statistics
4-WSP

Factorial and repeated-measures analysis of variance, analysis of covariance, time series analysis, multiple regression, factor analysis, and multivariate techniques. Statistical computing. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: PSY/BADM 309

PSY 314 Child Psychopathology
3-S

The etiology, dynamics, and treatment of psychopathology in children. The main objective is to think developmentally about psychopathology as it unfolds from childhood through adolescence. Liberal Arts.

PSY 315 Psychological Assessment
3-F25

Principles of construction, validation, and use applied to a variety of ability and personality tests. Selected tests administered with guided interpretation. Liberal Arts.

PSY 318 Psychology of Race and Racism
3-F

Drawing from a social psychological perspective, explores racial identity development; the ways racism, racial prejudice, and racial biases have led to suffering; and the impact of racialized social institutions on cognition, emotion, and behavior. Ultimately, students are asked to think critically about their own racial development, participation in racialized systems, and potential to impact a racialized society. Fulfills part of General Education Global Competence requirement. Liberal Arts.

PSY 320 Stereotyping & Prejudice
3-S26

Provides an overview of research on the social psychological processes underlying stereotypes, prejudice, and discrimination. Addresses potential sources of stereotypes; evidence of the biasing effects of stereotypes on memory, cognition, and behavior; the impact of stereotypes and prejudice on targets; and potential strategies for reducing prejudice and discrimination. Other topics include specific “isms” (e.g., ageism, sexism, racism, etc.), hate crimes, and hate group membership. Liberal Arts.

PSY 321 Adult Development and Aging

3-WSP

The study of social, cognitive, and physical changes from early adulthood through later life with special attention to concepts, theories, and research related to processes of aging and dying. Liberal Arts.

PSY 325 Human Sexuality

3-S

Examines sexuality as a component of our personalities, an aspect of our behavior, and an element in our environment. Considers how sexuality develops and interacts with other aspects of our thought and behavior. Liberal Arts.

PSY 331 Moral Psychology

3-WSP

Survey of topics at the intersection of psychology and ethics, requiring readings from both philosophers and psychologists. Topics may include moral motivation, moral character, moral development, and moral responsibility. Liberal Arts.

PSY 335 Drugs and Behavior

3-S26

Principles of action of psychoactive drugs; their effects on body, mind, and society; patterns and causes of their use and abuse; and prevention and treatment. Liberal Arts.

PSY 337 Social Cognition

3-Online-WSP

Social cognition is a subdiscipline of social psychology that focuses on how people think about the world and make sense of complex social environments. Covers social behavior from a cognitive perspective with stereotyping, social perception, affect, and the self. Liberal Arts.

PSY 340 Cognitive Development

3-F24

Concepts, principles, theories, and research concerning the biological and experiential influences on the intellectual growth of the child from infancy through adolescence (with some discussion relevant to adult cognition). Topics include memory, perception, attention, representation, language acquisition, reasoning, and problem-solving. Liberal Arts.

PSY 342 Social Neuroscience

3-S25

The growing field of social neuroscience addresses social psychological questions using the methods of neuroscience (fMRI, EEG, etc.). This course provides an overview of some influential findings in this exciting area of research while encouraging critical consumption of the claims made by these researchers. Topics include self-regulation (e.g., neural activation when we try to resist temptation), social pain (e.g., what happens in the brain when we're ostracized), altruism (e.g., neural responses to others' suffering), morality, and prejudice. Liberal Arts.

PSY 350 Cultural Competencies for Practice

3-WSP

Introduction to multicultural competencies needed for all helping professions (e.g., physicians, counselors, therapists, social workers, health care providers). Emphasis on understanding and communicating with clients/patients who do not come from majority culture backgrounds. Liberal Arts.

PSY 354 Brain and Behavior

4-F

Relationship of brain, nervous system, and physiology with behavior. Brain basis of sensation, emotion, aggression, learning, communication, and mental disorders. Three hours of lecture, three hours of lab each week. This course has a lab fee. Liberal Arts.

PSY 393 Collaborative Research in Psychology
0–4-F&S

Students conduct a research project in collaboration with other students and a faculty member. Topics in social psychology, cognition, learning, biopsychology, and personality are available. Students review the literature, design and conduct empirical research, analyze and explain the results, write a report in journal submission format, and present at an appropriate conference. Students may take this course up to four semesters. Requires instructor permission. Liberal Arts.

PSY 394 Summer Collaborative Research in Psychology

0–4-May

Students conduct a research project in collaboration with other students and a faculty member. Topics in social psychology, cognition, learning, biopsychology, and personality are available. Students review the literature, design and conduct empirical research, analyze and explain the results, write a report in journal submission format, and present at an appropriate conference. Students may take this course up to four semesters. Requires instructor permission. Liberal Arts.

PSY 401 History and Systems of Psychology

3-WSP

Antecedents and evolution of psychological systems and concepts, including the life and works of historically eminent psychologists. Liberal Arts. Prerequisite: 16 credits in psychology

PSY 402 Counseling and Psychotherapy

3-S

Introduction to major systems of psychological intervention and their rationale. Emphasis on theory rather than practice. Liberal Arts.

PSY 415 Internship in Psychology

0–6-F&S

A supervised experience in a psychological setting integrating theory with professional practice. By application only through the department. Liberal Arts.

PSY 480 Senior Capstone Seminar

3-F&S

Informed discussion of significant and contemporary concepts and issues. Includes development of an individual research or group project on some aspect of the discipline. Required of all senior majors. Fulfills General Education Writing-Enriched course requirement. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: PSY 309, 310, 21 credits of psychology

PSY 481 Senior Capstone Seminar I

2-S

Informed discussion of significant and contemporary concepts and issues. Includes development of an individual research or group project on some aspect of the discipline. Required of all senior majors. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: PSY 309, 310, 21 credits of psychology

PSY 483 Senior Capstone Seminar II

1-Mayterm

Continued informed discussion of significant and contemporary concepts and issues. Includes presentation of an individual research or group project on some aspect of the discipline and completion of a personal portfolio. Required of all senior majors. Liberal Arts. Prerequisites: PSY 309, 310, 21 credits of psychology

PSY 496 Honors in Psychology

3-S

Liberal Arts.

REL 101 Defining Ourselves, Our Communities, and the Cosmos: Major Religious Faiths BCE

3-F

Surveys the early history and theology of the major religions practiced in 21st-century cities: Hinduism and Buddhism and the three Abrahamic traditions, Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. Explores these religions in various internal contexts – historical, cultural, sociopolitical, ethical, communal, and personal – with emphasis on the sacred texts of each tradition. Special attention to how Christianity, the animating faith of Houghton University, has impacted the world and how it can be helpfully incarnated in a pluralistic culture. Liberal Arts.

REL 102 Defining Ourselves, Our Communities, and the Cosmos: Major Religious Faiths CE

3-S

Traces the intertwining history and developments since 1500 of the major religions practiced in 21st-century cities: Hinduism and Buddhism and the three Abrahamic traditions, Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. Because each of these major faith traditions issues a call to love one's neighbor, the course will consider how this call is lived out in modern multi-faith communities in which it is necessary to listen, learn, live, and work together. Students are encouraged to develop an appreciation for the role of religion in their lives, communities, and world. Faculty Listing

Endowed and Honorary Chairs

Mabel Barnum Davidson Distinguished Professor in Fine Arts

The Mabel Barnum Davidson Distinguished Professor in Fine Arts award was established in 1973 to celebrate and honor faculty members who show evidence of professional growth and development, demonstrate ability as effective teachers, and provide a clear statement and evidence of personal application of the philosophy of Christian liberal arts. The awardee is nominated from among colleagues and approved by the members of the area. The award carries with it a medallion to be worn at official convocations.

Robert I. Davidson Distinguished Professor in History and Social Science

The Robert I. Davidson Distinguished Professor in History and Social Science award was established in 1973 to celebrate and honor faculty members who show evidence of professional growth and development, demonstrate ability as effective teachers, and provide a clear statement and evidence of personal application of the philosophy of Christian liberal arts. The award carries with it a medallion to be worn at official convocations.

Ellen F. Donley Deanship in Education and Behavioral Science

The Ellen F. Donley Deanship in Education and Behavioral Science was created in 2024 by anonymous donors to honor the life and legacy of Ellen F. Donley. Miss Donley (1917-1964), a Houghton alumna from the Class of 1938, was one of four sisters whose parents had an unusual interest in providing opportunities for spiritual and educational growth. They provided persistent guidance and sacrificial support so that each daughter could attend and graduate from Houghton College (now University). In the words of the donor, “Ellen’s life was an example of a well-rounded life of Christian love, faith, discipline, and commitment to education and serves as an example of the impact that can be made while at Houghton and in the many schools where educators touch lives.” The Dean leads the Department of Education and Behavioral Science, teaches courses and pursues scholarship. This appointment carries with it funding for the faculty member’s salary and benefits and additional resources for professional development at amounts determined by the President and the Provost.

Horne-Blanchard Chair in Music

The Horne-Blanchard Chair in Music was established in 2014 through a generous gift from Dr. David and Mrs. Allene (Horne) Blanchard to honor and celebrate the gifts of music and teaching. Mrs. Blanchard, a Music major at Houghton, graduated as a member of the class of 1957. A lifelong pianist and teacher, Mrs. Blanchard wanted to help others have the opportunity to study with gifted faculty as she had. The award carries with it a medallion to be worn at official convocations, funding for the faculty member’s salary, and additional funding to use in the pursuit of academic excellence.

Hoselton Chair of Private Enterprise and Ethics

The expressed purpose of the Hoselton Chair of Private Enterprise and Ethics (which rotates among faculty in the Department of Business and Economics) is to stimulate dialog on and off campus about the benefits of a system of private enterprise that is undergirded by a strong biblical and ethical foundation. The Chair holder teaches courses, organizes events, attends conferences, supports student groups, and makes presentations that explain these benefits and the conditions under which they encourage and support social welfare.

Alan and Florence Johnson Distinguished Chair in Health Sciences

In appointing this distinguished chair, we look for evidence of excellence in the field of study, extraordinary investment in teaching and mentoring, and mature leadership and service to the disciplines in the health sciences. In this award, we celebrate distinguished contributions to a Houghton education in a truly interdisciplinary field. The faculty member must be someone who has not only depth of expertise in a contributing discipline but the ability to contribute strongly to conversations among the multiple fields that serve students preparing for careers in health sciences. Also, in an era when careers in health sciences increasingly bring practitioners face to face with difficult ethical questions, this distinguished chair acknowledges the importance of professors who can guide students in exploring deeply Christian responses to issues in the health sciences of our time. The award carries with it a medallion to be worn at official convocations.

Moreland Chair in Biology

This honor is extended to a member of the natural science faculty who best exemplifies the standard of academic excellence set by Dr. Moreland. Nominations are made from among faculty members who submit a proposal for research or writing projects and approved by members of the academic area. This award carries with it a medallion to be worn at official convocations and an endowed stipend for research in collaboration with students.

Van Gordon Chair in Communication and Writing

The Van Gordon Chair was established to honor eligible faculty members whose primary responsibility in communication or writing is to engage in projects that benefit or enhance one or more of the following: the faculty member's professional development, the instruction and quality of the Communication and/or Writing majors, cooperation and coordination between those programs, and public awareness of Houghton University. The award is chosen from among proposals submitted by eligible faculty members and approved by members of the academic area and the Faculty Development Committee. The award carries with it funds relevant to the project proposal.
